MOST COMPLEX CAMPAIGN NOW IN LAST STAGE

NOMINATIONS THROUGHOUT DOMINION TO-DAY RESULT IN THREE-CORNERED FIGHTS IN MOST RIDINGS.

ONTARIO BATTLE GROUND; PETERBORO NOMINATIONS

OTTAWA, Nov. 22. — (Canadian Press). — Candidates for Canada's fourteenth Parliament were nominated to-day in 235 constituencies of the Dominion, and the most complex political battle in Canadian history entered the final stage. Three-cornered fights will be common in every province, but Ontario, with 82 seats, will be the central battleground. In almost every Ontario riding a Conservative, a Liberal and a Progressive will contest the issue.

G. N. Gordon's nomination bore the names of the following:

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press). — New Brunswick's apparently only chance of having a woman candidate in the Federal fight faded to-day when Mrs. Tappan Adney, prospective candidate, failed to produce the necessary $200.

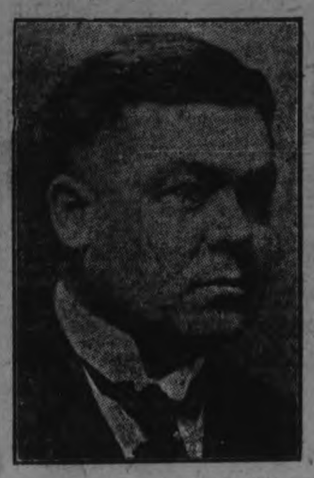
All candidates in West and East Peterborough qualified to-day. The list is as follows:

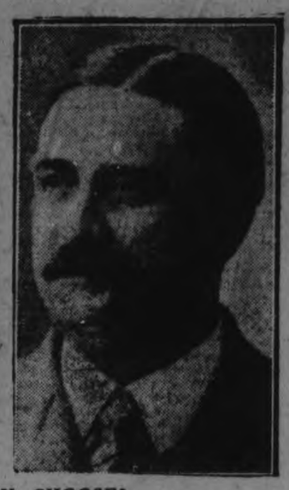
West Peterborough.

G. N. Gordon, ex-M.P., Liberal.
J. H. Burnham, ex-M.P., Conservative.

East Peterborough.

I. A. Sexsmith, ex-M.P., Conservative.
Capt. John Dewart, M.C., Liberal.
G. A. Brethen, Progressive.





WHICH DO YOU CHOOSE?
G. N. Gordon, ex-M.P. Liberal, and J. H. Burnham, ex-M.P., Conservative, who were formally nominated to-day to contest West Peterborough. It is expected that both will launch vigorous campaigns now, as election day is only two weeks distant.

SAYS KIWANIANS AND ROTARIANS COULD SETTLE EASTERN PROBLEM MORE EASILY THAN DIPLOMATISTS

W. JESSOP, FOREIGN WORK SECRETARY OF Y. M. C. A., ADDRESSES KIWANIS CLUB AT WEEKLY LUNCHEON.

Peterboro Kiwanians gathered together at noon to-day in their regular weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel. Kiwanian Frank Whitehouse handled the bell and "Billy" Philips led the song service with Kiwanian Barrie at the piano. A feature of the gathering was two excellent addresses—one by Mr. W. Jessop, Foreign Work Secretary of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A., and the other by Dr. A. Webster, dean of the Dental College, Toronto.

In a short instructive address, Mr. Jessop dealt with the Far Eastern situation which the speaker suggested could be much more easily settled by Rotarian and Kiwanian influence than by the efforts of the diplomats. Util the question is settled it will remain the great outstanding menace of the worl to-day. The spirit of nationalism is sweeping over the Far East, affecting some twenty millions of the inhabitants. The spirit of nationalism carries with it the destruction of the moral code and places might before right. It also inculcates a spirit of intense hatred for the British Empire.

Concluding, the speaker said the British flag stands for justice, right dealing and security.

Function of the State.

Welfare and the idea of welfare was the subject of an interesting address by Dr. A. Webster, in which the speaker asserted that we are our brother's keeper, and that it was impossible for individuals as well as nations to stand or live alone. One is dependent upon the other. The problem become a vast one locally and internationally. Had the allies been in a position to destroy Germany it would not have been wise to have done so. The happiness and good will of the individual depends largely on the standard of living. To this end we have state education and other advantages. We are just as interested in an epidemic in China as if it were in Vancouver. An epidemic in China will soon be an epidemic in Vancouver unless it is checked. The German idea of a great nation was expressed through State administration of everything. Other countries leave it to the individuals. The latter system is the better.

The function of the state should be to guide the family and not usurp those functions which properly belong to the individual.

THEATRES

GRAND—The Rex Stock Company, in the far-famed comedy, "A Pair of Sixes."

CAPITOL—Wallace Reid in "The Hell Diggers," a romance of gold and guile in the primitive west. Vaudeville, Morris and Marcella, in singing, talking and dancing act.

REGENT—Special to-night, Pearl White in "The White Moll." Also a Sunshine comedy.

ALLEN— William Faversham in the Hobart Henley production, "The Sin That Was His." Also Johnny Hines in "Torchy's Big Lead"; News and Views, Photograph Novelties.

Says Arbuckle Offered $50 Pay For Key to Room

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22—(Canadian Press)—Testifying to-day in the case of Roscoe Arbuckle, charged in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, Jesse Norgard, former watchman at the Culver City studios where Miss Rappe and Arbuckle worked in 1919, stated that in August of the latter year he had refused fifty dollars from the accused for the key to Miss Rappe's room.

MR. BURNHAM AT BAILIEBORO

AN AUDIENCE OF 150 HEAR ISSUES OF CAMPAIGN DISCUSSED

Messrs. J. H. Burnham and J. F. Strickland and V. J. McElderry spoke to an audience of 150 people at Bailieboro last evening upon the issues of the Federal campaign. Mr. Dickson made a most acceptable Chairman.

In speaking of the assessment of the Riordan Company for business profits tax, J. F. Strickland stated that the Government stood to lose absolutely not one cent in connection with this transaction. The Act, under which the tax is collected, was made retroactive, and it was after they had paid their dividends that the amount of tax was actually fixed, and the only reasonble and business-like thing for the Government to do was to accept security for their claim; otherwise it would have forced the liquidation of a company having assets of millions of dollars, and would have thrown out of employment hundreds of workmen, and would have prejudiced the unsecured claims of thousands of small creditors of the company. The Government acted as a well-advised creditor of any concern would have acted, and there is no possibility of the slightest loss in connection with this matter.

Fordney Tariff Bill.

Mr. V. J. McElderry discussed the Fordney Emergency Tariff Bill, and showed the falling off of the export of Canadian produce to the United States as a result of this high tariff legislation. He compared the exports during the months of June, July, and August for the years 1921 and 1920. The figures were very startling, and showed clearly that this once great market for Canadian produce is now completely shut off, and that the home market must be developed.

Apathy of the People.

Mr. Burnham said that one statement of Mr. Crerar's he heartily agreed with, and that referred to the apathy of the people at election time. "If our soldiers," said Mr. Burnham, "can go to battle and lay down their lives in time of war to save their country, surely the electors can at least go to the polls in times of peace." Quebec stands a good chance of being the centre of gravity, he asserted, the economic and political centre of Canada after this eleltion, for if Mr. King has 62 seats out of 65 in that Province as he had last time, and as the Liberal Party has had ever since Riel was executed by Sir John for the rebellion of 1885, that large and solid contingent, led by Sir Lomer Gouin, Hon. R. Lemieux, Hon. H. Beland, Hon. Jacques Bureau, and others of the able Frenchmen who form Mr. King's front row in the House of Commons will overshadow Ontario. This Province must wake up and wake up soon. Ontario needs able men in the public service, and she is sadly short of them. If she had half as many to serve their Province and their country as Quebec and the West have, there would be fewer sneers and less cheap wit, and much more earnest work in the greatest and most of all callings—the public service.

The meeting closed with cheers for the King and the candidate.

GERMANS DENY THEY MAY YET MENACE WORLD

LONDON PRESS DIVIDED OVER BRIAND'S SPEECH—SOME CHARGE FRANCE WITH BEING REVENGFUL.

PARIS PRESS SAYS BRIAND FRENCH VOICE

BERLIN, Nov. 22. — (Canadian Press.)—Newspapers continue reticent in commenting on the Washington conference beyond approving armament curtailment. People say the charge that Germany will again menace the world is preposterous.

LONDON DIVIDED.

LONDON, Nov. 22.— (Canadian Press.)—One section of the press, commenting on Briand's speech, sees in France a militaristic, revengeful spirit. Another, which is constantly distrustful of Germany, regards France as justified in keeping prepared for a possible fresh outbreak. The Times, Daily Mail and Daily Telegraph express sympathy with France's position.

France is accused by The Daily Chroncile of maintaining a hostile policy towards Russia, and the paper asks what French statesmen would like done to Germany that has not been doue. The Daily Express hints that France must make sacrifices in the interests of peace.

PARIS APPLAUDS.

PARIS, Nov. 22. — (Canadian Press.)— "France Speaks Through the Mouth of Briand," is the most universal caption in the French press this morning. The only exception to this tone which embodies a sense of satisfaction is taken by the Communist L'Humanite, which uses the headline, "Briand Defends France's Militarism."

TAGEBLATT SARCASTIC

BERLIN, Nov 22.—(Canadian Press).—The Tageblatt's editor suspects that the next French move "will be in the direction of limiting German families to one offspring" and expects to see the arrival of a "commission of Allied midwives to supervise the output."

BLOCK CONTEST TONIGHT? TONIGHT

TWO GOOD PRIZES FOR LADY AND GENTLEMAN WINNING.— CARNIVAL TO-MORROW.

The ever popular block contest will be held to-night, for which good prizes will be given the winners. Everybody is eligible to enter this contest and the beginner has just as much chance as the best skater on the floor to win.

Carnival To-morrow.

Never in the history of carnivals in Peterborough have such valuable prizes been offered as will be given to the winners to-morrow night, and a large number will be in competition. Those in costume will skate from 7.30 to 8.30, after which those not in costume will be allowed on the floor until 10.30 o'clock. General admission 15c. Skaters, whether in costume or not, 25c.—Advt.

A certain amount of pleasure is necessary for the relaxation of mind and body, but a certain amount of work is just as necessary for the appreciation of pleasure.

Tenants' and Owners' Association Meeting

RATEPAYERS WILL HAVE A CHANCE TO VOICE THEIR GRIEVANCES ON FRIDAY EVENING NEXT--BAKERS CHARACTERIZED AS THE "ONE BIG UNION"---ASSOCIATION MEMBERS SUGGEST A BOYCOTT.

TO ENDORSE MUNICIPAL CANDIDATES

If the plans of the Tenants' and Owners' Association do not miscarry, Peterboorugh will have an informal nomination of municipal candidates at a public meeting to be held in the G.W.V.A. Hall on Friday next. This much was decided upon at a meeting of the Association held last evening in the Patriotic Fund Rooms with vice-president M. J. Maher in the chair. Between now and Friday a sub-committee of the Association will prepare a list of prospective candidates to be submitted to the meeting on Friday evening. This meeting will be open to the public and to ratepayers particularly. Ladies are also invited to attend and hear municipal issues discussed and reasons advanced for the present high cost of citizenship. All those who attend the meeting will have an opportunity of voting on the list of candidates submitted and the successful nominees will have the support and endorsation of the Association at the January elections.

List of Candidates.

A list of candidates was presented to the meeting last evening. The sub-committee has been instructed to find out how many of the proposed candidates will enter the municipal election arena. The list contains many surprises and is one of the many reasons why every ratepayer should attend the meeting on Friday evening next. The proposal to hold a public meeting was urged and suported by R. E. Layfield, W. J. Nelson, W. Lytle and others. Means for filling the G.W.V.A. hall on Friday evening was discussed and every effort will be made to have a record crowd on hand. It was agreed that the municipal candidates endorsed by the Association should have the whole-hearted support of every member prior to and on the day of the election. It was also agreed that the best interests of the ratepayers would be served by having Ald. J. J. Turner's seat on the aldermanic board contested at the elections instead of a successor being named by the Council. Ald. Turner has resigned to contest the mayoralty. He was elected for two years and his resignation leaves one year to be taken care of. At the meeting last evening it was admitted that the Council had a right to select a successor to fill out Ald. Turner's unexpired term, but members of the Association were opposed to this. They want the seat contested in the regular way. It was also suggested that municipal candidates be asked to attend a public meeting and state their platform. Those who vote at the meeting on Friday evening will have to mark their mark their ballot for four candidates. This will avoid too much concentration on one candidate. With a view of interesting the members of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association in the work of the Association, publicity material will be distributed at the theatre night concert. "That's the kind of men we want in this Association," observed one delegate.

Ald. Crowe's Letter.

A long letter dealing with the question of street paving and referring to the proposed purchase of a municipal owned street paving plant was received from Alderman J. Crowe.

Mr .William Lytle moved that Ald. Crowe be asked to be present at a meeting of the Association and "look after his letter." "Ald. Crowe did not write that letter," declared Mr. Lytle.

Mr. George Giroux pointed out that the question of street paving was a technical one and should be left to competent engineers to discuss.

Mr. R. T. Harding said that a short time ago a piece of road in front of his house was in better condition than some of the pavement. It had a good coat of tar and was in splendid shape until the road-makers came along and ploughed it up. "Wen the job was completed you could hardly drive a horse and wagon over it," commented Mr. Harding. The speaker said it was not fair to the taxpayers to proceed with large expenditures such as street paving, etc. "Another thing I object to," said Mr. Harding, "is this thing of giving away five hundred or a thousand dollars to every dog fight that comes along."

Referring to the road situation again, Mr. Lytle said the Aldermen were not anxious to discuss roads. He did not see that there was much to discuss in Ald. Crowe's letter.

"A One Big Union."

The bakers of the city came in for some attention by the members of the Association.

"We are being bled by the bakers of this city," said Mr. Giroux. Continuing Mr. Giroux said the present price of flour is down to pre-war levels. When wheat went up during the war, bread went up accordingly. Peterborough consumers are paying twenty cents a large loaf and elsewhere the price is fourteen cents. It is a crime declared the sepaker.

"What is the remedy?" inquired Mr. S. T. Medd.

"The remedy," said Mr. Giroux, "is to stop buying bread for one week."

A chorus of "here! here! greeted this remark.

Mr. W. J. Nelson described the bakers' association which is now in the process of formation throughout the district, as "The One Big Union."

It was unanimously agreed that a buyers' strike would be the best means of bringing down the price of bread.

"It brought down the price of other commodities," observed one delegate.

Utilities Commission.

Mr. R. T. Harding was of the opinion that the Utilities Commission should come in for some attention at the public meeting on Friday evening next. A few months ago the water rates were substantially increased and now they have been reduced with the explanation that the original demands were not necessary at the present time. "In the face of his," said Mr. Harding, " the Commissioners go to work and take thousands of dollars from the people.

"The proof that the Commissioners made a mistake is that they are now returning some of the money," said Mr. Lytle. The latter also pointed out that St. Thomas, which secures its power from Niagara Falls, a distance of over two hundred miles, enjoyed a cheaper domestic power rate than Peterborough with electric energy right at its door. The Utilities Commission has been asked to furnish the Association with a report of their financial operations. If this report is available the matter will be discussed at the Friday night meeting.

Trips to Other Cities.

Mr. S. D. Rightmeyer said he was "terribly indignant at the number of delegations running all over the country." He referred particularly to Alderman R .Morrison's trip to the Fire Chiefs' convention at Three River.

Mr. Lytle said he had been told of one individual who went out of Peterborough "on a personally conducted tour," and came back with an expense bill of one thousand dollars. It was agreed that all deputations could not be dispensed with.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin related the case of a civic deputaiton that responded to an invitation from Wallaceburg to attend the formal opening of a filtration plant.

"Now it is a question of whether such a deputation was necessary," said Mr. Dobbin.

Mr. Medd said the engineers were more competent to form an opinion of such matters than a body of laymen.

"I suppose the Fire Chief's car is dead," enquired Mr. Harding.

"Yes, let it stay dead," chorused a number of delegates.

The question of a programme for the meeting on Friday night was left to a committee composed of Messrs. W. H. Bradburn, M. J. Maher, S. T. Medd and R. E. Layfield.

The question of a set number of subjects for discussion was dealt with at length. It was generally agreed that the meeting should be confined to a few subjects and should be speeded along by an efficient chairman.

"You want to know whether you are going to have turkey or pork when you are invited out," observed Mr. Dobbin.

AGREEMENT ON NAVAL CUT IS THOUGHT NEAR

OPINIONS EXCHANGED SO OPENLY THAT DIPLOMATISTS PREDICT RESULTS OF PARLEY ALREADY.

OTHERS FOLLOW U. S. IN "OPEN DIPLOMACY"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press).—Opinions have been exchanged among the arms delegates with such unprecedented directness that with the conference only ten days old, some of the experienced diplomats here believe they can see, almost with precision, what it will be possible to accomplish.

Following the United States example in laying down sweeping naval reduction proposals, representatives of other powers have put aside the diplomatic indirection that usually befogs such negotiations.

With the heads of the Great Powers working on the naval reduction plan, there are indications that an agreement on all but the details is near.

ELECTION NEWS

MEIGHEN REPLIES TO AUTOCRACY CHARGES.

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 22. — (Canadian Press). — Premier Meighen spoke in the twin cities of Fort William and Port Arthur last night. "I am here to meet out accusers on any and all grounds," he declared in opening, "and perhaps carry the war into Africa a little as well. What are these accusations? Mr. King says I am an intolerable autocrat, who won't supply him with information, and also that I am an usurper."

"Can you think of any humbug more transparent?" he asked in arguing that he held office by as good right as Premier Drury or Premier Taschereau.

While here, Premier Meighen received a telegram from the manager of the Cockshutt Plow Company, in which it was declared that Crerar's statement regarding Canadian implement manufacturers refusing to supply implements to the United Farmers was incorrect, as far as his company was concerned.

COUIN APPEALS FOR HARMONY AMONG RACES.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press).—Speaking in support of Hon. Walter Mitchell in the St. Antoine division last night, Sir Lomer Gouin appealed for race toleration, for better harmony among the provinces, and added that the women could influence the men to this important step.

FAIR DAY'S WORK FOR FAIR DAY'S PAY URGED.

LONDON, Nov. 22. — (Canadian Press).—Labor leaders in different parts of Britain during the week-end urged the workers to observe the doctrine of a fair day's work for a fair day's wage. The sentiments were well received.

ASPHODEL HOUSEHOLD DISRUPTED

ELECTED JURY TRIAL

Magistrate O. A. Langley reserved his decision until Saturday morning next after hearing the evidence presented by Crown Attorney Hatton in county police court on Monday afternoon against Robert T. Scott, farmer of Asphodel township, who appeared on a charge of having assaulted and beaten his wife Mrs. Janet M. Scott and having occasioned actual bodily harm to her.

Mr. F. D. Kerr K.C. represented the accused and G. W. Hatton K.C. conducted the prosecution. Mr. Scott elected to be tried by jury.

The evidence on which the charge was based was given by Mrs. Scott and her son Henry Lyle Scott whose statements were almost identical except on a few points. The difference, Mr. Hatton said, was not sufficient to effect the main facts of the case as unfolded by the Crown.

Dispute on October 28.

Henry Scott testified that on October 28 he asked his father for the use of the family's automobile or horse and buggy to drive to Norwood for groceries and to get his hair cut. His father refused to allow him to take either.

"I just forgot the words he used" said witness. "Mother told me to go ahead and crank up the car. I did so. While I was cranking it he picked up a stick and threw it at me. It went by my face."

Mr. Hatton—How close did it come to you?

Scott—About three inches.

What size was it?

About as big as a baseball bat.

Mother Struck First

Continuing he said—"I got the engine started. He (the father) got in the car and stopped the engine. Mother hit him with a small stick when he was getting in the car. He got out and picked up the stick he had thrown at me. It was lying on the floor of the driving shed. He hit mother on the arm and shoulder with the stick.

Mr. Hatton—What kind of a blow was it?

Hard enough to blacken her arm and make it swell.

I ran between them and knocked the stick out of his. Then he knocked mother down. He pushed her backward and she fell on the floor. He then grabbed me and threw me on top of her.

Mr. Hatton — What happened then?

Ran To the House

Witness—I got up and so did she. We both ran toward the house, about fifty feet from the driving shed. He picked up the same stick again and took after us. We ran toward the house. He followed cursing and swearing, and threating our lives. Mother and I stayed on the verandah about three minutes to get our breath. Then we went into the house. I helped grandmother in also. She had been on the verandah.

Mr. Hatton — What happened next?

Witness—My father went to the driveshed. I went out past the barn to go to Indian River. I got back about 4 o'clock.

Mr. Hatton—What time did the assault take place?

Witness—Between 3 and 3.30 o'clock.

How far is it.

About three miles.

And you walked six miles and got back in half an hour?

Yes. I ran a mile. I got back in half an hour or more.

Mr. Kerr—Smoke isn't in it with this young man.

Locked in Parlour

Witness—I went as fast as I could When I got back I found mother and grandmother in the parlor.We had supper there. The door was locked. He tried to force it. He said "You'll eat supper but you'll never live to eat your breakfast."

Witness explained that if his father had wished he could have easily forced the door open. "If he want-

NUMEROUS PETTY THEFTS REPORTED RECENTLY IN AND AROUND OMEMEE

OMEMEE, Nov. 22.—Several thefts are being reported in town lately, Mr. T. J. Parson's store having been broken into and a large quantity of goods stolen. The Sturgeon Street station was entered later, but nothing was taken. Potatoes were stolen from the cellar of one citizen, and two clothes' lines were robbed of several articles of value.

Political Meeting.

The political meeting held in Coronation Hall on Tuesday afternoon last in the interests of the Conservative party attracted a fair representation of the citizens. Several ladies from Lindsay also attended. Miss Constance Boulton, of Toronto, gave a lengthy address, in which she brought out all the good points of the Meighen Government. Mrs. Windrim, of Lindsay, president of the Women's National Progressive organization there, gave a short address. Mrs. Blackwell, Miss Seaton and Miss Gregory, all of Lindsay, supplied the musical part of the afternoon's programme.

Personal Mention.

Mr. Sid. Fishburn, of Toronto, was the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. Bert. Courtney, last week.

Miss Bertha Graham, of Collingwood, is the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Morden.

Mrs. Staples, of Lindsay, visited her sister, Mrs. William Earl, last week.

Miss Menzies, of Peterborough, is visiting at the home of Mr. Cecil Corneil.

Mrs. M. Weir was a visitor to Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. Hughan, of Lindsay, visited his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Fee, on Sunday.

Mr. Albert Clemett was in Lindsay on business Friday.

Messrs. William Irwin, Lowery Brooks, Walter Mitchell and Charles Toole were a party of deer-hunters to the camp, north of Bobcaygeon, last week.

Mr. Beorge Balfour, of Lindsay, visited his brother, Mr. Gabriel Balfour, during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Weaver entertained a number of their friends at a card party on Friday evening at their home.

Mrs. Fallis, of Bethany, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. Bradburn.

Dr. Younie returned home on Saturday, after a pleasant week deer hunting.

Rev. F. Stillman exchanged pulpits with the Rev. G. Clare, of Little Britain, on Sunday, it being anniversary services at Bethel.

Mrs. H. Parker was in Peterborough Saturday on business.

A number of Anglicans from Omemee attended the A.Y.P.A. convention in Peterborough last week.

Mrs. McCrea, Miss Ella MaCrea, and Mrs. R. J. Mulligan have returned home after spending a week in Toronto.

Mrs. (Rev.) Scott was hostess to an afternoon tea to a number of her friends on Wednesday last.

The A.Y.P.A. intend holding a bazaar and also their annual dinner on Tuesday, Dec. 13th.

Mrs. Yelland has moved to her new home in Lindsay. Mr. Richard Howden, who purchased her house in Omemee, is making several repairs before moving in.

A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. McConnell (nee Miss Cora Sanderson) journeyed to their home on Wednesday evening last and presented them with a miscellaneous shower.

Rev. John Bailey, of Toronto, occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning, and the Methodist in the evening, in the interests of the Dominion Alliance, having briefly outlined the work of the Alliance in his address.

Mr. William Tully, of Peterborough, visited his sister, Mrs. J. J. Magee, in town last week.

Anniversary services will be observed in the Anglican Church on Sunday next.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Mitchell and daughter, Miss Emily, were visitors to Peterborough on Saturday.

BETHANY MAN'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

SCAFFOLD ON WHICH HARVEY FALLIS WAS WORKING IN WELL GAVE WAY—SAVED BY A CLEAT

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

BETHANY, Nov. 22.—Harvey Fallis narrowly escaped drowning last Saturday afternoon while repairing the walls of a well in Mr. Lang's farm in Cavan. Fallis was working about ten feet down in the well when the scaffold on which he stood gave away; but miraculously, after a drop of some thirty feet he managed to catch hold of a cleat on one side of the well, and eventually he clambered up to safety. The well is seventy-five feet deep and contains thirty feet of water.

AVERS BRITAIN STANDS FIRMLY BESIDE FRANCE

BALFOUR TELLS BRIAND FRANCE NEED NOT FEAR THAT SHE WILL BE MORALLY ISOLATED

FRANCE IS READY TO CUT ARMY BY A HALF

WASHINGTON, November 22.—Canadian Press. — France need not fear that she will be morally isolated, A. J. Balfour, head of the British delegation, declared before the third plenary session of the arms conference yesterday, following the speech of Premier Briand, setting forth the willingness of France to reduce her army by one-half, but pointing out the necessity of France having an army large enough to ensure her security from German aggression.

Mr. Balfour said—

"M. Briand appears to have some fears lest France should feel herself in moral isolation. That would be a tragedy indeed.

"That the liberties of Europe and the world in general, and of France in particular should be maintained, and guarded against the dominating neighbor, is the cause for which the British Empire fought, and in which the British Empire still believes.

"Killed on the field of battle we lost nearly a million men. I am talking of the British Empire now. We lost nearly a million men. We lost well over two million men in addition, maimed and wounded.

"We grieve over the sacrifice; we do not repent it. And if the cause of international liberty was worthy of this immense sacrifice from one of the allied powers—I speak not of others—it is not my right to speak for them—if it deserved and required this sacrifice from one of the allied and associated powers, and if we at all events have not changed our views, either as to the righteousness of the war or as to its necessity, than can it be otherwise than if a similar necessity should again arise, if again the lust of domination, which has been the curse of Europe for so many generations, should again threaten the peace, the independence, the self-development of our neighbors and allies, how should it be possible that the sympathies once so warm, should become refrigerated, should become cold, and that we who had done so much for the great cause of international liberty, should see that cause perish before our eyes rather than make further sacrifices in its defence."

M. Briand's land disarmament proposals were:

"The thought of reducing armaments which was the noble purpose of this conference, is not one from which we would feel disinterested from the point of view of land armaments. We have shown it already. Immediately after the armistice demobilization began, and demobilization began as rapidly and as com-

Landru Admits Strangling Dogs

VERSAILLES, Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press.)— Bones of two dogs which belonged to Mlle. Marchandier, one of the eleven alleged victims of "Bluebeard" Landru, figured prominently in yesterday's session of Landru's trial for murder in the Versailles Assizes Court.

Landru having admitted that he had killed the two dogs, whose bones were produced in court again yesterday, Judge Gilbert pressed the prisoner to explain in what manner he had killed them.

"I strangled them," Landru finally shouted, and explained that he had used a waxed cord in the process.

Prosecutor Godefrey, who insisted that this particular point be brought out, declared it would aid the prosecution in proving that Landru, during fits of extreme frenzy, had strangled the missing women, cut them up into small bits and then, after regaining his normal state of mind, had sold a few cheap belongings of his victims in order to give the appearance that his relations with the women were merely commercial transactions. This argument forms the backbone of the prisoner's defence, although his attorneys have announced that they intended to plead insanity for him.

POPE ENDORSES ARMS PARLEYS

EXPRESSES HOPE FOR SUCCESS OF CONFERENCE AND MAKING REMOTE AS POSSIBLE DANGER OF ALL WARS.

ROME, Nov. 22.—His Holiness, the Pope, issued an allocution yesterday endorsing the conference on limitation of armaments and expressing hope for its success.

"In striving for the good and well-being of the peoples through the operation of reason and experience," said the allocution, "it would be a mistake to count alone on these means and not invoke the aid of God.

"For this reason we view with pleasure how the representatives of several nations have met in Washington with the aim of reaching an agreement for the reduction of armaments, and not alone do we warmly hope that their labor may have a happy success, but unitedly, for the good of all, we pray God that He may aid them with light, that they may determine not alone how to lighten the heavy burdens of the peoples, which is no small thing, but a thing which matters much more—to make as remote as possible for ever more the dangers of new wars."

The Vatican's relations with the new States and how the new agreements were established between them and the Holy See, were recounted by His Holiness, He deplored the unrest observable in them, and added:

"We note with grief that the solemn treaty of peace has not brought about peace of mind."

TO GUARANTEE INTEGRITY OF CHINA FULLY

WASHINGTON CONFERENCE REACHES FIRST DEFINITE AGREEMENT IN DECLARATION OF CHINESE POLICY.

ITS ADMINISTRATIVE INTEGRITY ASSURED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press).—A joint declaration of policy toward China, based on territorial and administrative integrity, economic opportunity, an enforced "open door," and the abolition of "special rights," was agreed upon late yesterday by all the nations represented in the Arms Conference.

The first definite agreement to come out of the conference, the declaration touches in general terms most of the principles for which China asked in her "bill of rights," but does not provide in detail for the settlement of the specific problems with which she is confronted.

Elihu Root, of the United States delegation, proposed the declaratory resolution and two hours of debate preceded its adoption. During the discussion Both Japan and China, as the most interested nations, asked many questions as to specific problems, while all the other nations took a less active part in the debate.

"Perfect satisfaction" with the resolution was expressed last night by Admiral Baron Kato, head of the Japanese delegation, although he declined to suggest what changes the agreement might lead to in the Far East. The Chinese also declared themselves gratified at the development, and the delegates of the other nations generally expressed the view that the resolution was a good start toward complete agreement on most of the Far Eastern problems.

The two features of the agreement attracting widest attention were the clauses providing "administrative integrity," for China, and that under which the powers agreed not to seek "special rights" within Chinese territory. Previous declarations of policy regarding Chinese integrity have stopped with "territorial integrity," commonly construed as a much narrower term than "administrative integrity." The "special rights" agreement was considered generally a direct contravention of the policy of "spheres of influence."

The text of the resolution was embodied in an official communique issued by the conference late yesterday. It follows:

"The Committee on Pacific and Far Eastern questions met at the

DODGING THE HOLIDAYS.

The Toronto City Council is shortly to consider a resolution calling for the municipal elections to be held in the first week of December in each year instead of on New Years Day as at present. There is much in the proposal that commands support. While theoretically the selection of a holiday such as January 1st would seem to ensure a very large vote, in practice the plan has proved a dismal failure. Instead of there being a bigger percentage of the vote polled, most cities, including Peterborough, have found that the holiday festivities have so interfered with the exercise of the franchise as to materially decrease the interest in the elections. Especially is this true of women voters who, with the added demand upon their time that New Year's feasting and merry making entail, have little chance to make use of their voting privileges. A change to the first week in December would avoid the holiday season and would not bring the election late enough to interfere with the Christmas trade. The subject is well worth consideration.

THE MUNICIPAL CANDIDATES.

The complaint has been made to the Examiner that the article which appeared in these columns last evening on the municipal elections was scarcely fair to the aspirants for office. How could they be expected to be in a position to make a definite pronouncement in advance as to their attitude on public issues? Adopting the tactics of the politicians who when heckled answer the question with another one, we might ask how the electors could be expected to vote for a candidate who had nothing to offer them but a blanket promise to act in the best interests of the citizens generally. There are problems in sight, however, with which candidates should familiarize themselves and the public are entitled to know where they stand on such issues. Board of Education candidates, for example, might reasonably be expected to have some constructive policy in regard to school accommodation, the enlarging of the Collegiate Institute, the providing of facilities for technical education. Aspirants for the Council should be ready to bring forward some definite programme for economy in public business and should be able to discuss such matters as the sewage disposal plant, the Riverside Park scheme, street paving and other important questions. The electors should be no more willing to elect a man to office who has nothing but vague promises to offer than they would sign a blank cheque and hand it over to a stranger.

AN ATHLETIC NIGHT.

An athletic night, an evening given over to the discussion of plans for the betterment of sports generally, is an innovation for this city, and on this account the gathering arranged by the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association for the Capitol Theatre on Thursday evening should appeal to the citizens. The occasion is a noteworthy one, for in addition to an excellent programme of music and moving pictures, there will be addresses on amateur sport by A. C. Copeland, of Midland, the president of the Ontario Hockey Association, and by Mr. W. A. Hewitt, secretary of the same body, an all round sporting authority, while Mr. Walter S. Smaill, newly appointed director of athletics for Peterborough, will be formally introduced. The Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association aim at a general revival in sport in this city, the elimination of the professional element, the creation of a healthy interest in manly games for their own sake, the development of an esprit de corps among the players and of a community spirit among the citizens, and Mr. Smaill is expected to play a big part in the movement. It is hoped that the theatre will be crowded on Thursday by citizens anxious to show, by their presence, that they are thoroughly in accord with the ideals of the Association. The ladies, who are enthusiastic fans at every contest, are especially urged to honour the event by their attendance.

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.

The duty of every man and woman whose name is on the voters' lists is to go to the polling booths two weeks from to-day and discharge his or her responsibility as a citizen of Canada. Unfortunately a very large percentage of the electors fail to recognize the fact that the exercise of thir franchise is not only a privilege but an obligation. "Suppose nobody cared," the slogan of the recent drive in Toronto, could well be applied to an election campaign. If the whole population were as indifferent to the composition of the government of Canada and to the policies put into force as are those who do not take the trouble to register their votes, this country of ours would be in a queer state. Here in Peterborough we have been in the past below the average in the matter of voting for even in a by-election in which five candidates were entered, dozens of meetings held and weeks of newspaper propaganda carried on, thousands of electors failed to use their franchise. In the present campaign it is perhaps idle to hope for a better showing, but the Examiner brings the mater before its readers in an endeavour to make them see that their duty is to help to select the government of their country and to indicate by their votes what course or action they wish their representatives in Parliament to follow. The man who stays away from the polls is, by his indifference, proving that he is unworthy of the name of citizen. He would bitterly resent any attempt to rob him of his privilege of voting, and yet he disenfranchises himself by neglecting the opportunity that is provided for him by a general election.

"OPEN" DIPLOMACY MISNOMER.

The attempt to raise a popular outcry in the United States against secret sessions of the Disarmament Conference committees is doomed to failure. The argument advanced in its support, that secret meetings encourage secret diplomacy, whereas what America wants is open diplomacy, is a contradiction of terms. Ex-President Wilson's "open diplomacy" cry may have had a genuine motive behind it, but whatever its genesis, he was one of the first to admit the impossibility of holding open sessions of the Peace Conference at Versailles. It is equally impossible that any real progress could be made with open sessions at the present Washington Conference.

The very essence of diplomacy is bound up in the avoidance of all preliminary embarrassments to negotiations. It does not need a very vivid imagination to conjure up a picture of what might happen, what almost certainly would happen, if the Conference committees were public and if the press seized upon and discussed partisan arguments and speeches, as they would inevitably do. The whole basis and purpose of the Conference would be wrecked; old sores would be reopened, old enmities renewed, and the way swiftly paved for another world war instead of for world peace.

There must be absolute freedom for every delegate to express himself openly, freely, and fully, without the slightest fear of causing any embarrassment to anybody by premature publicity given to his views. That the American Government recognises this is obvious. Mr. Hughes was the first to propose private sessions of the committee. Indeed he seems to have taken them for granted. It is quite clear that all the other delegates did also, since no protest was forthcoming from any of them.

The source of the protest, indeed, is not far to seek. Not once nor twice in the agonising years of the war and in the years of attempted reconstruction that have followed has a sinister influence been exerted to retard the establishment of more cordial Anglo-American relations. That influence is well known at Washington, and in London also.

* * * *

The public session with which the Conference opened was in itself a masterstroke of diplomacy, and recognised as such by some of the oldest and most experienced diplomats attending the event. The United States laid down its cards in public. But he United States does not want to discuss those cards in public, any more than Great Britain, France, or Japan do. More can be accomplished at a single secret session than could be done at a dozen public meetings. The common sense of every thinking citizen in the United States and elsewhere will recognise that fact. And when the bulk of the public agree, there is no chance for the sinister protest. — Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The announcement in the Toronto papers, "Probable cut in the price of gas," has nothing to do with election speeches.

Making guesses on the probable result of the election is the most popular indoor pastime at the present time.

Nobody has listed among the Canadian authors of fiction the gentlemen who edit the campaign literature of the different parties.

Another odd feature of the campaign is the fact that J. J. Morrison attended a political meeting and did not make a speech.

With the West York situation adjusted, the Toronto Telegram will perhaps realize that a general election is taking place.

The weatherman at least is neutral. He gave all the leaders a cool reception in the west.

The Dread Pyorrhea Begins With Bleeding Gums

Pyorrhea's infecting germs cause many ills. Medical science has proven this.

Diseased conditions, which not long ago doctors were unable to trace to a cause, are now known often to be the result of Pyorrhea germs that breed in pockets about the teeth. Rheumatism, anaemia, nervous disorders and other diseases have been traced in many cases to this Pyorrhea infection.

Don't let Pyorrhea work its wicked will on your body. Visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection.

And watch your gums yourself. Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty, begins with tender and bleeding gums; then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of poisons generated at their base.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

LAKEFIELD "GROVE" BOYS GIVE COMEDY

SEEN TO ADVANTAGE IN "CHARLEY'S AUNT"—LITERARY AND CHORAL ACTIVITIES.

LAKEFIELD, November 22.—A very clever presentation of the famous comedy, "Charley's Aunt," was put on by some of the boys at The Grove on Friday evening last. The performance, given in the school reading room, was attended by the school boys and a number of adult friends of this efficient school.

The boys took their parts splendidly, and modestly accepted the applause they received from the audience. To single out any special boy for particular notice seems almost unjust to the really clever acting of the whole company; but it is perhaps only fair to mention Ross Little and H. Roblin as having been especially good.

Also one must not forget Mrs. Fawcett, who played the part of guide, philosopher, and friend to the boys, as well as impersonating "Donna Lucia" in a pleasing manner.

The following was the cast of the characters:

Jack Chesney, J. Gray; Brasett, A. Sherwood; Charley Wykeham, J. Little; Lord Fancourt Babberly, W. Roblin; Kitty Verdon, G. Rainim; Amy Spettigue, R. Little; Stephen Spettigue, R. Loosemore; Col. Sir Francis Chesney, G. Pedlar; Ella Delahay, E. Fawcett; Donna Lucia D'Alvardores, Mrs. Fawcett.

At the close of the performance, light refreshments were served, and the guests spent a social hour with Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Mackenzie.

Literary Society.

The High School Literary Society has re-organised for the coming season with the following officers:

Hon. pres., Mr. J. M. Simpson; hon. vice-presidents, Miss Corkery and Miss Stark; pres., Elwood Girven; vice-pres., Russell Brooks; secretary, Muriel Bryce; treasurer, Jean Erskine; critic, Ivy Petrie; pianist, Eva McIlmoyle; councillors —Form I, Isabel Sutton and John Sherin; Form II., Evelyn Northey and Clarice Kidd; Form III., Lilian Moore and Clarke Dixon. Debaters —Form I., Olive McMurray and Harry Hill; Form II., Loretta Gibson and Ivan Crowe; Form III., Mina Young and Jack Ridpath.

Choral Society.

The community choir which helped to make the Armistice Day celebration so successful, has caused many to wonder why we cannot have a choral society in the village. There is sufficient musical talent of a high order to form the foundation of a splendid community choral society, and with a man like Rev. T. L. White in our midst, who has had wide experience along this very line, it seems a pity if some action is not taken to organise our musical talent for community service.

PLAN AID TO UNEMPLOYED AND STRICKEN FARMERS

WINNIPEG, November 22. Canadian Press. — Definite plans to relieve unemployment in the cities, and to cope with the serious condition of the farmers throughout the province, will, it is expected, be laid before the Provincial Government here on Thursday by a delegation of the Labour group. Several of the Labour members, residing in the rural constituencies will deal with the problems facing the farmers and the need for financial assistance in order to permit them to carry on agricultural operations next year.

"Scores of the rural schools throughout Manitoba will be forced to close their doors this winter to the inability of the farmers to pay their taxes," H. J. Starbridge, M.L.A., said in an interview here today.

GAVE ADDRESS IN LAKEFIELD

CANADIAN MISSION FIELDS DISCUSSED—LAKEFIELD NEWS.

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Mrs. Jamieson of Toronto, one of the vice-presidents of the Presbyterian Woman's Missionary Society, gave an address on Canadian missions at the annual thank offering service of the W.M.S. of the Lakefield Presbyterian church on Sunday night. Mrs. Jamieson has had wide experience in the mission fields of the West and her address was most interesting. Our responsibility to the real Canadians: the Indians, whose lands were taken from them by the White settlers was one of the strong points of the talk. These people need the gospel with its widened outlook, they are a reticent race and they worship a spirit of whom they know nothing and can tell nothing. They are receptive and make earnest and intelligent Christians and it is our duty to see that the gospel of Christ is taken to them. Not only these our brother Canadians need our help but the strangers within our gates—the foreigners who are an important factor of our national life. The Chinese and Japanese, who are flocking to the Western provinces, they too, are part of our definite responsibility as Christians and we cannot afford to overlook the crying need of Christian work to be done in our great land. A thankoffering amounting to about $70 was taken up and the choir rendered appropriate music.

Mrs. Jamieson was the guest of Mr and Mrs. J. H. Chant while in the village.

Mrs. Beavis of Hastings is visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. Hunter. Mrs. Hunter is seriously ill with pleurisy.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the G. W. V. A., will hold a special business meeting on Wednesday afternoon, November 23rd, at 3 o'clock in the W.V.A. rooms, a full attendance is requested.

FIFTEEN BOILS ON NECK AT ONE TIME

Any one who has suffered from boils can sympathize with poor old Job.

There was no Burdock Blood Bitters in those days, so Job had to suffer in silence. Nowadays no one need endure the misery of boils.

Boils are simply evidences of the bad blood within coming to the surface and just when you get rid of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery.

All the poulticing and lancing you may do will not stop more coming.

What you have to do is take

and the blood will be cleansed of all its impurities, and then every boil will disappear.

Mr. Roy McSwain, High Bank, P. E. I., writes: "I was troubled with boils for some time, and had as many as fifteen on my neck at once. After taking one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters they commenced to get better, and after I had taken two bottles I was relieved of them and felt much better. I think B. B. B. is a grand blood medicine, and can recommend it highly."

For the past 45 years B. B. B. has been manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ed to get in the door wouldn't keep him out."

Scott said that he and his mother and grandmother remained in the parlour from 4 p.m. until 9 a.m. the next day.

Mr. Hatton—Where did you have breakfast?

Witness—In the parlour.

What did you have for supper?

Bread and butter, sweet biscuits, some fruit and cold tea.

Why was it cold tea.

He took the kettle off the stove and wouldn't let us have it.

What did your father say when you asked him for the car?

He swore at me and said "You're not worth it, you can't have it.'

Mum at Meals

To Mr. Kerr witness stid he noticed that his father was in a temper.

He didn't say a word at dinner. For more than a month he would sit at the table and eat his meals without opening his mouth.

Scott said he had told his father that he had a right to the automobile because he had bought just as much of the gasoline and oil.

Mr. Kerr—Did your father say he wouldn't let a boy like you give him lip?

Witness—Yes.

Did you ask him before that if you could have it?

Yes. I asked him in the morning.

What did you tell him you wanted it for?

To get a hair cut.

In the afternoon what did you say

I said I wanted to go to Norwood for a hair cut and for the groceries.

What did your mother say?

She said, "Go on and crank the car."

Did your father's tone indicate that he was angry?

Yes.

Did your mother's tone indicate that she was angry?

Yes, but not as angry as he was.

You knew your father had forbidden you to take the car?

Yes.

At Close Range

How far was your father from you when he threw the stick?

About two feet.

What were you doing?

Cranking the car.

He wasn't a very good shot, was he?

Scott—No.

Witness said he had seen mother with a stick in her hand about a year ago. "He (the father) made her mad and she had the stick to defend herself."

Mr. Kerr—She said she'd hit him if he said anything against you or your brother?

Witness—Yes.

Had Eavesdropped

Scott admitted having heard part of his mother's evidence in the morning. He had been excluded from the room, and while in the hall had walked through the adjoining grand-jury room to the door opening on the hallway between the two court rooms.

Mr. Kerr—Heard some of the things she said?

Scott—I was there just a few minutes and I couldn't hear very plainly.

Mr. Kerr—During the trouble you were angry?—Yes but not angry enough to do anything.

Didn't your mother get annoyed and say some hot things to your father?—Yes, but not half as bad as what he said.

Did she call him any names? She called him a brute and told him he must be out of his mind.

That was before anyone was struck?—Yes.

Scott said his mother had uttered no profanity.

Mr. Hatton—Your mother called him a brute after he refused to let you have the car?—Yes. Mother said I had worked hard for him and he ought to be like other fathers.

Married 24 Years.

Mrs. Scott in her evidence said she and the defendant were married 24 years ago. They had lived in Asphodel seven years, but she and her two boys were now residing in Peterboro. Henry the older boy was eighteen years, and the other sixteen years.

"I came to Peterboro on Tuesday last. I made up my mind to leave him on Thanksgiving day after a rackett that night.'

Scott's farm is said to be worth $12,000. It bears a mortgage of $3,000. At the conclusion of the preliminary hearing Mr. Scott gathered up his coat and walked past his wife and sons. Both parties studiously ignored each other.

Pan-American Building, November 21, at four o'clock in the afternoon. All the members were present except Baron Shidehara, the Japanese Ambassador, who is ill, and Meda, of Italy.

"The committee discussed a series of resolutions prepared for their consideration by Senator Root, setting forth the general principles to guide the committee in its further investigation in regard to China, which, after full discussion and amendment, were adopted in the following form:

"1—It is the firm intention of the powers attending this conference hereinafter mentioned, to wit, the United States of America, Belgium, the British Empire, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, and Portugal.

"1—To respect the sovereignty, the independence and the territorial and administrative integrity of China.

"2—To provide the fullest and most unembarrassed opportunity to China to develop and maintain for herself an effective and stable government.

"3—To use their influence for the purpose of effectually establishing and maintaining the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations throughout the territory of China.

"4—To refrain from taking advantage of the present conditions in order to seek special rights or privileges which would abridge the rights of the subjects or citizens of friendly states and from countenancing action inimical to the security of such states.

"The committee adjourned to meet at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning."

The Block Signals Are Working—

In some respects, human experience is like railroading.

Every moment of the business and social day the block signals are giving right of way to keenness and alertness —while the slow and the heavy must wait on the sidetrack for their chance to move forward.

The ability to "go through" and to "get there" depends much on the poise of body, brain and nerves that comes with correct diet and proper nourishment.

That's why so many choose Grape-Nuts for breakfast and lunch. Served with cream or milk it is completely nourishing, partly pre-digested, and it supplies the vital mineral salts so necessary to full nutrition.

Grape-Nuts has a rich, delightful flavor, is ready to serve on the instant —and is distinctly the food for mental and physical alertness and speed. At all grocers.

LYCEUM CONCERT AT CONSERVATORY

Elsie Illingworth with her London concert party provided a large audience at the Conservatory of Music last evening with an excellent entertainment carried out entirely in the English style. The five performers are all accomplished artists, with a pleasant stage presence and finished technique which won enthusiastic applause for every number.

Miss Elsie Illingworth is the possessor of a fine mezzo soprano voice, clear, true and with a warm vibrant quality which was shown to great advantage in her charming numbers; "Down Vauxhall Way", light and dainty, "Up from Somerset" and "The Love Bells", a charming arrangement with bell accompaniment. The Barcarolle from "The Tales of Hoffman", with violin and bell obligato, was beautifully rendered.

Miss Mollie Seymour is a talented violinist, whose work received many encores. Her perfect mastery of her instrument was demonstrated in a varied programme, including Raff's "Cavatina", played with a broad bow ing and full rich tone very effective a group of rollicking Scotch melodes with a splendid imitation of the bag-pipes and excellent obligato work.

Miss Nellie Norway furnished a clever variation to the programme with her silver handbells, in "The Lost Chord", and "Love's Old Sweet Song", the silvery bells chiming in perfect accord and ringing cadences with the piano accompaniment..

Mr Herbert Wood, the accompanist of the evening, played in solo Kreisler's "Caprice" the brilliant superstructure of the composition with its melodic dreamy intervals flowing from his fingers with a clear, bell-like tone and faultless technique.

Mr. John Nestor is an impersonator, imitator and all-round comedian who added much to the evening's entertainment. With a few simple 'props', a wonderful command of his expressive features, and excellent powers of mimicry he gave the story of "the boy, the eggs, and the Punch and Judy show", "the boy and the button", and some character sketches from Dickens' works, in a manner that called forth rousing encores. His impersonations included character sketches of the several performers at a village concert and a lightning personification of Mr. David Lloyd George.

Two recitative selections by Miss Seymour, "Little Mary Fawcett" and "The Lilac Tree", were much enjoyed. Tosti's "Parted" with violin and bell obligato was a lovely number; the tender minor theme of the second movement rendered with muted strings, and one of the prettiest offerings was "Roses of Picardy", in quartette arrangement for voice, piano, violin and silver hand bells.

SCALDED TO DEATH.

BROOKLIN, Ont., Nov. 22. — While celebrating his third birthday on Saturday, little Earle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bromwell, met with a distressing accident, from which death ensued. The boy was getting on a table when his garment caught on a pail of scalding water, upsetting it on his back. The doctor was soon in attendance and everything was done but death ended his sufferings on Monday morning.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR MISS JEAN THOMPSON

GIVEN BY GIRLS OF QUAKER OATS —PRESENTATIONS AND ADDRESSES.

Last Friday evening a farewell party in honor of Miss Jean Thompson was given in the lunch-room of the Quaker Oats Company by the girls of the company, who entertained the different teams belonging to the Y.W.C.A. basketball league. The teams invited were the Western Clock, the Colonial Weaving, the Athena, the Normalites, the T. M. T. M. Club, De Laval, the Campers, and the Senior and Intermediate Gymnasium Clubs. Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Cormack, Mrs. T. Cruikshank, representing the board of managers of the Y.W.C.A.; Mrs. Drummond, convenor of the Industrial Extension Committee of the Y.W.C.A., and the staff of the local institution also attended.

Several interesting contests took place during the evening. The puffed rice contest, divided into two parts, was won by the Misses Lily Slaughter and Lily Gregory, and the Misses Jean Park and Dorothy Mills. Consolation prizes went to the Misses Myrtle Bradley, Clara Morgan, Eva Outram and Hazel McCollum. The contest in which the donkey was tailed saw Miss Mildred Sisson victor, with Miss Jean Thompson consolation winner. A musical programme, to which Mrs. Russell contributed a piano selection; Miss Trucie Pearson, a vocal solo; Miss Martha Kirn, an aesthetic dance, and Miss Greta Scarrow two readings, was followed by supper served at long tables. Mr. Gandys, of the Quaker Oats staff, made a humorous chairman, and class yells and songs were indulged in.

After the supper, expressions of appreciation were tendered Miss Thompson by spokesmen from the different teams, and addresses read by Miss Northcott and Miss Warman, accompanied the presentation of a bouquet of flowers, a clock from the Quaker Oats girls who have attended the noon-hour meetings conducted by Miss Thompson, and half a dozen tea-cups and plates from the basketball teams.

Miss Thompson replied in suitable terms, and Mr. Gandys introduced Miss Jean McLoughlin to the girls, as Miss Thompson's successor in the noon-hour visiting and the recreation work.

Short addresses were also made by Mrs. Drummond, Mrs. Cruikshank and Mr. Cormack.

At the next general election held in England, nine women will make Kingston at the coming election.

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO KEEP HER LOCKS DARK, GLOSSY, BEAUTIFUL.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

ARE OPPOSED TO FRANCHISE EXTENSION

LINDSAY, Nov. 22.—The Victoria County Council have adopted a recommendation from their committee that no action be taken with respect to the proposal of the Provincial Secretary to extend the municipal franchise to relatives of property owners living in the house with them, and who are 21 years of age. The committee expressed itself as opposed to any further extension of the municipal franchise.

URGES 100 THE PHONE CALL FOR FIRE HALL

THIS IS FIRE ALARM NUMBER BEING ESTABLISHED IN ALL TOWNS.

An effort is being made by Fire Chief George Grange to have the telephone of the fire hall changed from 24 to 100, which is being established as the telephone number of stations throughout the Dominion.

Fire chiefs in convention in 1920 passed a resolution asking the government to make it law to have the telephone number 100 nationalized. So far the Government it is said has done very little towards this end, but individual efforts in different cities have been made until in practically every city if you call 100 you are sure of getting the fire hall. Hamilton is the latest city to adopt that number.

The idea is to have the same number in every city so that strangers can send in the alarm without any confusions. I want to get it established here, and I think we will be successful. The difficulty has been that the citizen whose number is now one hundred does not care to have it changed. I think however, we will be able to get together in agreement, for it is an important matter, Chief Grange said. The number of the fire hall has always been 24 and in case of a call not being an alarm the words "no fire" are customarily added.

LECTURE ON THE EMERALD ISLE

VIVID WORD-PICTURE OF IRELAND BY REV. ROBERT POGUE

To a well filled church, the Rev. Robert Pogue gave one of the most thrillingly interesting lectures that has been delivered in St. Paul's for some time. As he described his journey over the wide expanse of our own country to the sea border, you could in fancy see the fields, rivers and lakes flying past, and his description of quaint old Quebec and its storied heights was very realistic.

After a pleasant trip he arrived in his native land—Ireland. Clouded in a blue haze, like a jewel nestling in the undulating sea, a great deep love for it welled through his heart.

So vivid was the gifted speaker's description of the landscape, the industries, the habits and customs of its people, that the audience almost forgot that they were sitting in a Peterborough church. In imagination they were in Ireland, amid its beauty of scenery, its many problems, its complexities, its prosperity and its varied viewpoints.

The speaker visited Scotland before leaving for home. Of course Scotland did not have the charm for an Irishman equal to that of Ireland, it was tame and doniestic after leaving the stirring scenes of the Emerald Isle, but still he admitted that Scotland had a few points of interest.

When next Mr. Pogue consents to again favor a Peterborough audience with this or a similar lecture, we bespeak for him a capacity house.

Mr. E. C. Prentice was in Campbellford on Saturday.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN COULDN'T SLEEP NIGHT

To those on the verge of a nervous breakdown the following symptoms present themselves: nervous headaches, a feeling of depression, fitful, disturbed, restless and unrefreshing sleep, often troubled with frightful dreams, avoidance of crowded places, dread of being alone, horror of society, etc.

When the nerves become affected in this way the heart generally becomes affected too, and on the first signs of any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown do not wait until your case becomes hopeless, but get a remedy that will at once quieten the nerves, strengthen the heart and build up the entire system.

This you will find in

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Mrs. M. Damgand, Young's Cove Road, N.B., writes: "I was bothered very much with my heart and nerves; had nervous headaches and dizziness, could not sleep at nights, and my appetite was all gone. I was on a nervous breakdown when a neighbor told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This I did, and before I had the second box used I was better and would advise anyone who has nerve trouble to take them."

Price, 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Chorus Girl Tells of Congressman's Wooing.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Rep. Manuel (Handsome) Herrick, of Oklahoma, overplayed his role of investigator when gathering evidence on newspaper beauty contests in Washington some months ago, according to the mother of Miss Anna Elizabeth Niebel, a member of the Midnight Frolic cast, less than 18 years old. Mrs. Elizabeth Niebel, the mother, has obtained an appointment as guardian of Anna in the New York Supreme Court in order, she said, that she might bring suit for $50,000 against Herrick on behalf of the young woman, for alleged breach of promise to marry.

Herrick is alleged to have circularized the leading entrants in a newspaper beauty contest, describing himself as handsome and intimating that the young lady of his choice stood a chance of becoming the first lady of the land. Herrick, it is alleged, ran his own beauty contest, the winner of which was to get him as the prize.

Miss Niebel said she received a letter from Herrick notifying her that she led the field. He admitted being handsome, Miss Niebel said, and as he was also a congressman, she permitted him to call on her. A discussion of marriage is said to have taken place in the presence of Mrs. Niebel.

"He told me, 'I am the lonesomest man in town.'" Miss Niebel said. "He said: 'I long for companionship and aim to get a wife; won't we be happy when we are married?"

MORE RIOTS IN BELFAST.

BELFAST, Nov. 22. — (Canadian Press).—Under cover of darkness last night, gunmen fired a volley along Earl Street and killed pedestrians. Two men entered a public house on Station Stand, ordered the bartender to throw up his hands. When he declined he was shot and killed.

Speaking at Comber, outside Belfast, J. M. Andrews, Minister of Labor, in the Ulster Parliament, declared that there could only be unity in Ireland when time had dimmed the memory of the outrages and through union of hearts brought about by common interests, common ideals and mutual confidence.

THE secret of getting well is finding the right medicine. The fact that Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin has the largest sale in the world would seem to prove that several million people find it THEIR right medicine. Miss Evelyn A. Craig of Sherbrooke, Que., once a semi-invalid, says Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup turned her sickness into health.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—A pair of perfect feet, dainty, pink, exquisitely arched insteps and comfortable in 4 1-2 B, has been discovered in New York, and is on exhibition at the Health Show.

The flawless pedals are owned by Miss Elizabeth Doyle, a nurse. They were discovered by a physician who dared her to show them to Reuben H. Gross, register of the first Pediatric Institute. Of hundreds of feet, the register examined, he decided Miss Doyle's were entitled to the prize to be awarded next Saturday at the foot clinic booth of the exposition. Miss Doyle had on high heels, pointed toes and thin soles when the award was made.

MOVE FOR COMMUNITY HALL IN OTTAWA

OTTAWA, November 22. Canadian Press. — The first steps in what it is hoped will result in the early erection of a suitable hall in Ottawa for community purposes, were taken at yesterday's luncheon of the Ottawa Rotary Club when a resolution was unanimously adopted placing the club on record as favoring the project.

A committee will be appointed to communicate with all the local societies and organizations directly interested in the scheme in an endeavor to coordinate the efforts of the whole community towards the erection of such a building.

TRUE FRIENDSHIP.

"A friend in need," my neighbor said to me,
"A friend indeed is what I mean to be;
In time of trouble I will come to you,
And in the hour of need you'll find me true."

I thought a bit, and took him by the hand,
"My friend," said I, "you do not understand
The inner meaning of that simple rhyme,

Marine blue crepe de chine and ochre-colored lace make a charming costume.

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlook the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, having been afflicted with kidney trouble. I used two doctors' medicine previous to this, without any good results. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel a good deal better. I have now used about six or eight boxes, and am completely relieved."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

ANYTHING GOES IN VAUDEVILLE

BUT IT'S INTERESTING THE WAY BABE RUTH COMES "ON STAGE"

NEW YORK, Nov., 21.—In vaudeville one man is as good as another if not better and "Babe" Ruth makes no apologies.

If you can roll a hoop better than anyone else in your country or stick hatchets in a bass-wood plank at 20 paces, tickle your right shinbone with your left ear, tear out paper doilies while whistling "Hearts and Flower", loop the loop on a high-wheel bike or press a pair of pants on a slack wire there's only one place for you:

Vaudeville

"Babe" Ruth is the home-run champion. He can't sing but neither can the hoop-roller. He can't dance but neither can the hatchet-thrower. He can't act, but what's that to do with vaudeville?

Quite a Problem

There was quite a problem in getting him onto the stage once the curtain went up "Duke" Cross a certified union actor with a paid up equity card and an old book full of press clippings to prove it, is the first person observed. He comes to answer the telephone something like this and very, very subtle, too:

"Hello, oh, hello Bob Meusel, right-fielder for the Yankees. What can I do for you, Bob Meusel? You say that Babe Ruth is going on the stage and is coming up to see me about his act? You say Babe Ruth, the home-run champion, is likely to be here most any moment? You say he is just leaving the Polo Grounds in his motor-car? Ha! Ha! All right, Bob Meusel, right-fielder of the Yankees."

Cross hangs up, turns about and frankly admits:

"'Babe' Ruth on the stage! This is rich."

Such art, such grace! Thus deftly managed, the entrance of Babe Ruth occurs like an execution behind the little green door up the Hudson. You sit there an wriggle for Babe's sake. You want to rise up and cry:

"'S all right! 'Babe! We believe youre game enough to do it, but don't."

Enter Babe Ruth

But there, some cheering offstage and enter Babe Ruth, laughing merrily, golf-bag hung over one shoulder, bat clamped under his left arm, right fist still malingering in a gauze bandage, just down from the Polo rounds wearing the Yankees' road uniform. It should be explained that "Babe" always goes about New York in uniform just as Jack Dempsey always bangs around the hotel lobby in fighting trunks, and famous surgeons, go about wearing their operating masks and robes.

There's same talk about singing but you don't take it seriously until "Babe" grabs a spindly gilt chairs, slams it down near the trough, climbs into it backward, and begins emitting strange sounds of distress like a child getng its first whipping and a good one, too.

You freeze with horror, then fling yourself from your chair. You trample old women and battle with paralytics in frenzied flight for the street. There you find Broadway flowing by, all of a clatter, serenely unconscious of what's going on behind the stolid doors of the Palace.

NEW PLAN TO CHECK RUM SMUGGLING TO U S

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press).—Prohibition Director David H. Morris, in reporting to Commissioner Haynes, yesterday, took up the question of liquor reaching the United States from Canada via Mexico.

"Whisky is shipped from Canada to Mexico as medicine", he said, "and is smuggled into this country for bootlegging purposes. Rum-runners travel in high-powered cars with women companions, make perhaps several trips before being caught and then go free by paying maximum fines. This will be stopped by amending the Federal smugglers' law".

Mr. Morris recommended Federal legislation governing smuggling across the Mexican border which would put rum-running on the same basis with merchandise smuggling, which is subject to a two years' pris on sentence.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

NORTH DUMMER HEARS DEWART

ADDRESSED A LARGELY ATTENDED MEETING ON SATURDAY EVENING—THE ADDRESSES.

DUMMER, Nov. 22.—In spite of bad roads and inclement weather, a large crowd which filled the schoolhouse at North Dummer, turned out on Saturday night to hear Capt. John A. Dewart, M.C., Liberal candidate, discuss the issues of the day.

Mr. Garfield Crowe was chairman, and in an effective and vigorous speech criticized the present government for its extravagance. He affirmed his faith in the Liberal party to give the country representative government, and he pointed out that with three parties the minority might rule. He scored the Drury government for not carrying out its election pledges, particularly in regard to the road system, whereby the farmers on the back concessions were neglected and the money lavished on roads for the use of tourists and members of the Ontario Motor League. He pointed out that out of the 1,400 miles of highway built by the Drury government, only eight miles were in the County of Peterborough, and East Peterborough had none at all, yet had to help pay for the roads. The attitude of the Farmer government was: "We are sure of the farmer vote without doing anything fir him, we want to induce the people of the cities and towns to vote for us." He deplored the fact that the anti-government vote would be split in this election and advised the electors to combine their support behind Mr. Dewart.

The Candidate.

Mr. Dewart, in a strong speech, reviewed the railway situation and showed how the present government had departed from democratic principles of government. He laid down the Liberal tariff policy and claimed that Hon. W. S. Fielding was the man most fitted to handle the finances of the country at this critical time. He showed that Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. T. A. Crerar had been colleagues as cabinet ministers in the Union government, how they were equally responsible for the way in which the election of 1917 was conducted, for the carrying out of the Military Service Act, the appointment of the Board of Directors of the Canadian National Railways and the policy of concealing the business of these railways from the people. These men had worked together in the past, would they not work together after the election.

He explained Mr. Crerar's connection with the big financial interests and expressed surprise that the farmers could follow a man whose interest in the past policy had been opposed to the farmer ideals. He showed how the Liberal policy and platform was the best for the interest of the farmers and all classes in Canada.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

EPWORTH LEAGUE ENTERTAIN YOUNG PEOPLE—ELECTION MEETING.

CAMPBELLFORD, November 22.—The Epworth League last evening entertained the young people of St. Andrew's church, Burnbrae. The visitors to the number of ninety, provided an excellent programme, which was varied and revealed the literary and musical ability of the young people of Burnbrae.

In the absence of the President, Mr. C. A. Wilson, Mr. G. F. Phillips very ably conducted the opening exercises and on behalf of the League extended a hearty welcome to the visitors. Mr. Thomas Chaplin, the president of the Burnbrae Guild, then took the chair, and gave the usual chairman's address, his subject being "Good Nature,' which is so necessary for all. The male quartette, composed of Messrs. Murray Meiklejohn, Harvey Donald, Victor Taylor and Allan Hutcheon, rendered a pleasing number. Miss Hazel McKenzie gave an amusing reading, entitled "A Kindergarten Plot,' and being heartily encored responded with "Canadian Born," both numbers showing marked ability as an elocutionist. A mixed quartette, composed of Mesdames Thompson, Craighead and Messrs. Edward Rannie and George Donald contributed a well rendered number. A little play entitled "Men not Wanted," proved most amusing, each taking her part with great credit. Those taking part were Miss Nellie Jeffs, Marjorie Rannie, Miss Thain, Misses Sylvia Whitton, Eva Milne, Harriet Little, Freda Hay and Miss Margaret Milne. Mrs. Charles Milne rendered a solo in her usual sweet voice, which was thoroughly appreciated. An instrumental duet by Misses Frances Haig and Thain won much applause. Mrs. Rannie gave a fine reading entitled "The Shadow on the Blind," which was most amusing. "Anchored," by a mixed quartette, composed of Mesdames Craighead, Walker and Messrs. G. Donald and H. Donald, was well rendered. Mr. Murray Meiklejohn gave a pleasing cornet solo, after which Mr. Lindsay Anderson acted as critic.

Refreshments were then served, and a jolly social hour was spent before the visitors took their departure.

Hunters Return.

Messrs. Charles Cochrane, Peter Cochrane, John Shaw and Andrew Puffer returned on Saturday from Lake Township, where they had been in quest of deer. They were successful in bringing home two deer.

Election Meeting

A meeting in the interests of the National Liberal-Conservative candidate, Mr. Milton Maybee, will be held in Seymour East at Pethericks Corners on Friday night, November 25th. Besides the candidate there will be Col. Boggs of Cobourg, and Major Bellard of Codrington, who is favourably known in Campbellford, where he has delighted audiences on different occasions by his wit and humor.

Father Phelans' Bazaar

Father Phelan's Bazaar which is to be held in the Opera to-day and to-morrow promises to be a grand success. Tea will be served; fancy and plain articles will be for sale and a dance in the evening. Father Phelan is a live wire and is leaving no stone unturned to make the bazaar a huge success.

Women's Institute

The regular meeting of Seymour West Women's Institute will be held at th home of Mrs. John Fairman on Thursday afternoon. November 24th Mrs. Reginald McCullouch and Miss Mabel Rutherford delegates to the recent convention in Toronto will give their report. A cordial invitation is extended to all the ladies to be present.

Chimney Fire

On Sunday shortly after the hour of the morning services in the churches, the fire alarm was sounded. The fire was on Saskatoon avenue at the home of Mr. Clark, where a chimney was burning out. Yesterday afternoon again the fire gong sounded, this time, being on Rear street at the home of Mr. Andrew Hay and was also a burning chimney. In each case there was no damage done.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

MILL PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS —VISITORS TO TOWN OVER THE WEEK END.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 22. — Mr. Attwool has recently sold the lower mill property to Mr. McLeod, of Hamilton, and the latter has already taken possession and intends shortly moving his family to the house formerly occupied by Mr. Attwool.

Mr. Attwool and his family moved to Millbrook last week and are now living in Mrs. Medd's house. The chopping mill and saw mill here, together with some farm property in connection with his present residence, will fully occupy Mr. Attwool's time. As he and his family were former residents of Millbrook before taking over the lower mill property, they will be warmly welcomed as good citizens now they have decided to permanently reside in the village.

Dr. H. A. Turner returned on Saturday after being absent for some week in New York, where he has been taking some post-graduate work in connection with his profession.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lord and their three daughters, Misses Mabel, Miriam and Winnifred, were visitors to Peterborough on Saturday, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lord, Smith street.

Mrs. Lacheur, of Peterborough, was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noble Stewart, over the week end.

Miss Eva Nokes, teacher at Matchett's school, was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Birchard, over Sunday.

Mrs. Medd, senior, and her son, Mr. Sidney Medd, of Peterborough, spent a few days in town last week attending to some business matters in connection with Mrs. Medd's property here.

Miss Gertrude Richards was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. McKim, of Peterborough, on Saturday. Her little niece, Miss Gertie, who has been visiting at Mrs. McKim's for some time, returned with her.

Mrs. De Geer, of Oakwood, also Mrs. McDonald and her daughter, Olive, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bichard.

Mrs. G. W. Sayles and Miss Alice Stewart sang a duet which was much appreciated in the anthem, "Saviour like a shepherd lead us," which was sung in the Methodist church on Sunday morning; the obligato was well taken by four girls, the youngest members of the choir, Misses Gladys Tucker, Jean Burnham, Marjorie Savles and Kathleen Freelove.

Mrs. Henry Mulligan has returned from an extended visit with friends in Ottawa, where she went to attend her niece's wedding. Another niece, Miss Armstrong, of Melita, Man., is now the guest of her aunts, Mrs. Mulligan, and Mrs. R. J. Doak.

Mrs. Robert Smith has closed her home here for the winter months, and will remain with her daughter, Mrs. W. Larmer, Cavan.

Interesting Visitor.

An interesting visitor recently in the village was Mr. Walter Smith, who spent last week with his cousin, Mr. Thomas, leaving on Monday to rejoin his ship at Halifax.

Mr. Smith served in the Imperial navy all through the war, and was in the battle of Jutland, being wounded in the right arm. Besides being on a battleship, he also served in a submarine and was in the aerial sea service as well, winning the D.S.O. and there other medals during the years of the war.

Mr. Smith's first trip to Canada was when the Prince of Wales made his visit to our Dominion, being on one of the ships which formed a protecting squadron for the Royal cruiser. He has now enlisted under the Canadian government and is training a class of boys who are learning to be signallers. His ship is now bound for the West Indies and his furlough is not again due until next May.

Moving Away.

Mrs. Horner, senior, who with her son, Mr. James Horner, her brother, Mr. McAlpine and her granddaughter, have been residents of Millbrook for some time ,living on the Mitchell property west of Mr. William Deyell's on Anne street, have recently removed to the States. Mr. William Ward has purchased the property but does not intend moving until spring.

Mr. J. K. Dennyes, M.P.P., of Belleville, preached on the subject of Missions from a layman's standpoint, on the Cavanville circuit, on Sunday, November 2th, taking the ing, at Fairmount in the afternoon, ing, at Sairmount in the afternoon, and at Cavan at night. Good congreagtions greeted Mr. Dennyes, who is a very fine speaker, and gave three excellent sermons during the day. Special music was provided by the choir at all three appointments, and the returns received in extra missionary subscriptions were very gratifying.

Epworth League.

The Epworth League meeting on Monday evening was under the direction of the Missionary committee, the second vice-president, Mrs. Sayles, being in the chair. The missionary Scripture lesson consisted of various short passages read by ten different members, while the study for the evening was: "A survey of Africa," which proved both interesting and instructive and was taken by Mr. Arnold Raper. A reading emphasizing the value of tilling and the whole question of the stewardship of life, entitled, "Marian Gordon, Steward," was well read by Miss Kathleen Freelove, one of the Junior Leaguers.

Forward Movement dues were received by the secretary, Miss Lila Pethick, and the meeting closed with the benediction.

At a committee meeting held afterward it was decided, after some discussion, to hold a bazaar some time before Christmas to assist the missionary department in raising funds. The chief claim on all the money raised by the young people now is the Rev. Hibbart's salary, he being the missionary in China, supported wholly by the Sunday schools and Leagues of the Peterborough district.

"According to the military laws of France there are to be three classes of men, that is three generations of young men under the flag.

"That law is still extant; that law is still valid. It has not been abrogated yet; and the Government has taken the responsibility of reducing to two years the time spent under the colors, and instead of three classes—three generations of young men—we have only two undergoing service.

"It is therefore an immediate reduction of one third that has taken place in the effectives—and I am speaking of the normal effectives of the metropolis, leaving aside troops needed for colonial occupation imposed by treaty in the Rhineland or countries under the plebiscite.

"We do not think that endeavor was sufficient, and in the future we have plans to further restrict the extent of our armies. In a few days it is certain that the proposals of the government will be passed in the Chamber to further reduce the military services by half. That is to say, there will only be one class and a half actually serving.

"The metropolitan French army would be therefore reduced by half, but if anybody asks us to go further, to consent to other reductions, I should have to answer clearly and definitely that it would be impossible for us to do it without exposing ourselves to a most serious danger."

Dress Goods, Coatings and Silks

Lowest Prices of the Year

400 Yards All-Wool Dress Serges, per Yard - 83c

A good Serge in spite of the low price. Firm and fine and 37 inches wide. Choice of navy blue, Myrtle green, burgundy, dark brown and black.

$2 All-Wool Dress Serge, $1.38 Yd.

A Serge with plenty of quality. Good enough for coats, suits, skirts and dresses. Absolutely all-wool and 54 inches wide. Choice of Copenhagen blue, navy blue, brown and black. Good value, even at $2.00 yard.

$3 and $2.75 Tweed and Homespun Coatings, $1.89 Yard

Marked at this low price for quick selling and a complete clearaway. Odd lines of good qualities. You will find mid-greys and dark sand colors and tweed effects. All are either $2.75 or $3.00 values.

85c Tartan Plaid Dress Goods, 59c Yard

We thought so highly of this fabric that we imported it. It has just arrived. There is a selection of three attractive tartan patterns and all are 38 inches wide. Possess good wearing qualities and has a smart appearance.

Women's White Flannelette Night Gowns, 98c

Our second shipment of these excellent Gowns arrived yesterday. Our Annex Sales are keeping a factory busy making them.

The quality of the flannelette is good. Made with button front, tucked yokes and pale blue stitching at the neck and sleeves. Generous sizes.

It requires five yards to make one and the quality is exactly the same as our special 19c Annex value. At this price you get a Gown at the cost of the material and nothing is said about making and trimming.

Women's All-Wool Sweater Coats, $2.49

LESS THAN HALF PRICE

There is not a garment in the lot that is not at least less than half price. The colors are mostly greens, browns and blues. Made in smart belted styles. A limited number. They may not last throughout the day.

Fine Lawn Tea Aprons, 29c, 3 for 80c

45C TO 75C VALUES

A clearing lot of manufacturer's samples. About two hundred fine Lawn and Muslin Tea Aprons. Factory samples of regular 45c to 75c values. Selection of styles with embroidery, lace and hemstitched trimmings.

Many are more or less soiled and need to be laundered, but are in no way damaged.

Bungalow Aprons, 53c

Made of striped print in regular bungalow style with utility pockets; bound with white at the neck and sleeves. Excellent in every way and great value.

Women's Chambray House Dresses

79c

You will like their style and quality, and we are sure the price will suit. Made on straight lines and choice of pink or blue. The neck, pockets, sleeves and belt are trimmed with ric-rac braid. Former $1.50 value.

Truly a Wonderful Opportunity.

Women's 75c Winter Weight Underwear, 49c Garment

Elastic knit, closely ribbed garments. The Vests have button fronts and long sleeves and the Drawers are full ankle length. Choice of grey or white.

Women's Light Grey Fleece-Lined Bloomers, 69c

"Yorknit" Snug-Fit Bloomers. A heavy quality, lined with a warm fleece. Elastic ribbed bands at waist and knees. Generous sizes; light natural grey color.

"P.C." Corsets, 87c Pair

Made of white coutil, have four rubber-tipped hose supporters, medium bust. Excellent value.

Women's 50c Black Cashmerette Hose, 33c Pair, 3 Pairs 95c

A suitable weight Stocking for winter wear. There are sizes 9, 9½ and 10. Excellent value at the above prices.

Women's Holeproof Silk Hose, 49c Pair, 2 Pairs 95c

Factory seconds from the Holeproof Hosiery Co. Black, brown or white. Sizes 8½ to 10, but not all sizes in each color. By far the lowest price of the year. About 200 pairs.

Fine ribbed Stockings possessed with good wearing qualities. Fast dye, double heels and toes. All sizes 6 to 10.

FACTORY SECONDS

Children's "Little Daisy" Cream Hose, 47c Pair, 2 Pairs 90c

There is nothing seriously wrong with them. They are certainly marked low enough to make up any difference there may be between "firsts" and "seconds." Sizes 5½ to 7½.

Two and Three-Ply Factory Knitting Yarn, 25c ¼ lb.

About one hundred lbs. of our standard quality Knitting Yarn. Nine o'clock buyers will find a selection that includes mid-grey, black and white; also mixed grey and white and black and white.

"Otonabee" Shetland Floss, 10c Skein

We offer our new December shipment of this very excellent Floss. A fine range of beautiful colors that includes black and white.

60c and 65c Lace-Trimmed Runners and Dresser Scarfs, 39c

Excellent value and will make good Christmas gifts. The edges are finished with Val. or torchon lace and the material is pure white cotton. The lengths are 36, 45 and 54 inches.

Five-String Corn Brooms, 45c

There is always dirt to sweep, and at this season of the year there is snow. These Brooms are as good at one as another. The handles are polished smooth in a red color. Well filled with green corn and bound with five strings.

2000 Yard of Striped Flannelette, per Yard 17c

This is the greatest Flannelette value of the season and right in the face of advancing prices in this class of goods.

All day we will sell it at this price, which is less than to-day's wholesale cost. 35/36 inches wide and can be had in an assortment of pink, blue, dark grey, tan and blue grey stripe patterns.

A positive limit of not more than 20 yards to one buyer and no 'phone or C.O.D. orders.

Circular Pillow Cotton 33c Yard

An All-Day Sale of this fine cotton. Widths, 40, 42 and 44-inch. A value that has no equal in or out of Peterborough.

65c Grey Flannel, 39c Yard

Entire Christmas Stock of 75c Habutai Wash Silks, 47c Yard

Every woman knows the many uses of Habutai, and especially at Christmas time. There is a selection of twenty colors, including black and white. A good washing and good wearing grade. It is 27 inches wide.

Mostly 35c and 45c values. Very dainty creations. Choice of white embroidered with white and colors and some with colored borders and centres in a great variety of pretty shades.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press.) — Speculative interest continued to centre in Oils at the opening of to-day's stock market. Mexican Petroleum led the foreign division at an advance of 1 3-8 and Invincible featured the cheaper domestic oils, heavy buying resulting in an early advance of 1 1-2 points. American Tobacco, Burns Brothers, Gulf States Steel and Peoples Gas registered early gains of one to three points. Publication of the re-organization plan of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway invited moderate purchase of the preferred stock. Pullman was the only reactionary issue, adding 1 -2 points to yesterday's late reversal.

Trading ran largely toward specialties during the morning, the usual leaders in the Industrial groups showing no material changes. Gulf States Steel made an extreme advance of five points on buying attributed to Southern interests, and some of the other Independent Steels were firm. The usual conflicting movements were shown by Oils, Mexican Petroleum and other high-priced issues yielding to profit-taking. Secondary Rails, especially Missouri Pacific Preferred, Pere Marquette, Toledo, St. Louis and Western Common and Preferred, Kansas City Southern and Chicago Great Western, strengthened on moderate buying, but of the Investment Rails, only Reading and Union Pacific showed any activity. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

The market steadied at mid-day, but the leaders remained in the back ground, while unimportant stocks were in further demand. Sloss Sheffield Steel, Crutible Steel Preferred, Davison Chemical, Mackay Preferred and Ajax Rubber were prominent at gains of one to three points.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 22. — (Canadian Press).—Opening wheat quotations, which ranged from 1-8 to ¼ higher, with December 1.09¾ to 1.09½, and May 1.11¾ to 1.11½, were followed by a slight set-back and then by new gains, a little above the initial top figures.

Corn and oats hardened with wheat. Corn was unchanged to ¼ higher, May 54 3-8 to 54½. The market eased a little and then scored moderate gains all around.

Oats started unchanged to ¼ higher, May 38 to 38 1-8, and then weakened, but soon went upward again.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange easy; demand, Great Britain, 3.98 5-8; Canadian dollars 8 7-8 per cent. discount.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press).—Victory Loans continued to give a good account of themselves on the local Stock Market, with increased activity and renewed strength developing this morning. Mackay was also a prominent feature with sales one point higher at 80 on transactions exceeding 400 shares. In Victory Loans the 1924's were 45 cents higher at 98.45; 1933's during the morning sold at 101.75; 1934's were 35 cents higher on the close, and 1937's closed at 103.75.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press).—Nothing startling occurred on the local Stock Exchange during the first half-hour this morning. Brompton appeared a quarter down at 25¾, and Laurentide a half weaker at 77. Riordon, too, registered a quarter point loss at 7½, while Wayagamack, in keeping with the other falling issues, weakened a half to 41.

RED-LETTER DAY AT MARK STREET.

On Sabbath last missionary anniversary services were held at Mark Street. The congregations were large and the music good. Rev. Mr. Whattam, of Colborne, preached at all three services, and delivered excellent addresses. The missionary cause was well sustained, both from the pulpit and the pew, and nearly $500 was subscribed. This is an excellent beginning for a successful missionary year. Last year the Mark Street Circuit raised for General Missionary Fund $650, the W.M.S. raised about $200, Sunday School $61, Epworth League $50, the Mission Band $116—making a total for missions of $1,077. This ought to be very convincing and suggestive, and should convince many people in this city that Mark Street is very much alive. Rev. Mr. Whattam did us good service, for which we are very grateful. We also are grateful to those who so kindly helped us with our music.

Constipation

It is a disease-producing malady, and if not corrected may result in serious complications. In good health the bowels should move freely at least once every day, carrying away the waste products from the Blood and Liver. If this function fails or is irregular, the work of removing the poisons falls on the Skin and Kidneys, with the result of the latter organs becoming congested and clogged. The Blood becomes poisoned. Indigestion sets in, the Kidneys become deranged, and a severe if not fatal illness is brought on. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS correct this trouble by its action on the Liver, causing a healthy flow of Bile, and exerting a soothing and toning influence on the whole Intestinal Track.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets are put up in three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00 per Box. For sale at Warne's Drug Store, Peterborough.

Evening Frocks With a Youthful Air

LISSOME DRAPED DRESSES of georgette and taffeta. Dresses with the billowing skirts that make ideal dance frocks for the debutante. They are picturesque as the frocks worn when Queen Victoria was a girl, but the short corselet bodice of those days has given way to the long straight corsage. A more becoming version of the picture frock. The prices are moderate ..... $32.00 to $65.00

THERE IS, for instance, a little tight-bodiced gown of peach colored taffeta with Victorian shoulder The skirt is composed of a series of folds and corded puffs. A girdle of turquoise ribbon with tiny roses in pastel shades add a charming color note. Price $32.00

THE VOGUE OF SEQUIN AND TULLE is charmingly translated in a Dress with bodice of Iridescent sequin. The skirt is composed of pointed panels edged with gold thread, a huge tulle bow sweeping down at the side is held in place with a bunch of red velvet grapes. Price $57.50

A DAINTY LITTLE FROCK of green shot taffeta with basque bodice and petal sleeve. The skirt is composed of four petal-shaped flounces edged with silver thread. The girdle and shoulder straps are formed of silvered ribbon, finished with tiny roses. Price $32.50

Afternoon Frocks

GRACEFUL LITTLE FROCKS of satin, taffeta and crepe de chene. They show the simple lines, wide girdles knotted on the left hip, the flying panels and loose sleeves, and one can but wonder that styles so pretty and materials so excellent can be had for the money. Specially priced at $22.50

COOTIES CARRY TYPHUS, FRENCH TESTS PROVE

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The story of the wartime sacrifices of American cooties was told before a sectional meetin gof the American Public Health Association convention by Dr. J. L. Todd, of McGill Medical College, of Montreal. Thousands of the little fellows, he said, were conveyed on cooties transports to Poland, where they rendered valiant service as subjects of feeding tests in the war on typhus.

It was impossible to obtain typhus-free cooties in continental Europe with which to experiment. By using the American and English variety, bacteriologists were able to show that cooties fed on typhus, and trench fever cases developed "Rickettsia prowazeki" which, in turn caused typhus when the infected cootie found a victim.

CRUSHED BETWEEN BARN AND A PILE OF STONES

WEST OPS, Nov. 22.— Suffering from severe cuts, bruises about the back and concussion of the spine, Dominic, eldest son of Hiliary Fitzpatrick, a farmer of West Ops, lies in a precarious condition.

Mr. Fitzpatrick and his son were enagged in cement work at the case of the silo, when a heavy barn door became detached from its hanger, and fell. Mr. Fitzpatrick was struck by the door but was only slightly injured, but his son was crushed between the structure and a pile of stones. His father lifted the door, which had securely pinned his son to the earth and it was seen that he was severely injured. Two physicians were called and they pronounced that, besides other injuries, the boy's whole body from his shoulders down, is paralyzed, although he never lost consciousness.

FIRST IMPORTANT INDUSTRY TO LOCATE IN NORTHERN PART OF PETERBORO' CITY FOR MANY YEARS.

A PAGE OF HISTORY

F. H. DOBBIN

In connection with the establishment of the Red Arrow Tire Company, it is quite probable that will follow the wiping out of the little, low, cabins or houses that stand on the property along the bank of the river. Such as remain are left of the once thronged locality. The day when the river bank from just below what is now the western side of the Auburn dam to as far south as Hilliard street was lined with a succession of dwellings, in which hands employed in the saw, flour and woollen mills at this point lived all of hasty construction, of wood, without foundations, they wore out, were burned and disappeared.

The establishment of the G.T.R. Lakefield line of roadbed and track cut a swath in the community, and at the time great was the remonstrance. For while the mills were in operation occupancy of these houses was a sort of catch-as-can idea. There was no rent to pay. None of taxes, and the use was generally bestowed on men in the mills who were valued for reliability and longest in service. That was the idea of late George Hilliard, and it proved to be a paying investment. At one time a sort of public spirit sprang up in the small community and flower beds were laid out in front of dwellings, there was some sort of semblance to a street, for access. Generally, the dwellings were obscured from the roadway, (Water street) by the high piles of lumber that extended away down to near Argyle street, and even on the land above Inverlea Park, where was the site of the old government dam and mill building, the first important flour-mill, both built by the government.

The Red Arrow Tire Company, in selecting the site for their factory has gone on to historic ground, so far as the city claims, and this will be the first important industry to locate on the northern part of the city for many years. This is quite well, and should be encouraged. For the upper section of the city has living and residential advantages not to be sneezed at. Dry, clean and accessable by streets and car line, unlimited room for expansion, an entirely cheerful and decent spot for an industrial building. Let us hope that it is only a beginning of the movement that will distribute the industrial places about the city instead of concentrating in one locality.

Of One-Time Importance

Possibly a short review of the one-time importance of this spot may be interesting. The fall in the river at Auburn presented one of the best places for power development, and early in the forties the first flour mill was built. The firstflour mill was built and operated by John Langton, afterwards the Atorney-General and eventually the Attorney-General and eventually ion, in fact the first man to hold that position. Presently there gathered about the mill quite a small hamlet. As one resident put it, the place was "just about so far up street to stop at, and the man coming in found it convenient to get out and stretch his legs and take something."

Water street, at the time of which we are writing, did not show as a thoroughfare from about Argyle street south. George street at the crossing of Smith street, kept on and at about the entrance to the Barnardo Home swung to the east and crossed through the property on which the residence of James Dennistoun was afterwards built, letting on to the line of Water street just at the corner of the propery of Richard Hall, at that time the home of J. R. Benson. Between Water street and the river were grouped a number of houses, in connection with the large frame flour mill, owned by Lee and Hall, afterwards known as Martyn's Mill. This mill was destroyed by fire in later sixties, and the large saw mill, on the opposite of the river, went up in smoke a few weeks afterward. The power dam is now submerged under the current of the river.

The Fire Fiend

In after years the locality became known as the Blythe Mills. In 1865 Henry Denne came to the town and bought from John Langton the mills and property, and afterwards took in as a partner Louis Glover. Mr. Denne sold out, eventually and purchased the old site, previously covered by Adam Scott Mill, and later by the mill of Hamilton and Fortye who also added and carried on a distillery. This was at the corner of Water and King streets. (Peterboro Canoe Works.)

The fire fiend had it in for the Blythe Mills site. In 1864 on a memorable April 5th, the entire property was swept away. William Snyder had acquired the flour mill and his share of the loss was estimated at $16,000.00. The shingle mill, rented by Anson Sperry, a grist mill by John Carnegie, and a turning shop by Geo. Schneider were all burned. The total loss for the time and circumstances was very severe.

In 1873 the woollen mill but recently erected went up in smoke with a loss of $7,000.00. An enterprising man of the town and period, George Hilliard, (afterwards sitting member, for the West Riding in the Dominion House for 1872-82) with John Carnegie re-built the saw mill, and added a fine flour mill, the latter of stone. The locality was a scene of industrial activity, and the neighborhood grew in importance. Bpt on May 14, 1896, fire again had its way, entailing a loss of over $160,000 and the entire premises were destroyed. Large saw mill, another woollen mill, the mil, offices, several dwelling, all disappeared, ruining forever the industrial prospects of the site. For a time an electric plant was installed in the north end of the stone building, the walls of which remained standing. The first power pumping house of the Peterboro Water Company was built out in the forebay of the power dam, and remained in use until supplanted by the power pumping equipment installed in the small, quaint and brick building on the river bank at the new filtration plant.

Share Confederation

At the date as mentioned the configuration of the shore of the river above the Auburn dam was quite different to what now appears. A marshy bed stretched out into the river. The depth of the current quite close to the eastern side of the river and in large volume. To bring water to the mills a canal or sluiceway was exacavated close to the west bank of the river, and in times of low water the channel of this canal is often exposed. Along this waterway logs were floated to supply the mill. The piling ground extended as far north as the Children's Shelter, in fact any place where lumber could be piled was made use of, for fresh out of the river some of the water had to be gotten rid of before shipment. Teaming in those days was an important occupation, the brand of horse and the make of wagon being carefully selected for the purpose.

On the west side of Water street can be seen the remains of the foundations of the mill offices, store house, and traces of many dwellings that stood along the road. One or two of those built in the later days remain, all others have disappeared. From the brow of the bluff that overhangs the street and westward, George Hillard had a fine orchard, a few old trees yet standing, while to the north is the area known as the "Hilliard Farm," and which by the foresight of Mayor Harry Rush, was secured as a reservoir of road building material long before we ever heard of the possibilities of concrete construction. Thousands of yards of good gravel have been hauled from the beds and strewn on and about the streets of the town and city. If anyone be curious to see what has been consumed, and will climb the hill and walk, the cavities—no craters—existing will show how much material has been excavated. At the moderate cost to the city the gravel beds have proved to be a veritable gold mine.

Should the necessity for dwellings be found in the north, there is ample room west side of Water street. It has a long frontage sidewalk, light, water, and only lacks sewage. That, owing to a possible arrangement involving pumping, has not been undertaken. But it would seem that with an arrangement of septic tank, to serve several dwellings, that the difficulty could be obviated for some years. This land is the property of the city, well situated and could be turned to account.

CROP REPORT

The following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The comparatively heavy snowfall of the past week has for the time being halted the great activity which has been prevailing on farms. Happily, most farmers have their fall work well in hand.

Some turnips are still out, and in a few instances sugar beets are yet unshipped. Representatives are more or less disappointed with the quality and general prospects of the former crop, but sugar beets are turning out to be of good saccharine quality. Of this the Kent representative has the following to say: "The later harvest of beets are showing considerable more sugar content than did those harvested earlier in the season; this is probably due to the fact that they have to a certain extent overcome during the past few weeks the effect of the drought earlier in the season."

Fall wheat is regarded as being in good shape for entering the winter, only the very early fields having suffered from the Hessian fly.

Hay is selling all the way from $17 a ton, baled, in Haldimand, to $20 on the market in Kent, $25 in Victoria, and $30 in Kenora.

Some activity in the handling of grass seed is reported. Dealers in Haldimand are buying red clover for $12 a bushel, and small quantities of alsike at from $9.50 to $10 a bushel, but practically no alfalfa is offering.

Potatoes are selling at from $1.50 to $1.75 a bag, and are plentiful on some farms and scarce on others; even in the same county, Fort William reports a large quantity on hand, with little prospect of sale at present.

Haldimand quotes good winter apples at $6 a barrel, with various prices for lower qualities. Leeds says that No. 1's are bringing from $7.50 to $9 a barrel, according to variety and quality.

Many farmers have housed their cattle owing to the winter-like conditions prevailing, although some are leaving their animals out to get the benefit of the bare spots in pasture fields, with supplementary feed. There is a tendency to get rid of all surplus stock before the winter acrually sets in.

Three carloads of live stock were shipped from Pantagenet, Prescott and Russell Co. during the week. Some were sold on a graded basis.

Norfolk states that fair cows, fresh or due to calve shortly, were sold recently at from $40 to $65 each, and dry cows at from $25 to $40. Halton quotes sales of milch cows at from $60 to $80.

Oxford reports good grade dairy cows changing hands at from $75 to $100, and pure-breds at from $150 up. A carload of cattle was shipped from that county to Brandon during the week.

The Lennox and Addington Representative says: "Some of the cheese factories have closed, and as a result, many farmers are sending cream to the Napanee Creamery. Farmers are disposing of their surplus stock which they will be unable to winter over, at next to sacrifice prices."

Hogs are moving a little livelier than earlier in the fall, but raisers are not pleased with the prices paid, which range from $8 to $8.60 a cwt.

Norfolk states that breeders of pure-bred sheep are discouraged as they are unable to dispose of surplus breeding stock at remunerative prices.

Grey says: "Sheep dipping demonstrations have wakened farmers to the fact that the practice pays exceedingly well. They are even talking of the advisability of constructing regular sized dipping vats for cattle as well as sheep. Cattle lice are the bane of the feeder here. Approximately 6,200 sheep have been dipped in Grey County this year. It required $210 worth of dipping powder.

A scarcity of water in the wells is complained of in several of the eastern counties of the Province.

There is no trouble in securing all the labor needed for fall and winter work, and at rates considerably below those prevailing for some time.

ASK GIRLS ON MAGAZINE BACK WEAR MORE DRESS

LEWISBURG, Pa., Nov. 22.—More "cover" on the magazine cover girl is wanted by women of the Lewisburg Civic Club.

Those maidens of the fair face and form who regularly adorn the covers of the most popular and even the home type of publications are forced, the women charge, to appeal before public gaze with a shameful lack of clothing. The club members assert that this display of shapeliness in bathing suits and other negligee attire "does not conform to our ideas of modesty."

COMPANIES' SYSTEMS MIGHT BE LINKED UP RIGHT ACROSS THE CONTINENT—AT DIFFERENT PERIODS ONE COMPANY COULD COME TO ASSISTANCE OF NEIGHBOURING CONCERNS—INTERESTING POSSIBILITY FROM ENGINEERING STANDPOINT.

The possibility of Dominion-wide developments in the hydro-electric field which will make for better earning power for existing units and open up an encouraging outlook for new enterprise is engaging the serious consideration of engineers and others who are interested in some of the leading corporations in the country.

One of the great problems which confronts Hydro engineers is the unemployed load. There are hours in the twenty-four each day when many companies have more power than they can utilize while at other times within that period they are taxed to their utmost capacity to supply the demands of the peak of consumption. Any way out of that predicament would have a tendency to create better earning power and at the same time make possible some cheapening of "juice" to the consumer.

Engineers have been working on this problem for some time and it is claimed that the idea is by no means chimerical. The underlying idea is the trading of power between companies to the mutual advantage of those concerned in such a plan. The dream of engineers it seems, is to see a string of power companies from coast to coast, operating on the interchangeable basis by which lines could be linked and power transferred from one to the other as desired.

The scheme, however, need not necessarily wait for that time to come as there are still long stretches across Canada which would require to be linked up and this can only come as the territory becomes more thickly populated and the business of the vacant stretches makes the creation of additional power development possible.

Through Transmission Lines.

For instance, between Winnipeg and the head of the Great Lakes and the Prairie capital and the foothills of the Rockies there are long stretches yet to be brought to that stage of development which would warrant additional power companies. It is easy to see that a new development like the Manitoba Power Company, would be an invaluable link in any transcontinental chain when it comes to the time for reciprocal relations. There is the utmost confidence that this company will, when it is ready to produce power, find a ready market for the output of the initial installation capable of supplying 57,000 horse power, out of the 168,000 h.p. eventually contemplated. But a possibility such as outlined above offers something of interest for the future.

The possibility of such a scheme has been demonstrated by companies operating in the Province of Quebec. Shawinigan and Laurentide are producing electrical energy and "shipping" it over long transmission lines to Montreal and Quebec. The Southern Canada Power Company, with a large distributing system in the Eastern townships, has co-operated with some of them at times in interchange of power. What has been done in the East can be done in the West when the time comes.

The Manitoba Power Company is at present financing its new plant which is to be built under the auspices of the best power brains in the country. Some initial work has already been done and next year will see it well advanced. The opportunity ahead of this company has been proved by careful investigation to be an excellent one, the principal requirements to successful enterprise being all assembled and ready to be put to work.

Another Huge Undertaking.

Plans for providing the necessary capital have been carried out under the most favorable auspices and in bond market circles the forthcoming offering is regarded as one of the most attractive issues of the kind placed on the Canadian market for some years.

What American financial interests thought of the offering is indicated by the fact that leading houses in New York and Boston which took $,000,00 of the $7,500,000 issue very soon reported that the b'oc' ha' been sold.

The Canadian bond market is reported by leading interests in the business to be practically bare of desirable issues. As there will be an attractive opportunity to buy some of the common shares at low prices the desirability of the warrants accompanying the bonds entitling the buyers to make the purchases will be an additional incentive to acquire an interest in this big enterprise with its boundless possibilities of future expansion and profitable operation.

Millions Who Are Sick Will Soon Be Well

Will Be a Revelation to Suffering Humanity—Cleans Liver in a Few Minutes—Symptoms of Liver Trouble Are: Sallow Complexion, Bad Taste in Mouth on Rising, Tired, Out of Sorts, Etc.

This new drug is called Tanated Calomel. It acts only on the Liver, which immediately relieves many troubles such as Rheumatism, Constipation, Boils, Kidney Pains, etc. No salts, Seidlitz, are necessary after taking, because it is self eliminating. It does not have a nauseating, sickening feeling the next day, like so many similar drugs. You no doubt have been taking all sorts of laxatives, salts, castor oil, etc., with only temporary results. The reason is that some of these draw liquid from the blood and the tissues, causing a great flush. What you need is something like Tanated Calomel, which causes the bile to be excreted from the liver into the bowel, causing a natural elimination of the waste. You know waste allowed to remain in the system causes a multitude of troubles. I can venture to say that 90 per cent. of all sickness is due directly to this very thing. What is generally the first thing your doctor does when you are sick? He gets your bowels operating so as to eliminate wastes in your bowels, which are poisoning your system. Now, in order to be happy, healthy, vigorous, vivacious, bright, alert, keen to observe and understand, you must first keep your Liver clean, or you are coaxing all sorts of trouble upon yourself. Doctors recommend that you take a tablet before eating and one at bedtime. Just get some of these, and I feel assured that you will feel as if you had a new lease of life.

These Tanated Calomel Tablets are for sall by F. C. Webber, Charlotte Street.

Avoid Kidney Troubles.

Nothing is more uncomfortable than troublesome kidneys. Use Solvax and begin to get the full benefit out of life. Sold by all druggists.

COAL AT PRESENT PRICES TILL APRIL

IS PREDICTION BY DEALERS—STOVE COAL SCARCE, OTHER GRADES PLENTIFUL.

A prominent local coal dealer, speaking for the Peterboro coal men says he does not expect coal would be lower in price until April unless freight rates are reduced. As all the present agreement with the miners expires and the price then will depend on whether wages remain the same or a reduction is made as public opinion generally demands.

The dealers claim that high prices are due to high wages in the mines and high freight rates. Coal at the mines ranges from $8.50 to $9.25 and freight from the mines to Peterboro varies; to-day it is $5.28. Exchange is a large item in the cost of coal, and on every ton there is from $1.00 to $1.45. Freight and exchange alone on a ton, this dealer said, amounted to as much as the retail price of coal when he first went into the business in 1902.

Coal prices are at their peak in the city. Stove and nut are the highest at $16.50, furnace is $16.25 and pea is $14.00. Stove coal is scarce, because the demand is greater than the amount that is broken into this size, and dealers say they have had difficulty in supplying their customers. Other kinds are plentiful and the yards are well stocked up. Dealers say they notice the depressing industrial conditions by people who are only buying about half-a-ton a time. A year ago half-ton sales were unusual.

Hardwood is quite plentiful and most of the yards are full. "I don't know when there has been as much," said one dealer. Prices range from $13 to $16 a cord. The same combination that makes coal expensive has pushed up wood prices, the Examiner was informed, that it is high wages in the bush and unusually high cost of transportation. It costs $3.00 to bring a cord of wood down the lakes on the boat and about $1.25 to bring it up from the wharf in the estimate of one dealer.

Never Parted.

"BULL-DOG DRUMMOND"

BY "SAPPER" (CYRIL McNEILE)

"Go to bed, little girl," he ordered; "this is my show. And, may I say, I think you're just wonderful. Thank God you saw my advertisement!"

Gently he released her hands, and walking to the door, held it open for her. "If by any chance, you should hear things in the night—turn over and go to sleep again."

"But what are you going to do?" she cried.

Hugh grinned. "I haven't the remotest idea," he answered. "Doub less the Lord will provide."

The instant the girl had left the room Hugh switched off the lights, and stepped across to the curtains which covered the long windows. He pulled them aside, letting them come together behind him; then, cautiously, he unbolted one side of the big centre window. The night was dark, and the moon was not due to rise for two or three hours, but he was too old a soldier to neglect any precautions. He wanted to see more of The Elms and its inhabitants; he did not want them to see more of him.

Silently he dodged across the lawn towards the big trees at the end, and leaning up against one of them, he proceeded to make a more detailed survey of his objective. It was the same type of house as the one he had just left, and the ground seemed about the same size. A wire fence separated the two places, and in the darkness Hugh could just make out a small wicket-gate, closing a path which connected both houses. He tried it, and found to his satisfaction that it opened silently.

Passing through, he took cover behind some bushes from which he could command a better view of Mr. Lakington's abode. Save for one room on the ground-floor the house was in darkness, and Hugh determined to have a look at that room. There was a chink in the curtains, through which the light was streaming out, which struck him as having possibilities.

Keeping under cover, he edged towards it, and, at length, he got into a position from which he could see inside. And what he saw made him decide to chance it, and go even closer.

Seated at the table was a man he did not recognize; while on either side of him sat Lakington and Peterson. Lying on a sofa smoking a cigarette and reading a novel was a tall dark girl, who seemed completely uninterested in the proceedings of the other three. Hugh placed her at once as the doubtful daughter Irma, and resumed his watch on the group at the table.

A paper was in front of the man, and Peterson, who was smoking a large cigar, was apparently suggesting that he should make use of the pen which Lakington was obligingly holding in readiness. In all respects a harmless tableau, save for one small thing—the expression on the man's face. Hugh had seen it before often—only then it had been called shell-shock. The man was dazed, semi-unconscious. Every now and then he stared round the room, as if bewildered; then he would shake his head and pass his hand wearily over his forehead. For a quarter of an hour the scene continued; then Lakington produced an instrument from his pocket. Hugh saw the man shrink back in terror and reach for the pen. He saw the girl lie back on the sofa as if disappointed and pick up her novel again; and he saw Lakington's face set in a cold sneer. But what impressed him most in that momentary flash of action was Peterson. There was something inhuman in his complete passivity. But not the fraction of a second did he alter the rate at which he was smoking—the slow, leisurely rate of the connoisseur; by not the twitch of an eyelid did his expression change. Even as he watched the man signing his name, no trace of emotion showed on his face—whereas on Lakington's there shone a fiendish satisfaction.

The document was still lying on the table, when Hugh produced his revolver. He knew there was foul play about, and the madness of what he had suddenly made up his mind to do never struck him: being that manner of fool, he was made that way. But he breathed a pious prayer that he would shoot straight—and then he held his breath. The crack of the shot and the bursting of the only electric-light bulb in the room were almost simultaneous; and the next second, with a roar of "Come on, boys," he burst through the window. At an immense advantage over the others, who could see nothing for the moment, he blundered round the room. He timed the blow at Lakington to a nicety; he hit him straight on the point of the jaw and he felt the man go down like a dog. Then he grabbed at the paper on the table, which tore in his hand, and picking the dazed signer up bodily, he rushed through the window on to the lawn. There was not an instant to be lost; only the impossibility of seeing when suddenly plunged into darkness had enabled him to pull the thing off so far. And before that advantage disappeared he had to be back at The Larches with his burden, no light weight for even a man of his strength to carry.

But there seemed to be no pursuit, no hue and cry. As he reached the little gate he paused and looked back, and he fancied he saw outside the window a gleam of white, such as a shirt-front. He lingered for an instant, peering into the darkness and recovered his breath, when with a vicious phut something buried itself in the tree beside him. Drummond lingered no more; long years of experience left no doubt in his mind as to what that something was.

"Compressed-air rifle—or electric," he muttered to himself, stumbling on, and half dragging, half carrying his dazed companion.

He was not very clear in his own mind what to do next, but the matter was settled for him unexpectedly. Barely had he got into the drawing-room, when the door opened and the girl rushed in.

"Get him away at once," she cried. "In your car. . . Don't waste a second. I've started her up."

"Good girl," he cried enthusiastically. "But what about you?"

She stamped her foot impatiently. "I'm all right—absolutely all right. Get him away—that's all that matters."

Drummond grinned. "The humorous thing is that I haven't an idea who the bird is—except that——" He paused, with his eyes fixed on the man's left thumb. The top joint was crushed into a red, shapeless pulp, and suddenly the meaning of the instrument Lakington had produced from his pocket became clear. Also the reason of that dreadful cry at dinner.

"By God!" whispered Drummond, half to himself, while his jaws set like a steel vice. "A thumbscrew. The devils . . . the bloody swine . . ."

"Oh! quick, quick," the girl urged in an agony. "They may be here at any moment." She dragged him to the door, and together they forced the man into the car.

SPORT IN BRIEF

Ottawas have signed on trial Art Conroy, of St. Paul, member of the American Olympic team of 1920, reputed to be one of the flashiest players in the United States. He comes highly recommended, and is said to be as good a man as Frederickson, the Falcon sensation who set the Coast League aflame last year.

Frank McCarthy, former Ottawa boy, and brother of Charlie, who played goal for wanderers, tacks the insignia of class on Conroy. The latter has written for a try-out, and modestly asks for a trial. His letter shows he is a level-headed sort, and he eschews the bombast that some of the eligibles garland their epistles with.

He played for the team that was defeated by the Falcons at Antwerp in1920. Billy Hewitt, of the Toronto Star, is said to have been favourably impressed with his playing. He is twenty-four years of age, weighs 158 pounds, and rocks the goalies with a right hand shot, and can play forward or defence. Frank McCarthy calls him "the Hobey Baker of the West." The late Hobey Baker of Princeton was the finest hockey player in the United States in his time. His monicker is "Tony," and evidently he is a speed merchant and stickhandler combined.

Frank Shaughnessy is not the only baseball player who acts as football coach at the close of the ball season. "Greasy" Neale, who used to work in the outfield for the London club in the old Canadian League, and who worked his way into the majors by way of Cincinnati, has met with great success as a coach, and a despatch from Washington, Pa., says that he has signed a three-year contract to coach the Washington and Jefferson This, on top of the money teams at a salary of not less than $8,000 a year, received for playing baseball, means that Neale will not have to worry bout the price of coal for a winter or two.

Evidently Ty Cobb did not find his "honour system" of training his ball players quite the success he imagined. Some of the boys took advantage of the lax rules, apparently, for Ty, whom discipline irked when he worked for Hughie Jennings, has announced that next year he intends to enforce discipline rigorously. He may resort to a scheme of fining the recalcitrants. He has an idea of soaking a player $50.00 or less in real money, who fails to run out an infield drive. Like other loafers, baseball players will have to pay for the privilege. Ty cannot send 'em to the pen, but he can garnishee the pay envelope.

A CLOSE-UP OF WINNIPEG KIDDIES

None of their life-stories stretched over a very long period of time but the children one and all looked up through their mascara-beaded eye lashes, with the frank, half shy look of pleased, unspoiled childhood—the boys called me ma'am and the girls went on with their dolling-up evidenty not at all embarassed or disturbed by my presence. In fact off stage they were just as professional, as on the boards—just as much at their ease and quite disposed, had there been time, to give me nice long interviews.

It was just like a big happy family—Mrs. Holmes the mother of the twins, was there, Miss Finesilver, sister to the unimitable Jackie, the teacher, was also there and Miss Mackay, Dorothy's elder sister and one time member of Stuart-Whyte's pantomimes. With the children in negligee and undershirts laughing and chatting I could not help thinking of bed time in the average large family—but what family now-a-days would ever own so many youngsters and what Mamma would be at home with an election pending, with bazaars running full swing and clubs being reorganized?

Mrs. Holmes was here, there and everywhere—putting in a last stitch, combing one boy's hair and tying another's neck tie. She told me that the girls run true to form—they scarcely ever need the second lesson in make-up and occasionally, they just need a little toning down—The boys never quite settle down to this business and every night she has to do the chief beautfying of the male members of the company. One little chap who had not apparently been paying much attention to the conversation spoke up and said—"Excuse me, ma'am, aren't you a Yankee?" I said, in my best English, "Right you are sonny" and he replied, "I thought so 'cause I'm from Chester, Pennsylvania—know where that is—right near Philadelphia—so let's shake hands." I was most anxious to meet Jackie Finesilver—I did and rarely have I seen a more attractive child. His whole expression is cherubic, he seems to be the personification of good nature and absolutely natural and unspoiled—All the attention in the world does not affect certain types of people and I think Jackie belongs to the fortunate variety. I told him he was a young Al Joison and he smilingly said—"Ahem!—some reputaton to live up to—What?" I do not want to overlook any of the boys and girls, but time and space require me to be brief. So we'll go over to the girls' dressing rooms.

Vera Montgomery, that clever little dancer has been with the Kiddies since the days of their early war work. She told me she loved playing over in the States and is most anxious to go there when the Winnipeg engagement is finished. Her specialty is dancing— while I should say that of Florence Simpson is just being beautiful. She is quite the loveliest little being I've ever seen. Dorothy Mackay is the youngest of nine children—she made her first stage appearance at two years and a half when she played with her parents who are well known theatrical people in England and Scotland. Dorothy came to Canada with Stuart-Whyte and Zara Clinton a little over two years ago and just after signing up for this engagement, she received a wire to join them in New York, where they are doing vaudeville sketches. I asked the talente dlittle star if she had any preference in the type of work she does and she said "Impersonating is my favourite line and some time I hope to do some really big things." Just as I was leaving Miss Mackay said, I want to tell something funny about Jackie Finesilver." "Nearly all the boys have their especial sweet hearts in the show—Jackie was leaning disconsolately up against some scenery the other night and when I asked him the trouble, he said, Can't get a girl—I said, "O! Jackie why not" Well, Billy's got so and so and—Well, I said, You're no good or you'd just go and take one and keep her for yourself—He looked meditative and said, "No, that's no good—I fought a duel once with a fellow over a girl and when I got her, she was simply rotten—not worth one half the trouble—so—oh! girls aren't much use anyway, guess 'Ill just get ready and go home." So you see, life with "the Kiddies", is just about the same as among grown ups.

ACCEPTABLE GIFTS.

A set of sachet cases that may be slipped into the lining of a dainty frock, or pinned, by its accompanying tiny gold safety pin, to the lining of the dainty girl's hat, are always acceptable accessories.

Varying shades, such as violet, green, salmon, blue, and lemon, make a dainty combination of colours to begin with. Small ends of ribbon may be utilised for their making or odd bits of satin. The ribbon is folded once, to form a rectangle about three inches in length, and stitched together at the sides. A strip of flat wadding is sprinkled with the sachet powder, inserted into the flat ribbon case, and the top stitched close with very small silk stitches. A tiny gold safety pin may be caught into the top of each so that the little sachet case is ready for wardrobe use at once.

Novel slip covers are made of Turkish towelling, calico and linen. Fillers z

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

"JUST SUPPOSE"

A. E. Thomas, the author, created a furore in dramatic circles when he announced he intended writing a comedy around the personage of H.R.H. The Prince of Wales, who was then touring in America.

"Why should a man be so foolish as to attempt something that is utterly impossible" was the question asked by nearly every producing manager in New York. "Thomas, must be crazy to think that he can do something that neither Bernard Shaw nor Maeterlinck has been able to accomplish." Yet Thomas did that very thing. When New York saw the play it quickly grasped the idea that this was only supposed to be fiction and as such it was received for one solid year. In Toronto Mr. Robins made his celebrated production at the Royal Alexandra Theatre this same thing happened again as all records previously held at the Royal were shattered by theatre goers who liked the idea of seeing a popular living figure in the role of fiction.

Mr. Thomas has made the Prince of Wales a human being with all the frailties that human flesh is heir to. His meeting and falling in love with the pretty little Southern girl form the basis of the play. Into the lives of the young people come the affairs of Great Britain. The stern call of duty to the motherland, the decision reached by both of them to listen to the voice and obey it all help make the spectator appreciate the young Prince's declaration that "he is the loneliest beggar in all the world." He cannot choose his own mate. But this is just one phase of the story which, really, after all, is a comedy. The young Prince's chum Bubbles, the staid old Ambassador at Washington, the secret service of both countries are led a merry chase when the young Prince tired of the ceremony with which diplomatic circles have surrounded him, determines that for twenty-four hours at lease, he is going to be just as other young men are.

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN."

The screen version of Vincente Blasco Ibanez widely read story, of which much has been writen, will be presented for the first time in Peterborough for a limited engagement, commencing Thursday, Dec. 1st. "The Four Horsemen," as the title suggests, deals with war, for the theme is the destruction of life and wealth by the four terrible riders typifying the worst war, famine, pestilence and death. But war after all is only the dramatic background for the development of character and visualization and the psychology of the three races of people—Spanish, French and German. Much has been said of the immense scale upon which "The Four Horsemen" was planned and the lavish way in which details were worked out. Over 6 months were required to complete the screening and to cut down the 85 miles of film into an evening's entertainment.

"The Four Horsemen of Apocalypse" will be seen at the Grand three nights and two matinees, commencing Thursday, December 1st.

"A PAIR OF SIXES."

One of the most amusing offerings that the Rex Company has given in Peterborough is the comedy, "A Pair of Sixes," which opened a 3-days' engagement at the Grand last night and delighted a capacity audience, including the Rotary Club and many members of the local Kiwanis Club. "A Pair of Sixes" dwells on the quarrels between two partners in a pill business, quarrels that eventually lead to the dealing of a hand of poker, the loser of which is to act as the other's servant for a year, while the winner is to have a full hand in carrying on the business. The complications that ensue are decidedly entertaining. Rex Snelgrove is cast as the losing partner, and scores heavily in a role that fits him thoroughlf, while Billy Seymour does capital work as the other partner. Hazel Williams has a comedy servant part that she puts over cleverly, and Zana Vaughn is as charming as ever as "Miss Cole." W. J. Mitchell is excellent as the lawyer, and the rest of the cast give splendid support. "A Pair of Sixes" is one of the best of the Rex productions, and the house should be filled to-night and to-morrow night.—F. D. C.

AT THE ALLEN.

There appeared at the Allen Theatre yesterday a photoplay which should prove a delight to those ardent patrons of the silent art who prefer their drama to be drama, and not a conglomeration of assorted thrills, stunts and other devices affected by ingenious scenarists and directors of the screen in order to put their pictures over. To the Selznick studios must go the credit of having the courage to produce a picture as the author wrote it, and "The Sin That Was His" will add materially to the fame of William Faversham as the star, Frank L. Packard as the author, and Hobart Henley as director. Out of this trio naturally Mr. Faversham is the only one seen on the screen, but the work of the other two factors speaks most eloquently for itself.

Mr. Faversham's last screen appearance gave him an opportunity to show his ability in light comedy role, and now the famous actor gives to the screen one of the finest examples of character drawing seen in many a day. Mr. Faversham is equally as convincing as "Two Ace" Raymond Chapelle, gambler, blackleg and atheist, and as Father Aubert, Rector of the Parish of St. Marleau.

TYPE CHARACTER SCORING BIG SUCCESS IN TORCHY COMEDIES.

Eugene Keith, who plays "Hickory" Ellins' nephew from Czecho-Slovakia in "Torchy's Big Lead," latest of the comedies from the stories by Sewell Ford, and starring Johnny Hines, at the Allen Theatre to-day and to-morrow, is rapidly winning fame as a foil for the star. He was first seen as Ira in "Torchy Mixes In," where he had the role of a country man looking for the girl with the egg. His role in this picture is somewhat of the same character and he gets many laughs. Johnny Hines, aside from his worth as a star, is an expert at picking types.

WM. FAVERSHAM'S NEW PICTURE PLEASES AT THE ALLEN THEATRE

"The Sin That Was His" Proves Excellent Vehicles for Great Actor.

The very zenith of dramatic execution seems to have been reached in "The Sin That Was His," the new Selznick Picture, featuring William Faversham, which opened a three-day engagement at the Allen Theatre last night. The story upon which the picture was based was written by Frank Packard, author of "The Miracle Man," and it is a question if in this later he has not eclipsed his former success.

This picture tells a big, gripping story of a man against whom fate has set her mark, his fight to cling to the better things of life, misunderstandings that send him to the depths of despair and finally his rejuvenation through the mediums of a good man's faith and a pure woman's love.

In the leading role, Faversham seems to have caught the true spirit in which the wonderful story was written and his portrayal is strong and convincing.

Lucy Cotton plays the leading feminine role opposite Mr. Faversham, and others in the supporting cast are: Lulu Warrenton, Pedro de Cordoba, Bobby Connelly, Miriam Battista, George Stevenson, Frank Evans and Bobby Agnew.

MISS KATHLEEN WALLACE, the charming southern society belle, star of the screen and stage, who will be seen here Thursday evening, Nov. 24th, in the charming comedy romance, "JUST SUPPOSE," by A. E. Thomas.

PEARL WHITE, FOX STAR, ADVISES ON CARE OF COIFFURE

Having had her share of experience with various hair-dressing styles while appearing on the screen, Pearl White, the beautiful and magnetic star of William Fox motion pictures, whose first big special production, "The White Moll," by Frank L. Packard ,author of "The Miracle Man," will open at the Regent Theatre on ———, offers a few suggestions that are sure to be of interest to women—particularly the younger set.

"The hair-line is the most important thing to settle in a coiffure," says Miss White; "after that the silhouette. Go to your mirror, comb your hair straight back from your forehead and study your self closely. If your forehead shows a spot where the hair line is not straight, remember to conceal this when arranging your hair.

"Constant brushing, freedom from dandruff and surplus oil, massage and careful shampooing, all are necessary to get the hair in perfect condition. Here are a few hints that I have gathered during my long experience before the camera. Try them and prove their worth.

"If your hair is fair, keep it so by using a handful of camomile flowers for your shampoo. Throw the flowers into boiling water and allow this to cool. Strain and use the water to rinse the hair after it has been thoroughly cleansed with soap and water. If your hair is beginning to darken—as all fair hair will if it be neglected—try the juice of half a lemon insteadof the camomile flowers in your rinsing water.

"Dark hair should be rinsed in an infusion of rosemary leaves. Use in the same way as with camomile flowers. Rosemary is particularly fragrant—which is an added advantage, as the scent clings to the hair long afterward."

AT THE CAPITOL.

last evening for the presentation of "The Hell Diggers," with Wallace Reid in the title role. This likeable young man does some of his usual good work in the picture which centres around the enormous dredges used in some sections of California for scooping up the earth of gold mines. In it he has an eminently masculine role as superintendent of the mines, with Lois Wilson as the charming heroine.

Larry Semon has a screamingly funny comedy in "The Fall Guy," and Morris and Marcella, a singing, talking and dancing act, with lots of comedy, round out an excellent programme.

THEATRE NIGHT FOR ROTARIANS

LOCAL CLUB AND VISITORS HAVE ROYAL TIME AT THE GRAND

It was Rotary night at the Grand last night and the members of the local club with their friends, a delegation of Rotarians from Belleville Kingston and Oshawa and a large representation of the Kiwanis club occupied the centre of the house and had a royal time. The Rex Company gave an excellent presentation of "A Pair of Sixes" while between acts the programme was in charge of Rotary. The old favourites "Mac Donald's Farm", " A Prairie Flower" and other song hits were sung by the gathering. Rotarian Burrowes of Belleville contributed several solos most acceptably. Mrs. M. H. Park sang "Tommy Boy" in splendid voice, the Imperial male quartette a new organization of local vocalists scored a great hit in several numbers and Rotarian Stewart of Kingston pulled off a fake mind reading stunt that caused much amusement. During the evening Rotarian Fred Roy, president of the local club, eloquently outlined the aims of Rotary in general and the plans of the Peterboro Club in particular especially referring to the Boys' Camp which Rotary will carry on at Clear Lake next summer. The proceeds of last evening's Theatre night will go to that most deserving cause.

THE 4 HORSEMEN OF THE APOCALYPSE

WORKING HARD.

The local Collegiate rugby team had a lively practice at Riverside Park last evening, working from 3.30 o'clock until after dark, in preparation for tomorrow's big game at Port Hope, when they meet Oshawa in the final battle for group honors. Coaches Broune and Smaill kept the crew going at top speed throughout the work-out, and they are in fine fettle for tomorrow's test, which, it is anticipated, will be a hard battle all the way. Oshawa have won three games in a row and are confident of beating the Petes tomorrow. The latter, however, have a few new plays to inject into the game and expect to surprise the motor town students. The game will be played on the Trinity College school grounds.

IT'S AN ILL WIND.

"Yes, Jack and I are engaged," said Doris to her friend Ethel. 'Do you know, our first meeting was quite romantic. I was walking in the park one wet afternoon when he stepped up and offered me his umbrella."

"I see," said Ethel; "he was caught in the rain."

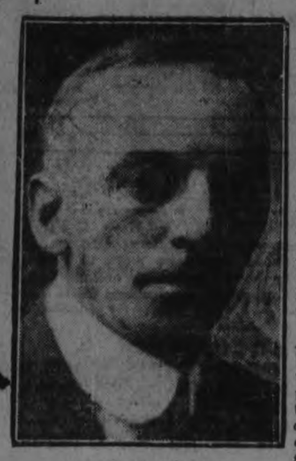
"As A Boy Plays So Will He Live"

P. A. A. A. HAS ITS EYE ON GROWING BOYS---IS WELL ON ITS WAY TOWARD CLEANING UP PETERBOROUGH SPORT---TO ASSIST ALL SPORTS.



WALTER SMAILL.

All Peterborough is beginning to take notice. A few months ago there were some who said an amateur athletic association was an impossibility. Today the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association is well on its way.

Addressing the students at the University of Toronto the other day, Taylor Statten used these words: "Every boy ought to be in the game for the character-building value he gets out of it. The boys who need sport and play most must get it, and leadership is required. As a boy plays, so will he live in the business world in later years. If he is crooked he will continue so. If he plays the game straight he will play the game of life in the same manner."

The Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association has its eye on the growing boy. The majority of the members of the Executive of the association have played the games that are popular in this city. They played with the "gangs" on vacant lots, and graduated to Nicholls Oval, Riverside Park and Brock street rink. Today they are not in the game, but are giving their time and assistance to the work of promoting the various branches of sport. They know of some things that are hindering the progress of sports, and they believe that an amateur athletic association will help to solve these problems. Probably one of the greatest boosts the Peterborough Athletic Association will ever receive was given in the early organization period when the organizers were told "you can't make things any worse."

THE VILLAGE TEAM WON.

The opinion prevailed last winter that Peterborough did not give its best in hockey. This past summer much the same feeling existed in regard to baseball. It is a fact that dissatisfaction was rife among the players. Why? The cause covers a lot of ground, but nobody wants to hear the details now. The Intermediate O.H.A. team of last season failed to win the district, and Lindsay Intermediates who gained the honors were put away by a village team. Thus have the mighty fallen.

ASSIST ALL SPORTS.

When getting ready for action the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association had the hockey situation in mind. But the association was not formed for the special benefit of hockey, baseball, lacrosse, or any one branch of sport. The association will give its assistance to all. It is an all-Peterborough organization, at the service of the city. I twas organized with the object of promoting amateur sport.

The association was fortunate in securing the services of Walter Smaill to direct the activities of the organisation If Mr. Smaill were adressing a group of boys tonight he would use words similar to those spoken by Taylor Statten before the students of Varsity. He has been through it all. In his playing days it could always be said of Walter Smaill that he played the game straight. That is one big reason why the association brought him here.

EXECUTIVE OF QUALITY.

The association now has an Executive of twenty members. Dr. A. W. McPherson is President; H. A. Cranfield, Vice-President; C. E. Curtis, Secretary, and G. A. Campbell, manager of the Union Bank, is Treasurer. Associated with them are J. P. Bond, G. H. Roper and R. C. Flitton. All these officers were elected after a series of public meetings held in the City Council Chamber. Additions were made to this Executive at subsequent meetings, with a view to having all branches of sport represented. From its large membership the association will select committees, one for each branch of sport.

The hockey activities of the association were placed in the hands of a committee made up of J. P. Bond, C. R. Widdifield, H. A. Cranfield, Ed. Wright, Frank Convery and Don. Loucks. Mr. Smaill will eventually assume full charge.

Before the year is out it is the intention of the Executive to call a general meeting of the association.

A CAPACITY HOUSE FOR CAPT. J. DEWART, AYOTTE HALL, DOURO

LIBERAL CANDIDATE FOR EAST PETERBORO' SCORES MEIGHEN GOVERNMENT FOR EXTRAVAGANCE IN ADMINISTRATION.

LOSS IN POPULATION

A crowded hall filled to its utmost capacity with a large part of the crowd standing greeted Capt. John Dewart the Liberal candidate last evening at Ayotte Hall, Douro.

It was quite evident from the close attention with which the speakers were followed that the electors present, of which a large number were ladies, were thinking seriously upon the political issues of the day and how they should cast their ballots upon election day.

Mr Michael Walsh occupied the chair. In introducing Capt. Dewart the Liberal candidate he said that he was a young man who had a splendid record behind him, not only as a soldier but as a citizen upon whom all the classes of the community could unite.

The Candidate

Capt. John Dewart thanked the electors for turning out in such large numbers to hear the issues of the day discussed. He said that it was quite evident from the reports that came from different parts of the Dominion of Canada that the Meighen administration had lost the confidence of the Canadian people and that it was time for a change. He said that through extravagance of the Meighen Government and its predecessor the cost of carrying on our ordinary affairs is four times as great as it was ten years ago, while the population during that same period had increased only about 15 per cent.

"Make no mistake" said Capt. Dewart 'that extravagance is a very moderate word, because the ordinary expenditures that I am referring to have nothing whatever to do with the cost of the great war. That is extra."

To make matters worse, said Mr. Dewart, no less than 819,000 Canadians have left Canada during this last ten years, and have sought homes in the United States. That big loss in our population is nearly equal to 10 p.c. of the total and if it continues in the future those who are left behind will face national bankruptcy. We cannot continue to borrow money by the hundreds of millions and increase our annual debts and enjoy prosperous times.

We cannot hope to induce foreign capitalists to lend money to our Governments both Dominion and Provincial and to our municipalities at reasonable rates of interest, if we are continuously going into debt. We cannot induce foreign capitalists to invest money to develop our mines and our other great natural resources if they know that the good money that they are putting into Canadian enterprises will be eaten up in paying enormous taxes.

We cannot induce capitalists to invest in Canadian enterprises if our Canadian Parliament instead of being representative of all the people develops into a scramble where one class seeks to get advantage of the other.

We cannot get men to come into Canada to settle on farms or to develop our mines, forests and fisheries unless we have a stable Government that seeks to deal justly and fairly with all classes.

We cannot have class rule in this country, because it brings hard times, low prices, loss of credit and unemployment.

Other Speakers.

Mr. R. R. Hall and Mr. W. A. Anderson also spoke. Mr. Hall referred to the long years of faithful public service that was given by the late Mr. John Lang, ex-Member of Parliament East Peterborough, and stated that he expressed the sentiments of all, in extending to his family their warmest sympathy in their sad bereavement. The late Mr. Lang was a Liberal of the old school whose life of generosity and fairness to all classes is a bright example to the followed in the solving of our national difficulties during these serious times.

TRINITY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONCERT

SPLENDID PROGRAMME MEETS WITH ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION

Reid Street Hall was none too large last night to accommodate the large number of Sunday School scholars, their parents and friends, who took part in and attended the annual Trinity Church Sunday School concert.

Complete Programme.

The programme was very complete, and a credit to the school. Despite drills and dialogues, there was little confusion, and the entire offering was the more enjoyed because of the easy movement throughout. The Sunday School orchestra acquitted itself particularly well in two dashing numbers, followed by the more stately "Majestic" march. Following the orchestra selections, each class was responsible for a number, and this part of the programme was as follows:

Solo—Miss Eleanor Brown.
Piano solo—Miss Frances McFadden.
Violin Solo—Arnold Spencer.
Motion song—Beginners.
A play in three parts—"The Forest of Every Day"—by Miss E. Wood's Class.
Song and recitation—Ashton Fife.
Recitation—Miss Hazel Davidson.
Song—Primary Pupils.
Harvest chorus — Miss Derry's Class.
Fan drill—Junior School.
Jazz band selection — Miss Edward's Class.

Reading—Mrs. Fred McNeely.
Solo—Max Smith.
Recitation—Miss A. Wood's Class.
Dialogue—"The Gossip," by Junior Bays.
Recitation—J. Bishop.
Solo—Miss Clayton.

A MECHANIC'S LIEN ACTION BEING ARGUED
A mechanic's lien action is being tred before Judge Huycke in the County Court to-day. The A. B. Ormsby Co., Ltd., of Toronto, subcontractors to the Henry Hope Co., in supplying steel sash and glazing for the Prince of Wales' School are claiming $4000 from Richard Sheehy and Sons and the Board of Education, which the Henry Hope Co., allege is not due because of the contract not being properly carried out. Mr. R. H. Parkinson of Toronto, is representing plaintiffs; Mr. . N. Gordon for the Henry Hope Co., Mr. F. D. Kerr, K. C. for the Board of Education, and J. R. Corkery for R. Sheehy and Sons..

LIQUOR IN AUTO
Adjourned two weeks ago, an O. T. A. case against Edward Armstrong, Howard Wyatt and Sylvester McMahon, in which they were charged with having liquor in an unlawful place on Sunday, November 6, was heard by Magistrate D. W. Dumble to-day, and at \ p.m. the end was not in sight. Joseph O'Brien who is representing the trio, was then calling the accused in defence.
Detective George Cookman and Inspector James Reid testified that on Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. they found the accused three men in the rear seat of an automobile standing in front of Lipsett's hotel, East City, ad in the bottom of the car there was a bottle of moonshine. Accused denied all knowledge of the bottle.

BUSINESS MEN'S TEN-PIN LEAGUE STARTS NEXT WEEK WITH 8 TEAMS.
The Business Men's Ten-Pin League was drawn with three men to a team, with eight teams in the League. The schedule will be drawn up for the season's play. The following are the names drawn: Captain Gillian, Gillespie and Roberts, Captain Miller, King and Robinson, Captain Curvin, Lush and McGee, Captain Copping, Bacon and Pidgeon, Captain Fitzgerald, Byers and Gifford, Captain Cairns, Oke and White, Captain Solomon, McDonald, and French, Captain Barrette, Garrow and Thomas. All teams seems to be evenly matched, and three-men teams will be a big boost in the ten-pin line.

OBITUARY

JOSEPH GERRARD YOUNG.
The death of Joseph Gerrard Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young, of Young's Point, at the age of 13 years and 7 months, occurred on Friday night last, Nov. 18th, at 11 o'clock, after a brief illness. His death came as a great shock to his parents and friends, and the community is united in sympathy for the bereft family. Besides his sorrowing parents, there survive a sister, Mary, and brother, Cyril. The funeral took place on Saturday morning to St Mary's cemetery, Young's Point.

GORDON SENDS HIS REPLY TO QUESTIONAIRE

ANSWERS "YES" TO ALL QUESTIONS, BUT QUALIFIES THIS IN A NUMBER OF CASES.

OPPOSES GOVT.-OWNED MERCHANT MARINE FLEET

Replying to the questionnaire sent to the candidates in the Federal election by the Trades and Labor Congress, G. N. Gordon, ex-M.P., Liberal, unconditionally commits himself to support the insertion of fair wage clauses in Government contracts, Government control of natural resources, creation of a tariff board, exclusion of Asiatics, and old-age pensions. He answers all questions in the affirmative, but qualifies his answers to whether he will support the eight-hour day, Government ownership of public utilities, direct taxation, abolition of the Senate, proportional representation and total disarmament.

Peterborough, Nov. 23rd, 1921.
T. Ballard, Esq.,
Recording Secretary, Trades and Labor Council,
2 Low's Apartment, City.

Dear Mr. Ballard,—In some way your enquiry to me was delayed in the mail, as I see Mr. Burnham answered your enquiry a couple of days ago.

I enclose herewith a copy of a memorandum I have signed, which shows my position on the various matters enquired about by you.

Yours truly,
G. N. Gordon.

Name of Candidate—G. N. Gordon.
Constituency—Peterborough West.

Question No. 1—Will you initiate or support the enactment of legislation for a maximum legal working day of eight hours and forty-four hours per week?

Answer—I am in favor of the working day of eight hours for such trades as railway workers, industrial workers, etc., but I would not extend this to farm labor, the fishing industry, or lumbering, which are more or less seasonable occupations.

Question No. 2—Are you favorable to giving the Dominion Labor Department full control over fair wage clauses in Government contracts and the insertion of such clauses in all work undertaken by the Government or financed by it?

Answer—Yes.

Question No. 3—Will you support the retention by the Government of present nationally owned railroads, merchant marine and other public utilities and the extension of this principle whenever possible?

Answer—Yes, with the exception of the merchant marine, which is competing with Canadian lines, causing unemployment to sailors and causing these ships to be laid up idle. Where competition is not likely to result in unemployment of sailors, and others employed in shipping, I would be willing to support retention of the merchant marine, and I am in favor of retaining Government railways, and other public utilities.

Question No. 4—Do you favor Government retaining control of the CLUB THROWN AT PRINCE OF WALES

VANCOUVER, Nov. 23.—(Canadian Press.)— A cable to the Vancouver World says a club was thrown at the Prince of Wales Monday night as he was entering a building where a ball was being held. The Prince was not struck and his assailant escaped.

MORE RECRUITS FOR THE RANGERS

REGIMENT TOOK IN FIFTEEN MEN LAST EVENING—THE WEEKLY PARADE.

Last evening fifteen recruits were taken in at the parade of the Peterborough Rangers. Of these eight were ex-service men, one having been two years a prisoner of war in Germany.

Lt.-Col. A. W. McPherson inspected the unit, commenting on the growth of the regiment and the fine calibre of the men being secured. The brass and pipe bands played in the drill hall and the unit as a whole showed improvement in every direction.

THE FOUR DAYS' SALE AT P. BLACK'S

"PAY-ROLL BARGAINS" ARE THE FEATURE OF THIS SALE

There is a four days' sale going on at the busy store of P. Black, down George street, corner of King street, which is attracting men and women anxious to secure some of the "Pay Roll Bargains" advertised. Mr. Black manages to bring the people down to his corner without doing any "glaring circus advertising," as he calls it. He has won the good will of his customers by faithful service, fair prices and honest representation of goods. His store is an easy place to shop in, and just a little out of the crowded thoroughfare. The four days' sale for the last of this week includes New Fall Goods, which have been bought so very closely that they can be sold at out of the usual prices. To-morrow, Friday and Saturday the sale will be at its full height, and should secure a good run of buyers.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 23.—Dr. Ellis and party have returned from their hunting trip in the Parry Sound district with their full quota of deer allowed by law. The doctor brought down his prize in the early morning when the animal was fleeing from a pack of wolves.

ERECT SCAFFOLD IN COURT TO PROVE MURDER CHARGE.

THREE RIVERS, Mich., Nov. 23.—A scaffold erected in a courtroom will confront the jury which next week will sit in the trial of Mrs. Lavinnie Plummer Slack and George Cooney, jointly accused of killing the woman's husband, William J. Slack.

Construction of the scaffold was begun Wednesday at the request of the prosecutor, who said he would demonstrate by means of an effigy the position in which Slack's body was found to prove that the theory of suicide is untenable.

VENISON SEIZED.

LINDSAY, Nov. 23. — Inspector Toole, of the Game and Fisheries Department has seized venison being sold without a license. Not only a hunter's tag, but also a vendor's license must be secured before venison can be sold.

THIRTEEN DEAD AFTER BELFAST ORGY OF RIOTS

FIFTY SERIOUSLY WOUNDED IN YESTERDAY'S RIOTING WHICH APPROACHED STATE OF CIVIL WAR.

BLAME BOTH PARTIES FOR THE DISTURBANCES

LONDON, Nov. 23. — (Canadian Press).—Rioting which began in Belfast Sunday culminated yesterday in a state of shooting, bombing and turmoil approaching civil war. It is declared the disorders were planned to coincide with the assumption of government by Ulster. The blame is placed according to the sympathy of the respective newspapers, but while the bombing of tram cars appears to be the work of Sinn Feiners, various accounts of the day's disorders suggest that aggression on the whole was reciprocal.

Total casualties in the series of outbreaks are thirteen dead with fifty in the hospitals and scores wounded in homes. The entire force of soldiers and police is said to be unable to deal with a situation such as arose yesterday.

The city is quiet so far to-day. While engaging laborers for shipyards this morning a foreman, named Branton, was shot dead by a sniper.

GOVERNMENT PRESENTS PROPOSALS TO SINN FEIN

LONDON, Nov. 23.— (Canadian Press.)—The first formal conference between Government representatives and the Sinn Fein since the meetings between the Ulster Cabinet and the British Cabinet was held to-day at Downing Street. The Government presented various alternative proposals for meeting Ulster's objections to an all-Ireland Parliament, as well as the suggestion that Ulster be left alone temporarily while the rest of Ireland receives fiscal autonomy.

The Sinn Fein strongly objects to any proposal which would leave Ulster out of the all-Ireland system. Thus, to-morrow, it appears, Lloyd George will have to inform Premier Craig of Ulster that the Sinn Fein will not concede this point.

SAYS LOS ANGELES LEADS IN NUMBER OF UNHAPPY.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—"There are more people dissatisfied with life in Los Angeles, proportionately, than in any other city in the United States."

This was one of the statements made by Rabbi Ernest R. Trattner, of Temple Emmanuel.

"We are told," he said, "that the plants here are greener than elsewhere, the red flowers redder, the blue flowers bluer and the roses more nearly perfect than in any other part of the United States. As that can be said of the good things, it can also be said of the things not so good. To-night there are thousands of people going to bed here who would rather be dead than alive.

AIRPLANE VS. LOVE.

After a lover's quarrel, Miss Elsie Hilliger, of Chicago, started home by train from Los Angeles, where she had gone to marry E. S. Fawcett. Three hours after the train had left, he learned of her departure, got an airplane, overtook the train, settled the trouble and flew back to Los Angeles, where they were married.

WIFE TAKES HELM AS HER HUSBAND IS FIGHTING FOR LIFE

BOSTON, Nov. 23. — (Canadian Press). — Captain George Poppe, of the schooner Lillian E. Kerr, was in court to-day with charges of mutiny on the high seas against Frank Howell, negro sailor, and with high praise for the conduct of his wife, Eda Poppe, during his fight for life with Howell. The wife kept the schooner on her course while the men fought, Howell with a knife, and her husband with a pistol. The negro crew grouped in a corner of the ship and offered no help. Mrs. Poppe belongs in Windsor.

BETROTHAL OF PRINCESS MARY PLEASES LANDON

PRESS SAYS IT SUITS DEMOCRATIC AND ROMANTIC BRITISH INSTINCTS.

LONDON, Nov. 23.— (Canadian Press.)— Morning newspapers express satisfaction with the betrothal of Princess Mary to Viscount Lascelles. It is emphasized that there would have been general disappointment if she had married a member of foreign Royalty. Her choice, says one newspaper, will suit the democratic and romantic instincts of the British people and the modern views of monarchy.

Congratulatory messages are pouring in to Buckingham Palace from all parts of the world bearing good wishes to the betrothed Princess.

Large crowds assembled outside the palace to-day in hopes of getting a glimpse of the Princess as she drove out.

IRISH PRISONERS FIGHT DURING FIRE.

GALWAY, Nov. 23. — (Canadian Press). — Forty political prisoners here rushed the warders to-day during a fire in the prison, seized the keys and barricaded themselves with six guards in another part of the building. In a fight afterwards five police and five prisoners were injured.

CURFEW RE-IMPOSED.

BELFAST, Nov. 23. — (Canadian Press). — The nine o'clock curfew was ordered imposed in the affected area in the east-end to-day and the riot centre, including North Queen Street, York Street and the dock areas. The police and military are at the disposal of the Ulster Government.

TEETH DEFECTS DUE TO BODILY ILLS, DECLARES

DEAN OF DENTAL COLLEGE TELLS LOCAL PHYSICIANS AND DENTISTS THEY SHOULD WORK TOGETHER.

ADVANCES NEWEST DENTAL THEORIES

That the dentists and physicians must work more closely together for the good of humanity, was the message A. E. Webster, D.D.S., M.D., M.D.S., Dean of the Royal College of Dental Surgeon of Ontario, Toronto, brought forty dentists and physicians who heard him in the Business College rooms last night at a meeting of the Dental Society. His subject, "The Making of a Dental Diagnosis in Consultation With a Physician," was treated in great detail.

Dr. Webster propounded the modern view of advanced dentists that decay of the teeth and disease of the gums are not local but are due primarily to general body affections. He emphasized that teeth should not be extracted on suspicion, but only after great consideration.

That absence of vitamines, fats and over-abundance of carbo-hydrates tend to produce decay of teeth, was the view expressed by Dr. Webster. Exercise in mastication of caorse foods tends to make for vigorous teeth. Sugar, he said, taken systematically, affects teeth more than locally.

Dr. J. A. Morgan, President of the Medical Society, and Dr. J. J. Craig, President of the Dental Society, thanked Dr. Webster for his instructive address following an informal discussion of problems relative to the two professions.

CAPITAL OF CONFEDERACY WARMLY WELCOMES FOCH.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 23.—(Canadian Press). — The capital of the Confederacy to-day accorded Marshal Foch one of the greatest ovation ever received by a distinguished visitor in this city. The programme to-day includes the placing of a wreath on the monument of General Robert E. Lee and the conferring of a degree by the university.

CORRECTING A WRONG IMPRESSION

In the advertisement of the Cash and Carry Self-Serve Grocery, 168 Charlotte street, in the Examiner last evening, a paragraph was inserted conveying the idea that this store had also a branch Cash and Carry store at 571 Chamberlain St. This is a mistake, and the paragraph should not have appeared in the Cash and Carry Self-Serve Grocery advertisement. They have only one store, and that situated at 168 Charlotte ,and their customers in the locality referred to in the paragraph are specially reminded of this fact.

War Mothers Take Pledge To Refuse To Assist in War

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(Canadian Press.)— A pledge to refuse to assist in future wars has been taken jointly by Mrs. Amelia McCudden, British war mother, and Mrs. Ernest Digney, United States war mother.

The pledge follows: "I pledge with all my heart and soul that so long as I live I will never raise my hand to assist any armed conflict between nations."

It will be taken up in the United States and Britain.

YOUNG PEOPLE HELD A DEBATE KNOX CHURCH

"Government ownership of railways is not best for the country."

This is what the winners in a debate at Knox Church on Monday night contended. The debate was held by the Young Peoples' Guild.

The subject was—"Resolved, that Government ownership of railways is most practicable and most desirable."

The affirmative was upheld by Mrs. H. Hobson and Mrs. Walter Yale and the negative b yMr. Tingley and A. Mackenzie.

The point particularly stressed by the negative was the huge deficits that exist each year in the operation of the Government system, and they argued that the $9,000,000 deficit "put up" last year was needed in other ways and a system that would cost $50,000,000 this year was not in the best interests of the Dominion. The policy of the National Railways was debated, althouhg the affirmative defended the National Roads assiduously.

After considering all the points for and against, the judges, Malcolm Clarke, William Turnbull and Rev. J. A. Mackenzie, found the negative the winners by a few points. Both sides were commended for the honorable way in which the debate was conducted. There aws a very large crowd present to hear the friendly controversy threshed out, and an enjoyable evening took part.

EVERY COSTUME IN CITY IS TAKEN

FOR TO-NIGHT'S MASQUERADE AT ROLLER ACADEMY—BIG CROWD OF SPECTATORS EXPECTED

While the previous Carnival held by the Arena Roller Academy was a huge success from every standpoint, from reports it would appear as if the number of skaters and the quality of costumes would greatly exceed the former carnival. The excellence of the prizes no doubt has a great deal to do with the competion. Doors will be open early. The spectators are assured of warm waiting rooms. Skaters not in costume go on about 8:30, and can skate until 10.30. Admission to skaters (whether in costume or not) 25c; spectators, 15c. advt

WORK ON HIGHWAY ENDED FOR PRESENT SEASON

Work on the provincial highway, south-west of Peterboro ceased today for the first time since early in May. According to the information from that district there is nothing much more to be done this season. The crusher cannot be moved until the ground is frozen harder. Afterwards stone will have to be drawn to a dump near Springville, but for the present the actual roadwork has been wound up. If the weather turns milder however crushing operations may be resumed.

OLD HOME WEEK DATE HERE SET FOR NEXT JULY

EXHIBITION BOARD TO CO-OPERATE IN MAKING GALA WEEK SUCCESS—TO ASK $1,000 FROM CITY.

PROMOTERS SEE EVENT AS A RECORD-BREAKER

Unanimously in favor of having an Old Home Week or Old Boys' Reunion, the actual name of the event to be fixed later, a gathering of thirty men, representing varied interests in the city, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night decided to hold the event in the first week in July, commencing Saturday, Dominion Day.

Holding it in conjunction with the exhibition was first proposed and favored, but several men, including Mr. J. A. McKone and Ald. J. J. Turner, spoke of July as the more opportune time, pointing out that school will be over and the "old boys" will be in a position to use their holidays to attend the re-union. W. A. Richardson also pointed out that business men are loath to leave their affairs after Sept. 1, and Frank H. Dobbin emphasized the ideal weather conditions of early summer.

After consideration, July was favored and Roland Denne, president of the Exhibition Board, promised the Board's co-operation to make it a success.

J. J. Duffus, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was temporary chairman last night, and F. H. Dobbin secretary pro tem. A nomiantion committee to submit an executive and committees for finance, publicity, etc., was appointed as follows: Thoas Barrie (chairman), F. H. Dobbin, J. J. Turner, R. M. Glover, W. S. Merrell, H. E. Hodgins, R. Denne and L. Frazer.

Finances were left to the Finance committee to arrange, but, recognizing that while revenue from a gala week at the Exhibition grounds might meet all expenses, to foresee a deficit it was decided to approach the City Council and ask them to guarantee a grant up to $1,000 if required to meet a deficit.

The meeting, after optimistic expression from all sides that the event would be a record-breaking event, adjourned to meet again on Monday next to consider the Nomination committee's report.

It has been suggested previously that the Old Home Week here be held in conjunction with the Champlain fetes which it was proposed to hold along the Trent waterways next summer.

IN THE WORLD OF FASHIONS

CHRISTMAS GIFT SUGGESTIONS

Here are two little vanity bags from clever shops which are just the things for Christmas gifts. The bag to the left is presided over by a sachet lady whose winsome face is hand painted. One pulls her arms to close the bag. Black satin and white net with pink silk for lining, make the bag. Black satin also is responsible for the other bag which resembles a bouquet at the bottom. The flowers are crocheted wool in many colors and the pleating pink satin which matches the lining and some of the flowers.

RIBBONS AND SLEEVES

Black chiffon velvet draped in long, classic lines did not quite realize the ideal of originality for this frock, so it adopted long, gleaming ribbons of cere in lieu of sleeves, which fall so gracefully from shoulder to bands at each wrist. Wide neck cut high, and indefinite waistline are other points in favor of the smartness of this gown.

The Value of Advertising

No matter what particular merit a preparation may possess, if you wish to bring it before the public, it is necessary to advertise it.

For instance, Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills were just as good a year ago as they are to-day; and while they had a steady sale due to one friend telling another of the benefits derived from them the proprietors recognized this was a rather slow way of introducing them, and for the year 1921 they have placed a contract with this paper for 10,000 lines of advertising.

On another page of this paper you will find their large advertisement, and with merit and advertising we feel confident they will meet with success.

TO-DAY'S NEWS OF THE DISTRICT

HECKLING OF SAM M'BRIDE A FEATURE AT WARKWORTH

FORMER CONTROLLER OF TORONTO HAD A STORMY PASSAGE AT NORTHUMBERLAND NOMINATIONS—SPOKE FOR GOVERNMENT CAND DATE AND WAS HECKLED ALL THROUGH HIS SPEECH—U. F. O. ADHERENTS BIG MAJORITY OF CROWD OF ABOUT 3,000.

WARKWORTH, November 22.—Northumberland electors nominated three candidates here this afternoon. They are:

Charles W. Kerr, lawyer, of Toronto, with residence in Cobourg—Liberal.
Milton E. Maybee, farmer, Murray Township—Conservatives
Frederick J. Slade, farmer, Haldimand Township — National Progressive, sometimes U.F.O.

The nominations were filed with P. S. Ewing in the Town Hall, and after a conference of the local leaders of the three parties to arrange a schedule for the customary speeches, the protagonists adjourned to the new skating rink, where a crowd of nearly three thousand men and women patiently waited in the numbing cold.

Political nominations are taken seriously in this county, although perhaps not more seriously than in many other constituencies up and down the far-flung line of campaign.

History was made this afternoon, in so far as this county's records are concerned. The National Progressive Party entered the Federal lists for the first time, and all the women without any distinction within the statutory restrictions were voters. The erstwhile U.F.O. group improved the occasion to put on a demonstration in greeting their candidate.

When Mr. Slade entered the rink, the Progressive forces met him with rousing cheers that swelled to a veritable ovation when later he stepped forward to begin his address.

The other candidates had their respective followers, but the Progressives had a preponderant majority. According to agreement each candidate was allowed forty minutes to speak. Mr. Maybee, up first, was brief, and made way for ex-Controller McBride, of Toronto. Mr. Kerr occupied his entire time. With him on the platform were his brother F. D. Kerr, of Peterborough, W. J. Maher, of Cobourg, and J. N. Stone, of Campbellford. Mr. Slade spoke no longer than Mr. Maybee, and then gave way to Mr. Campbell.

Stormy for McBride.

To-day's nomination will be remembered by most persons for the heckling of Sam McBride. Almost from the opening of his address, he encountered nests of snipers in all parts of the hall. They were down in front, out on the fringes, and up in the rafters. He was heckled early and often. In fact, the interruptions were almost continuous, except for interludes of calm that simply accentuated the noisy breaks. As a result he was kept busy answering questions that were interjected into his speech singly and in bunches.

After the meeting, Mr. McBride ran into a group of young farmers in front of the hotel, and soon became the centre of a storm of contention. He verbally lashed out on all sides; the dapper city business man beset by youthful U.F.O. enthusiasts, who buzzed around him like bees. The group grew, until it became a crowd and surged across the street, until finally Mr. McBride was half carried by his friends to the waiting automobile. Belligerent to the end, he thrust and parried, and took a particular delight with references to "Wandering Willie King."

Milton E. Maybee.

Mr. Maybee, speaking first, said he supported the tariff policy of the Hon. Arthur Meighen, which, from its first operation as the national policy, had brought prosperity to this country. The question at issue in this election was whether the Canadian people were going to adhere to that policy or whether they intended to adot Free-trade. Sir John A. Macdonald was elected on the policy of Protection, and since then British investors have laid out two billions of dollars in this country. Americans have invested four hundred million dollars, and have established 672 branch factories, employing 90,000 persons.

Mr. Maybee mentioned the Grain Growers' Supply Company, and pronounced it one of the greatest combines in Canada. Records showed that one of their profits amounted to 530 per cent.

"Who says the farmers are not good business men?" someone shouted from the audience.

Mr. Maybee said that the Grain Growers' Company was not a co-operative but a limited company. Instead of discussing other questions involved in this election, he announced that he would give way to Mr. Sam McBride, of Toronto.

An Entire Stranger.

"I come here as an entire stranger," siad Mr. McBride, after eulogising the women for their interest in the campaign as exhibited by turning out in such large numbers on a disagreeable winter day. "I have never appeared before on a platform in any Federal or Provincial election," he continued. 'My activities have been in the municipal affairs of Toronto. But the time has come when men like ourselves should preach the gospel as to who should be in power to get us out of the financial position and the lack of employment we find to-day."

One Big Issue.

Mr. McBride proceeded with the assertion that Free-trade was the one big issue in this election. The other parties might say they didn't mean it or they were deferring it for five years. Out in Regina one of those parties had organised 25,000 German women for revenge against Mr. Meighen because they hadn't been given the vote when the soldiers of Canada were fighting the Germans in France, and needed assistance.

"That's why I'm out to influence the people of old Ontario for the man who stands behind Protection," said Mr. McBride.

"In 1911," he continued, but a voice shouted, "That wasn't an election," and the interruption was the signal for cheers and laughter from a large section of the audience.

Asked for Fair Play.

When this outburst had subsided, Mr. McBride said in a conversational tone, "All I want is fair play to deliver my speech. If any heckler has something he wants to discuss with me, let him come up here when I'm through with my speech."

In the Reciprocity election, he went on, the "better part" of the Liberal party had gone over to the Conservatives, and remained with them. They were still with the party of Protection.

"It is Free-trade to-day, only we have two parties. I hope we will soon get back to the old two-party system for that is the only way of progress."

This expression evoked another round of hooting and laughter. Shouted remarks were lost in the din.

Taking His Medicine.

"I'm quite prepared to take my medicine," was Mr. McBride's calm comment when he could be heard again.

"You'll take it on election day," came the swift reply that sounded throughout the rink. And again the crowd rocked with laughter.

"What has protection done," proceeded the doughty ex-controller of Toronto.

"It has put the farmers on the road," was the vociferous answer from across the rink.

"The farmers of this country were never so prosperous as they are to-day," retorted Mr. McBride.

This declaration produced an uproar of shouts and "ohs" and laughter that lasted about a minute.

"How do you get that way," bawled out a youth with a stock of ancient jest, and the audience applauded and shouted again at his sally.

Farmers Would Suffer.

"The farmers can't give one reason for free trade," pursued Mr. McBride in the restored quiet. "We have 650 American branch factories representing an investment of $400,000,000 and employing 90,000 people. If the farmers vote for free trade and their leaders and the Liberal leader have declared they will put it into operation if they are elected, it's all very well for the candidate to say that he won't vote for it, but let me tell you when the whip is cracked they've got to vote as they're told."

"That's what the farmers want to put an end to," called an unmistakable U.F.O. partizan, and the ap-

A $500 CAMPAIGN IN LAKEFIELD TO AID CONSUMPTIVES

CITIZENS' MEETING TO THIS END, UNDER AUSPICES BOARD OF TRADE, CALLED FOR MONDAY ETENING NEXT.

PERSONAL MENTION

LAKEFIELD, Nov 23—A meeting was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening to discuss plans for a campaign for the Gravenhurst Free Hospital for Consumptives.

The occasion was poorly attended. Those present were Reeve J. C. Strickland, Councillor, . B. Marling, Rv. F. Vipond, Rev. T. L.. White, Mr. G. G. Connell, Manager Royal Bank, Mr. Sutton Manager Stirling Bank, Mr. J. J. McFadden, president G.W.V.A. and Messrs.. J. F. Lillicrap, J. W. Allen, Robt. Duff and W. J. Charlton.

Mr. Lillecrap was elected chairman and expressed deep sympathy with the cause and felt that a collection of some sort should be made, but advocated a grant from the council which would mean that every property owner would pay his or her share.

Mr. J. N. Dykes of Toronto, spoke on behalf of the National Sanitarium Association, explained the crying need that the hospital at Gravenhurst desroyed by fire, last November should be rebuilt and reviewed the splendid work for suffering consumptives done at the several institutions under the Association's jurisdiction.. All municipalities in Ontario, he pointed out, are being asked to cooperate in raising an Emergency Fund of $1,000 with which to carry on the work in aid of consumptives —adult and children—and Lakefield is invited to contribute the modest sum of $500 Mr. Dykes explained that patients who cannot pay for their own care and treatment are treated free.

In reply, Reeve Strickland declared that Council was not in a position to vote a grant of $500 to this cause and he suggested a tag day.

Councillor Marling also explained that at this time of year it was impossible to make a grant. At the beginning of the year the council struck their estimates of expenditure and at present many of these estimats had been exceeded. However, a well organized committee might raise the amount and a personal canvas of the village should be the first step.

Mr. Duff agreed with the Reeve and Mr. Marling and suggested that there were enough societies of young people to undertake the canvass.

It was decided to call a meeting of citizens, under the auspices of the Board of trade for Monday evening, December 5th to go thoroughly into ways and means. The meeting will be held in the Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. on December 5th.

Church Music

The evening service usually held on Wednesday evening in St. John's Church will be held on Friday evening this week.. Mr. R. J. Devey organist and choirmaster of St. John's Church, Peterboro, will give an address in church music, and at the close of the service a congregational practice will be held. It is especially asked that the A. Y. P. A. should attend in a body.

BELGIAN POLICE DOG RECOVERS PURSE; HOLDS THIEF.

MONTREAL, Nov. 23.—(Canadian Press).—The sagacity of a Belgian police dog belonging to Joseph Cote, led to the arrest of Arthur Leblanc, who snatched a purse from Mrs. MacFarland, as she was walking home yesterday afternoon. Hearing the woman's cries, Mr. Cote, who was passing in his automobile, accompanied by his dog, sent the animal after the thief, who took refuge behind some bushes. The astute hound first seized the stolen purse and dashed back with it to his master. He then ran back and, cornering Leblanc, held him until the arrival of a police officer.

ARMS PARLEYS TURN TO MORE DETAILED WORK

CHINA'S ECONOMIC EMBARRASSMENTS AND LAND ARMAMENT PROBLEMS TAKEN UP AT MEETING.

BRIAND MAY SPEAK ON LAND ARMAMENTS TO-DAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(Canadian Press).—The negotiations relating to both the Far East and armament limitation moved more slowly yesterday as the attention of the arms delegates passed from general policies to specific details.

China's economic embarrassments formed the text of the Far Eastern discussions, which resulted in the appointment of a sub-committee of representatives of nine nations to study the whole subject of administrative autonomy for the Chinese Republic with particular reference to tariff and tax restrictions.

The land armament problem also was considered at various informal conferences during the day, and a meeting of the armament committee of the whole was called for to-day, with the expectation that Premier Briand of France would say a last word as to his country's attitude on reduction of armies. It is understood that he is anxious to bring the question to a point of a formal expression by the conference before his departure for France.

On the side of naval armament, in formal exchanges continued between individual delegates and naval experts with an air of growing confidence that details of the United States plan, although requiring considerable time for determination, would eventually bring all the Powers into agreement.

Consider Naval Plan.

It is possible that the naval plan may receive some consideration at to-day's meeting of the five delegations which constitute the armament committee of the whole, but the greater attention is expected to centre on land armament in view of

PRINCE MIXES WITH INDIANS

LONDON, Nov. 23.— (Canadian Press.)— Describing the reception of the Prince of Wales in Bombay, Times, in a despatch received here, the correspondent for the London relates how the Prince broke away from his scheduled programme at the Poona race course last Sunday, making a half mile detour in order to pass unaccomapnied through the crowds.

Striding well ahead of his staff, says the correspondent, the Prince rushed along close to the rails, laughing, acknowledging cheers, exchanging greetings, touching hands of eager natives and then inspecting a group of veterans in the centre of a great throng of Indians.

The correspondent in his depatch doubts if ever before in the history of India, "either the ruling chief or the Emperor's son has thus gone a foot to make himself one with the mass of people."

WOULD SHIFT STILLMAN HEARING TO CANADA.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., November 23. Canadian Press. — An effort to shift the Stillman divorce hearings to Canada will be made in Poughkeepsie next Saturday.

This became known when John E. Mack, guardian of Guy Stillman, whost paternity has been attacked by James A. Stillman, New York banker, arrived here to confer with counsel for Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, defendant.

Mrs. Stillman's counsel will apply to Supreme Court Justice Morechauser for a commission to examine witnesses in Montreal, Three Rivers and other places across the border. Mr. Mack will join in the motion.

Mr. Mack announced that while the Canadian testimony was being taken, hearings would be continued next week before Referee Gleason in Poughkeepsie.

FREIGHT RATES TO BE REDUCED TEN PER CENT.

PULLMAN AND SLEEPING CAR RATES DOWN ALSO

OTTAWA, Nov. 23.—(By Canadian Press).—A general reduction of ten per cent. in freight rates on all steam roads under the jurisdictio of the Board of Railway Commissioners, will go into effect on December 1, it was announced by Chief Commissioner F. B. Carvell late yesterday afternoon. The order of the board giving effect to this decision will be issued to-day or Thursday. Announcement of the reduction was made following a conference between the presidents, and representatives of the Canadian National, Grand Trunk and Canadian Railways and the commissioners.

After the conference Chief Commissioner Carvell explained that the reduction was not a straight ten per cent. off the present freight rates but was to be deducted from the increases in rates made effective by the order of the board issued in December 1920, when the increases thirty-five per cent. in the east and thirty per cent. in the west. The forthcoming order will further decrease freight rates to a basis of 25 per cent. in the east and 20 per cent. in the west above the rates effective prior to the first increase in September 1920.

The order will also provide for a decrease in a sleeping, parlor and pullman car rates of one-half of the increase granted in 1920.

Railroad officials in conference with the commissioners were: D. B.. Hanna, president Canadian National Railways; E. W. Beatty, President Canadian Pacific; H. C. Kelley, President Grand Trunk Railway; W. R. MacInnes, Vice-President of C.N. R. and Frank J. Watson, general freight agent G.T.R.

To East Peterboro Electors

Ladies and Gentlemen:

IN THE CAMPAIGN WHICH IS BEFORE US IT WILL BE MY ENDEAVOR to meet as many of you personally as I can, but it will be impossible for me to reach you all, or to discuss at length individually the various questions. I will have to use the public platform in a large measure, and I take the opportunity of inviting your attendance and considerate hearing at the meetings to be held. Also, through the press I hope to convey and substantiate my standing on the issues before the country. To this end I present to you my views on certain of the questions which are occupying the most attention. If you deem them fair and reasonable and for the welfare of our country and have confidence in me that I will endeavor to the best of my ability to serve this riding, I ask your vote and influence regardless of what your affiliations may have been in the past.

The Tariff

I STAND FOR A TARIFF FOR REVENUE. No one considers entirely doing away with the tariff. There is, however, a revision of the present tariff long overdue —a revision where protection will not be for the few at the expense of the many. I believe that all corporations protected by the customs tariff should be obliged to publish annually comprehensive and accurate statements of their earnings.

I further believe that every claim for tariff protection by an industry should be heard publicly before a special committee of Parliament, and if deserving be given fair treatment.

The farmer is willing to pay his way with every one else, but he wants to have the certain knowledge that he is not contributing to a monopoly. We cannot afford to build up a top heavy structure with ever increasing centres at the cost of an ever lessening rural population without disastrous results sooner or later. Agriculture is our basic industry,—our greatest creator of new wealth, our outstanding source of real prosperity. Therefore, the welfare of agriculture is of the greatest importance. Only by the money brought into Canada by our exports, which are largely agricultural, can we hope to meet our enormous obligations. As the Hon. T. A. Crerar says: "Our policy, then, is frankly based on the principle of first developing the natural wealth of the country. We would make the tariff burden on the farmer, and on the working man as light as possible, not in the sense of any favor to them, but for the reason solely of encouraging the development of our agriculture, our mines, and our forests. If we can double or treble the production from these sources in the next ten years, we will save the situation and solve our problem. It follows that if these great natural industries are thriving and prosperous the manufactuing industries will share in the expansion, because all the facts of the case furnish convincing evidence that Canada's prosperity rests not primarily in the creation of large cities, but in the development of a sturdy, industrious and contented agricultural population."

Our National Debt

CANADA IS FACED WITH A NATIONAL debt that has grown in 10 years from $340,000,000 to the startling sum of $2,350,000,000. This is a cold, hard fact. Ten years ago the annual outlay to provide for the payment of interest was $12,500,000. Today for that same purpose we require the sum of $140,000,000. East Peterborough's responsibility per capita of this debt is about $3,500,000 with about $200,000 of an annual interest charge. This is surely staggering. On our honor as Canadians we cannot repudiate it, but we must pay and pay and pay. Much of this is due to war expenditures, but no small amount has been brought about by exaravagance in our public exnenditures,—overmanned civil service,—visionary policies in canals and in ship and railroad building. The expense of the Senate might be added and increases in the idemnities of members and Cabinet Ministers. There has been years of ar of spendin- and ECONOMY must come before it is too late. The so-called "Golden Years" of the past have been but an artificial bubble of prosperity resulting from millions flowing out of the country's coffers and which we now are called upon to pay.

Is it any wonder a new party has arisen and is demanding with the ballot that business methods be applied to the administration of the affairs of this great corporation, the Dominion of Canada? On the 6th day of December you will choose from among you directors of this great commonwealth who must have the courage, the honesty and the vision to put in action such agencies as will retain on our farms that desirable t— of Canadian agriculturalists, and will attract immigration to our vast unoccupied and half- tilled, because half manned, land areas, where real wealth may be created. Then, and then only, can we have prosperity in the store, the workshops, the factory, and Canada begin to meet her national obligations and a happy and contented people abound. I am,

Sincerely yours,

G. A. BRETHEN,

STIRRING THINGS UP.

If it serves no other purpose than to create a much-needed interest in municapl affairs and to arouse the electors of Peterborough from their apathy, the meeting called by the Tenants' and Owners' Association for Friday night will be emply justified. It is proposed to submit a list of candidates to this meeting, and from the names brought forward to select by ballot a slate which will be sponsored by the Association and given all the asststance that can be supplied by that body. The plan is rather a novel one. There have been slates in municipal elections here before, but they have usually een chosen by class organizations such as the Trades and Labour Council or by meetings held privately. The Tenants' and Owners' Association evidently believe in open diplomacy. Their list of aspirants for office is to be chosen at a public meeting, and everybody that wants to is invited to come along and help select the candidates from the names submitted. The result should be an unusually interesting meeting and a noticeable revival of public appreciation of the importance of paying attention to civic affairs and the selection of capable aldermen and other municipal rulers.

RELIEF FOR SOLDIERS.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin's letter in regard to the Federal relief which is being distributed to certain categories of returned soldiers, is an interesting contribution to the discussion that has been going on over this question. His suggestion that such relief should only be provided for veterans who, having received vocational training, secured employment in the trade for which they were trained, would undoubtedly remove much of the cause for complaint that exists at present. It would not give the man who only took a vocational course for the allowances that were paid, and made no attempt to follow it up afterwards, an unfair advantage over the soldiers who did not receive a course and hence are not entitled under the present policy to receive emergency assistance. On the other hand, of course, Mr. Dobbin's plan would meet with strong objection from those returned men who, after taking vocational training, claim their course was not long enough to enable them to secure employment in the trade in which they were trained, and that they were compelled to seek other employment. In either case there is ground for complaint and the only alternative would seem to be to stop quibbling over what particular classes are entitled to relief and to place all deserving veterans on the same footing by providing an emergency fund to assist every ex-service man who finds himself out of employment through no fault of his own.

LET THE PEOPLE SAY.

The filling of the vacancy in the City Council caused by the resignation of Ald. J. J. Turner, who proposes to enter the Mayoralty race, is a mater that will shortly have to engage the attention of the Council. It is within the power of the members of the Council to select a successor for Ald. Turner, who was elected for a two year term last January, if they see fit to do so, but it is doubtful if it would be policy on the part of the aldermen to adopt that policy. There seems to be a general feeling—and it is reasonable, too—that the much better plan under the circumstances would be to give the electors a chance at the the coming municipal election to say whom they want to fill Ald. Turner's shoes. The choice of the aldermen might fall upon a man whose presence in the Council would be viewed with disfavour by the majority of the ratepayers, and having regard to all the circumstances, the Council would be showing commendable discretion in shifting the responsibility from their own shoulders to those of the citizens, especially as in this particular instance it will not be necesasry to go to any extra expense in connection with the election.

Worry is the greatest enemy of health, and just to think only six more months to house cleaning time.

A PERIL OF WINTER.

With the passing of the summer, and the coming of the snow to tell us that winter is at hand, the warning recently given by the medical correspondent of the London Times with respect to the dangers of the cold season would seem to be timely. He does not allude to the menace of influenza or the train of ills which follow a severe chill, both of which are quite real, so much as the perils which attach to lessened exercise and to indoor life. During the summer season there is much of activity in the open air and sunshine. During the winter season men and women lean to the sedentary. There is too often a shrinking from the outdoors on the part of those who spend their lives in offices, as so many of us do. The exchange is made from a warm place of work to a warm, if not superheated, home. Unless steps are taken to counteract these adverse conditions, a sluggish circulation and the imperfect removal of waste products supervenes. Middle-aged people are therefore apt to add to their weight in winter, which is not always a good sign.

Doctors are agreed that the habits of middle age lead frequently to premature and avoidable breakdown. While young people have their dances, and freely seek the stimulation and tonic of our glorious winter days as opportunity may offer, men and women in the forties are too apt to sit at home, and deny themselves needed exercise. The antidote is to be found in a systematic and courageous toning up of the muscular system by activity under proper conditions. To over-exert at that time of life is probably quite as dangerous as is sustained under-exertion. The rational thing to do is to develop some not unpleasant way of stetching the muscles under conditions which correspond as nearly as possible to the open air—and to keep it up. Mere spasms of such recreation are of little permanent value. The point which calls for emphasis, however, in the judgment of experts, is that the winter is a period of peculiar risks to those who permit sedentary habits and sluggish ways of living to become fixed.

Why do people die? The traditional span of life is 70 years — "three score years and ten" in the sonorous language of the Bible. The expectation of life at birth is 51 years. To those who survive past forty, however, a further lease of twenty years is allowed in the mortuary tables of the insurance companies. Yet it is a serious fact, that nearly three times as many people die at or about forty as at twenty. At twenty they may have had the promise of long life; but at forty they are broken down. An eminent authority, in discussing this situation, says: "People die because of the breaking down of some vital organ. Most people die because they make no effort to live." This may be taken as indicating the indifference to exercise and open air recreation which takes possession of so many after they have passed thirty and have become immersed in their occupations.

The insidious and industrious enemies of life lurk everywhere in the form of poisons, or "toxins," as they are technically called. Most of them are secreted in the tissues and vital organs, and the cure would be to wash them away, if that were practicable. Men and women would lengthen the span of life enormously, if otherwise sound, by getting rid of, or by destroying in some way, these poisons. Exercise and sane methods of living help in that direction and at the same time build up resistance. Life, in fact, has been aptly, although negatively, defined as "the sum total of the forces which resist death." What it is apart from that nobody knows. The practical point which is here sought to be accentuated is, that vigilance, associated with persistent stimulation of the physical forces, is the promising road of safety. And our wholesome winter season, which may readily be turned to good account, happens to be a period which the experts say has its peculiar dangers under modern conditions of life.—Ottawa Journal.

And another time that money is hard to find is when it comes your turn to pay the fare.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Let us see, wasn't there to be an election campaign here along about this time?

Toronto returned soldiers have chosen a Victoria Cross candidate. A much better choice than a double cross standard-bearer.

Well, anyway, we know the names of those who are starting in the election race, and two weeks from now we'll be able to forget a lot of them.

Among the five women candidates is Miss Agnes McPhail. Her election is liable to cause a strike among the Hansard reporters.

WORTH WHILE TALK

A thorough-going improvement in our speech habits might well be based on a higher regard for worth while ideas. The individual who succeeds in making his conversation interesting, who really has something worth while to say, is very likely to exert himself to make the expression of his ideas as correct and effective as possible. That would be the full measure of better speech.

the imminence of M. Briand's departure. It is the preservation of her army, with the moral backing of the principal powers, that most interests France at the present stage of the negotiations, and it is known that M. Briand would be pleased to take back to France with him a formal conference endorsement of the position he has taken against material reduction.

Whether the other delegations will be willing to go so far as to take formal action of that character just now is uncertain, although it is taken for granted that at to-day's meeting there will be many general expressions of appreciation for the reasons which impel France to maintain the largest army in the world.

U. S. Delegation Meets.

Land, naval and Far Eastern questions were talked over by Secretary Hughes yesterday with the United States Advisory Committee of twenty one, and after he had presented a report on the present status of the negotiations, a number of sub-committees were instructed to prepare reports for the United States delegates on various subjects of detail. The submarine issue raised by Great Britain will be one of the questions to be thus investigated, and another, whose inclusion was regarded as forecasting an entirely new angle of the negotiations will be the use and legitimacy of new weapons of warfare. Thus far that subject has not been mentioned in the conference proper.

SHE had always cut her patterns economically, she thought, out of the material each pattern called for. And now to claim that the Deltor could save her money! Of course not! This time she planned to make a street dress. She bought the material her pattern specified and started to lay out her tissues.

Quickly and surely she worked at first, but gradually she slackened. Somehow the pattern refused to fit into her length of material. Like most women who had been making their own clothes for years, she did not realize until experience showed her that her pattern now called for less material than it could were it not for the Deltor enclosed in the envelope.

She did not know that that half yard which her pattern was seemingly short, represented the money that the Deltor saved—$5.04 on this one gown.

Then she consulted the Deltor. There she found a series of layout charts, each one worked out for her size, one for each width of suitable material. She followed the Deltor and in ten minutes the pattern was laid. And she was not one inch short! Then and there she learned the value of the Deltor.

The DELTOR

Saves 50c to $10 on Materials

THOUSANDS of women who have always made their own clothes are learning that no matter how skilled they are in laying out a pattern, no matter how little material they have used before, Butterick patterns with the Deltor now call for less material than any other patterns can—less than even Butterick patterns could—before the Deltor.

And the Deltor does even more

THROUGH simple picture-and-word illustrations it guides your every stitch in putting your garment together. Through Parisian ideas of finish, the Deltor brings you the charm you thought could belong only to Paris models—and it saves you 50c to $10 always.

Go to the Butterick pattern counter

SELECT from the newest Parisian fashions, remembering that the Deltor suggests the correct materials and simplifies the making of the most intricate gown. It saves you 50c to $10 because it specifies less material than would be possible without the Deltor.

APSLEY NEWS

At a meeting of some of the parishioners of St. George's Saturday evening it was decided to form a branch of the A.Y.P.A. here, and the following officers were elected: Patron—Rev. G. A. G. Spence; President—Mr. G. L. Spence; Vice President—Mrs. Stanley Windsor; Secretary—Mr. E. L. Blackwell; Treasurer—Mr. Stanley Windsor; Committee—Mrs. J. Downing, Miss Jennie Tanner; Mrs. Dave Coons, Miss Marjorie Spence. It was decided to hold meetings weekly on Saturday evenings at 8 o'clock. Next Saturday the Rev. G. Spence will give a lecture on the Bible and its beginning.

The Rev. G. Spence and Mr. Tom Tanner went on Tuesday to attend the Archdeaconal Conference at Port Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman James and family motored from Dunsford to Apsley and spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. White. Mr. James has been making cheese at Dunsford during the Summer.

The cheese factory here has ceased operations and considering all circumstances including the creamery opposition, has had a successful season.

Mr. Puffer, the Game Inspector is in the village, evidently keeping tab on the shipments of deer that are passing through. It has been an ideal hunting season, both as to weather and prevalence of game, and all the hunters wear a broad smile of satisfaction.

THE GRAVE RISKS OF PRETENDED ANTISEPSIS

How Millions of Bacteria Baffle Their Enemies

EVERY barber shop now announces that it is antiseptic, and, if you look at the machinery, you may believe it. But examine the machinery a little more closely, and you may not be so sure.

Are the hands of the barber clean? The mere washing of his hands does not make them aseptic. Then he tests the razor by passing it over the palm of his hand!

Look at his nails, for bacteria lodge most frequently in those deep recesses.

Look at the cotton that he puts around your collar. It has been standing exposed to the dust of the room, and collected a fine aggregation of microbes—all that came its way.

Has any one else had on that apron so swiftly adjusted around you? Then it bears something of the other person or persons.

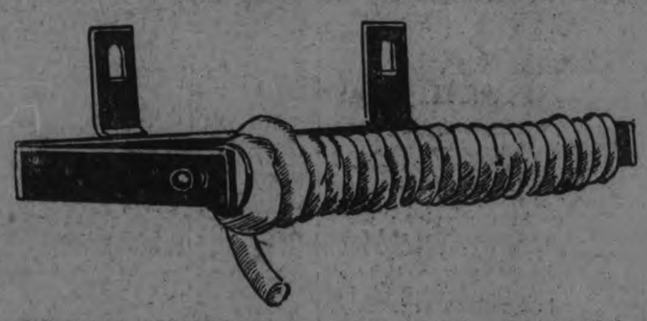
How about the shears and razors? They should be boiled at least 10 minutes in alkaline water under pressure to bring the heat to 210 deg. Fahrenheit; but how many take this trouble?

Besides, it has been shown that a brush, laden with fatty matter from the hair, although subjected to this heat and dipped into sterilized water, still retains 710 bacteria to the cubic centimetre.

A brush allowed to soak in a strong solution of corrosive sublimate over night still showed 15,000 bacteria to the cubic centimetre. The comb is another source of bacteria very difficult to cleanse. It may be done, but two hours' soaking in a strong aseptic solution is needed. How many barbers will take the time or the trouble?

When the barber dips razor or shears into a beautifully nickelled vase filled with warm water, he does not begin to sterilize them. If he passes either of them through a flame it simply soils the blade, and destroys nothing, unless it is held there long enough to take out the temper of the blade.

The customer who has his own brush, comb, shears and razor at the barber's is safe, only if they are wrapped up in gauze after use and put away.



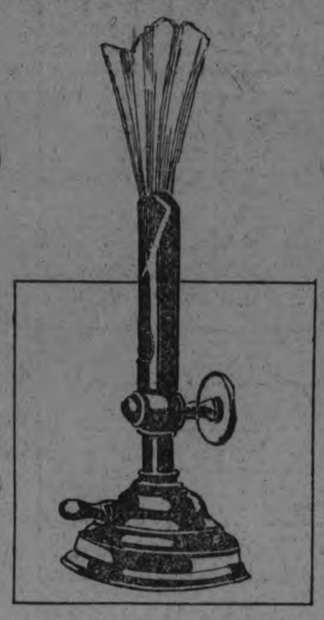
Roll of Antiseptic Dressing Exposed to the Air and Frequently Handled, Gathering Countless Germs.

The friction of the brush in the hard brushing is an excellent method of introducing any and all of the germs on the brush of the shop. Alcohol or bay rum applied afterward by no means destroys the germs, except those on the outside of the scalp.

The shaving process introduces new dangers, especially in the soap. As many as 160,000 bacteria to the cubic centimetre have been found on the soap. The apparent act of sterilization in tepid water only brings out the bacteria on the razor, increasing their number from 14,000 before to 17,000 after the moistening. The stropping adds its multitude of microbes, gathered from countless others on the porous leather.

The bit of alum used to stop the blood of a scratch is worst of all, for it is supposed to be antiseptic, yet, when one of these was placed in sterile distilled water it left 68,250 microbes in the first and 59,150 in the second bath. All kinds of harmful bacteria were among them.

Some of the more elaborate looking sterilizing machines are very imposing and might be of use, if properly used. If kept well supplied with formol, the steam of which acts as the sterilizing agent, and if the alcohol lamp is kept burning, sterilization is complete; but very often the operation is defective and the machine is a delusion, for show and nothing more.



So-Called Antiseptic Lamp, Which Misses Most of the Germs It Is Supposed to Kill.

It is possible to have a really aseptic or antiseptic barber shop, but it is not very common—not as usual as signs would lead you to think.

Is BRAIN FOOD a Myth?

A WELL known neurologist combats a popular impression in the statement that diet has little if any influence at all in building up a defective brain. The thinking part of this organ is nerve cells or neurones, innumerable, minute, pear-shaped bodies located in the gray matter of the outer integument of the brain proper. These are what may be termed receiving stations for the impressions made upon the senses. But experiments go to show that they are more than this.

An electric current, if interrupted by suitable means, gives the sensation of taste, if applied to the tongue. Touching the optic nerve, it creates the sensation of light, or the sensation of noise when it influences the nerves of hearing. It seems plain, therefore, that the neurones are not only receiving stations for impressions, but the means by which those impressions are translated into action.

The new theory is that it is their capacity for self-nutrition, implanted in the neurones before birth, which determined their development. Their growth, insofar as it is influenced by anything external, is a matter of stimulus rather than of diet.

The sight centres of a puppy, for instance, whose eyes were removed at birth, were found to be small and very sunken, although his food had been of the very best. An additional fact in support of this position is that, in cases of partial or even complete starvation, the brain loses little, if anything at all, in weight.

One's estimate of the value of a fish diet shrinks perceptibly before this theory, and the historic Boston baked bean is shorn of its traditional glory.

Experiments in Raising the DEAD

IN Leeds, Eng., a man has just been restored to life, after the best medical authority in the neighborhood had pronounced him dead of heart failure. One of the physicians, largely as a matter of experiment, submitted the patient to heart massage, in the meanwhile keeping up artificial respiration.

There was little or no response at first, but in the course of half an hour such symptoms of returning vitality were evident as justified a continuance of the efforts, and in an hour and a half the man was very clearly alive. What is more to the point, he made a rapid and complete recovery.

Such an achievement approximates the miracle of raising the dead. It also leads the medical fraternity to wonder if many lives have not been sacrificed by abandoning efforts to save them because the heart had ceased beating. That organ very frequently stops under the influence of an anaesthetic. A very ordinary cause of death in recent years is so-called heart failure.

In all such cases, according to the best practitioners, to massage the heart offers hope at least, especially if accompanied by artificial respiration. It is agreed that the process must begin almost immediately, for experiments have shown that the brain dies in 10 or 15 minutes from the time the heart ceases its functions.

MANY extravagant claims have been made concerning the virtues of chewing gum, but the most recent, and, by all odds, the most original, is that it is a powerful aid to love making. A Chicago young woman, who handles the question with a certain technical authority, declares that gum chewing is soothing to the nerves, leads one into delightful reveries. And from reveries to love is merely the distance between two pairs of lips!

A wad of gum in the mouth is not favorable to beautiful oral expression of sentiment; but the fair proponent meets this very point by indicating that the most eloquent love making may be wordless. Or, indeed, a person with any imagination at all may conceive it possible for a couple to sit in silence, their slowly moving jaws making a blissful rhythm, their mouths full of gum, their hearts full of adoration.

You have to concede the fact that the two like to chew gum, but Dr. Chester MacClellan, who has dealt whimsically with the subject, says that, given a "peach" of a girl and a "man" of a fellow, the same result will be obtained without any such an unpicturesque aid as chewing gum. In fact, says the physician, gum chewing would, in most cases, prove a drawback to ideal love making, distracting the mind and likely to lead away from the main subject into frivolity and banal irrelevancies.

Close observation of the phenomenon has shown that nearly all gum chewers believe they are receiving some specific benefit from it. From the comedy of love making to the big drama of American national growth, chewing gum is a considerable factor. Dr. T. H. McClintock of the New York Hospital draws attention to the latter fact thus: "It is an American habit and an American industry, and kept alive by hundreds of immigrants landing here every day, who adopt it in their process of evolution, and thus become the largest asset of the gum manufacturer."

An idea of the enormous amount of this "intensified mastication" may be had from the statement that during the last year there were imported into the United States about 8,000,000 pounds of chicle gum, the finished product of which had a market value of more than $34,000,000. Fortunes are spent on the collection of this gum in Mexico and other tropical countries.

In a big commercial house of New York that employs about 200 girls there is a "chewing gum inspector," a part of whose duties it is to see that none of the gum lies discarded on the floors, and to combine with the cleaning up of the rooms a scrutiny of desks and chairs, on the under sides of which the girls are prone to stick the gum when they are compelled to have their mouths free for necessary business conversation.

A hotel proprietor gives testimony to the fact that a considerable amount of gum is found on the under sides of the beds of some of the smartest guests, the ladies carefully placing the cuds there probably before they fell asleep, and then forgetting them. For, bear in mind, it has been given as a toilet verity that chewing gum adds to the mobility of the face, giving it possibilities of expression and beauty that it would not receive by any other means!

Dr. McClintock believes it is all in the mind that gum chewing aids digestion, despite the fact that thousands of persons are unshaken in the belief that it does this very thing, if it does nothing else.

"The manner in which it aids digestion is hard to explain," he says, "while there are many good reasons why it can exert no particular influence over that process. It cannot aid salivary digestion for obvious reasons. With even a moderate effort given to mastication, the salivary enzymes produce all the effect on starch that nature requires. Mastication is mostly useful as a process of trituration and lubrication.

"There is no evidence that salivary digestion continues to any considerable extent after the food reaches the stomach. Gastric secretion is quickly stimulated by the anticipation of food, and the acidity of the gastric contents soon inhibits the action of, or destroys completely, the salivary amylase.

"There is, undoubtedly, a certain amount of salivary digestion continued in the stomach previous to the complete admixture of food and gastric ferments, or possibly a slight amount owing to the lessened inhibitory action of combined hydrochloric acid, the product of protein hydrate; but this is only a possibility, and to what extent it proceeds is as yet problematical. Therefore, if gum chewing is going to aid gastric digestion by a further addition of salivary amylase, there is no time to lose, and one must labor diligently for a short time.

"The act of chewing does stimulate gastric secretion, but after a meal the appetite is appeased, and no form of stimulation to the gastric mucous membrane can equal that of food in actual contact with it. Moreover, the nervous reflex governing gastric secretion is sufficiently sensitive to accommodate itself to the amount and kind of protein substances with which it has to deal. It is possible that some brands of chewing gum do contain a trace of pepsin. If so, the most that can be said of it is that it does no particular harm.

"The greatest amount of chewing is done between meals, when gastric digestion is well along toward completion and the stomach contains sufficient free hydrochloric acid to destroy whatever salivary enzymes may reach it at that time. It is extremely doubtful that the chewing process can influence intestinal digestion."

The average person who finds in the sweet, pliant gum the influence of a friend and comforter will read this technical pronouncement and—go right on chewing his cherished cud. If this world of men and things were purely literal it would be a sad place, indeed; and, if a man has an illusion that does him no harm, but gives him a certain pleasure or happy belief, why, let him be in undisputed possession of it.

To millions of our citizens, chewing gum spells tranquillity and contentment. The process, says Dr. MacClellan, is as though you were ironing out the creases in the mind; as though one were brushing away dull care, not by means of drug or drink, but by a perfectly natural and harmless process.

And when you accept this angle of it the claim of the Chicago young woman concerning its virtue as an aid to love-making does not seem so absurd, after all. Well, yes, Gladys—it is certainly worth a trial.

A Good BOXING Partner

THE punching bag is out of date. It was defective in many ways, for although it "came back" it was too measured in its return, and did not give the boxer all that he required as to dodging and protection.

The latest and most effective "boxing partner"—next to a living one, always expensive—is the manikin, full man-size, standing in a hemispherical metal base, and so weighted at the bottom that it recovers its balance no matter how hard the blow be struck. In fact, the harder the blow the quicker and harder the return; so this dummy is a redoubtable antagonist if the boxer is not fully on the alert.

The Weighted Figure That "Comes Back" When It Is Punched.

The punching bag trained the boxer to hit too high. With the dummy he may practice all kinds of blows, especially to the body.

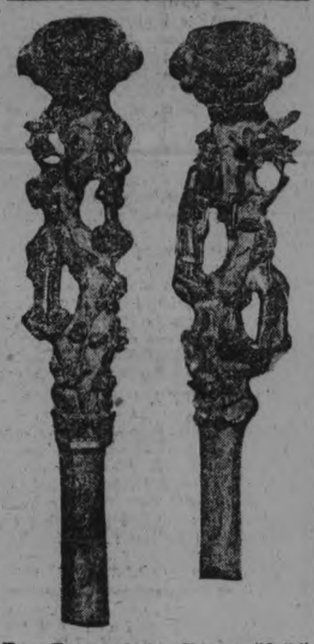
Hygienic Salts for the Bath

A PHYSICIAN who believes in baths as a tonic advises the use of Epsom or Carlsbad salts—preferably the former—for a general invigoration. They should be used not more than twice a week.

Take one ounce of the salts to a pint of warm water for a sponge bath. For a large tub bath use a pint of salts to a tub of warm water.

Purchase the salts at a wholesale drug house. The usual price in quantities is 4 cents a pound. This salt water makes an excellent tonic and carries off many impurities through the pores of the skin.

Curious Chinese SCEPTRES



Two Types of the Chinese "Juii," Used by Priests and Royalty.

THE Chinese Juii, shaped something like a sceptre and used by priests and royalty, is sometimes quite plain. In fact, those used by priests are, as a rule, plain. Royalty indulges in a great amount of fine carving. The two shown are more than a hundred years old and exceedingly fine specimens.

They are carved of peach wood, which seems as hard as iron. The lotus is the motive; leaf, flower and seed-pod are charmingly interwoven, while the cap is a conventionalized blossom and seed-pod. There are two household gods very delicately carved on each one.

Occasionally, when some Chinese attains a remarkable age, he is presented with one of these. The late Dowager Empress had hundreds presented to her on her last birthday.

A vast portion of Australia is virtually empty. The ratio of population in northern Australia is about one to every 700 square miles.

Where Men Do KNITTING

THE Boab, or gatekeeper in Cairo, is as a rule an industrious creature, for, in his spare time, he is frequently found perambulating up and down the pavement in front of the grounds whose guardian he is, knitting or spinning.

The spinning is done in a very casual sort of way with a little wheel which somewhat resembles a top. The knitter carries the thread around his neck and knits from the inside of his work, instead of from the outside as we do.

He knits socks and some curious little skull cap worn by young boys, which are usually of rather an intricate pattern.

Here Are Some Public PICNIC STOVES

THERE is a growing belief throughout the country that public parks should be enjoyed by the public and not be set aside and restricted as mere ornaments. It is only a few years since many of these breathing places, even the public squares in large cities, were fenced about, and in some instances carefully locked up over Sundays. Today such parks are not only thrown open day and night, but the public is encouraged in every way to get as much as possible out of them.

One of the latest ideas in park equipment is to provide for the picnic parties and anticipate their wants. The public ovens which are now in common use in many parts of the country, for example, fill a long felt want. Every one who has picnicked will appreciate the convenience of a good fire. It is usually difficult to find a suitable place to build one, and there is always more or less danger of its spreading when once under way.

A simple and serviceable picnic stove is shown in the accompanying photograph. It has been built for public use in the Reservoir Park at Reading, Pa. It has cost the authorities very little, and in the course of a season is used by thousands of picnickers.

It provides a large plate capable of accommodating a dozen or more pans or kettles. The chimney is carried high enough to prevent the smoke from annoying the cooks. A thoughtful park commissioner has even provided a liberal supply of cord wood which the picnickers are free to use.

Another novel feature of some public parks is a sink where the picnickers may wash their dishes. The arrangement shown herewith has been installed in the park in Pomona, Cal. The fact that these conveniences are situated at extreme points in the United States illustrates how general is the movement to improve park conditions throughout the country.

The public sink in this case is built of concrete, after an approved scientific model, with open plumbing, and is perfectly clean and sanitary. It is located in an attractive shady spot, where the outdoor housekeeper will be shielded from the sun.

Conquering Typhoid.

A report of the results of anti-typhoid inoculation among the French troops in Algeria and Morocco during 1912 shows that in western Morocco, while about 15 per cent among the non-inoculated contracted the disease, only one in 5000 among the inoculated did so.

During a recent installation of lightning conductors on St. Paul's, London, the discovery was made of one of the original iron bar conductors erected about 140 years ago under the supervision of Benjamin Franklin. It was inside one of the towers not exposed to the weather, and so was still in a good state of preservation.

CROP REPORT

The following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The marketing of grain is very slow. Most of the wheat is still in the barn. Local millers are paying $1 a bushel.

Grey says that the price of sweet clover seed has declined to $3 a bushel.

Hay has wide spread in values, selling at from $17 to $30 a ton.

Potatoes have been going at around 80 cents a bag in some parts of Simcoe county, where the yield turned out to be better than was expected.

The turnips and other roots left out in the snow during the last week do not seem to be much the worse for their exposure, and now have favorable weather for their housing.

Fall wheat on the whole is looking promising, most of it having a good top. Here and there there are evidences of injury from Hessian fly.

Fall plowing, which was held up by the snow storm, is again being pushed forward. Most of the farmers have completed their task.

The snow and heavy rains of this month have been helping the water supply in some of the eastern counties where the wells have been running dry.

Most of the live stock are stabled, but are being let out during the day. There will be plenty of roughage, especially corn, for wintering.

Middlesex says that over forty carloads of cattle left Ailsa Craig during the week, all for Great Britain.

There has been a brisk demand for cattle in Carleton. Seven carloads were shipped from Carp during the week. Prices varied from three cents a pound for common to four cents for finished.

Waterloo reports that several carloads of feeders have been brought into the county during the week, some of them from Toronto stock yards, at prices ranging from four to five cents a pound.

A few beef cattle have changed hands in Kenora around three cents a pound.

Most of the cheese factories in Eastern Ontario have ceased making cheese and are selling cream, the patrons getting the skim milk.

Hogs are still going at from $8 to $8.50 a cwt.

Peel states that a few good horses of the wagon type changed hands recently.

Bruce says: "One carload of black-faced sheep and one half carload of long-wools were shipped from Walkerton recently. The black-faced brought $8.65 while the long-wools brought $8.25 at Toronto market. The sheep were fairly uniform, although some were over weight to bring top prices."

Chickens and ducks have been selling in Grey at 20c. a lb.

The Dundas representative says that Mr. N. Summers of Winchester, wh ohas a lareg apiary, buries his who has a lareg apiary, buries his them a week ago.

Perth observes that live stock and implements are going very cheap at auction sales.

MACHINE GUNS TAKEN FROM IRISH GUARDS

DUBLIN, November 23. Canadian Press. — A number of machine guns have been stolen from Victoria barracks, Windsor, where the Irish Guards are stationed. The Daily Mail says the robbery was one of the most remarkable ever planned and it believes the guns and rifles were taken by member of the Irish Guards who are supposed to have escaped to Ireland.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $5.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes 16 ounces of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

HECKLING OF SAM M'BRIDE

plause indicated the strength of the collective sentiment he expressed.

Where Sell Produce?

Mr. McBride proceeded to ask where the farmers would sell their produce if there was free trade.

"In England," was the reply from the audience.

"I'm very sorry to say that there are more men out of work in England than there are in any other part of the world," was Mr. McBride's retort. "And there are fewer unemployed in Canada than elsewhere."

"With free trade they tell the ladies they will have the finest silk dresses they can ask for," he continued. "But let me ask them where will you get the money?"

"We can't get it anyway," someone shouted, to the amusement of the audience.

Good Looks and Dresses.

"A heckler says the ladies can't get the money anyway. Well, looking around me I think the ladies of Northumberland are as good looking and as well dressed as any in Canada," was Mr. McBride's amiable sally that brought out a more cordial ring in the crowd's laughter.

"We want a higher tariff wall," Mr. McBride asserted argumentatively. "A higher tariff wall would bring in more and more industries and there would be a greater need for the produce of the farmers. Canada is the only country that hasn't increased its tariff since the war. The Fordney bill has shut your produce out of the United States. And yet they are shipping millions of dollars' worth of their produce into this country, and competing with our farmers. If they can compete now why do the farmers want to take down the tariff. Where would they be."

Considerable interruption marked this passage, and the U.F.O. section greeted it with the laughter of doubt if not of ridicule.

Sell Foodstuffs Cheaper.

"I say you can import foodstuffs from the United States cheaper than you can buy it from the farmers," Mr. McBride shouted at the audience. When he referred again to his previous statement about the organization of German women in the West, someone exclaimed, "Oh, cut that out!"

Mr. Crerar is doing that in the West," Mr. McBride insisted. "The leader of the progressives (and he was never elected to that position) is trying to create a class and creed cry."

Soldier Speaks Out.

When he asked whether the returned men were going to let the United States get the economic control of Canada, a young man retorted: "Are you going to let that gang go back and bleed us?. I'm one who went."

After another demonstration of cheers, Mr. McBride recounted what the government had done for the returned men. His statements were interrupted with: "We didn't want that!" and "That's no good!"

Mr. McBride said he had every respect for the returned men. If any of them in this district had not been fairly dealt with he should have gone to his representative and told him so.

"Why didn't Meighen speak to the soldiers at Massey Hall?" someone else called out.

Meighen and Soldiers.

"The Hon. Arthur Meighen did speak to the soldiers at Massey Hall," Mr. McBride shot back. "He has been complimented by the soldiers at Toronto and elsewhere and they are right behind Arthur Meighen unless they are dyed-in-the-wool Grits."

The last word sounded like a hiss.

"They'll show you if they are or not," came from the crowd.

"You speak for yourself, my friend," was Mr. McBride's rejoinder.

Continuing his address, he said that if the tariff wall was levelled Canada's debt would have to be paid by the farmers who own farms.

"How about an I.O.U.?" some one shouted, and another, "How much taxes did the Riordons pay?"

"I wouldn't like to take your I.O.U.," was Mr. McBride's repartee.

He explained that if the banks of Canada forced payment of the outstanding debts the country would be bankrupt. In the same way the Riordon Company would have been compelled to go out of business if they had been forced to settle peremptorily in their circumstances.

Changing the topic, he asked: "What is Murdock doing?"

"Telling the truth," replied a man up in the rafters.

"He was kicked off the Board of Commerce," said Mr. McBride, "after he had hung on as long as he could."

Some person shouted "sugar," and Mr. McBride shot back the statement that the price of everything the Board of Commerce touched went up shortly afterward.

Scored a Hit.

He scored a point when, during the discussion regarding what the Government had done for the soldiers, he flung back, "Stand up and show us your button that fellow in the fur hat down there."

No one stood, but Mr. McBride verbally flayed him. In conclusion, he urged Northumberland to elect Mr. Maybee, the candidate of Arthur Meighen.

Honesty of Meighen.

"I defy any man to put a finger on any dishonest thing done by Mr. Meighen," he said. "For the last eight years no one has worked hard-He's not for Riordons. That is a departmental matter he knew nothing about. If you want him to know all the details of the departments you will have to get four or five Premiers."

"If the farmers didn't elect Mr. Meighen," was the parting shot, "don't come back to us after your farms are gone to mustard seed and weeks and ask us to save the country for you."

G. W. Kerr.

Mr. Kerr dwelt upon the prosperity Canada had enjoyed under the Liberal Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier as a direct result of the capabilities of that administration. Speaking of his own candidature, he vigorously denied and denounced the whispered lies that he had been paid through W. J. Maher, of Cobourg, $5,000 to enter the election. He had accepted the nomination of Liberals at Colborne, and upon the request of McKenzie King and other leaders of the National Liberal party.

Mr. Kerr dealt with the complaints of the U.F.O. that they hadn't received a fair deal, and showed that they had always received every consideration from the Liberals. The Progressive party, he declared, had come into actual being after the Union Government, which the farmers had so materially helped to elect, had rescinded the exemptions promised to farmers' sons. In that Cabinet was the Hon. T. A. Crerar, who had consented, without protest, to the expulsion of the farmers when they met the Cabinet Ministers in the spring of 1918. They didn't receive ordinary courtesy, and one of those who met the deputation was the present leader of the Progressive party.

Sifton Behind the Progressives.

Mr. Kerr called attention to the activities of the Progressives in every riding against the Liberal candidates, and of instances at which he said the Progressives had dominated Liberal conventions and carried resolutions that no candidate be put forward. Over the National Progressive party was an unseen hand, and Mr. Kerr said that hand was Sir Clifford Sifton's, who accomplished the defeat of reciprocity in 1911.

Sir Clifford Sifton and Lady Sifton occupied seats on the platform at Mr. Crerar's meeting in Massey Hall.

"I claim that Sifton is in league with Crerar and 'Missouri' Wood for the purpose of throttling the Liberal party in this election," declared Mr. Kerr.

In reply to a question from the audience, he said he stood for a revenue tariff which he explained at some length.

Mr. Slade.

Mr. Slade said that the fault of the barrier along the United States border against Canadian products was the fault of the Canadian farmers because they had their chance in 1911 and refused it.

"Afterwards the barrier was removed on cattle going into the United States, and the business that developed was a hint of the prosperity we might have enjoyed. The prosperity Mr. McBride speaks of wouldn't last over night. I agree with Mr. Kerr on one point. He said Sir Wilfrid Laurier was a great leader and statesman. I agree entirely with that, but Sir Wilfrid Laurier is dead."

Mr. Campbell.

J. C. Campbell delivered the most telling speech of the afternoon, illuminating his array of facts with pointed allusions and jewelled phrases from Scripture, Macaulay and other classics and with homely anecdotes and stories that kept the audience alert and good humoured to the end after their previous hearing of two forty-minute addresses.

Answering Mr. McBride's statement that the farmers of this country were never so prosperous, Mr. Campbell granted that during the war more mortgages were paid off farms than ever before. But this year had ushered in a swift change.

"The manager of a loan company in Peterborough told me that he was being bombarded by farmers who wanted to get loans on their farms, and these requests were so numerous that he wanted to get away for four months," said Mr. Campbell.

Another remark was, "No man here is able to shoulder enough cowhide that would buy himself a pair of boots."

Result of Protection.

Mr. Campbell declared that protection did not encourage industry but that it begot combines and amalgamations.

He presented the following statistics to substantiate this statement. In 1891 there were in Canada, he said, 537 carpet factories with 915 employees, and in 1913 there were 5 carpet factories and 551 employees.

In 1891 there were 5,398 boot and shoe factories with 18,041 employees, and in 1917 the factories numbered 185 with 13,013 employees.

In 1891 the carriage factories numbered 3,336, with 9,056 employees, and in 1917 758 factories with 3,915 employees.

Furniture factories in 1891 were 1,286 with 7,180 employees, and in 1917 the factories numbered 247 with 8,483 employees.

Woolen factories in 1891 were 377 with 7,156 employees and in 1917 the number was 80 with 5,456 employees.

Harness factories were 1,567 in 1891 and 3,188 employees, and in 1917 485 factories with 2,030 employees.

ARBUCKLE PUT ON TRIAL FOR MANSLAUGHTER

DEFENCE TO ATTEMPT TO PROVE HE WAS NOT IN ROOM WITH MISS RAPPE MORE THAN 10 MINUTES.

WITNESSES TESTIFY OF ARBUCKLE'S PARTY

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 23.—(Canadian Press.)— After the prosecution had closed its case yesterday in the manslaughter trial of Roscoe C. ("Fatty") Arbuckle, after reserving the right to introduce further testimony to-day, Gavin McNab, chief counsel for the defense, made the opening statement for Arbuckle.

"We will prove that Arbuckle was not in the hotel room more than ten minutes with Miss Virginia Rappe," McNab continued. Arbuckle is accused of having inflicted fatal injuries on Miss Rappe, a motion picture actress, in his hotel rooms September fifth.

George Glennon, house detective of the hotel, was the first witness called by the defence.

The court ruled out McNab's attempts to have the witness detail a conversation he had with Miss Rappe following her alleged injuries at Arbuckle's hands.

Before the trial the defence announced that Glennon had made a statement to the District Attorney in which he said Miss Rappe had exonerated Arbuckle.

Glennon was excused from the stand following the court's ruling.

Details of the fatal visit in September, of Miss Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress, to San Francisco, from Los Angeles, were related by Alfred Semnacher, manager for Miss Rappe, in the manslaughter trial of Roscoe C. Arbuckle.

Semnacher said he brought Miss Rappe and Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont, a mutual friend, to San Francisco in his automobile, September 3, and that they attended a party given by Arbuckle, together, September 5. He testified to the finding of Miss Rappe in Arbuckle's room apparently in a dying condition, after she had been alone for a time with the defendant.

He met Arubckle the next day, and "we all believed Miss Rappe was intoxicated." Semnacher refused to repaet a word he said was used by Arbuckle in relation to the attempts by guests of the party to relieve Miss Rappe. He wrote the word out for the stenographer.

Miss Rappe had torn of her clothing on various occasions after drinking liquor, but the manner in which she tore it on such occasions was different from the manner she used after supposedly having been injured at the party.

Miss Alice Blake, show girl, was the first witness. A statement made by her to the police was introduced.

On request of the prosecution, the court directed that a microposic examination be made of the bladder of Miss Rappe. The examination was desirable to refute if possible, satements of the defence that that infirmities of the organ might have caused the rent in it, rather than the external force Arbuckle is said to have applied.

Josephine Keza, a chambermaid at the Hotel St. Francis, testified tha while in a hallway she heard a woman's voice screaming, "No, no, no," while the party was in progress, and a man's voice answering "Shut up." A statement made by the witness to the State Attorney was read into the evidence by the defence.

The story of the invitation by telephone to Miss Rappe to attend the party was told. Fred Fischback did the telephoning, the statement said.

Later, the statement said, Miss Keza heard a girl crying and much music and shouting. She listened at the door of Arbuckle's room and heard the girl's cries coming from that room while other members of the party were in it, the statement detailed.

Al. Semnacher, manager of Miss Rappe, was ordered to remain within jurisdiction of the court, as the defence expected to use him as a witness later.

LIVER TROUBLE

BAD BILIOUS ATTACKS

When your liver becomes sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers. Your bowels become constipated, the tongue coated, the breath bad, the stomach foul and sick, and bilious spells occur on account of the liver holding back the bile which is so essential to promote the movement of the bowels, and the bile gets into the blood instead of passing out through the usual channel.

The only way to keep the liver active and working properly, and thus get rid of the nasty bilious attacks, is to keep the bowels regular by using

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS.

They are purely vegetable, small and easy to take, work smoothly and gently, and there is nothing of the griping, weakening and sickening effects of the old fashioned purgatives.

Mr. John S. Caron ,Donavon, Sa'. writes: "I was troubled with my liver and had severe billous attacks. A friend advised me to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, so I took two vials and have had no more attacks."

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

POLITICAL MEETING IN THE RINK—REV. C. J. PHELAN HOLDS A BAZAAR.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 23. — Mr. and Mrs. Terrence McLean are in Norwood to-day attending the wedding of their niece, Miss Mae English.

Mrs. J. H. Graham, Lauder avenue, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. George Ashton, who is ill.

Mr. H. K. Clifton, Peterborough Hydro-Electric inspector, paid an official visit to town yesterday.

Dr. and Mrs. Macoun, who spent the week end in Toronto, returned to town on Monday night and are having their house completely renovated.

Rev. J. J. Black, of Burnbrae, occupied the pulpit of St. Andrew's church on Sunday and delivered a very able and inspiring sermon.

Mrs. Jewell of Dartford, spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Bailey, who accompanied her home for a month's visit.

Mrs. John Towns, Rear street, is installing a new electric washer and will be prepared to do private laundry work in the near future.

Political Meeting.

A meeting in the interests of the National Liberal Conservative candidate will be held at Stanwood on Monday evening, Nov. 28th. Besides the candidate Mr. Maybee, Col. Boggs of Cobourg, and Mr. Tummon of Ivanhoe, will give addresses. Neither of these speakers need any introduction to Seymour audiences, and no doubt will be favoured with large audiences.

Father Phelan's Bazaar.

Father Phelan's bazaar, which opened yesterday and is continued this afternoon and evening, in the Opera Houes, augurs well to be the most successful bazaar ever held in town. The hall ,the various booths as well as the tea room, was most beautifully decorated with flags, evergreens, ferns, etc., a veritable fairy land. In the evening even standing room was at a premium, and once inside one forgot all save the tempting array of articles displayed in the various booths. Those in charge of the various booths were: Fancy cooking booth, Mrs. M. O'Donahue and Miss Brunelle; fancy work booth, Mrs. Corkery, Mrs. McAvoy and Mrs. McNamara; plain sewing booth, Mrs. D. Lynch and the Sodality girls; country store booth, Mrs. Joseph Kelleher, Mrs. Will Grills and Mrs. David Lynch; candy booth, Mrs. Matt Mulhern and Miss Whaley; soft drinks booth, Mrs. Matt. Mulhearn. The tea table was in charge of Mrs. George O'Sullivan and Miss C. Shannon; kewpie doll booth, Miss Doris Dewey and Miss Keenan. At the country store there was an endless array of fine plump chickens, geese, butter, apples, vegetables of all kinds, grain, etc., that one could not help but linger. The wheel was in charge of Mr. McFarlane of Peterborough, and Mr. George O'Sullivan and Mr. William Keating, who sold tickets, could hardly hand them out quickly enough so eager were the crowd to try their luck. Imagine one getting a big fat goose, 2 lbs. butter, etc., for one ticket costing 10c. At the kewpie doll booth Mr. Wood had charge of the wheel and there, too, crowds thronged. The fancy work booth was a dream, and here one might linger over the huge display of the daintiest handiwork, something to suit the tastes and purses of all.

The plain sewing booth was loaded with pretty and useful articles, being presided over by a bevy of pretty girls. The fancy cooking booth groaned under its load, and the afternoon tea and supper from 6 to 8 o'clock left nothing to be desired. Candy there was, without an end, and it was most toothsome. The fish pond also did a flourishing business.

During the evening an excellent programme was provided, Father Phelan, in his usual gracious manner, presiding. Mayor Meyers briefly expressed his pleasure at being present on this occasion, and also referred to the most friendly and amicable relations existing between himself and Father Phelan, and of the very many friends Father Phelan had won for himself since coming to Campbellford some four months ago. Little Master Bernard Blute sang very sweetly, "Keep on Hoping," which was followed by a most pleasing solo in French by Mr. E. Brunelle, accompanied by his sister, Miss Brunelle, who joined in the chorus. St. Mary's choir, long known for its musical ability, rendered "Good Night" most effectively. Mr. V. Brunelle accompanying on the violin and Miss Brunelle taking the solo part. Mr. Slade, the U.F.O. candidate, who was in the audience, was invited to the platform, and gave a brief address. The concluding number was a violin solo by Mr. Brunelle.

To-night, after the bazaar, there will be a dance, and it is confidently expected that when the bazaar is over, that the proceeds will have exceeded even the highest anticipations. Those who could not attend yesterday should be on hand early to-day, as it is hinted that to-day's programme will even be more inviting than yesterday's.

FREIGHT RATES TO BE REDUCED

The statement issued by the Railway Board follows:

"The Board of Railway Commissioners has decided that there shall be a general reduction of ten per cent. in all freight rates, applicable to all steam roads under its jurisdiction in Canada. In any cases where reductions have already taken place since September 13, 1920, these shall shall be considered as a part of the 10 per cent reduction; in cases where the reductions already granted have exceeded 10 per cent, the present rate shall not be increased. There will be no reduction on commodities which were not increased in 1920, such as crushed stone, sand gravel and milk, and no decrease in services, the charges for which were not increased. The existing rates on coal shall not be disturbed because they were given a special treatment in 1920.

"There shall be a decrease in all sleeping car, parlor and Pullman car fares of one-half of the increase granted in 1920.

"The details of decreases will be fully set forth in a general order.

"The companies shall file tariffs accordingly, effective on the first day of December next".

If you are careful to follow the advice of your older friends or relatives

For over 50 years ago, Dr. Pierce, then a young practicing physician discovered that a prescription made up of Lady-slipper root, Viburnum, black and blue Cohosh, Unicorn root, Oregon Grape root, and made into a liquid extract, or tablets, without alcohol, was wonderfully efficient as a tonic for those pains and ills so common among the women folks. This woman's tonic has sold as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for over fifty years and is just as popular and efficient now as at any time. Over a million bottles were sold last year and many of your friends and neighbors can testify as to how good it is.

NIAGARA FALLS, ONT.—"Dr. Pierce's valuable remedies are kept in stock at our home, and have been so for a number of years. I first used them in Port Arthur as a trial bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' was given to me. I wish to truthfully state that I believe it saved me from an operation. If all ailing women, would only take a trial bottle, there would be fewer broken-down and disheartened women. Remember, this is not a patent medicine put up by a quack doctor, but is a good, first-class herbal medicine that produces wonderful results in a short time."—MRS. CATHERINE DEMPSEY, 32 Bridge Street.

SITE OF RED ARROW TIRE BUSY SCENE

FAIR WAGES PAID

Excavation for the Red Arrow Tire Co's plant on Water street, north, immediately south of the G. T. R. Lakefield line is proceeding and, favored with continued fair weather, will be completed Friday night.

Work was begun at 7 a.m. Monday. Long before the contractors arrived men seeking employment began to gather, and when the 7 o'clock whistles blew there were 250 looking for work. The contractors said, yesterday they made no discrimination but simply hired the required number of men as they applied. All the rest of the morning, men came looking for work; to-day Mr. J. E. Hayes estimated there had been at least 450 applicants.

About 25 men were working yesterday. Next week when, the forms for the basement walls will be put up and concrete pouring started, there will possibly be 50 men on the job; and later on when bricklayers, carpenters, steel-workers plumbers, etc., are all working there will be a maximum of 75 or 80 men busy on this new plant.

Progress Good

There are eight teams scraping two ploughing and one on a stone boat., Considering the ground is quite stoney, Mr. John E. Hayes, of the contracting firm of J. E. Hayes and Sons, characterises the progress made as very good and he is quite satisfied with his initial start He and Mr. Cecil Hayes, who were in charge of the gang of men to-day said that they were absolutely dependent on the weather and therefore could make no prediction of when the contract would be completed. The contract calls for completion in 120 days, and if granted favorable weather conditions the building will be ready for occupation in that time.

Size of Factory

The factory will be 203 feet long and vary from 60 to 95 feet in width and will be of two story construction in addition to a roomy basement.

A Fair Wage.

"We are paying our men 30 and 35 cents an hour. It is not right to offer a man less. We believe in paying a fair wage and we intend to", declared Mr. J. E. Hayes. "We had men up here offering to work for 15 cents an hour, but we wouldn't hire a man at that wage.. Other contractors might take men on at that but we won't. A statement being circulated downtown that we are only paying 20 cents an hour is neither right or fair. The men are being paid 30 to 35 cents", said Mr. Cecil Hayes.

No Discrimination

Mr. Hayes declared that in no way would there be any discrimination in their choice of men. The laborers have been hired as needed, and the same policy will be carried out with regard to carpenters and bricklayers, and the union rate of wages paid. About 30 carpenters and 15 bricklayers have asked to have jobs held for them, but the contractors have absolutely refused to deviate from their established policy of hiring the men on the job as they apply, when needed.

The unemployment is so acute, that men of different crafts are working as labourers. Many of the men have had no work for weeks. One of them, an experienced machinist will be valuable later on when the concrete mixers are to be kept in running order.

Till shortening days make it impossible, work will be carried on nine hours a day, from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. After a few weeks work will not start till 8 a.m.

Contracts to Let

Contracts for the bricks and structural steel work have not been let yet. It was stated that about 15 steel constructors have been seeking the job already.

Motorists driving past the job and passengers on the Lakefield train will not need to enquire what is being built. A large illuminated sign in glowing colours informs the world it is the site of the Red Arrow Tire Co., which when completed will manufacture 500 tires a day and sell them in their exclusive stores throughout Canada.

PRINCESS MARY IS ENGAGED, IT IS ANNOUNCED

SON OF LORD HAREWOOD, A PROMINENT TURFMAN

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(Canadian Press).—The engagement is officially announced of Princess Mary to Viscount Lascelles.

The Lascelles family is one of the oldest in Yorkshire, dating back to the reign of Edward I., but the earldom was not created until late in the Eighteenth Century, the present Earl being the fifth of the line. The family residence is Harewood House, one of the finest country seats in the British Isles, and is surrounded by several thousand acres, comprising for the most part, a great deer park.

Lord Harewood, father of the Viscount, has long been prominent in English Jockey Club affairs and is an acknowledged authority on the turf. The Viscount was elected a member of the Jockey Club only this past summer.

Viscount Lascelles, who is heir to the earldom, is credited with being one of the richest young peers in England. The family has long been a wealthy one.

There have been many suitors for the hand of Princess Mary and several times during the past few years her betrothal to this or that member of the British peerage has been rumored, only to be denied. It seems to have been pretty generally accepted for some time past that the Princess would not figure in a match with one of the other reigning families of Europe, among whom, for one thing, eligible men of princely rank are no longer as numerous as they were in pre-war days. It was, however, reported last spring that the Princess might marry Alexander, the Serbian Prince Regent since become King of Jugo-Slavia, but this report met with a speedy official denial by the Serbian Legation in Washington.

The Princess was an active figure in work for the soldiers during the war and is a popular figure with all ranks of British society.

BY "SAPPER" (CYRIL McNEILE)

"Lakington won't," said Hugh with a grin. "And if you see him to-morrow—don't ask after his jaw. . . . Good-night, Phyllis."

With a quick movement he raised her hand to his lips: then he slipped in the clutch and the car disappeared down the drive. . . .

He felt a sense of elation and of triumph at having won the first round, and as the car whirled back to London through the cool night air his heart was singing with the joy of action. And it was perhaps as well for his peace of mind that he did not witness the scene in the room at The Elms.

Lakington still lay motionless on the floor; Peterson's cigar still glowed steadily in the darkness. It was hard to believe that he had ever moved from the table; only the bullet imbedded in a tree proved that somebody must have got busy. Of course, it might have been the girl, who was just lighting another cigarette from the stump of the old one.

At length Peterson spoke. "A young man of dash and temperament," he said genially. "It will be a pity to lose him."

"Why not keep him and lose the girl?" yawned Irma. "I think he might amuse me——"

"We have always our dear Henry to consider," answered Peterson. "Apparently the girl appeals to him. I'm afraid, Irma, he'll have to go . . . and at once. . . ."

The speaker was tapping his left knee softly with his hand; save for that slight movement he sat as if nothing had happened. And yet ten minutes before a carefully planned coup had failed at the instant of success. Even his most fearless accomplices had been known to confess that Peterson's inhuman calmness sent cold shivers down their backs.

CHAPTER III

In Which Things Happen in Half Moon Street

I

HUGH DRUMMOND folded up the piece of paper he was studying and rose to his feet as the doctor came into the room. He then pushed a silver box of cigarettes across the table and waited.

"Your friend," said the doctor, "is in a very peculiar condition, Captain Drummond—very peculiar." He sat down and, putting the tips of his fingers together, gazed at Drummond in his most professional manner. He paused for a moment, as if expecting an awed agreement with this profound utterance, but the soldier was calmly lighting a cigarette. "Can you," resumed the doctor, "enlighten me at all as to what he has been doing during the last few days?"

Drummond shook his head. "Haven't an earthly, doctor."

"There is, for instance, that very unpleasant wound in his thumb," pursued the other. "The top joint is crushed to a pulp."

"I noticed that last night," answered Hugh non-committally. "Looks as if it had been mixed up between a hammer and an anvil, don't it?"

"But you have no idea how it occurred?"

"I'm full of ideas," said the soldier. "In fact, if it's any help to you in your diagnosis, that wound was caused by the application of an unpleasant mediæval instrument known as a thumbscrew."

The worthy doctor looked at him in amazement. "A thumbscrew! You must be joking, Captain Drummond."

"Very far from it," answered Hugh briefly. "If you want to know, it was touch and go whether the other thumb didn't share the same fate." He blew out a cloud of smoke, and smiled inwardly as he noticed the look of scandalised horror on his companion's face. "It isn't his thumb that concerns me," he continued; "it's his general condition. What's the matter with him?"

The doctor pursed his lips and looked wise, while Drummond wondered that no one had ever passed a law allowing men of his type to be murdered on sight.

"His heart seems sound," he answered after a weighty pause, "and I found nothing wrong with him constitutionally. In fact, I may say, Captain Drummond, he is in every respect a most healthy man. Except—er—except for this peculiar condition."

Drummond exploded. "Damnation take it, man, what on earth do you suppose I asked you to come round for? It's of no interest to me to hear that his liver is working properly." Then he controlled himself. "I beg your pardon, doctor: I had rather a trying evening last night. Can you give me any idea as to what has caused this peculiar condition?"

His companion accepted the apology with an acid bow. "Some form of drug," he answered.

Drummond heaved a sigh of relief. "Now we're getting on," he cried. "Have you any idea what drug?"

"It is, at the moment, hard to say," returned the other. "It seems to have produced a dazed condition mentally, without having affected him physically. In a day or two, perhaps, I might be able to—er—arrive at some conclusion. . . ."

Got No Sleep

But now the neuritis has gone, the pains have ceased, the nervous system is restored and the writer of this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodward, P.T.O., Lucan, Ont., writes:

"It gives me much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's medicines, especially the Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from neuritis for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, yet never seemed to get any better. At last my nerves and whole system seemed to give way through not being able to get any rest or sleep at nights for pain, which mostly used to take me in all parts of the limbs and feet. My nerves would twitch till my whole body would seem to jerk right up as I lay in bed. Almost at the point of despair, I decided I would get Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I did, and after taking twenty boxes I believe myself almost normal again. I also keep a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on hand, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."

KENTUCKY GIRL WRITES LETTER

How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sunnyside, Ky.—"I suffered for more than two years with my back and nervousness, and was not able to help my mother do the housework. I took treatment from two doctors and they did not do me any good. Mother saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the paper and I took about ten bottles. It has done me a great deal of good. I weigh 188 pounds and am in good health. I will gladly recommend Vegetable Compound to anyone who suffers with the troubles which I had, and you are welcome to publish my testimonial."—VELMER HENDRICK, Route 1, Sunnyside, Ky.

To many American girls life is often a heavy drag in consequence of illness, and every mother should heed the first manifestations, such as cramps, backaches, headaches and nervousness as Mrs. Hendrick did for her daughter, and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For over forty years this old fashioned root and herb medicine has been relieving women of just such troubles.

GOVT. WASTEFUL AND NEW BLOOD IS BADLY NEEDED

DECLARED THOMAS TOOMS, M.P.P., AT MR. G. N. GORDON'S MEETING IN MAY'S SCHOOL HOUSE—LABOR FOR GORDON

At a meeting held in May's school house last evening, Mr. Fred J. Tuggty said the situation was such that the workingman did not have a fair opportunity wih the agreements that were in existence between those who sought to fix prices on commodities and created excessive profits. He gave an instance of the Ford Company in Dttroit making Ford cars from $150 to $200 less than they did in Ford, Ont., and how millions of profits had been made by the Canadian Ford Co., by reason of the prices they were able to charge, although labor was paid nc more and the cost of manufacturing was practically the same.

New Blood Wanted.

Mr. Thomas Tooms, caeme in during the course of Mr. Tuggey's speeih and was asked by the chairman, Mr. W. J. Byers, if he wished to speak. He said that while he had come uninvited to tht meeting he felt it was his duty to say a few words. Mr. Tooms said the Meighen Government had failed to protect the interests of the workingman ,that it was extravagant and wasteful and new blood was required and a new government.

Mr. Tooms went on to say that as there was no labour man in the field, he intended to support Mr. Gordon, as he felt Mr. Gordon was nearer to the working man and his objects than Mr. Burnham could ever be. The tariff, according to Mr. Tooms, was not an issue, but was simply brought up with the Free-trade bogey to try to scare the public, and particularly the working man, to vote for the Government.

Mr. Meighen, as Mr. Tooms stated, had shown time and again that he had no use for the labour man—that he had assaulted the Progressive Party from the platform, and had denied it the right to be represented, while Mackenzie-King recognised that Labour and Progressives had a right to representation, and such representation was healthy.

Mr. C. R. Widdifield addressed the audience, dealing with the rights of the soldier, and those entitled to pension, and said that Mr. Gordon's position of maintaining that the cost of living bonus given to those entitled to pension should be made permament was correct. He also dealt with the railway situation, showing that $60,000,000 were lost by the Canadian National Railways last year, and the Prime Minister refused to show where the money had gone, or how the contracts had been entered into, notwithstanding that it was public money being voted.

Mr. G. N. Gordon dealt with the Riordon issue and the fines imposed upon persons who had not made an income tax return, although they had no income tax that was taxable.

Assailed Government.

Mr. Gordon vigorously assailed the Government for allowing Hon. Hugh Guthrie, the Minister of Justice, to go to England on a pleasure trip when he knew grafting had taken place in his Department to the extent of $100,000.00, and yet he left accountants and experts investigating this while he left the country, and he thought so little of the rights of the returned man, and the soldiers' widows whose pensions had been reduced by grafting in the exchange between England and Canada that he did not remain in his office until the mess was cleaned up.

Mr. Gordon went on ot say he was chief responsible for taking the sales tax off flour and other cereal foods to the extent of $4,000,000 per year which was saved to the consuming public and that he said was sufficient alone to show he was on the side of the toiler and man of small means. He said we needed big business in our highly developed state of civilization and we required to encourage big business, but we needed big business to be fair and that there should be harmony instaed of friction between all classes.

Continuing, Mr. Gordon declared the Government had lost sixteen by-elections out of twenty. That there was no riding in Ontario that was sympathetic with the present Dominion Government, and there was no possible chance of it being elected. He said Mr. Burnham himself knew the Government was going to be defeated, and he had not sounded a single note of hope during the whole campaign.

A Local Issue

The Trent Canal according to Mr. Gordon should be rushed to conclusion, so the Quaker Oats Company and other concerns which had the power of establishing barges and establishing lines and have the opportunity of bringing grain down other waterway, and he said this would make Peterborough one of the busiest marts in Ontario, and that they should force through the Trent Canal to a conclusion, and he blamed Mr. Burnham for not being more active in having the Trent Canal finished so Peterborough would be more like a Lake Port than it is to-day.

Unemployment

One reason for the unemployment, according to Mr. Gordon, was the fact that the products of the farm had been shut out of their natural market, and the grain grower and stock man could not get rid of his surplus product, with the result he suffered a loss, and was sitting tight and did not buy machinery, furniture and other commodities which he needed, so this was reflected upon the men in the factory, who did not have work to produce these articles.

The meeting concluded with the singing of God Save the King and three cheers for Mackenzie King and the candidate Mr. Gordon.

GRAVE RIOTING IN NORTH BEHAR, INDIA.

LONDON, November 23. Canadian Press. — The Calcutta correspondent for the evening News yesterday sent a despatch to his paper saying news had been received in that city of grave rioting in Champaran, a town in the northern part of Behar, in the Patna division of Bengal.

The despatch said that mobs had looted and burned a factory and set fire to a number of European bungalows.

GERMANY CLAIMS SHE IS NOT READY FOR WAR

OFFICIAL STATEMENT DISPUTES ASSERTIONS OF BRIAND

BERLIN, Nov. 23. — (Canadian Press.)—In a statement to The Associated Press the German Government officially takes issue with the charges of Premier Briand of France in his address before the Washington conference Monday that the German police forces and the Reichswehr constituted a neuclus for a future German army. It declares that M. Briand's assertion that the Reichswehr is composed exclusively of officers and non-commissioned officers of the old army is incorrect, and that on the contrary the bulk of the Reichswehr is made up of youths between the ages of 19 and 21, recruited since the war.

The statement then says that the "Protection Police" were created at the bidding of the Entente and adds: "The Reichswehr is wholly unaffiliated with the Schutzpolizei, which took the place of the Security Police when the Entente ordered the latter's dissolution. The Schutzpolizei is primarily an agency to maintain law and order, and is not subject to the authority of the Ministry of Defence. It takes orders solely from the civilian ministries of the Federated States. Its numerical strength and its composition with reference to the ratio of officers and men are designated and supervised by the Entente Control Commission. The number of rifles and small arms it is permitted to have is carefully specified. It does not possess heavy calibred arms suitable to convert into a unit of fighting troops. The Einwohnerwehr, or Civilian Guards, referred to by M. Brian, have been dissolved, and their arms have been surrendered and destroyed."

The statement disputes M. Briand's assertion that Germany still possessed numerous arsenals equipped to turn out war materials and asserts that these plants are now limited to two or three required to keep the German army supplied and that their output is carefully supervised by the Entente Control Commission.

The Government's staement refers the French Premier to the recent address from the Throne in which King George of Great Britain declared that satisfactory progress had been made by Germany in the execution of her financial and disarmament obligations.

MEMBERS OF THE "FOURTH ESTATE" AT CONFERENCE

A group of noted writers who are covering the Disarmament Conference, all of them are famous either as journalists or writers of fiction. The list of writers who are reporting the activities of the diplomats and statesmen gathered for Mr. Harding's Conference would be like the "blue book" of American Letters. Those in this group, left to right, are, Charles Hanson Towne, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Charles J. Rosebault, Mrs. Wallace Irwin, Booth Tarkington and Wallace Irwin.

FELT LIKE AN IRON BAND AROUND HEAD

THIS IS HOW LYNCHBURG, VA., WOMAN DECLARES HER HEADACHES OFTEN AFFECTED HER

Everybody will read with interest the statement of Miss M. E. Woodford, 1808 Filmore street, Lynchburg, Va., who says:

"I don't believe anybody ever suffered from headaches like I did. The pains felt like an iron band was being drawn around my head and my temples would throb until I was driven almost distracted. I shudder when I think of those awful headaches. I had no appetite either.

"I owe Tanlac an everlasting debt of gratitude for entirely ridding me of those terrible headaches. My stomach has been toned up too, and everything I eat agrees with me now. Tanlac certainly brought my health and happiness."

ELECTION NEWS

FISTIC ENCOUNTER BETWEEN CANDIDATES.

KINGSTON, Nov. 23.—(Canadian Press).—Hon. Dr. Edwards and R. J. Bushell, prominent in the U.F.O., engaged in a mild fistic encounter yesterday at the nomination at Harrowsmith when the Doctor and W. S. Reed were nominated. The Doctor was speaking, and, being interrupted, shook his hand at Mr. Bushell. The latter made a pass at Dr. Edwards, who retaliated by tapping Mr. Bushell on the nose. After a little struggling quiet was restored.

A SMILE.

No, it can not buy a dinner,
And it cannot clothe the poor,
And it cannot work in sickness
As an everlasting cure.

It can change a bitter feeling;
It can brighten up a day,
And it has a way of driving
Mr. Worryman away.

So try it on your features,
For it doesn't hurt a bit;
On any kind of people
It's guaranteed to fit.

ON CANADIAN LITERATURE

(BY F. M. DELA FOSSE)

We have, all of us, been thrilled of late, by the homage that has been rendered to the remains of the Unknown Warriors of England, France and the United States. Cenotaphs have been raised in their honour and in many a notable gathering the moral of the great sacrifice which they made for civilization has been forcibly declaimed. He would be a wretch indeed, who did not, in spirit, fall in line with the great concourse that has solemnly filed past their last resting places and join in the psalms of thanksgiving for the service which they rendered.

But, when one reads of their manful self-sacrifice the thought rises inevitably in one's mind that they typify only one section of the great world militant. Theirs was the task of destroying those who wished to destroy the fruits of Freedom and in so doing they were auxiliaries of that other great army, which is endeavouring in every way possible to enlarge its activities and to bring peace to the nations.

Every branch of human endeavour has produced its heroes. Glance back over the history of all the sciences and you will find the field strewed with the bones of its martyrs. We think we know something of their struggles, of their disappointments, and of their triumphs, and we glory in the records that they have left us. But we know very little indeed of anything, for the greatest literature of all lies buried in the hearts of men and dies with them. The cream of a few men's brains and the off-scourings of the minds of others represent for us the sum total of the intelligence of myriads of human beings who have passed to their rest.

This is not written in a tone of pessimism but simply to show that the world moves slowly indeed towards its inevitable destiny. Although the glow is ever brighter on the horizon, the path to knowledge is full of obstacles, of which prejudice and animosity are not the least dangerous.

Canada has had its martyrs. We have records of them in marble and in bronze, and many mute memorials of others in the lonely graves which show up through the tangle of weeds and wild flowers of her deserted clearings. Perhaps some day Canadians will awake to the fact that they owe a certain measure of respect and homage to their pioneers, to the men, without whose initial efforts the genius of statesmen or of generals would never have been called into being.

But our main theme in the present instance is to set forth what we owe to our pioneers in literature, to those who, through days of great stress, strove to hold aloft the proud banner of intellectual endeavour. In all ages and in all climes men have left certain marks of their intellectua progress; some of them grotesque, and most of them decipherable only by the ablest archaeologists. In their incomplete state, however, they form a narrative coherent enough to tell of the upward march of the nations. Without such data to guide us we would still be groping blindly for light on many a mundane problem.

There is perhaps no human agency so powerful for good or for evil as the pen. Without it scholarship would still be in swaddling clothes and a ripe understanding the possession of very few. We would know little of any art or science and might be still tilling the fields with the rude implements of old or ploughing the seas with flotillas fashioned on the crude designs of our forefathers.

It is well, therefore, that we should honour all literary men and women and more especially those of our own kin who have left us the fruit of their intelligence. And in honouring them we should also honour those who in these days are fighting under the same banner and endeavouring in diverse ways to carry on their work.

This week has been specially set apart in the Dominion for the bringing forward of the claims of Canadian authors. In our Library two tables have been set apart to exhibit such books as we possess. Readers are asked to make an effort to get acquainted with the literature of their own country so far as the capacity of the Library can meet the demand. They will be surprised, if they do so, at the vast strides that Canadian literature has made and will come to the conclusion that in the unceasing progress of the country her authors have kept well in the van.

In natural or brown shade with alternate white even stripes. One of the best towellings we have to offer. It is 17" wide. Only 250 yards to sell at this price. During these three days, yard ...33c

A very fortunate purchase of real Irish Linen Table Cloths. They are "Mill Rejects," that is to say, that they have failed through some slight imperfection, such as a small stain, or a little unevenness of pattern or an oil stain, all of which are marked on the cloth to pass the exacting standard demanded by this firm of high international repute for perfect merchandise. In most cases the imperfections are scarcely noticeable, and in no case will they interfere with the wearing quality of the cloth. Every thread in them is a pure linen thread, and made in Belfast, Ireland, from the finest of Irish flax, sun-bleached in the fields of Erin. The designs are such as might easily be matched with napkins. This is a most uncommon opportunity to purchase the best quality linen table cloths at a fraction of their real value.

Here are some of the numbers offered:

26 Cloths, size 48 x 48 and 45 x 45, selling during this sale at, each $3.59

8 Cloths, sizes 70 x 70 and 68 x 68, Ivory leaf, satin stripe and spot designs, selling during this sale at, each $5.95

HELD A MEETING AT CENTREVILLE

MESSRS. J. H. BURNHAM, V. J. McELDERRY AND J. F. STRICKLAND WERE THE SPEAKERS.

Messrs. V. J. McElderry and J. F Strickland accompanied Mr. J. H. Burnham to Centerville last night. The campaign is visibly warming up.

Mr. Burnham laid considerable emphasis upon the failure of Messrs. Morrison and Burnaby the two heaven-sent reformers of these evil times, to realize on thir expectations with the result that there would be no dividends coming to the 20,000 shareholders almost wholly of the farming population and this year they had to face a deficit in the neighborhood of $350,000. "These gentlemen" said Mr. Burnham, who apparently still help to lead the U.F.O. and who still draw their salaries and who still denounce all other parties have absolutely failed to rescue the farmer from the gulf that stands fixed between the farmer and the consumer." A farmer sells his beef his pork, his hides, etc. at a small price and sees the consumer paying a big price. This and other so-called abuses the U.F.O. management undertook to correct, incidently their leaders climbing rapidly to places or power, etc., in parliament. Mr. Crerar could not solve the diffculty for the farmer but he apparently did for the company of which he is president. The fact is that all interests in a country are interlocking and it is the management of the whole and not of any one part that must be looked to.

Consistency and honesty in politics pointed out J.F. Strickland are an absolute essential in any party or any leader in order to gain and retain the confidence of the people and proceeded to contrast the constant and clear manner in which the Honourable Arthur Meighen has laid down his policy and his stand on the different questions which have arisen throughout the country as contrasted with the way in which the Honourable Mackenzie King has twisted and turned and warped his stand from one end of the country to the other. He also pointed out that the Parliament Buildings were built and furnished under a joint committee composed of both members of the government and of the opposition and that the responsibility for purchases and otherwise laid equally upon both parties although Mr. Gordon would try and to the other. He also pointed out sibility was solely that of the Government.

Before dealing with the more important matters at issue at the present time, Mr. McElderry discussed the question of the Riordon Company's Tax, showing that in the first place no loss had been sustained by the Government as a result of postdid try to indicate that this responthe Riordon Company were thus enabled to continue business and to pay wages to their very numerous employees.

Voice of the People

Editor The Exainer:

Sir,—In your references to the stated inequally claimed to exist in the distribution of what is known as the assistance authorized under the rules of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment to certain ex-soldiers, whose circumstances come under a certain category, you do, I think, less than justice to the situation. One point should be admitted to consideration. So far, in your comment, I have not found it referred to. May I do so.

The contention—I may repeat your position for the sake of clearness—is that men who have had pension and who have participated in vocational training are both admitted to share. That others, not having had these opportunities, and who may be equally in hard circumstances, are debarred.

In the case of pensions. This distribution to the man having pension is intended to assist him, if in difficulties or unemployment, instead of an advance of pension amount, at stated tmies, instead of a bonus or other form of gratuity. Having a disability, which the medical boards have directed not to be serious, the pension is limited. But that disability may be the means of hampering him in earning a competent livelihood. In fact it often is. His loss of earning power may be much more than represented by the amount of pension per month. All having pensions of $35.00 per month, or over, are debarred.

In the case of vocational training. As a result of service large numbers of men returned to Canada and to their homes, partially unfitted to resume previous occupation. The existing disability interfered. No doubt of this. Quite evident to any one who has come in contact with men so situated. So it was devised that men in such state might be given a period of teaching, or training, or tuition, (generally for six months) to enable such to gain at least some facility with an occupation to which they had not been accustomed. The laborer, for instance, might learn to do parts of the making of shoes or other occupation. The proposed schemes of instruction offered as many as eighty-five, all more or less suitable.

But this intervened. That having gained what we may call only a partial grasp of his new work, (for many trades call for three or four years to gain facility) the man is now in such position that he may carry on but gain in a wage what his work is worth to the employer. This, especially in handicrafts. As the man may not be able to earn the full wage, and employers have no recourse but to pay on the basis of efficiency, a man may be working alongside another, who is earning and getting much more in his pay envelope.

Here is where the application of the distribution comes in. That the vocational-trained man may be assisted to continue at his occupation, and not lose heart, and yet be able to take into the house hold, between his wages and the allowance, something like what he could earn if he had full facility in his trade. And it is assumed, that when slack times come, the comparatively inefficient worker may be the first to be laid off.

Such allowances are intended to be purely as supplementary to an otherwise deficient wage. Whether the employer should pay a full wage for less than full earning power is an entirely different question. I do not know of cases where such is the case, as well as those in which the reverse is practised. The inequality, if one exist, is sought to be remedied by the distribution.

It is admitted that there has been, and are cases of imposition. But what would you have. The distributing officer has no discretion. He abides by the rules, else all would be confusion. But it seems to me, as a bystander, that if the rule, or provision, were amended that the distribution should only apply in cases where the man was following the occupation in which he had vocational training that a good deal of the inequality and contention would be done away with.

Respectfully,
F. H. DOBBIN.

SACCO AND VANCETTE GET NEW TRIAL HEARING

The two condemned murderers, Sacco and Vancette, whose case has caused some little agitation abroad—the most noticeable being the attempt on the life of Ambassador Herrick—are shown (left to right in center) being led to the Dedham (Mass.) court house, where they appeared for a hearing on a motion for a new trial. Extraordinary precautions to prevent attempts to rescue the prisoners were taken and extra guards were placed around the court house during the hearing. Several telegrams threatening his life, if he fails to grant a new trial, were received by Judge Webster Thayer.

OTTAWAS OUT TO WIN STANLEY CUP ONCE AGAIN.

OTTAWA, Nov. 23. — (Canadian Press).—Goalkeeper Clint Benedict is the first of the champion Ottawa hockey team to sign for the coming season. Benedict opened negotiations with the Ottawa management Saturday and returned his signed contract yesterday afternoon. This will be his seventh season with the Ottawa team as a regular. Benedict did great work last year and will be one of the highest-priced stars in the National League.

The Ottawas are dickering with all the other members of their team, which they expect to have completed by the time the arena ice is ready for practices. They are hot on the trail of an experienced star to replace Cleghorn, and expect to have his signature to a contract in a day or two. He has played in professional company considerable, and is now a free agent. Ottawa are out this year to equal the record of the famous Silver Seven by winning the Stanley Cup for the third time in succession. All their regulars except Jack Darragh will be in uniform again.

NIGHT COUGHS

Terribly wearing on the system is the cough that comes at night and prevents sleep.

The constant coughing keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition that they get no chance to heal.

You will find in

a remedy without an equal, for the soothing of the lungs, loosening the phlegm, strengthening the breathing organs and fortifying them against serious pulmonary disease.

Mrs. John McKerney, Lower Montague, P.E.I., writes: "About three years ago I caught a very bad cold accompanied with a sore throat and hoarseness, and was so hoarse you could hardly hear me speak. I could get no rest at night with the terrible annoying, hacking cough. I tried several remedies but they did me no good. Finally I saw Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup advertised; got a bottle, and at once it gave me relief and after using four my cough had all gone. Now I always keep "Dr. Wood's" in the house, and shall recommend your wonderful remedy to others."

CANDIDATE AT YOUNG'S POINT

MR. G. N. GORDON AND OTHER SPEAKERS DEAL WITH PUBLIC ISSUES.

Mr. G. N. Gordon held a meeting last evening at Young's Point, and was given a very attentive hearing. His remarks were well received and were productive of much applause.

He dealt at length with the Riordon matter, pointing out the present government's method of dealing with its friends, the Big Interests, in contrast to the ordinary people, who were in many instances fined for even a few days' delay in making their income return, regardless of the fact whether they had a taxable income or not.

The candidate scored the government on its lack of appreciation of the Canadian artizan and workman, pointing out that on a great number of occasions foreign goods had been purchased when the same could have been had in Canada with as good a result and at less cost.

Mr. Ed. Elliott referred to Mr. Gordon's short record in the House of Commons and what he had accomplished during that time. He also spoke of Mr. Burnham's stand, less than a year ago, and his right about face in the present campaign.

Mr. C. R. Widdifield dealt with the railway question and the refusal of the government to inform the people of the true facts of the deal.

Mr. Norman Hurl, a returned soldier, made a very creditable chairman.

Mr. Hurl said that from his personal experience he could say that Mr. Gordon had always been a true friend of the returned man.

GORDON SENDS HIS REPLY

Answer—Yes.

Question No. 5—Are you favorable to taking the tariff out of the political arena by establishment of an independent tariff board on which labor is fully represented?

Answer—Yes.

Question No. 6—Will you support the raising of the necessary taxation by direct methods, such as through the income tax, taxation on lands, inheritance tax, etc.?

Answer—Yes, except where taxation on land, income, etc., is imposed by Provincial legislation already, and in such cases I would not impose extra burdens.

Question No. 7—Will you initiate or support legislation for the abolition of the present Senate and the substitution thereof of an elective body?

Answer—I am in favor of either abolition or reformation of the Senate, or modification of the present form of appointment. I feel that it might work out well to have the members of the Senate appointed by Provincial legislatures representing public opinion in each Province.

Question No. 8—Are you favorable to the exclusion of all Asiatics?

Answer—Yes.

Question No. 9—Will you initiate or support legislation for proportional representation with group constituencies in Federal elections?

Answer—Yes, for large city constituencies, but I am not convinced that a large number of ridings, such as Peterborough East and West, Durham, Northumberland and Hastings, would likely get the best representation where the municipalities cover a wide area, but I would support proportional representation for city ridings like Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton, etc.

Question No. 10—Will you initiate or support legislation for the creation of:

(a) National unemployment insurance?

Answer—Yes.

(b) Old age pensions?

Answer—Yes.

(c) State insurance for sickness and disability?

Answer—Yes, so far as it relates to industrial workers.

Question No. 11—Are you in favor of the restriction of military and naval expenditure with the ultimate goal of total disarmament?

Answer—Yes, providing that national integrity is sufficiently protected, but I am not in favor of Canada's eliminating military and naval expenditure unless it is agreed upon by British Parliament, and other British colonies, as I believe we should bear a share of Great Britain's burdens.

I am in favor too of making the soldiers' bonus, and soldiers' dependents' bonus a permanent part of their pensions. This was not asked as a question, but I am adding to the list.

C. N. Gordon.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.— (Canadian Press.)— The usual irregular price changes occurred at the opening of to-day's stock market, although gains predominated. Shorts covered in Oils, especially the foreign division, which strengthened under the lead of Mexican Petroleum common and preferred, Pan-American and Royal Dutch, Mercantile Marine preferred, American Ice preferred and New York Airbrake also were strong. Gulf States Steel eased on realizing sales and Retail Stores was the most reactionary of the specialties. Rails and representative Industrials were neglected in early trading.

Miscellaneous shares were under pressure during the morning, sustaining losses of one to five point. Among these were International Harvester Common and Preferred, American Beet Sugar Preferred, Underwood Typewriter, American Brake Shoe Preferred, Famous Players preferred, Sears Roebuck and United Drug. The market rallied before noon on the strength shown by Reading, Northern Pacific General Electric, International Paper, Sumatra Tobacco Preferred, Chemicals and utilities, the latter including Peoples Gas. Renewed activity was shown by Liberty Bonds the 3 1-2's selling at a new high for the year of 95.00. First, second and fourth 4 1-4's also touched the year's best call money opened at five per cent.

TORONTO

TORONTO, Nov. 23. — The local stock market was dull this morning Mackay proved to be the most active stock and although the strongest, with a gain 1 1-2 points on sales of 120 shares, Cement preferred on small transactions sold up to 89 1-8 after opening at 88. Victory Loans were not as active as recently and suffered a slump in values with 1933's and 34's losing $1.00 and $1.50 respectively. The 1937's sold at $103.10 a gain of 10 cents since yesterday's last quotation.

EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange irregular, demand Great Britain 3.99 3-4; Canadan Exchange 8 3-4 per cent. discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(Canadian Press).— Opening wheat quotations which ranged from 3-8 to 7-8 cents higher with December $1.09 3-4 to $1.10 and May 1.11 5-8 to 1.11 7/8, were followed by moderate additional upturns.

Corn and oats reflected the action of wheat. Corn opened unchanged to 3-8 cents higher, May 54 5-8 to 54 3-4 and then scored gains all around. Oats, after starting a shade to 1-4 to 3-8 up, May 38 to 38 1-8, continued to harden.

LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, Nov. 23.—(Canadian Press.)— Receipts 1,101; trade steady. Quotations: Heavy beef steers, nil; choice butcher steers, 86 to $6.75; butcher cows, medium, $3 to $4; calves, $9 to $11; lambs, $9 to $9.15; hogs, selects, $9.15.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Nov. 23.— (Canadian Press.)—Although trading on the local stock exchange during the first half hour this morning was fairly brisk, nothing of a startling nature transpired, most of the leaders appearing around their yesterday afternoon's closing quotations. A few fractional declines, however, were recorded. Abitibi appeared unchanged at 32 as did also Brazilian at 25 1-2. Brompton reigstered a half point drop from 25 1-2, its closing level, to 25. Detroit United was quiet at 67. Laurentide weakened a half to 76, while National Breweries went down a quarter to 57. Other principal issues did not appear on the tape during early trading.

Prettier Teeth Next Week

If you will now start this delightful test

This is to offer you a way to whiter teeth, cleaner, safer teeth. Such glistening teeth as millions now enjoy.

Any dealer named below will give you the means. Get it and watch the effects. See your teeth grow prettier — note how clean they feel.

Dentists everywhere advise this method. Millions of homes have adopted it. Try it this week, for your own sake. Learn what it means to you.

To remove the film

Your teeth are coated with a dingy film. It is viscous — you can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. It clouds the teeth and causes most tooth troubles.

The ordinary tooth paste does not effectively combat it, so the tooth brush has left much of it intact. As a result, teeth lose their luster. And, despite all brushing, tooth troubles have been constantly increasing.

The film is what discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Many other serious troubles are also traced to them.

Science combats it

Dental science has long sought ways to combat that film. The ways have now been found. Able authorities have amply proved them. Leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in a new-day tooth paste—Pepsodent. It combats the film wherever it may linger. In this way it brings surprising results which one quickly sees. Over 5,000 new people daily are trying out this modern method.

Fights acids too

Pepsodent brings three other effects which authorities now desire.

It multiplies the salivary flow — Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise form acid.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's neutralizer for the acids which cause decay. Pepsin is also included.

Your dealer will give you a 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent if you present the coupon at any store named below.

Do this for your own sake — for your family's sake. Watch how your teeth improve. The delightful effects will very soon convince you what is best.

Every application of Pepsodent brings five distinct results. And modern authorities consider all of them essential.

Now a world method

In many countries Pepsodent is fast displacing old teeth cleaning methods. Dental authorities the world over endorse it. Careful people must adopt it sooner or later, for old methods are not right. With them, tooth troubles and discolorments have become almost universal. A change must come, and now is the time to start it.

Quick changes come

The user of Pepsodent quickly feels conspicuous changes. One cannot doubt the benefits it brings.

Perhaps men who smoke see the most conspicuous effects. Their films are tobacco-stained.

Women see them in prettier teeth, for most film-coats are dingy.

But Pepsodent is most important to the children. Their teeth seem most subject to these film and starch attacks. Dentists advise that children use Pepsodent from the time the first tooth appears.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch the other good effects, and read the reasons in the book we send.

This ten-day test will be a revelation. It may bring to your home a new era in teeth cleaning. And the benefits to you and yours may be life-long in extent. Cut out the coupon now. Present it today so you can start at once.

RESULT OF POPPY DAY CAMPAIGN GIVES SATISFACTION

The Veteran, dated 26th November, says that at the time of writing (15th November):

It is impossible to give definite information as to the result of the Popy Day Campaign which was undertaken by the Great War Veterans Association in all parts of Canada. Those reports that have come to hand are sufficient to indicate that the three great objects for which it was promoted have met with the entire approval of the people of the Dominion. Those who witnessed the various ways in which the poppy was used as the flower of remembrance in connection with memorial services, and in the decorations of graves, cenotaphs, pylons, and other monuments to the noble dead, could not but feel that the foremost object of the campaign—to give impetus to the great natonal sentiment of remembrance and appreciation for those who gave their lives for the Empire—has been fully realised.

In fulfilling the second and third objects of the Poppy Day Campaign, between 1,000,000 and 1,200,000 oppies were sold. The great proportion of the proceeds will be devoted towards the relief of distress among those in need during the coming winter.

The realisation of the third object necessarily follows, as a lesser proportion of the funds derived from the sale of poppies will go to the orphan children of France for their painstaking work in manufacturing the little red flowers.

CONGRESSMAN'S LOVE

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The love making of a congressman, carried to the apex of ardor, was described by Anna Elizabeth Niebel, 19-year-old chorus girl in the "Ziegfield Follies," who is suing Congressman Manuel Herrick, of Oklahoma, claiming he broke $50,000 worth of her young heart.

When the emotions of the statesman from the south-west caused the blood to race through his veins at the speed of a broncho let loose on the plains of his native state, and passion surged through his heart like Oklahoma oil gushing from a new well, and — but let Anna describe it.

"Whenever he got real fierce in his love-making, he'd act just as if I was Congress," she said. "He'd place his hand on his bosom and roll his eyes to the ceiling. I knew it was only his way of being loving, and I just loved it.

"For hours at a time he'd sit and read me all the bills he introduced in Congress, and it was simply thrilling.

"He told me that some day he was going to be President of the United States. He'd say: 'Well, Kid, some day I'll have the highest office in the land.' He always called me 'Kid.'

"He said when he married me and we went to Oklahoma, I'd have to live on the range. We quarreled over this."

Miss Niebel's action is the sequel to a novel beauty contest carried on by the Oklahoma Congressman after he had introduced a bill in Congress seeking to prohibit all such contests. He offered himself as the "prize" to the winner.

Miss Niebel declared he told her she was "far in the lead" in his contest and made two proposals of marriage in the presence of her mother.

"It's not money I want, but justice," the girl said.

CANNOT AGREE ON THIS MAN'S SANITY.

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 23.—The case of Alex. Howell, Jr., vs. William and John Howell at the Supreme Court sittings here before Sir William Mulock, promises to be one of the lengthiest hearings on local record. The contending parties are brothers from Tyendinaga, about $72,000, and other assets are at stake, and plaintiff is questioning the sanity of his father, Alex. Howell, Sr., deceased, when disposing of his property. The testimony of eight alienists will figure in the proceedings, during which plaintiff will seek to prove that deceased was not able to conduct any business, and was suffering from an advanced condition of arterial degeneration, or hardening, known medically as arteriosclerosis. So far, expert opinion does not agree as to Howell's sanity.

Anatomical Study of the Honey Bee, Showing Its Wonderfully Formed Legs and Claws.

By DR. W. H. BALLOU, Sc. D., Ltt. D., L.L.D.

"OH, do you keep a bee?" the Summer boarder asked the farmer, much to the latter's scorn of such ignorance.

And yet the question was not so foolish, for science recently has made some amazing discoveries about the importance of keeping a bee, demonstrating that the little insect is man's best friend in food production.

Of course, nobody keeps one bee. But the farmer who owns a swarm of bees not only will have honey; he will have more and better vegetables, more and better fruit, finer cattle, richer dairy products, fatter chickens and more eggs than if he had no bees.

That is because the bee is nature's great dependence for fertilizing plant life. It is the bee, flying from flower to flower and from plant to plant which bears pollen from the male flower to the female flower and thereby causes them to grow.

Science has long recognized sex in horticulture and the part the bee plays as pollinator. But only lately has this discovery been applied in a practical way to agriculture. Research showed that lands with no bees became barren and lands with bees waxed fertile. A farm with a bee hive produced twice as much as a farm without a bee hive.

The result has been a nation-wide movement on the part of farmers, fruit growers and even cattle raisers and chicken fanciers to add bees to their stock. The movement has swept from the cranberry bogs of Cape Cod to the prune belt of California. For bees mean rich crops of all kinds. And richer crops not only mean increased vegetable and fruit production, but better fodder, sleeker cows, fatter porkers, creamier milk and butter, plumpier chickens, more eggs—and the benefit of all this to producer and consumer.

It seems astounding that man has tilled the soil for so many centuries blind to the advantages of bee-keeping. It was left to a modern biologist in the West, who selected the honey bee as his particular specialty for observation and study, to open man's eyes.

As usual, with modern biologists, he made hundreds of yards of notes, and then compared and classified his data into scientific summary. He found that in his garden of observation, where only one variety of a truck plant was grown, the bee made no particular improvement of it. When, however, two varieties, say of squash, were planted, the bees' cross pollination produced almost a miracle. The squashes on such vines were two or three times as large, the skins smoother and more beautifully colored, and the edible flesh inside the gourd, oh my! la, la! was infinitely more luscious.

After announcement of these conclusions, other biologists made experiments. They found, for instance, that if two varieties of apple, pear, peach or other fruit trees or berries were placed in an orchard, together with hives of bees, instead of one variety, the same phenomenon took place. Enormous crops resulted, with fruit speckless, untouched by insects, as a rule, and of the highest market value. These facts established by biologists, experimental farms of various States got busy experimenting on a larger scale. They, too, succeeded in producing larger crops, more delicately skinned and colored fruits, much larger and very much more luscious fruits and berries.

And then, of course, commercial fruit growers and commercial truck farmers caught on and the bee was elevated on a pinnacle as the greatest little insect, the greatest boon to mankind, that ever flourished. Some one will erect a statue to him yet.

We are now engulfed in a national movement, almost frantic, to increase the numbers of bees in this country by billions. And why? Suppose you have a little garden that seldom gets through a season with enough productivity for your family alone, say nothing of having something to pass along to the neighbors or sell. You get a hive of bees and thereafter plant two varieties of peas, and other vegetables instead of one, and all your troubles are over. Your little patch not only feeds your family, but the overplus brings the highest price. And the bees will do nearly all of the work while you smoke a pipe.

Again, suppose you have an old orchard that for years has produced nothing, or at most, just some scabby fruit scarcely edible or salable. All you have to do to make that orchard the marvel of the community is to put in some different varieties of apples or pears or peaches, etc., and about four hives of honey bees to the acre and marvels are accomplished. The bees will cross-pollinate the blossoms. The blossoms, instead of falling off as usual, will stick and turn into fruit—vast quantities of fruit of the super types. Graphic incidents of a practical kind can be cited almost without end.

The honey bee came into the daily news columns recently in a peculiar way. Up at Cornell University it came out that three boys, brothers, were going through the courses, supported luxuriantly by honey bees. They are sons of Otto J. Spahn, owner of a great bee farm at Pleasantville, Westchester County, N. Y. Mr. Spahn, among other agricultural assets, had about a hundred thousand bees on his place, producing twenty-five pounds of honey. Also, he had three sons who wished to go to college. So he increased his hives gradually until twenty million bees, producing two and a half tons of honey, did the trick. As a matter of fact, his 1921 crop of honey will be five tons, and Spahn senior, formerly a plumber, now living on a small farm, is referred to as "the well-known bee millionaire."

However, there are now many bee millionaires in the country, particularly in the far West and Southwest, whose huge swarms and their doings frequently figure on the screens at the movie houses. It is from these immense swarms that the whole United States will ultimately be populated with bees, increasing the output of orchards, gardens and truck farms.

The first town in the East to go "bee mad," apparently, was Greenwich, Conn., where in evidence are gorgeous gardens, the delight of all beholders, although it must be admitted that most of the local population has been stung.

The cranberry growers of the Cape Cod region began to be discouraged at the annually decreasing crops and poor berries, until the bee loomed up as a material saviour, according to E. R. Root. One bog owner put in four hives as a test. In the Autumn the crop of berries nearest the hives was a revelation. Naturally, bees are now being introduced into the bogs as fast as they can be secured and bred, with increasingly greater crops of larger and more deeply colored and more luscious berries.

New Jersey has just awakened to the possibilities of rejuvenating its cranberry bogs, etc., and is going in for bee culture, with schools teaching Jerseymen how to handle the insects.

Jersey's peach orchards—some of them fifteen or twenty square miles in extent—are also to try the bee for greater results, particularly as whole areas of trees, for the lack of pollinators, are dead to the world. I have seen some of these barren areas where are fine trees with never a peach to their credit. They blossom regularly, but there being but one variety of tree present and no bees for cross pollination the flowers drop off and the trees stand sterile.

We have been accustomed to consider that poor crops and orchards are due to the soil becoming exhausted, so that tobacco, for instance, loses its flavor, and farms have nothing much to show except the old mortgage and a lot of hard luck agriculturists. We now know that it is not the soil that is to blame, but the dearth of insect pollinators. All that the farmer needs is sufficient bees to cover his acreage to enrich him and to stop his begging at the door of Congress for financial aid. When bees are amply distributed over the whole country the farmer will revel in luxury.

The strawberry growers, not so long ago, reached an impasse. The trouble was, according to Fuller, that the perfect vines became sterile to their own pollen. The imperfect vines became part pistillate and part hermaphrodite—that is, returned to the primeval condition of having both pistils and stamens in a single plant—returned to the double-sexed state. The growers had been accustomed, in consequence, to plant three rows of pistillate plants to one staminate row. Only when there was insect pollination did the vines bear berries. Finally our friend the honey bee came into the limelight. Growers now have ample bee hives, plant two varieties of vines instead of one, the bees cross-pollinate the blossoms, and lo and behold, our markets to-day have strawberries the year around, as plentiful in Winter as in Summer. The cross-pollinated berries are as big as your fist—if of the average fist size—beautifully colored and luscious.

Blueberries and huckleberries as large as grapes are now produced by cross-pollination of honey bees, provided that the cuttings are from different bushes and not from the same variety, according to Colville.

According to Hendrickson, the imperial prune—that great big fellow which has redeemed the boarding house—is the result of cross-pollination between the Imperial and the French variety of trees. Neither type alone will bear fruit, but together they supply the markets of the world. Bees make the trees bear exactly eighteen times as many blossoms as either variety will produce alone. Only one hive to the acre is essential to prune trees.

All the Pacific coast States, under the aegis of the teachings of the Department of Pomology of the University of California, have adopted the honey bee galore, and besides producing the largest and most luscious fruits in the world are also flooding the earth with honey. The bee converts the blossom into fruit while he gathers the ingredients therein, which results in honey.

But here is our [illegible] friend the bumble bee, the material [illegible] of the clover and alfalfa world. The [illegible] bee does not go into the meadow [illegible] bother with such plants, but leaves the work to his big brother, as its tongue is not long enough to reach the nectar. The Dominion of Canada discovered this important fact and got all its agricultural schools and experiment stations busy. These agencies bred bumble bees on a vast scale, until to-day Canada produces enormous crops of the domestic animal fodder. One day a commissioner from Australia toured Canada and was amazed at the clover and alfalfa crops. He reported back home about it. Result: Australia and New Zealand, where neither clover nor alfalfa grew, got from the Canadian Government large consignments of bumble bees and seed. To-day vast crops of the fodder are produced in these far-off regions in fields that were formerly almost barren.

The tongue of the honey bee is about six millimeters (-1000 part of an inch) long, while that of the bumble bee ranges from 5-16 to 13-16 part of an inch in length. In red clover the nectar is secreted in the base of the floral tube at a depth of nine millimeters, three millimeters too distant for a honey bee.

The most important thing in nature to hungry humans is the flower. If the flower, when in bloom, is fertilized properly it develops into nearly all edibles of the vegetable world for both man and beast. If not fertilized the pistils drop to the ground, thereby dwarfing or destroying the possible food. The unfertilized plant becomes discouraged and many things to its utility may happen. According to Stout, because of the dearth of insect pollinators the vast majority of the world's plants have already consolidated sexes, with consequent degeneration.

Says Lovell, in a colony of 50,000 bees 30,000 are field workers, making 300,000 visits to flowers daily. A pound of honey results from 37,000 loads of nectar, so that a hive is filled at a rate of from one to ten pounds of honey daily, according to locality and conditions. In the Massachusetts cucumber region are 120 growers, using eighty colonies of honey bees, with each forty acres under glass, productive of 10,000 bushels of cucumbers. Without bees, says John H. Lovell in "The Flower and the Bee" (Charles Scribner's Sons), not a cucumber would develop.

Central Park, New York City, is one of the most emphatic illustrations extant of the absence of bees. It has become practically treeless, flowerless, grassless and less and less of whatever it was. Not even a forest can survive without insect pollinators. It is absolutely useless for the municipal authorities to import soil, reseed and replant trees in the Park along the present indicated lines unless a great apiary is installed and bumble bees are brought from Canada and propagated in abundance. These two types of pollinators alone would make Central Park another Garden of Eden for the new trees, grasses and flowers, keeping all vegetable life wholesome, with largely complete immunity from the attacks of insects and fungous growths.

W. E. McIndoo states: Bees recognize each other by specific odors, which vary in queens and workers. All offspring of one queen mother have a common inherited family odor in addition to individual odors belonging alone to her offspring. Then there are the brood and chyle odor, drone odor, and a wax, or glandular secretion odo Wax generator odor adheres to the comb, so that each wax structure of different colonies has its own particular odors. The honey of each colony, mixed with a secretion of the salivary glands, has its specific odor, which bee keepers utilize by daubing a queen with honey from a queenless colony, when she is readily accepted by that colony. Thus we see why a bee never makes a false entry into the wrong hive.

AT THE REGENT.

PEARL WHITE PICTURE ENDS ITS RUN TONIGHT

Pearl White, who has thrilled crowded houses at the Regent Theatre in her big special, "The White Moll," presented by William Fox, will bring her engagement to a close tonight. Written by Frank L. Packard, author of "The Miracle Man," the story of "The White Moll" carries an even stronger appeal than that noted production.

The plot centres around Rhoda, a reformed crook, who turns settlement worker. She becomes interested in a released convict who is being forced back to his old life by the gang of which he was a member. Her experiences in saving him and laboring to reform other gangsters constitute a truly remarkable story. Richard C. Travers is the capable leading man.

AT THE ALLEN.

The patron of the photoplay who is seeking the best that the screen affords should not miss the opportunity of witnessing William Faversham in the Selznick picture, "The Sin That Was His," which is to be shown at the Allen theatre for the last time to-day.

The story, by Frank L. Packard, is one of great dramatic intensity, laid amid the picturesque locale of Alaska and rural Canada. Hobart Henley directed, and in addition to the star the supporting cast contains the names of Pedro De Cordoba, Lule Warrenton, Lucy Cotton and others.

Remarkable photography, elaborate settings, and a new standard of excellence are to be found in this fine production.

Charles Ray in "Nineteen and Phyllis," will be the attraction at the Allen Theatre next week, opening an enaggement of 3 days, starting tomorrow. This is Mr. Ray's third release through Associated First National Pictures since becoming an independent star and producer, and in view of the remarkable success which attended his initial independent production, "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," and his second picture, "Peaceful Valley," the keenest interest is being manifested in his latest production. Unlike his two preceding vehicles, which were adaptations of famous stage plays, "Nineteen and Phyllis" is from an original story by Frederick Stowers, and, according to Mr. Ray's business associates, it is one of the very best vehicles yet provided for the young star. Joseph De Grasse, who directed Charles Ray in "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," and triumphantly established the star in a character entirely different from any he had previously appeared in, and also directed him in "Nineteen and Phyllis." In this most recent production Ray again makes something of a departure from his customary "rube" role, this time appearing in the part of a small town dandy wearing up-to-the-minute mail order house raiment. The production is perhaps most fittingly described as a comedy of youth, for in it Ray appears as a nineteen-year-old lad and opposite him in the leading feminine roles is demure Clara Horton, who is herself only sixteen years old. Others prominent in the cast are George Nichols, Cora Drew, Fran Norcross, Lincoln Stedman and De Witte C. Jennings. The photoplay according to preview reports, is replete with amusing situations, and one of these strangely enough, has to do with Mr. Ray's capture of a burglar. "Nineteen and Phyllis" required there months in production, and then practically two months were spent in cutting and assembling the film. Frederick Stower's story was adapted for the screen by Isabel Johnston and Bernard McConville, two of screendom's most able continuity writers. The finshed production, according to all reports and indications, is one of the best Ray films ever offered to the public.

"JUST SUPPOSE."

H.R.H. the Prince of Wales is in India, the press announced his arrival simultaneously with notices of native uprisings. Of course, we all know that disturbances have been going on in India for some months. In fact, it was a very sad leave-taking for the Royal Family when their dear young son and brother sailed away for the Eastern tour. They say King George and Queen Mary cried bitter, real tears, and many in the crowd shook their heads, sighed, and expressed fears for the safety of the heir-apparent. Nothing daunted, he stood on bridge of the Renown and waved last farewells to the cheering crowd. Youth, a high heart, and fine courage respond quickly to adventure and, no doubt the charming young prince leaped ashore, fired with enthusiasm for new sights, forgetful of all danger. Need he fear personal violence. I think not. All the opposition, all the fanatic hatred of the conquered must fade before that winning personality, that charming courtesy of manner. And if human nature in the East be not very different from the Western variety, it will not be long before we begin to hear whispers of romance from the land of mystery—Fair India. The lure of ancient palaces, of jewelled monuments, rare, exotic perfumes, and all the wonders of the East will necessarily have an effect upon this wonderful young man, seasoned traveller that he is, and—"Just Suppose." Perhaps—a Royal marriage may ensue. Who knows! Hindu girls are very lovely, many of them—the highest caste (to which belong the ruling classes, with whom only the Prince will come in contact) are pure-bred Aryans—that is, they belong absolutely to the white race. So falling in love over there might not have the same consequences as did the Prince's American romance. In "Just Suppose," which will be presented to-morrow night at the Grand, you will see one of the prettiest, most appealing comedies of the season—at the right price.

"MUTT AND JEFF."

Probably nothing more welcome or enjoyable is the news that 'Mutt and Jeff" are to appear in a new series of adventures and escapades. Whether this be upon the stage or in the confines of their daily doings in the newspapers of the world, the announcement is invariably welcome and of more than passing importance. At the Grand, for two nights, commencing Friday next, 25th November, with the customary matinee on Saturday, this pair of ubiquitous comics, brought into being and made famous by their creator, Bud Fisher, will be seen in a brand new and up-to-the-minute musical effusion entitled, "Mutt and Jeff in Chinatown." For two acts and almost three hours of solid and incessant mirth, the "long and short of it," as they are popularly termed, meet at cross purposes, but with only one aim in life, seemingly, and that is to distribute and disseminate hearty and infectious laughter. That they succeed goes without saying. And thanks also to an excellent vehicle, the piece contains a plausible plot, with good characterisation and plenty of wholesome and unstinted action. The company is a large one, and contains a bevy of pretty young women who do more than pose and wear expensive gowns.

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN."

It is interesting to learn how the clergy has reacted to the psychology of the "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," the remarkable Metro picture that will open a three-day engagement at the Grand Opera House, commencing Thursday night, 1st December. Prominent clergymen in all the cities where this notable picturisation of the epochal novel by Vincente Blasco Ibanez has been seen, have expressed their approval and the reverent way in which the story has been treated. Many others—the Right Rev. William McCormick, Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, Los Angeles, took "The Four Horsemen" as his text for the first of his Holy Week sermons. It is the greatest picture of all times. He advised his congregation, following the close of Holy Week, to see the picture, because, he declared, "it has a message for you."

AT THE CAPITOL.

MID-CHANNEL.

Press Comment on Famous Sir Arthur Wing Pinero Play Brought to the Screen—Ethel Barrymore's Former Great Stage Success Brilliantly Enacted by Clara Kimball Young.

We have been longing for a photo play of actual, intimate human struggle and at length it has come—and in a form that exceeds our fondest expectations. The photo is Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's greatest drama of domestic life, aptly called "Mid-Channel"—one of the most brilliant stage successes of Ethel Barrymore, and unquestionably the greatest triumph of Clara Kimball Young, since her first screen appearance.

"Mid-Channel," a throbbing photoplay of the temptations and follies of married life, is so truthful to fact that no mature person will leave this powerful picture without carrying away clinging memories of life's lessons. It fairly burns with intensity and soul-stirring experience such as every mortal knows it—it does not dodge the truth—it unfolds human weakness so dramatically as to strike a sympathetic chord in all hearts.

No better title could describe the message of this photo-play than "MidChannel"—for the most crucial period of married life is compared to the treacherous waters of the English Channel, in the very centre of which is the famous Ridge—a shoal that lurks ominously to engulf the innocent traveller. Once this stormy centre of domestic life is passed all is smooth sailing, but not before. There is no escape—every married couple at a certain stage must pass through this critical point; some survive and many flounder.

Due praise for this photodramatic masterpiece would not be complete without mention of the superb scenic effects and multi-colored surrounding that is as luxurious as it has been costly, and which heightens the magnificence of the entire picture. It can be safely predicted that the spectator will rarely witness as effective a photo-play as "Mid-Channel' for many a day.

This splendid feature and a well-balanced programme will be the big attraction at the Athletic Night at the Capitol to-morrow (Thursday) evening. On Friday night Manager Abbey will offer five brand new acts of local vaudeville.

SPORT COMMENT

Albert Smoke, the Indian runner left this morning for Detroit where he will compete in a ten-mile race at Detroit to-morrow. He was accompanied by Arthur Johnston and "Buster" Johnston. Smoke is in good condition for a hard race. Moorecroft and Dellow appear among the big list entries. The race is an annual event, conducter by the Irish American Athletic Club of Detroit. The runners will be sent away to-morrow at 12 o'cock noon.

Hockey Players Team

Indoor training for the hockey players is well underway at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. A class of six Intermediate O.H.A. players worked out under Walter Smaill last evening. Other players will join the class shortly, and the week end should see a large turnout of candidates for the first team. This evening a class will be held from six to seven, to which Intermediate an Junior O.H.A. players are invited.

Collegiates at Port Hope

CHARLIE RAY "HET UP" OVER NEW YORK VISIT.

Film Star Swears It's His First One.

CHICAGO, November 23.—Charles Ray, the film star, is either a wily press agent for himself or a very unusual actor.

He stopped off here on Friday and swore by all the pieties that he was going to New York for the first time in his life, and that he was more "het up" about it than any hick that ever collected enough change to gather unto himself a one-way ticket to Manhattan.

His wife stood right beside him, and said it was so, and you can't question a lady's word.

"Yes, sir," said Ray, crossing his heart, "it took me nine years to get away, and I'm as excited as any rube for a look at the high buildings."

And his wife, a little bit of a girl, said she had had her picture taken here for publication for the first time.

You may take this or leave it.

REDUCING NUMBER OF BASEBALL SERIES GAMES NOT FAVORED

MAGNATES HAVE NOT ACCEPTED RECOMMENDATION TO RETURN TO OLD SEVEN-GAME ARRANGEMENT.

Reduction of the world's series from nine games back to the old standard of seven games, which has been advocated by Commissioner Landis, is not getting a shout of approbation from the club owners.

When this interesting bit of new business comes before the magnates of the two major leagues at their annual December conclaves, it may prove a stumbler for the commissioner.

Considering the high price of everything and the great outlay of cash that comes with the honor of being a pennant winner, the club owners maintain that they run the chance of losing money on a seven-game series, especially if one club should win in straight games.

Looking at the $900,000 gate the last classic in New York, the claim seems on the surface to be absurd, but digging down and uncovering the many side channels into which a large part of the receipts find their way, it seems legitimately a bad piece of business to win a pennant.

Each of the New York clubs made about $80,000 on the late series. Had either the Giants or the Yanks followed the footsteps of the Boston Braves, who beat the Athletics in straight games back in 1904, both of the participants would have lost money.

Eight and a half cents of every dollar taken in at the first five games went to each one of the contending clubs and the series expenses had to be paid out of that. The lavish way in which both clubs entertained the newspapermen and friends ran into thousands of dollars.

Under the present arrangement, the advisory board and the two league treasuries get the largest cut of the receipts. The $42,500 salary which Commissioner Landis gets forced the advisory board to increase its share from 10 to 15 per cent. of the receipts.

The players get 60 per cent. of the receipts of the first five games. The increase in this "cut" from the old scale was made necessary by the ruling to give the second and third place clubs in each league a share of the spoils.

After the commissioner's share and the two leagues' shares are deducted, the club owners haven't much left out of their 40 per cent. Better breaks come after the fifth game. Eighty-five per cent. of the receipts are divided fifty-fifty with the league treasuries. In the event of an eighth and ninth game, the leagues profit most, as the club owners must turn over 75 per cent. to their respective leagues.

So it seems, figuring it all up, that there is little but glory for the club owners who get into the series. In the case of the rich New York clubs this is fair enough, but supposing St. Louis should win the pennants next year, which is not at all improbable, the proposition would not be fair for the risk and the expense involved.

If the magnates do accept the recommendation to return to the old seven-game arrangement, it is probable that they will insist upon a rearrangement of the process of division which will give the pennant winner a better break.

FIELD-MARSHAL FOCH GETS WALTHAM WATCH.

Presented Under Elm Tree Where Washington Stood.

The people of Boston, Mass., through the medium of The Boston "Post" newspaper, subscribed $1,000 for the purchase of a Waltham "Premier Maximus" watch, which was presented to Field-Marshal Foch, late Commander-in-Chief of the Allied armies.

The presentation took place, amid scenes of great enthisiasm, at Cambridge, Mass., a suburb of Boston, beneath the historic elm tree where George Washington, in 1775, was entrusted with the supreme command of the American revolutionary armies. The presentation was made by Prof. Louis J. A. Mercier, of Harvard University.

In commenting upon its selection of a Waltham watch for this great occasion, the Boston "Post" says:

"In deciding upon a Waltham watch as the most appropriate gift, The Post had in mind the fact that there is nothing finer in America. It is one of the distinctive products of New England that is known throughout the civilized world. The watch is technically known as a Waltham gentleman's 'Premier Maximus.' It is set with six diamonds and seventeen rubies and sapphires. In accordance with the best taste, it is severely plain. The 18 carat gold case is unadorned except for the following inscription: 'To Ferdinand Foch, leader of our armies and captain of our hearts, Boston, November 14, 1921.'"

CRIPPLE ROUTS BRUTAL BANDITS

Outwits Thugs, But Is Beaten Over the Head With Pistol Butt.

ALMONTE, Nov. 23.—Alex. Allan, merchant tailor, was held up by two masked men on Elgin street last night. Mr. Allan was returning home from his shop about 9.45, and was within 20 yards of his own house when attacked. One of the men pointed a revolver at him while the other held his mouth and attempted to search him.

Although a cripple and further handicapped by deafness, he succeeded in freeing his mouth and sounded an alarm. A dog commenced to bark, and the assailants fled, after they had beaten their victim on the head with the revolver to a semi-conscious state.

He reached a neighbor's house, whence police and medical attention were summoned.

Suspicion rests upon local men who would be familiar with all the circumstances of their victim and probably with the business he had transacted during the evening. No money was secured, though Mr. Allan was carrying more than usual at the time. He will recover.

Bright red purses give a dash of color to dark street costumes. A bright red leather purse is lined with white faille silk. It opens in envelope style and has flat pockets for vanity outfit, purse and card case.

The only side of the money question we hear is the one of Liberty is on. The other side doesn't talk.

AMERICAN BILLIONS SPENT FOR LUXURIES

Statistics Reveal Enormity of Expenditures.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Federal tax returns have been given curious applications in connection with the problems now before the Armament Conference. Statisticians of the Government have labored hard to bring the relative figures as to military expenditures and the amounts spent by the people of the country for amusements and minor luxuries out so sharply that their significance would be seen at a glance.

One of these tables shows expenditures of $318,000,600 in candy and chewing gum; $834,000,000 in soda and confections and $959,000,000 for perfumery, jewelry, silk stockings and other articles for personal adornment.

The smokers poured out $1,151,000,000 for tobacco in all forms. Baseball fans, theatre-goers, cabaret frequenters and those attending concerts paid $897,000,000.

DOUBLE PREMIUM LEVIED WHEN DULY PAID IN PAPER.

LONDON, November 23. — The Board of Trade announces that the German Government has doubled the premium levied where gold duties under the customs tariff are paid in paper currency. Thus 4,000 paper marks must be paid for each 100 marks in gold, instead of 2,000 marks as previously.

ELECTION NEWS

McINTOSH TO FIGHT.

TORONTO, November 23 (Canadian Press). — Arza D. McIntosh, Progressive candidate in West Hastings, began the fight to-day to oust Gus Porter from the seat of West-Hastings.

Gordon Waldron, K.C., will fight McIntosh's battle, and he has taken the matter up with the Chief Electoral Officer.

To prevent mould, sprinkle powdered cloves on catsup and apple butter at top of jars before sealing, and they will keep indefinitely. Apple butter treated this way will taste as fresh until the next season as when made.

Some of the knicker outfits feature a full length coat, which buttons snugly all the way down the front or side, so that when the coat is worn no suggestion of knickers is visible.

WEDDING BELLS

MAGEE—BAPTIE.

The wedding took place at 7.15 this morning, at St. Paul's Manse, of Madeline Mary Baptie and Walter Herbie Magee, both of this city, the Rev. Robt. Pogue officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Magee left on the 7.35 train for a short honeymoon. They will reside in the city.

NICHOLS—BLACK.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Black, of Bridgenorth, on Wednesday evening, November 16th, when their youngest daughter, Emerita, was united in marriage to W. Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Nichols. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. Huffman, in the presence of the immediate relatives. The bride, very tastefully attired, was given away by her father. The wedding march was played by the bride's sister, Mrs. Stevens, of Lindsay. Dainty refreshments were served. The bride was the recipient of a number of useful and pretty presents.

After a very pleasant evening the young couple repaired to their new home on Colborne street. The bride and groom have always resided in Bridgenorth, where they are prominent in the church, the former as pianist of the Sunday school, the later as President of the Epworth League for a year, and now Assistant Superintendent of the Sunday school. Both are members of the choir. Their many friends extend congratulations and best wishes.

McKERCHAR—KENNEDY. SUTTON—BLEWETT.

Regina Exchange.—A double wedding was celebrated at the Baptist parsonage November 2nd, with Rev. H. C. Speller officiating. The contracting parties were John Victor McKerchar of Lemsford, to Miss Lorraine Violet Kennedy of Peterborough, Ont., and George W. Sutton, of Lemsford, to Miss Mabel Fern Blewett, of Peterborough. The newly wedded couples left on the evening trains to make their respective homes at Lemsford.

LANDRU MAINTAINS HE IS INNOCENT OF SLAYING 11 WOMEN

VERSAILLES, Nov. 23.—(Canadian Press).—"What was your method of executing victims, by firearms, poison or strangling?" was Judge Gilbert's first question to Landru as the court convened to-day. The Judge admitted that the prosecution could consider all three of these hypotheses.

"It would be much simpler to make the hypotheses that I killed none at all," replied Landru. The prosecution undertook to prove Landru cremated his victims when accused, pointing to a small cook stove in the court, shouted, "Why, you couldn't cremate a chicken in it."

NOFTALL LOOKS TO COUNCIL FOR DAMAGES

ROUTINE BUSINESS OF CITY COUNCIL LAST NIGHT

Wm. Noftall is seeking from the city damages to the extent of $96.45 alleged to have been incurred by him on Tuesday, November 8th, when Fire Chief Grange in his car, collided with Noftall's auto on Hunter street. In a communication to the City Council last night Noftall estimates the injury to his automobile at $71.45 and also claims an additional $25 for two days' hire of a car for business purposes while his own auto was being repaired. Complainant contends that the Fire Chief was to blame for the smash-up in that the accident would not have occurred and Grange been travelling in the centre of the street, but he was on the north side of Hunter and struck Noftall's car when, he says, any reasonable man would consider himself safe. According to Noftall's letter he was travelling north on Water street at five miles an hour, and was three-quarters across Hunter street, when the Fire Chief's car, going east on Hunter, collided with him.

This matter went to the Legal committee.

Provincial Highway.

R. Kylie wrote from Lindsay that that town's council had resolved to ask the Hon. Mr. Biggs to hold up for the present the proposed provincial highway from Whitby to Lindsay, and subsequently to Peterborough, which action Mr. Kylie and other of Lindsay's representative men considered unfortunate. Mr. Kylie's request for a pronouncement on this matter by Peterborough's Council met with no definite action for the time being.

Cost of Pavement.

The City Engineer's estimate of $65,664.86 for paving Hunter street from Sheridan street to the Armour Road, east, went to the Board of Works.

More Light.

In a communication the Quaker Oats Co. gave the city permission to erect three poles on their property, for electric light wiring, from the north end of the bridge across the dam at their power house near the line of Hazlitt street, across the G.T.R. track.

Engineer Will Explain.

In reply to a request from the Owners' and Tenants' Association for an explanation of the situation regarding the sewage disposal plant project, City Engineer R. H. Parsons was requested to attend the Association's meeting Friday vening and submit the information asked for.

To Pay Barber.

The Finance committee's recommendation that Mr. Frank Barber be offered $5,000 in full settlement of his claim against the city for engineering services in connection with the Ashburnham (nee Hunter street) bridge was adopted.

Enquiry from Ald. Crowe elicited the information that Barber had already received $11,000 on this account.

Free Skating Rink.

The Board of Works' recommendation that the City Engineer prepare a good sized open-air skating rink on the city's propery, corner of Hunter and Burnham streets, East City, met with opposition from Ald. Turner, who moved, seconded by Ald. Jones, that this clause be eliminated from the committee's report and the Engineer report on the cost

Irish Negotiations Are Nearing Unfavorable End

LONDON, November 24 (Canadian Press). — Negotiations for an Irish settlement are feared nearing an unfavourable end, and there is apprehension that next week may witness their collapse, unless more favourable circumstances develop, according to a high authority to-day.

It is stated that Ulster is no longer presenting the sole obstacle, but that the Sinn Fein refuses to accept allegiance to the King, although willing to take the oath to an Irish constitution.

SMOKE BEATEN BY 10 YARDS IN TEN MILE RACE IN DETROIT TO-DAY

CURVE LAKE RUNNER, FLYING THE COLOURS OF THE P.A.A.A. WAS THIRD IN RACE WHICH ARTHUR JOHNSTON BELIEVES WILL SET A NEW RECORD—TELEPHONE MESSAGE INDICATES RACE DECIDED IN LAST SPRINT.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 24. — (Canadian Press.)—R. Earl Johnson, of the Edgar Thomson Club of Braddock, Pa., won the third annual Irish-American Athletic Club ten-mile road run here to-day. His time was 53 minutes 4/5 seconds. A stride behind Johnson was Charles L. Mellor, of Logan Square Athletic Club of Chicago. Close on Mellor's heels was Albert Smoke, of Peterborough, Ont.

James Moorcroft of the Gladstone Athletic Club of Toronto, was fourth, and Saylor Minnick, of Detroit, fifth. A field of fifty-two contenders faced the starter at Fernald, a suburb. The course was down Woodward avenue to Grand Circus Park, in the heart of the business district here.

Arthur Johnston, who accompanied Smoke, telephoned the Windsor Hotel here at 1.45 p.m. that Smoke had finished second, although there was a dispute about the second and third man. It was a whirlwind, heart-breaking finish, with a great sprint to the tape.

The Peterborough party will be home to-night on the 1.15 a.m. C. P.R. train. Those who had built up the hope of the P.A.A.A. entry winning in Detroit realized that he was handicapped by the fact that he is not at his best in ten miles.

At eighteen or twenty miles he has turned in his greatest performances. This consideration enhances his showing in Detroit to-day. To be beaten by ten yards in ten miles against a field that included the best distance runners on both sides of the line is a real achievement.

THE RINK WILL BE HEATED

FOCH'S ADVICE

Addressing the students of Fordham University, Marshal Foch offered them the following advice, distilled from his experience:

"Now that I have reached the pinnacle of life and see my sun setting in the West, permit me to give you certain impressions, certain advice: Bring to your work a persistence, bring to your work a personality, make your work distinctive, and, above all, inspire yourself with the divine light which leads truly to the accomplishment of all that is well worth doing in this world."

CITY COUNCIL IN A NEW ROLE

ALD. J. HAMILTON SUGGESTS FORMATION OF A SEWING CIRCLE

"They say we are a lot of old women down here in the City Council; why not get the cloth and make the firemen's winter uniforms ourselves?" queried Ald. J. Hamilton in Council last night, when Ald. Morrison raised the question of letting the contract for this work.

Ald. Morrison reported that since he had been unable to get a meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee recently, he had ascertained that a local factory will furnish superior serge to the samples submitted with tenders about three weeks ago, at an advantageous price and the uniforms could also be made locally.

Under these circumstances, Ald. Phelan thought tenders should be invited from tailoring and trimming the uniforms in town.

Ald. Crowe pointed out that the motion in committee was to accept the lowest tender.

Brief discussion of the situation terminated in a motion by Ald. Whitehouse and Jones, that the contract for making these uniforms go to the lowest tenderer being adopted. Chairman Ald. Morrison is authorized to select the lowest tender from those previously submitted, the city to purchase the cloth locally.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

To-day being Thanksgiving Day in the United States, there are no New York or Chicago markets.

LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, Nov. 24.—(Canadian Press.)—Receipts 352, trade steady. Quotations: Choice butcher steers, $6 to $6.50; butcher cows, medium, $3 to $4; calves, $10 to $11; lambs, to $9.25; hogs, selects, $8.90 to $9.15.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Nov. 24.—(Canadian Press).—Considerable weakness was apparent on the local Stock Exchange during the first half-hour this morning, the feature of which was Detroit United Railway. This issue weakened two and a half points to 68½. Brompton fell off a point to 23 3-4, and Atlantic Sugar a quarter to 31 3-4. Riordon and Spanish River were unchanged at 6 and 65 respectively, as was also National Breweries at 56½.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, Nov. 24.—(Canadian Press).—There was little activity displayed on the local Stock Exchange this morning. Burt Common was one point higher at 102¼, General Electric advanced 1¼ points to 95, and Mackay made a gain of 5-8, with the close at 81 7-8. Government Bonds were in light demand and price changes were small. The 1937's closed 20c higher than yesterday, and 1944's were unchanged.

SLIPPED ON PAVEMENT AND FRACTURED ARM.

His many friends will regret to learn of the accident which befell Mr. Thomas Young, 564 Charlotte Street, on Tuesday evening last. Returning home from a visit to his daughter, Mr. Young slipped on the pavement and fractured his left arm near the shoulder. He is at present under the care of a physician at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. J. M. Mann, 217 Westcott Street.

MAY SELL MEAT IN SMALL CUTS ON THE MARKET

BY-LAW TO BE PREPARED BY COUNCIL PERMITTING SALE OF MEAT IN QUANTITIES LESS THAN QUARTER CARCASS.

TURNER SAYS IT MEANS UNFAIR COMPETITION

On motion of Ald. Hamilton and Morrison in Council, last night, a by-law will be prepared to permit farmers to sell meat on the market during the winter months, commencing January next, in less quantities than by the quarter carcass.

Ald. Turner opposed the motion, on the ground that it would encourage unfair competition with local butchers, who pay license and taxes and have to maintain premises and staffs the whole year round, six days a week. The farmer would incur no expense or time but on two days each week for five months in the year, and he neither pays taxes nor license to the city. Citizens now have the privilege of buying by the quarter during cold weather.

Ald. Hamilton asserted that farmers are getting but 2, 3 or 4 cents a pound for live cattle, and one cannot purchase meat from butchers at proportionate prices. Why protect butchers, he exclaimed: this is a move in the interests of the poor. Butchers are charging too much, he added; pork is selling on the Montreal market at 15c a lb.; butchers here are charging up to 30c in small cuts.

Ald. Turner—"I see cheap cuts in butchers' windows here at 15c a lb., and the poor do not buy expensive meat."

Ald. Jones—"You can buy pork on the market here for 14 cents a pound by the quarter."

Ald. Crowe favored not assessing the butchers any license.

Ald. Hamilton replied that the license is merely a nominal one.

The Mayor expressed himself favorably to selling small cuts on the market in relief of present hardship, which he declared to be acute. "We want to keep the price of meat and all commodities down, if we can," he urged.

It is about 25 years since small cuts of meat were sold on Peterborough Market.

ROLLER ACADEMY SKATING TONIGHT

FRIDAY AFTERNOON AND EVENING —NO SKATING SATURDAY

The Roller Academy will give extra skating hours on Friday owing to the fact that the rink has been taken for a meeting on Saturday and is not available for skating.

Skating to-morrow afternoon from 2.30 to 5.30; evening 7.30 to 10.30. As it is possible there will be only about another week of roller skating, enjoy it while you can.

WOMEN AROUSED AT BEING BARRED FROM METHODIST PULPITS

MONTREAL, Nov. 24.— (Canadian Press.)—Many prominent Montreal women when interviewed this morning stated that they could see no reason why their sex should be barred from the clerical profession.

When asked for her opinion regarding the decision arrived at by the Board of St. James Methodist Church not to favor admission of women into the pastorate of the Methodist Church in Canada, Professor Carrie Derick, of McGill University, said she did not see why women should not be admitted to pulpits and why there should not be equality in this matter as well as in any other. She quoted the late Dr. Herbert Symonds of Christ Church Cathedral as having once said: "I see no reason in the nature of inscriptural inspiration to prevent women from holding even the highest positions in the church, including that of Archbishop of Canterbury."

PRESCRIPTION QUESTION IS LEFT TO THE DOCTORS.

CALGARY, November 24 (Canadian Press). — Physicians and surgeons of Alberta have had it put squarely up to them by J. F. Brownlee, Attorney-General, as to how many liquor prescriptions each one shall write during a month. By giving the doctors the choice of writing anywhere from a minimum of 25 to a maximum of 100 prescriptions a month, the responsibility for prescribing liquor other than for medicinal uses is put squarely on the shoulders of the individual doctor.

MOPLAH PRISONERS SUFFOCATED IN CAR

LONDON, Nov. 24.— (Canadian Press.)—A Times despatch from Madras says the suffocation of sixty-four Moplah prisoners has created a profound sensation among the natives. Examination of a railway wagon showed that the ventilating panels had been recently painted, partially closing the mesh. The prisoners had been imprisoned for five hours without examination and when the conductor went to give them water many were dead and the remainder unconscious. There was evidence that the dying prisoners had bitten one another in their desperate fight for air.

BOUNDARY LINE UNDER DISPUTE

CASE IN COUNTY COURT TO-DAY WITH MOORE ESTATE PLAINTIFFS, AGAINST J. T. CRAIG.

The exact location of the boundary line between the adjoining properties of J. T. Craig, 413 Hunter street, and the estate of the late C. H. Moore, was the issue in an action the hearing of which was begun in the County Court this morning before Judge Huycke. Mr. Melville Moore, representing his father's estate was the chief witness heard this morning, and at the adjournment it was arranged that the court examine the disputed boundary before resuming the case this afternoon. The point to be decided is whether or not the buildings owned by Mr. Craig, the defendant, encroach on the Moore property. It is claimed by the plaintiffs that the eaves of the main brick building and the west wall of the shed extend two feet over the boundary line and encroach to that extent upon the Moore lot.

The defendant's contention will be that the property was conveyed to him by his father, the late John Craig, over 35 years ago and that he is in rightful possession of any property the buildings are on.

Mr. G. N. Gordon is solicitor for the Moore estate and Mr. F. D. Kerr is acting for Mr. Craig.

NO ACCLAMATION IN W. HASTINGS

OTTAWA, Nov. 24. — (Canadian Press).—There will be no acclamation in West Hastings. Investigation by Col. Biggar, Chief Electoral Officer, shows that the acclamation was irregular, and therefore every division in the Dominion will have a contest. Col. Biggar, in a statement, declared: "The returning officer this morning notified the electoral officer that the action he had taken was erroneous, and received instructions to hold a poll."

DOG DRIVES OFF FEMALE BURGLAR

WINDSOR, Nov. 24.—(Canadian Press).—Pete, an English bull dog owned by Jack Campbell, Windsor, grappled with a female daylight burglar, who was caught red-handed by Mrs. Campbell taking wearing apparel from a room at her home late Wednesday afternoon. The dog sprang at the woman, grasping her by the throat and tore open the flesh, drawing blood. Mrs. Campbell called off the dog, and the woman turned and fled through the front door. She has not been seen since.

Mrs. Campbell was unaware that the burglar was in her house until she walked into the room, which was being ransacked. She gave a low cry and the woman turned to run. The dog then came into the room and sprang at her throat and would not release his hold until Mrs. Campbell ordered him to lie down.

A CHIMNEY FIRE ON HUNTER STREET

One of the worst chimney fires the fire department have contended with in a long time broke out at the residence of Peter Scott 84 1-2 Hunter street, corner of Sheridan at 11.45 last night. The alarm was rung in from Box 24. Three chemical tanks and a couple of pails of water were required to extinguish the blaze. No damage was done other than the disfigurement of the walls by the chemicals.

It was found that the walls of the chimney were coated with a substance known as slavil. It was described by Fire Chief Grange as a hard pitch-like substance formed by the combination of smoke and moist air and found in practically all chimneys to a greater or less degree.

The large number of chimney fires of late caused the fire chief to-day to warn house-holders to keep their chimneys clean and not to allow a pocket of dry soot to collect in the pocket at the base of the stove pipe hole, where as in the fire last night the spark found a resting place where its inflammatory qualities soon resulted in a vigorous blaze.

PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALH CAN BLOCK SALE OF DEBENTURE ISSUE FOR SEWAGE PLANT HERE

CITY COUNCIL CONFERS WITH BOARD'S ENGINEER WITHOUT REACHING DECISION AS TO TYPE OF PLANT TO BE BUILT —ASPERITY IN DISCUSSION OF MERITS OF IMHOFF SYSTEM FAVORED BY CITY AND ACTIVATED SLUDGE TYPE DEMANDED BY BOARD.

As a result of a conference last night between the City Council and Engineer F. A. Dallyn of the Provincial Board of Health no definite conclusion was reached except that unless the city builds a sewage disposal plan approved of by the Provincial Board of Health that body can block this municipality from selling debentures to defray the cost of any other system.

Ald. Whitehouse, chairman of Council's Board of Work with considerable asperity challenged the Provincial Board's absolute powers in this connection, and during a verbal measuring of swords with Mr. Dallyn expressed himself as quite satisfied that he (Mr. Dallyn) constituted the whole Provincial Board of Health when such questions as sewage disposal arise.

To Ald. Whitehouse, Mr. Dallyn replied that the Provincial Board consisted of five members—Dr. W. S. McCullough, its chief himself, and some others of but indifferent standing. And as Mr. Dallyn is the only engineer on the commission, the major business of which is transacted by Dr. McCullough and himself. Mr. Dallyn did not deny Alderman Whitehouse's asumption that on engineering decisions such as that affecting Peterborough's sewage disposal plant, he must practically constitute the whole Board.

Mr. Dallyn aso made it quite plain that the Provincial Board's last order is that an activated sludge sewage disposal plant be installed here, contrary to City Engineer Parson's recommendation for an Imhoff tank system as better adapted to Peterborough's conditions.

Ald. Whitehouse's Query..

Engineer Dallyn was present last night by invitation of Council; Dr. McCullough found it impossible to attend.

Ald. Whitehouse explained to Mr. Dallyn the expense and trouble this city had incurred to meet the demands of North Monaghan Township, and especially so in sending Engineer Parsons to Houston Texas and other cities to investigate sewage disposal plants with a view to this municipality installing the best system; and on his return he had reported against the activated sludge process. Our engineer understands his business, and enjoys our confidence declared the Alderman.

A Disputed Point.

Referring to the visit to the Minister of Public Works, in Toronto, by the Mayor, Thos. Tooms, M.P.P., Mr. Parsons and himself, at which only Mr. Dallyn for the Provincial Board of Health was present. Ald. Whitehouse declared that the committee returned with the understanding that this city could install an Imhoff tank system providing they constructed a complete sprinkler apparatus. Plans to this end were accordingly drawn and "I want to know why the Provincial Board has now instructed us to build an activated sludge sewage disposal plant against the advice of our engineer", concluded Ald. Whitehouse.

In reply Engineer Dallyn explained the active control over provincial sewage vested since 1911 in the Provincial Board, and he emphasized that body's plenary powers. He reviewed the results from sewage disposal experimental stations established by the Provincial Government in 1909, since which time, he asserted, the Provincial Board of Health has kept in touch with progress in all fields and endorsed only such plants for municipalities the installation of which would protect the m against adverse judgments and unreliable patent devices, and the policy of the Board in this respect has been always the same. Mr. Dallyn here, after a brief retrospection of Peterborough's course since 1905 when faced with an order to construct a sewage disposal plant pointed out that in 1016 this municipality proposed an Imhoff tank system, when the Provincial Board of Health suggested that investigation be made of the progress resulting from the new activated sludge process inaugurated in 1914. Following that suggestion he declared that this city's engineer forwarded to the Board in Toronto plans for an activated sludge system which were approved of.

Mr. Dallyn insisted that the only question with an activated sludge system was the economic disposal of the sludge to the municipality's advantage; but that sludge has a value for agriculture and the fertilizing industry is prepared to accept it if delivered in a dewatered slate. He cited Milwaukee as designing a plant for drying sludge for the fertilizing market.

In support of the activated sludge principle of sewage disposal the Board's engineer pointed out that Brampton is using one to great satisfaction—they have had no action for nuisance damages and are finding a market for the sludge in the Dale nurseries; this system was advised for Woodstock by Engineer Willis Chipman, and has been in satisfactory operation since May of this year; and there are others at the Burwash Prison Farm, Orillia Hospital for Epileptics, Guelph Agricultural College—all operating with no trouble in taking care of the sludge. In Peterborough, he contended with the area available there should be no trouble in taking care of sludge for at least 15 years, while there is a definite demand for it by agriculture. And so the Provincial Board thinks they are justified in ordering this process for Peterborough; "we have been invested with the responsibility for the installation of the best system, and are prepared to assume that responsibility". Mr. Parson's argument anent the satisfactory disposal of sludge without creation actionable nuisance falls to the ground, Mr. Dallyn concluded.

The Why and Wherefore..

Ald. Whitehouse here reiterated his question of why, when Council's committee returned from Toronto with permission to go ahead on the Imhoff tank principle, the city cannot, on its engineer's advice, have that privilege.

Mr. Dallyn—"You went to the Minister of Public Works. You went over the head of the Provincial Board to whom you had previously gone with permission to prepare plans."

Ald. Whitehouse here opined that going to the minister of Public Works was where the shoe pinched, and he deplored that the Board has power to enforce the building of an activated sludge plant, which City Engineer Parsons, reports as yet in an experimental stage. "I don't think" he added that we should construct a system not adapted to local conditions, which the engineer advised are more suitable for an Imhoff tank process.

$85,000 on an Imhoff system when they could have got the same results for $25,000, and now they are sorry. This was on the advice of their then Engineer Chipman, who later recommended the activated sludge principle for Woodstock."

Know It All?

Mr. Dallyn here caustically remarked that heretofore Peterborough deputations had met the Provincial Board of Health in the "Know it All" attitude. But we consider he said, your engineer's judgment at fault and hold to our privilege to supersede him in this matter.

Ald. Hay— "Why allow this city to incur an expenditure of $10,000 in preparation for an Imhoff tank system, when the Provincial Board had already decided that this city must construct an activated sludge process?"

THEATRE NIGHT'S BIG PROGRAMME

SPORTING CELEBRITIES, SPORTING PICTURES AND BIG FEATURE FILM AT THE CAPITOL TO-NIGHT.

All arrangements are completed for the big theatre night under the auspices of the Peterborough amateur Athletic Association at the Capitol Theatre to-night, and there should be a crowded house, in view of the importance of the cause and the merit of the programme.

Mr. W. A. Hewitt, secretary of th Ontario Hockey Association, and Sheriff Paxton, the O.H.A. treasurer, who is coming in place of President Copeland, will arrive on the 5.35 G.T.R. train ,and will be the guests of honour at an informal dinner at the Empress, commencing at 6.15 o'clock.

The theatre programme will commence sharp at 8 o'clock with a two-reel comedy, after which Mr. H. R. H. Kenner will introduce Messrs. Hewitt and Paxton, who will give brief addresses.

Three special reels on sporting topics will follow this event, and then Dr. A. W. McPherson will formally introduce Mr. Walter Smaill, director of athletics for the P.A.A. A., and the Examiner road race trophies will be presented by Mr. R. M. Glover, assisted by Messrs. Douglas Loomis and Charles Thorpe.

A seven reel feature film, "Mid-Channel," featuring Clara Kimball Young, will be the concluding number of a splendid programme.

The Capitol orchestra will be in attendance as usual. In the lobby will be displayed photographs of some famous old Peterboro' teams loaned by Mr. C. G. Graham and the Hamilton Herald trophy won by Albert Smoke, will be on exhibition there.

It will be a real big night and every man and woman in Peterborough who believes in clean sport should endeavour to attend.

Before using a new umbrella, always inject a small quantity of vaseline into the hinge portion of the frame. If put on carefully, the vaseline will not spread and is a sure preventive against rust.

The Value of Advertising

No matter what particular merit a preparation may possess, if you wish to bring it before the public, it is necessary to advertise it.

For instance, Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills were just as good a year ago as they are to-day; and while they had a steady sale due to one friend telling another of the benefits derived from them the proprietors recognized this was a rather slow way of introducing them, and for the year 1921 they have placed a contract with this paper for 10,000 lines of advertising.

On another page of this paper you will find their large advertisement, and with merit and advertising we feel confident they will meet with success.

TO-DAY'S NEWS OF THE DISTRICT

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY OF ST. THOMAS' CHURCH HELD A MEETING---PERSONAL MENTION

MILLBROOK, Nov. 24.—The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Thomas Church met on Monday, November 21st, at the home of Mrs. John Allen at 8 p.m.

The president, Mrs (Canon) Allen occupied the chair. The opening twenty minutes were spent in devotional exercises after which the secretary and treasurer gave their reports. Miss Florence Clarke, the newly appointed secretary-treasurer of the "Little Helpers", whose membership age limit is eight years, reported that after revising the roll there are now twenty members, twelve former ones and eight new names.

The treasurer reported twenty-five dollars on hand as the surplus from the offering received at the recent Deanery meeting, and after discussion it was decided to donate one-half to the missionary work in Honan Province, China, and the other half to the Educational Fund for missionaries' children. It was also decided to observe St. Andrews Day, November 30th, by inviting all Auxiliary members throughout the parish to attend the celebration of the holy communion at St. Thomas Church in the morning.

An appeal from Apsley asking especially for second-hand clothing for children, and their necessaries, having been received it was moved and seconded that a bale be prepared and sent in time for Christmas.

There will be no W.A. meeting in December but the annual meeting will be held a the Rectory in January.

As there was so much parish business to discuss the reading of the Chapter from the study book; "Our Church at Work" was postponed until the next meeting of the missionary reading circle at Mrs. Westmacott's.

The Trail Rangers

The "Trail Rangers" a branch of the C. S. E. T. for the younger boys, held their regular meeting in the League Room of the Methodist Church on Tuesday, November 22nd at 8 p.m. with fifteen members in attendance.

In the absence of the Chief Ranger, Master Ernest Burnham, the deputy chief ranger, Master Albert Cullum, was in charge of the meetiug assisted by the mentor, Mr. J. L., Byam. After the usual opening exercises, one new candidate for membership was initiated.

Colonel O'Dell of Cobourg who was in town in connection with his duties as School Inspector, then gave an excellent talk to the boys contrasting, by means of a well-told story, the misery of a life of selfishness with the joy of a life of service.

At the conclusion of his address a vote of thanks to Colonel O'Dell for his kindness was moved and seconded. Before dismissal games were played a usual for the "activity period", and were thoroughly enjoyed.

Rebekah Lodge

The "Golden Sheaf" Rebekah Lodge No. 176, held their bi-weekly meeting on Tuesday evening, November 22nd, with quite a large number of members in attendance. Mrs. Harry Falls, who has held the office of Noble Grand during the past year, occupied the chair.

Amongst the important item of business for the evening was the election of officers, though the installation does not take place until January thus giving those newly-elected an opportunity to learn the obligations devolving upon them during the intervening month.

The five new candidates who were presented for membership and initiated here: Mrs. Harold Tate, Mrs. James Fair and Mr. William Kennedy of Cavan, and Mr. and Mrs. Urry of Millbrook.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting and a social time enjoyed with music and dancing.

Personal Mention

The many friends of Miss Annie Armstrog will regret to learn that she had the misfortune to fall off the steps leading from the back verandah of her home on Sunday morning after church, fracturing her hip. Miss Sutton is the nurse in attendance.

Mrs. George Hetherington, who has been visiting her sons, Messrs. Athol and Dunwoody Hetherington, in Saskatchewan for the past three months, has recently returned to her home east of the village.

Mrs. B. C. Whyte and her two children, Miss Nancy and Master Geoffrey, who have been making a brief visit with her mother, Mrs. Archibald Wood, returned to their home in Port Hope on Monday exening.

Mrs. George E. Burnham and her son, Master Ernest, were visitors to Peterboro, on Tuesday, guests of Mr., and Mrs. F. W. Burnham, Water street.

Mrs. William Rowland visited friends in Peterboro, on Monday.

Died—On Tuesday, November 22 Amos Wragg ,in his 72nd year.

Funeral on Friday, November 25th from his residence on the 10th line, Cavan, at 3 p.m. Service at the house at 2.30. Interment will take place in the 9th Line Cemetery.

TRENT RIVER HAPPENINGS

TRENT BRIDGE, November 23.—Mr. George Davidson has opened up the blacksmith shop and is now ready for business.

Mrs. Christie and daughter, Miss Davie, returned to their home in Toronto Sunday after spending the past eight months at their cottage. Mrs. Don Christie and Mr. Will ertuned with them. Mr. Will Christie returned from the deer hunt Saturday.

Mr. E. Parsons left on Saturday for Toronto after spending the past two weeks as a guest at the Cook cottage. Mr. Parsons came down for the shooting and had great success while here.

A meeting in the interests of Mr. F. J. Slade, candidate of the National Progressive Party, was held at the Sedgewick House on Monday evening.

On Monday evening of next week a meeting for ladies will be held for the same purpose at the Sedgewick House. Mr. Slade expects to be present at this meeting.

The sawing machine from Havelock is making its rounds in this vicinity.

The next meeting of the Sewing Circle will be held December 14th at the home of Mrs. Arthur Russel, Havelock Road. The material which was given out to each of those present at the meeting held last week at Mrs. George Scott's, to be made up into wearing apparel for the children of the Orphans' Home, is to be brought to the next meeting to be packed for the Christmas boxes.

Eggs are now a scarce article and do not seem to be coming in for sale. Dairy butter is selling at forty cents.

Mr. N. Garneau has taken a position with the carpenters at the new hydro power plant being erected below Campbellford.

The usual young peoples' meeting was held last night at the church.

The 1921 Christmas seals in aid of the Muskoka free hospital, are being distributed among the school children and the little folks are busy making a house to house canvass.

C. P. O. S. SUSPENDS CANADA-ITALY SERVICE.

MONTREAL, November 24 (Canadian Press). — Because of insufficient patronage, the Canadian Pacific Steamships Limited yesterday announced the suspension of its Canada-Italy service. The service may be resumed next spring, however, if conditions warranted, it was stated.

The service was inaugurated this summer by the steamers Montreal and Caserta.

ELECTION FIGHT NORTHUMBERLAND

Mr. Charles W. Kerr of Cobourg and Toronto is in the field as a straight Liberal, with the hearty approval of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.

A three- corner fight in Northumberland, has not been unexpected from the first, and it is not a surprise to see that Mr. Kerr has taken up the guage of battle at the urgent call of Northumberland Liberals.

He is a son of the late Senator William Kerr, K.C. of Cobourg, a bonnie fighter in his day, who proved his prowess in Northumberland under circumstances somewhat similar to the present election conditions.

Mr. Kerr personally is well known to all the electors of the Riding. He is a graduate of Victoria College of which Institution his father was for many years Vice-Chancellor.

Mr. Kerr's candidature in Northumberland is a challenge upon straight Liberal principles and it is for the party adherents to show whether or not they are satisfied to be displaced by the present movement for Class Government.

Apart from politics, electors who are opposed to the National Progressive party make this their first principle, that Parliamentary representation must be of all the people and of their interests and not of groups or classes. This is the position that straight Liberals have always fought for.

EAST EMILY HAPPENINGS

EAST EMILY, Nov. 24. — The Epworth League of Bethel church held their regular league service on Tuesday night instead of Thursday for this week, on account of the League convention in Lindsay on Thursday. They held the regular service, after, which two contests were indulged in, a box of chocolates being first prize.

Refreshments were served and the social evening was much enjoyed.

The Rev. Mr. Clare, of Little Britain, took charge of the morning and evening services at Bethel church on Sunday, it being anniversary services. Special music and singing was rendered by the choir at both services.

Mr. L. Skuce of Omemee, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. W. Casey.

Mr .and Mrs. Raymond Hunt, of Lakehurst, spent Sunday visiting at the home of the latter's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Harrison.

Miss Hilda Sanderson of Omemee, spent the week end visiting Mrs. S. Switzer.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Mann and family of Bridgenorth, spent Sunday visiting at the home of Mr. E. Storey.

Mr. Ira Switzer spent the week end deer hunting in Bobcaygeon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell and family, of Smith ,accompanied by Mr. Stephens, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Westlake on Sunday last.

SEIZE HUGE STILL.

SYDNEY, N.S., November 24 (Canadian Press. — The largest moonshine still ever captured in Cape Breton was seized by Inland Revenue officers at Ball's Creek, eight miles from the city, yesterday. Wolshauk, an Indian, alleged to be the owner of the outfit, was caught asleep in a loft near the still. The boiler has a capacity of 150 gallons, and large vats nearby contained the "mash," several gallons of which were seized.

PROBABILITIES.

Strong winds and moderate gales from the eastward. Cloudy and milder with occasional sleet or rain.

TELEGRAPH AND CABLE

FARMERS WON'T BENEFIT BY FREIGHT RATE CUT

REGINA, Sask., Nov. 24.—(Canadian Press.)—"It is most unfortunate that the reduction in freight rates comes at a time when over two-thirds of the season's crop has been moved. We cannot expect farmers in the west to benefit by this reduction, which does not take effect until Dec. 1."

This statement was made to-day by Hon. George Langley, in the course of his presidential address at the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, which commenced to-day.

The directors' report, presented by Vice-President James Robinson, contained an attack on the Government for failure to continue the Canada Wheat Board.

ONE DYING FOLLOWING SHOOTING NEAR SYDNEY.

SYDNEY, N.S., November 24 (Canadian Press). — William Redmond is dying in Glace Bay Hospital with a bullet in his lung, and a foreigner named Genosis is held by the police as a result of the shooting yesterday at Stirling, near Glace Bay.

According to information gathered by the Glace Bay police, Redmond and two companions got into a dispute with Genosis over some articles purchased in his store. Finally the three made a rush behind the counter to assault Genosis, who reached for his gun and fired two shots. The first went wild, but the second laid out Redmond, whose condition is reported very critical.

SAYS GOVERNMENT RAILWAYS CARRY JOBLESS TO THE WEST.

VANCOUVER, B.C., November 24 (Canadian Press). — That nineteen single men, out of work and with their homes in the East, had been passed over the Canadian National Railway from Winnipeg to Vancouver, and that on their arrival here they had applied to the city relief department for aid, was the charge made yesterday at a meeting of aldermen and civic officials, by George I. Ireland, city relief officer.

Mr. Ireland declared that these men, who had arrived in Vancouver during the past few days, had obtained transportation from Winnipeg to Vancouver on the personal card of the city ticket agent of the C. N. R. at Winnipeg. These cards had been honoured by the various conductors, Mr. Ireland said, and he had the cancelled cards.

The city officials decided that a protest against the passing of unemployed over the C. N. R. from Winnipeg should be made to the Minister of Railways at Ottawa.

PRINCE OF WALES IN POLO MATCH AT BOMBAY

LONDON, Nov. 24.— (Canadian Press.)— The Prince of Wales, on Monday, the fifth day of his visit in Bombay, participated in a polo match, according to a Bombay despatch to the London Times. He was to have inspected twenty thousand boy and girl scouts, but parents in the remote parts of the city were afraid to allow their children to pass through the recently disturbed areas and the inspection was abandoned reluctantly.

Fears that the day would bring further disorders proved unnecessary,. Hindus and Parsees paraded the streets, waving white flags among the cheers of the warring sets and up to the time darkness came, when the Times despatch was filed, there was no trouble.

The Prince spent a quiet Sunday, taking lunch informally at the Orient Yacht Club and attending services in the cathedral.

TELL HOW PRISONERS ESCAPED IRISH JAIL

DUBLIN, Nov. 24. — (Canadian Press.)—Further details were related to-day by persons claiming to have been eye-witnesses of the escape of 47 political prisoners from the Kilkenny jail on Monday night through an underground passage of their own digging.

These eye-witnesses related their amazement, while passing along the road near the jail, at seeing a portion of the roadway break and two men emerge from under ground. The two men, according to the story related, ordered the passersby to halt, herded them into a nearby cottage and locked them in while the prisoners' comrades emerged and made their escape across the countryside.

Immediately after the last man left the hole, according to the story, the alarm was given and the military police rushed out in lorries, scouring the country throughout the night without success.

Judging by the way it sounds some ambitious young girls try to sing, thinking someone will throw them a "fish".

LAND ARMS AND EAST PROBLEMS BEFORE PARLEY

CONFERENCE ADJOURNS FOR THANKSGIVING DAY RECESS AFTER HEARING DEPARTING MESSAGE FROM BRIAND.

CONSIDER CHINA TARIFF

WASHINGTON, November 24 (Canadian Press). — When the arms delegates quit work for the Thanksgiving Day recess, these considerations embraced the central points of interest in their discussions.

Whether the effort to apply generally accepted principles to specific cases in the Far East would bring definite accomplishments or only lead to futile debate.

Whether, in view of the position of France and the general situation in Europe, any serious attempt should be made to agree on a limitation of land armament.

Whether a way can be found to hasten consideration of details on naval limitation plan, which is proceeding smoothly, but too slowly to satisfy some of the delegates.

Of these questions, the first was brought sharply to the fore last night by several direct clashes of opinion regarding elements of the Far Eastern negotiations. At yesterday's executive session of the nine delegations, the right of the Chinese delegates to speak for the whole of China was reported to have been questioned by France, and, later, a British interpretation of the general principles already adopted was challenged by some of the Chinese.

Earlier in the day the land armament problem had been debated behind closed doors by the delegates of the big five Powers, without further result than the appointment of a sub-committee to consider collateral subjects like the use of airplanes and poison gases.

Premier Briand of France, making his farewell speech to the conference, pressed his argument that his country dared not disarm unless she had guarantees from the other Powers, and although the general discussion drew renewed expressions of sympathy from every other national group, no one proposed any formal joint declaration of policy.

On the side of the naval reduction programme, developments were so completely out of the picture that

BEATTY SATISFIED WITH PROCRESS OF ARMS CONFERENCES

WASHINGTON, November 24 (by Ben Deacon, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press). —Admiral Lord Beatty, when he departs for Canada to-day, will leave Washington fully satisfied that the discussions concerning limitation of naval armaments have progressed so satisfactorily that there is every promise of an agreement being reached.

This he intimated in an interview with the Canadian Press yesterday afternoon.

Admiral Beatty, after his brief trip to the Dominion, which will include visits to Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, and possibly to Quebec, will return at once to London.

BOARD UPHOLDS WAGE SLASH OF RAIL EMPLOYES

C. N. R. BOARD OF CONCILIATION, HOWEVER, SUGGESTS MORE EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION OF REDUCTIONS.

MOSHER RAPS REPORT

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.—(By Canadian Press.)—The majority report of the Board of Arbitration in the wage dispute between the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employes and the Grand Trunk, upholds the general decrease in wages of 12.8 per cent., made effective by the railways in July last. The opinion is expressed, however, that the method adopted in distributing the reduction resulted in the lower paid employes suffering greater decreases than those receiving higher pay. The board recommends that an effort should be made by further negotiations to adjust these inequalities.

The report is signed by John M. Godfrey, chairman, and by H. H. Vaughan, the Grank Trunk Railway representative. A minority report will be made by Peter Bercovitch, K.C., M.L.A., the representative of the employes. The sessions of the board were held in Montreal and To-

IRISH AFFAIRS "CRITICAL BUT NOT HELPLESS"

LLOYD GEORGE WILLING TO APPLY MORAL PRESSURE TO ULSTER, BUT NOT PHYSICAL COERCION.

TO MEET CRAIG FRIDAY

LONDON, Nov. 24.— (Canadian Press.)— After yesterday's meeting between the Sinn Fein representatives and the Cabinet Committee the Irish situation was described in Government circles as "critical but not helpless." Premier Lloyd George explained to the Sinn Feiners that the Government was willing to apply strong moral pressure to Ulster and to offer Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster, attractive financial inducements to persuade him to agree to the only possible settlement —an All-Irish Parliament.

But if these proposals were rejected, either by the Sinn Fein or Ulster, he declared, the Government would not introduce any act in Parliament which would include Ulster against her will. The Government explained that to force Ulster to accept would require the sending of troops, in defiance of the pledges of all parties against physical coercion.

Mr. Lloyd George will discuss the question further with the Ulster Premier on Friday, after which Sir James will return to Belfast for the formal re-opening of the Northern Parliament.

Earl Middleton, as representative of the Southern Unionists, is continuing to strive for a settlement on dominion lines. He is pointing out to London business men, not only the moral but the material advantages to be gained by closer commercial relations with Ireland.

Disappointment is felt by the Government that notwithstanding the truce the Sinn Fein has not withdrawn the boycott on Ulster goods. The Sinn Fein maintain that the boycott was provoked by the discharge of Catholic workmen from Belfast shipyards, and considers it an essential aid to the Republican cause.

Ulster still is pressing for the publication of all the correspondence which has been exchanged during the peace negotiatoins, but the Government has not yet agreed, although

5 Reasons For the Superiority of EDISON RE-CREATIONS

1. SUPREME REALISM: The Edison RE-CREATION is the artist's performance—exactly as the artist gives it. There is absolutely no difference. This fact has been established by more than 4,000 public comparisons before more than 4,000,000 people. No "Talking Machine" record has ever sustained this acid test of direct comparison.

2. OVERTONES: The Supreme Realism of the Edison RE-CREATION is due to the fact that it gives not only the fundamental, or lowest tone of each musical note, but also the softer and sweeter tones, called the overtones or sound colors. It is these sound colors that give to a musical note its character. Mr. Edison is the only one who has discovered how to record and reproduce all of these sound colors, or overtones.

3. DURABILITY: The Edison RE-CREATION will outlast in actual playing, any other Disc, and is much less susceptible to breakage. A "Talking Machine" record begins to deteriorate with the very first playing and the deterioration is rapid, due to the wear and tear of the steel needle on the walls of the lateral cut sound wave grooves. On an Edison RE-CREATION the sound waves are up and down and the permanent diamond point reproducer, propelled by a mechanical feeding device, travels over the sound waves with exactly the right pressure for proper reproduction, but not enough to cut or wear the RE-CREATION.

4. ECONOMY: More music is recorded on an Edison 10-inch RE-CREATION than on a 12-inch "talking machine" record. The Edison RE-CREATION is recorded 150 threads to the inch, while "talking machine" discs are recorded only 80 threads to the inch. While the prices of Edison RE-CREATIONS are necessarily higher than the prices of 'talking machines" records because of the more intricate and elaborate technique employed, this is more than offset by their greater playing time, which permits recording of the larger compositions without excisions.

QUALITY: The Edison RE-CREATION does not merely happen to be what it is. It is the result: first, of Thomas A. Edison's inventive genius; second, his vast knowledge of acoustics gleaned from years of exhaustive and costly research work; and third, the infinite skill and care employed in the processes of its manufacture—processes which not only are unused by, but are also unknown to, "talking machine" manufacturers.

THE VOTE SLACKERS.

"I don't think I'll bother about voting at all," is a remark that is being heard far too often these days. It is the lack of national spirit indicated by such an attitude as that that hinders Canada's progress and leads many able men to refuse to serve in Parliament, for people who are so indifferent to their duty as to remain away from the polls and nullify their franchise. It is but the work of a moment to mark a ballot, and in the cities polling booths are numerous enough and sufficiently distributed as to make them easily accessible to every voter. Under such circumstances there is absolutely no justification for a failure on the part of an elector to register his vote and show that he is worthy of the name of citizen. It is a peculiar trait of human nature that were an attempt to be made to prevent some of these indifferent gentry from voting they would be wildly indignant, yet they deliberately disenfranchise themselves by refusing to vote. There is neither patriotism, nor logic, nor common sense in neglecting an opportunity to express one's opinion on the personnel of Parliament and the policies of the country.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CAMPAIGN.

The most perplexing and involved election in the history of Canada is now officially opened with the nomination proceedings of Tuesday. No other campaign has seen so many candidates in the field, no other campaign has witnessed so many three-cornered contests, and no other campaign has seen so many different political factions represented. From the Atlantic coast to the Pacific there was but one acclamation and that was made possible only by a mistake on the part of a candidate in filing his papers. Not one seat in the whole Dominion was allowed to go by default, and in many ridings there are most peculiar complications and cross-currents, making the work of election prophets—never an easy thing at any time—a matter of pure guess work. All three parties profess to be supremely confident; they could scarcely be expected to do otherwise, but independent observers, when they try to study the situation and arrive at some definite prediction as to the results, throw up their hands in despair and decide to wait until the evening of election day for the answer. And that seems the wisest course for everybody else.

SOME SEASONABLE QUESTIONS.

That there should be vigorous demands for a more economical administration of Peterborough's civic business administration is not to be wondered at. The tax rate is high, and unfortunately many of those who have to pay it are either out of work themselves or have tenants who are without employment, and in too many cases unable to pay their rent. All the conditions make criticism of the civic administration and complaints about excessive taxation. There is no argument over the statement that we in Peterborough are spending a lot of money. Are we getting value for it? It is the overhead cost ofour municipal machinery greater than it should be? Is too much money being frittered away in small extravagances, in deputations that serve no useful purpose, in grants for which there is no justification, in salaries to officials and employees? Are our departments, such as the Board of Works, fire department, police force, etc., calling for a greater expenditure than the service they rendered calls for? Are we getting one hundred cents value for every dollar of taxation we pay? These are some of the questions that the ratepayers are asking, and it is largely because they are being asked that to-morrow night's public meeting has been arranged. No harm can come of such an agitation and possibly much good can be accomplished. At all events it is much better to have these matters threshed out at this stage than to show no interest in the municipal campaign and then spend the next twelve months complainin gabout the extravagance and inefficiency of the City Council.

DIVIDING UP THE SALARIES.

Whenever the question of higher wages for railroad employees or the maintenance of a war level of wages regardless of railroad earnings or the value of the service crops up, one argument for the men is always advanced: It is that if the large salaries of management were reduced, the men's wages could be easily maintained—that, in effect, brains are being overpaid at the expense of brawn. People who should know better allow the claim to go by default, merely submitting a rather feeble plea for brains. Suppose we work out the sum?

Based on the figures for the first six months of 1921 let us take the example of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which handles something like ten per cent of the country's freight and has recently had the effrontery to contend that law was made for the Labor Board as well as the railroads. If the salaries of all general officers on the Pennsylvania system, receiving as low as $3,000 per annum, and as much as the president gets, were placed on an average of $5,000, whatever the capacities, experience, qualifications and responsibilities of the recipients, the reduction from the present amount would leave for each unionized employe less than 50 cents—per day? per week? No; less than 50 cents per month.

What were these salaries on the Pennsylvania? For the six months ended June 30 1921 they amounted to $1,833,619. Suppose we followed the Lenine examle and dispensed with the brains of the mantgement altogether? If this entire amount were then distributed among the 202,997 other employees, it would mean an average of $1.50 per man per month. It would not pay his union dues.

But, suppose we went further and tried, with all the enthusiasm and thoroughness of a McAdoo, to run the entire railroad system of the United States without brains? Taking all Class I railroads of the United States, the salaries paid to general officers receiving $3,000 a year and upwards, during the six months period taken for comparison, amounted to $25,084,000. Suppose we discharged these men—presidents, passenger agents, freight agents, division superintendents, statisticians, and all the rest—and divided up the entire amount among the average number of other employees, which would be in round numbers, 1,622,000? The gain to each of them would be ten cent sa working day.

This comparison could be extended to the entire business of the country. The result would be calculated to illuminate the dullest brain in Washington like a flash of lightning. But do the union leaders and their political supporters want to know the truth?—Wall St. Journal.

LITERARY GEMS

THIS IS SUCH A MOMENT

Arthur J. Balfour is no gushing young visionary. He is one of the coolest; most thoroughly seasoned fastidiously critical intellects in the political life of this generation. No living man is less likely to be beguiled into overstatement. When the philosophic Mr. Balfour is stirred to frank enthusiasm; other folk can afford to let go. It is easy to ransack old closets for doubt and misgiving. It is easy to peer into corners of the Far East for future causes of dissension. What's the use? Every one of these obstacles will look smaller when we come to them if we are on top of the kind of wave the whole civilized world has been riding in joy and thankfulness since last Saturday. Don't let the spiritual volume and driving power of it dissolve away in doubt. Don't listen to the cynics until difficulties loom larger than hopes. There are moments in history when sheer confidence of peoples that a thing can and must come about. This is such a moment.

SERVICE

The keynote of the osteopathic creed is SERVICE. That is the osteopathic slogan. It is the osteopath's sole aim and intention to see that you receive just the SERVICE he has undertaken to render you; to faithfully fulfill each and every promise he makes to you; to verify his diagnosis and make good his prognosis in the work he does in his treatment room. If for any reason the SERVICE falls short of expectations, he engages to do all in his power to see that it is made RIGHT.

The osteopath may not promise to cure you, for it is not always easy to determine when a complete cure has been effected, or of just what a cure consists. But if he cannot help you, he will tell you so. If he undertakes your case, he will try to make plain to you just to what extent he expects to assist your case, and the reason for his so thinking. It is the standing reputation of the osteopaths that they always keep faith with their clientele, doing all that is possible, never undertaking the impossible.

The Kidneys

The office man and the outdoor worker suffer alike from derangements of the kidneys.

Backaches and headaches are among the symptoms. In some cases Bright's disease soon develops, others suffer from high blood pressure until hardening of the arteries sets in.

In order to forestall painful and fatal diseases prompt action should be taken at the first sign of trouble.

Mr. A. D. MacKinnon, Kirkwood, Inverness county, N.S., writes:

"I can highly recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to all suffering from weak kidneys. I suffered from kidney disease for a long time. I may also say that for three years I was nearly always troubled with headaches, and no treatment seemed to do more than afford temporary relief. I was finally told of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using a few boxes was completely relieved. I have also used Dr. Chase's Ointment with the best results, and never fail to recommend these wonderful remedies."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

To the Editor.

While on a trip to Toronto a few days ago, I was in conversation with a gentleman of our city. We began talking about the weather, and; as is usual during this period, our conversation turned to the coming election.

During the course of his remarks, he asked: "Why should Canadian woollen manufacturers require tariff protection against Great Britain and other European countries?" I explained to him as best I could why this was necessary, but as there might be thousands of people in our city who have not yet given this matter a thought, I shall be glad if you will kindly grant me the use of your columns to give my idea of this important matter.

Let us take two men, "A" and "B". "A" is an Englishman starting a mill for spinning yarns and weaving cloths in the north of England, and "B" a Canadian starting a mill for spinning yarns and weaving cloth in Peterborough, or any other city in Canada. We will presume that each has the shell—that is, the building—all ready for the reception of the machinery, and the purchase of raw material. Let us take the case of "A" in England first. He looks around for his machinery—a very necessary part of his factory—and finds that there are many makers of the type of machinery that he needs within a few miles of his factory. He buys his machinery and instals it in his factory by men sent from the concern which makes this machinery, for it is a fact that only skilled men can erect and set this machinery in motion. He now wishes to buy his raw material, and again finds that he is very close to the source of supply, for London, as every one knows, is the wool market for the world. Almost the total clip of the large wool producing countries of the world are sent to London to be graded and disposed of, and the English manufacturer, being on the spot, has the first choice of this wool. He can get them to his factory with a minimum of expense, and is in a most advantageous position regarding his raw material. "A" now has his machinery and the raw material and needs coal to heat his factory and to produce steam to run the dyehouse and finishing rooms. Where does he get his coal? It is almost a certainty that within a few miles of his factory there are many coal mines, and he probably can see the shafts of many pits rising above the ground from his factory door, and to secure a few tons per day, carrying only a very small stock, is the work of a moment. "A" is now ready to run his factory, and looks around for help. He advertises for assistance, "only skilled workers required," and he gets them without delay. Skilled workers in every sense of the word, whose parents and probably grandparents have done nothing but work in woollen factories all their lives and who do their work in the best possible manner. "A" now operates his factory and proceeds to make the goods he had in mind. Owing to the fact that Great Britain and Ireland have a population of over 40,000,000, to say nothing of the export trade they now enjoy, "A" specializes or runs entirely on one type of cloth and can find a ready market for his total output. He can make his whole plant run on blue serge, or can run all his machines on tweeds, or he can make West of England cloths, just as he wishes; but the point I wish to make clear is that he can specialize on one particular fabric and find a ready market for all he can make.

This closes the case for "A" and we will look at the case of "B".

We have left "B" with his building erected and ready for machinery, etc. "B" begins to search for machinery, but finds that unfortunately none is made in Canada. He must either go to the United States or Great Britain. Machinery, as the world knows, which is turned out by Great Britain, is deemed to be the best ,and the zest is cheapest in the long run. We will, therefore, presume that he buys in England from the same firm and at the same price as "A" buys his. The machinery is packed and shipped to Peterborough, arriving here aiter a trip of over 3,000 miles in about four weeks, and he looks at his invoice for this machinery. Everything is O.K., but he notices a charge of 17 1-2 per cent. for packing. This is a new one for him, and he makes inquiries, with the result that he finds it is a rule of the trade that this charge is an extra one for packing the machinery, so that it will travel a great distance without a breakage. He has this machinery unpacked, and wishes to set it up in a position to run. Does anyone in Canada know how to erect this machinery? Unfortunately, no, and he has to send to England for men to come to Peterborough to erect this machinery. Many manufacturers of Peterborough can prove they have had men from England with them for several months erecting textile machinery, the cost of which must be paid by the owner of the factory. He looks for his raw material, and finds that there are no wool tops made in Canada, and he must either buy in United States or England. With the Americans requiring $1.40 of good Canadian money for every American dollar, we will not be surprised that he will go to England to buy raw material, with the exception of some wools which he does not require to be combed, and which he purchases in Ontario. Wool which is brought from England naturally costs more to the Canadian buyer on account of the long journey than they do to the English buyer. "B" now looks for coal, and again finds that he must buy out of Canada, being too far away to purchase Nova Scotia coal or Western coal with economy, and so he buys coal at the mine head, for which he pays, say $2.75 per ton. Before the coal arrives in Peterborough he pays over $4.50 for freight charges, United States and the Dominion, and another $1.00 per ton to have it placed in his factory yard. He now advertises for help, but dares not state experienced, because so few in this country have had experience on factory work. He determines, however, to make the best of his position and hires Canadian girls. It takes time, of course, to make skilled operatives, no matter how good the teacher or how quick and eager the pupil may be. While this experience is being procured the factory has, of course, to pay the bill. How does the production of "B's" factory compare with owing to the fact that the Canadian population is about 8,000,000, "B" cannot specialize on one cloth, for there is not the market for him, but loom, tweeds on the next, West of England cloth on the next, and so on. This splits up his production, and necessitates several different kinds of yarns and finishings, for the greatest amateur can see that serges have a different finish and are made of different yarns than, say Scotch tweed.

Now let us compare "A" in England with his machinery, raw material, coal and experienced help, all secured within a stone's throw of his factory, and place him by the side of "B" with his machinery and raw material brought three thousand miles, his coal hundreds of miles with his extra charges for freights in each case, with his inexperienced help and with our standard of living in Canada being much higher than it is in England and other European countries. This standard of living, I presume, is the standard we wish to preserve for ourselves and our children. I will not go into the relative wages in Canada and Great Britain, beyond mentioning that it is a well-known fact that wages paid in England are lower than wages paid in Canada for the same class of work. The difference is becoming still further emphasized now that the pound sterling, which is usually worth $4.86, is now quoted at $4.36, or a reduction of about 10 per cent.

Does it not appear to be a sensible thing to do to give "B" a little tariff protection to enable him to overcome the natural advantages which his English competitor enjoys, so that he may be in a position to compete for business on the same basis as the English producer of cloths?

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
W. TINKER.

LONDON, Nov. 24. —(Canadian Press,)—Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, has ordered the withdrawal of what has been described as a secret circular, issued recently from the Divisional Commission of the Royal Irish Constabulary at Belfast, which, according to Dublin despatches, said the Government was considering the desirability of forming the unauthorized Loyalist defence forces into regular military units onlly to be called out in grave emergency.

DO YOU SMOKE TOO MUCH?

There are many men on whose heart and nervous system tobacco produces the most serious results. It causes palpitation, pain in the heart, irregularity of its beat, makes the hands tremble, sets the nerves on edge, causes shortness of breath and loss of sleep.

To counteract this demoralizing influence on the heart and nerves there is no remedy to equal

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They make the heart beat strong and steady, restore tone and vigor to the nerves, and remove all the evil results caused by tobacco.

Mr. Frank Lutes, 71 Terrace Hill St., Brantford, Ont. writes:—"I had been troubled witr palpitation of the heart for a number of years, and by spells it would bother me a lot. The doctor told me it would stop sometime if I could cut out tobacco. When I would get a spell my heart would pound and would break out in perspiration, and get so weak I would have to sit down and quit my work; also in the night I would wake up and my heart would be going, I should say, about 120 beats a minute. About three years ago I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, took them, and found that they did the job. I am feeling fine and have gained over 20 pounds in weight."

BOARD UPHOLDS WAGE SLASH

ronto during October and November.

It will be remembered that following the sessions of this board in November that an agreement was reached between the Grand Trunk and certain of its employes. It was afterwards alleged by the C.B.R.E. that these employes did not have the authority to enter into an agreement with the company. Subsequently the negotiations were re-opened before the board. In the majority report it is stated that as far as the board is awate, representatives of three other organizations, who signed the agreement, have not repudiated their action. The report sets forth that the employes signified their willingness to accept certain reductions, but that they contended that the aggregate reduction of 12.8 per cent. was excessive.

The question before the arbitrators, report states, was whether the reductions proposed were unjustifiable and inequitable. These reductions possibly conformed to those recommended by the United States Railway Board and made effective on railways in the United States.

After examining evidence the representative of the company and the chairman of the board reported the decision that there had been a decrease in the cost of living since last July of twenty per cent., and that in view of this and the financial position of the railway that the proposed reduction, in the aggregate was justifiable and equitable.

A. R. Mosher, President of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employes, staed last evening that he considered the report of the Grand Trunk Arbitration Board. He said it recognized the wage reduction bore too heavily on the lower paid employes, but offered no basis upon which such a condition might be corrected.

"It has been stated repeatedly, and substantiated by undeniable proof, that none of the employes represented by the C.B. of R.E. are highly paid," Mr. Mosher explained. "In fact, they are among the lowest paid employes, and consequently a reduction in pay to any of these employes imposes hardships that cannot be justified. There are old employes filling position of trust, trying to provide for themselves and dependents on 31 cents an hour. Any employer who takes advantage of economic conditions to force a man to a standard of living that must accompany such wages is a real menace to the nation.

CHINESE TARIFF.

WASHINGTON, November 24 (Canadian Press). — A plan for the restoration to China of tariff autonomy, in three stages, was presented to the Far Eastern Committee of the Washington Conference late yesterday by Wellington Koo, one of the Chinese delegation.

A sub-committee was appointed to thresh out the subject.

Dr. Wellington Koo addressed the conference to-day at length on Chinese financial affairs, and after a general discussion the question was referred to the tariff sub-committee, comprising one member from each of the nine Powers.

An adjournment was then taken over Thanksgiving Day.

GIVES LIBERALS 96 SEATS IN EAST

INVERMAY, Sask., Nov. 24. — (By Canadian Press.)— Ninety-six seats for the Liberals in the eastern Provinces, with enough in Western Ontario to put Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King into power on December 6th, was Dr. Michael Clark's prediction here yesterday. A strong majority would be assured, he said, as a number of other members who were Liberals in principle, would isevitably join the party when matters simmered down.

Dr. Clark thought it conservative to expect twelve seats in Nova Scotia, seven in New Brunswick, two in Prince Edward Island, 15 at least in Ontario and 60 in Quebec. He was was not prepared to gauge as definitely the chances of the Liberals throughout the West.

Newest Marvels of Zoo Surgery

How the Increased Value of Caged Beasts Is Developing a New Veterinarian School Where All the Various Kinds of Animal Ailments, from Ten-Foot Colds up to Crocodile Tooth-Aches, Are Constantly Being Treated.

© KEYSTONE VIEW CO.

Curing a Ten-Foot "Cold in the Trunk" by Coaxing the Elephant to Inhale Hot Vinegar Fumes Through a Canvas Funnel.

A LION who could drag an ox by his teeth for miles was snared in Africa recently, brought to the United States and placed in a mid-western zoological garden. A stick of candy got into his cage and the next day he was down with a thumping toothache. It took his keepers a week to find out what the trouble was and three dentists were necessary to restore the once so stalwart Felis Leo to his usual state of mind and appearance.

Leo's case was typical. The habitants of the forest, plain and rocky cave no sooner reach civilization via the hunters' net than they begin to develop many of the pet ailments of the genus homo and meet with accidents that they somehow seemed to avoid when they were dependent solely on their own resources. As a result zoo animal surgery has become a highly developed science and no first-class traveling circus, park menagerie or zoological garden now tries to operate without an attending physician.

The increasing rarity and value of wild animals has of course brought them more careful medical attention and many veterinarians, such as Dr. Bruce Blair of the New York Zoological Park, have carried the study of wild animal organisms to a high state of specialization.

How the Dumb Are Doctored

A few years ago many animals would die from causes that the zoological authorities could not determine. In most cases this was attributed to the animal's inability to adjust himself to the conditions of his confinement. Later when these deaths were more closely investigated by scientific methods, disorders were found which were of a minor nature in their incipiency and which could have been checked by prompt and experienced attention.

But even with the present modern methods being practised animal surgeons often meet with great difficulty in handling their patients. The animal practitioner knows that the average beast will resist treatment and usually has to be rendered hors de combat before anything satisfactory can be done, as is the case with the lion shown in the illustration.

The operation necessary here is the extraction of what is known as the "dew claw." This is an appendage to the animal's paw—a sort of fifth finger—which, however necessary it may be when he is bounding through the African brush, is a nuisance when he gets to civilization. He tears it against all sorts of obstructions. It gets in his way all of the time. It is therefore taken out as soon as Leo can be tied up safely enough for the operation to be performed.

Another picture shows an orang-outang having his hip put back into shape. The member was broken in an accident, but after the operation this worthy prototype of the animal man was as fit as ever.

Pneumonia is a disease which plays havoc in most zoos, even among animals which have been brought from rigid northern climates and among those which are submitted to many climatic changes in their native state.

The elephant with his tremendous stature, his thick, callous hide and his predilection for wild roots and herbs and swampy baths, gets along very satisfactorily in the zoo when he is able to keep away from colds. Sometimes these pachyderms sniffle around like an asthmatic infant. The elephant shown above was just such a disconsolate being when he found himself with a cold. He was cured, as is shown, by being caused to inhale the fumes from a barrel full of hot vinegar.

Another animal which suffers even more from colds than the elephant is the seal. Seals live on the rocky Pacific coast winter and summer. They range from severely cold winters to South American summers, yet they are continually dying of pneumonia in the zoos.

Though the tendency of the animal to resist the attentions of a doctor makes many operations difficult, an ordinary ailment can usually be cured if the surgeon is able to make a diagnosis. This is sometimes made almost impossible. A recent occurrence in the New York Zoological Park serves to illustrate this. Two elephants lived in a large stall and were allowed to roam about at will. One day one of the beasts went lame. A week or so afterward she was found on the floor of her stall unable to rise. Everything possible was done to ease the animal's pain. Her keepers even had her raised by a derrick with the idea of removing pressure from the injured hip.

All measures failed, however, and the elephant died. When the skin and muscle around that section of her body which appeared to be injured were removed it was found that the upper leg bone had been broken away from the shaft and the leg was useless.

There is also the case of the pigmy elephant, one of the first of its kind to be brought into captivity, whose skin, due to an unnatural climate, cracked all over and became infested. He was put in an elk pen where he might bathe in the mud as much as he desired. For a while this seemed to do him good, but in the end he died.

Wherever possible the presiding surgeon of a zoo will allow nature's own healing processes to work their way, because nature is more successful with an animal than man unless there is some sort of malignant complication.

Bill Snyder, once head of the Central Park Zoo, New York, and a wild animal trainer of national reputation, was successful in treating animal ailments though he knew practically nothing about surgery or medicine. When one of his animals would take sick Snyder would usually close the house in which the beast was living, give his afflicted charge one of the usual zoo remedies and let nature do the rest.

Laboratories in the Zoo

The increasing value of animals, however, and the increasingly humane attitude of the public as well as the pronounced tendency of wild animals to develop complications that defy ordinary diagnosis, have done away with anything like hit and miss methods of treatment.

The best zoos in the country have well equipped laboratories where necessary surgical operations may be performed. Systems of animal hygiene have been developed and assiduous disease prevention methods are observed. Different species require different treatment. Even different members of the same species vary considerably sometimes in their necessities.

There are certain common susceptibilities, however, which are vigorously guarded against. Skin troubles are common among a number of animals. The elephant and rhinoceros are especially liable to afflictions of this kind because of the lack of mud and moisture such as they were used to in their African glades. Lions, monkeys and buffalos develop a stiffness which grows into paralysis and which is seldom cured.

These are carefully guarded against by preventive measures. The rhinoceros, it has been discovered, may be made practically immune from certain skin diseases by the liberal application of oil. Every prize rhino, therefore, is given oil baths in the summer.

As a matter of fact the well run zoo has developed somewhat the same sort of schedule as a sanatorium for human beings. Each animal guest of the establishment is charted, registered and submitted to periodical inspections. Having paid civilization the tribute of taking up its diseases the beasts of the field and the hill are demanding and getting the refinements of medical attention that civilization affords.

PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH

Mr. Dallyn replied that five years ago the Board had consented to an activated sludge plan. But the city engineer (swayed by council, perhaps, changes his opinion, and we have to assume our authority. "Our opinion would be taken by experts before that of your engineer," he declared.

Ald. Whtiehouse—"Yes, you order us to spend the ratepayers money on your own plan whether we want to or not."

Disposal of Sludge.

To Alderman Hamilton Mr.Dallyn answered that the activated sludge could be disposed of as fertilizer for lawns, for instance.

Engineer Parsons—"Sludge disposal is a difficult problem but that from the Imhoff tank is easier to de-water and handle than sludge from the activated plant. We know of the advantages and disadvantages of the Imhoff principle; but thase of the activated we do not." Mr. Parsons denied that he had been swayed by council in any respect and reiterated his contention that the activated sludge plan is an experiment yet.

The cost of the Imhoff tank system was here given as $320,000, as against $245,000 for an activated sludge plant, but Engineer Parsons claimed that the latter costs far more to operate and maintain.

The Mayor here practically endorsed the Provincial Boards position and was impressed with the initial saving of $80,000 in favor of the activated sludge proposition.

Ald. Hay wanted to know were there any adverse information concerning the Imhoff plan after negotiations had been opened, and was answered in the negative. Mr. Dallyn's preference for the activated sludge plant was based merely on what he considered economic grounds.

Some Trouble.

Mr. Dallyn admitted that some municipalities had experienced trouble wtih the activated sludge process, which, however, had given entire satisfaction at the government's experimental stations, and which he considered to be a superior plant at practically the same expenditure over all as the Imhoff plan.

In a rather heated discussion, Mr. Dallyn asserted that at the meeting between the city's committee and the Minister of Public Works—at which he was present—it was agreed that the city might "submit an alternative plan to an activated sludge."

Ald. Whitehouse—"We did not need to ask your permission to draw plans. I claim you gave us the privilege to build an Imhoff plant porviding we installed a complete sprinkler apparatus."

Both the Mayor and City Engineer concurred in that contention.

Mr. Dallyn here took exception to this city setting its engineer's opinion above that of the Provincial Board.

To Ald. Hamilton, Mr. Dallyn replied that he knew of no activated sludge plant having difficulty in disposing of the sludge, although there is some little touble in drying it But even when it is turned out wet it will dry in ten days and he did not see why in Peterboro sludge could be disposed off for agricultural purposes as in Rochester.

Other Advice.

Ald. Whitehouse—"Other engineers have advised against the activated sludge proposition."

Mr. Dallyn—"How much did you pay them?"

Ald. Whitehouse—"Nothing."

Mr. Dallyn asserted that engineering advice not paid for is not worth much.

Ald. Phelan—"I understand the man in charge of the Milwaukee activated sludge plant advises against it."

Mr. Dallyn replied that he had not heard Mr. Hatton assert himself at the conference in New York when the principle was under discussion.

Order Stands.

Ald Whitehouse—"You still insist on that process for Peterborough?"

Mr. Dallyn—"That is the last order of the Board."

Ald. Whitehouse—"I, for one, do not feel like spending money on it without submitting the question to the people."

Mr. Dallyn—"You have only to advise the people that you are recommended to install the activated sludge plan."

Ald. Whitehouse—"Our engineer recommends the Imhoff plant and we couldn't look to him were we to install the other system and anything went wrong with it."

After a last complaint from Mr. Dallyn of the vacillating policy of the Peterborough council the controversy ended with the matter being left in abeyance for the moment.

Vote of Thanks.

On motion of Ald. Gainey and Whitehouse, a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Dallyn for his attendance.

STRAY SHEEP ON WATER STREET

Locked up securely in the pig run that leads to the weigh scales, D. Maloney, market clerk, had two demure old ewes this morning, apparently saved from the shivering blasts by warm coats of wool.

From his look-out across Water street at 8.45 to-day Mr. Maloney sighted two sheep wandering down Water street at a leisurely gait and no good shepherd in the rear. The ewes appeared lost, and realizing his duty, with the aid of a policeman and sundry others, the sheep were easily captured and imprisoned. At 11.30 no owner had claimed them, and visions of a leg of mutton were beginning to loom up in Mr. Maloney's mind. He resisted the temptation, however, although if an owner does not turn up in a day or two the temptation may become too strong.

PETERBOROUGH MALE VOICE CHOIR.

The weekly practice of the above organisation was held on Tuesday evening in the Greene Music Studio, and was well attended. Several new members were present, and the manner in which some of the new compositions were rendered was a striking acknowledgment of the all-round improvement in every section of the choir.

The rehearsal occupied a little over an hour's time, and the remainder of the evening was left in the hands of the Social Committee, who had provided a light lunch, and needless to say, the good things provided were soon on the "missing list." Some of the members besides possessing good voices, also possess equally good appetites. The members had a splendid opportunity of getting better acquainted with each other through the efforts of the Social Committee—Messrs. Bush, Ridyard, Renwick, and Rome. Come again; your work was appreciated.

LABORATORY IS NEARLY READY

TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH OF EQUIPMENT WILL BE INSTALLED.

In about a week's time the Provincial laboratory in this city which will serve this district will be opened with Dr. A. Y. McNair in charge.

The laboratory is located in the upper storey of the city hall in quarters that were long vacated and left to the rats and spiders. In no way, however, is it possible now to connect the modern effect with the dusty old rooms of yore. C. H. Huffman and Sons have altered the flat and commodious airy and well lighted quarters await the occupation by the laboratory staff.

The alterations and furnishings have been carried out at a contract price of $5,500 and the equipment of which part has already arrived will cost about $10,000 it is stated.

FRENCH PREMIER SATISFIED WITH WORK OF PARLEY

WASHINGTON, November 24 (Canadian Press). — Premier Briand was embraced on both cheeks before he left for New York, by M. Viviani, who will now head the Fench delegation.

Briand expressed himself as "quite satisfied with the results of the conference so far, and especially as respects France."

LONDON, November 24 (Canadian Press). — Earl Curzon, speaking here to-day, declared that if France pursued an isolated and individual policy of her own, she would not in the long run injure Germany, and would fail to protect herself.

"The real strength and protection of France," he said, "does not consist in the strength of her arms, potent as they are. It consisted in the fact that the conscience of the world would not tolerate the reappearance in the heart of Europe of a great and dangerous Power that was always rattling its sword in the scabbard to the menace of peace."

WASHINGTON, November 24 (Canadian Press). — Lord Lee, of the British delegation, is to-day confined to his bed with a chill.

BARGAINS BEHIND THIS PUNCH!

THORNTON BROS. PREPARING TO GIVE PRICES A BIG WALLOP

Men will surely be particularly interested in the clothing event which is in preparation at the Semi-ready Store of Thornton Bros., George street, beginning Saturday. All prices are doomed to get a black eye. It is to be no short jab, either, but a knock-out blow that will send regular values to the floor. Watch for the big bold announcement in Friday's Examiner, and get out your wallets and pay envelopes for lucky speculation. Sort of a tough tackling of high-class garments and swell haberdashery, but the bout must go on—money savings is the lever that should draw the crowds.

ELECTION NEWS

INCORPORATE TO RAISE ELECTION FUNDS.

WINNIPEG, November 24 (Canadian Press). — To enable the National Progressive Party to collect and sport moneys contributed for political purposes without falling foul of the Elections Act, the New National Policy Committee has been incorporated under the laws of Manitoba. Announcement of incorporation is made in the Manitoba Gazette, and the capital stock is placed at $5,000 in shares of $5.00 each.

JOHN A. DEWART MEETING.

Capt. John A. Dewart, the Liberal candidate for East Peterborough, held a successful meeting at Zion School-House last evening that was presided over by Mr. E. Deyell. In addition to the candidate, Mr. Jos. Wearing, ex-Warden W. A. Anderson and R. R. Hall, ex-M.P., addressed the meeting.

Cap. Dewart stated that the Progressive party had its origin in the three Prairie Provinces, and that its leaders, the Hon. T. A. Crerar and Mr. Wood, of Missouri, and other immigrants from the Western States are trying to impose their views upon Eastern Canada.

These Western leaders are trying to get legislation through at Ottawa that is chiefly in the interest of the farmers living in the Prairie Provinces, where farming conditions are wholly different from those that prevail in Eastern Canada. If effect is given to such legislation, it would have the effect of increasing the burdens of taxation upon those who live in Eastern Canada, and the burden that Eastern Canada is now bearing is now unduly heavy owing to the abnormal railway building that has taken place west of the Great Lakes.

The Canadian people in the past have been altogether too generous to Western Canada in contributing enormous sums to build three Transcontinental lines through the Prairie Provinces in order to give them first-class railway facilities, and the enormous losses in the operation of Canadian railways that are now being borne by Eastern Canada are largely due to the liberal contributions that were made to the railways in Western Canada.

These Western politicians, of which Mr. Crerar and Mr. Wood are at the head, now seek to get through legislation at Ottawa that is not in the interests of, but is against the interest of the Ontario farmer and our industrial centres of population.

"The policy of the Liberal party," said Capt. Dewart, "is to deal justly and fairly with all classes in this country and with every province. The North-West Provinces have been dealt with generously by the Liberal party in the past, and will, I have no doubt, be dealt fairly with in the future. They have, however, no right to impose their views upon the farmers of the Province of Ontario which will have the effect, either directly or indirectly, of imposing extra burdens of taxation upon the Ontario farmer and upon its industrial centres of population."

"Mr. King, the Liberal leader," said Capt. Dewart, "stands upon the principle of the tariff policy that was inaugurated by the Hon. Wm. Fielding in 1896, which brought to Canada 15 years of unexampled prosperity, and I have no doubt that the Hon. Wm. Fielding will again be the Finance Minister of this country, who will apply these same principles to the changed conditions that have taken place, owing to our great national debt of $2,500,000,000."

The present tariff is wholly out of date. During this last ten years 819,000 Canadians have found homes in the United States. If such a condition continues, who is going to be left behind to pay off our national debt and our annual interest charge of $140,000,000 per annum? The tariff must be brought up to date as it was in 1896, and turn the tide of immigration toward Canada to develop its great national resources in agriculture, in mining, in forests and in fisheries. "It is impossible to accomplish that result," said Capt. Dewart, "by having class rule established in this country by Mr. Crerar and Mr. Wood and his politicians from the United States, who are seeking to rule over Eastern Canada and govern Canada in the interests of those living in the Western Province and at the expense of those who live in the East."

"I hope, therefore," said Capt. Dewart, "that on the 6th of December the electors of East Peterborough will record their votes in favor of the policy of the Liberal party, which will, as certainly in the future as in the past, bring prosperity to all classes, no matter where they live, whether it be in our cities, towns, villages or country."

At the 4th line of Smith township last evening, Mr. Edward Archer occupied the chair. Mr. J. H. Burnham began by quoting Mr. Gordon's remarks on the government-owned merchant marine, where he said—"Yes, with the exception of the merchant marine, which is competing with the Canadian lines. . . ." The speaker said that if the farmers and exporters of Canadian products ever again gave up their own government owned lines, both on sea and land, and became the victims of the Atlantic Shipping Pool and other combines, they would deserve what they could get.

Mr. R. Denne dealt at length with the tariff and the necessity of keeping the home markets as all other countries are now doing.

Mr. J. F. Strickland spoke of the necessity of the people taking increased interest at the polls and elsewhere in their own affairs.

The meeting concluded with the usual cheers.

MEETING AT CENTREVILLE.

Mr. G. N. Gordon and a party of speakers were at Centreville last night and had a most interesting meeting.

Mr. E. M. Elliott said that he was a Progressive last time, but felt that there was no Progressive in the field, and he should support Mr. Gordon, whose policy, he felt, was nearer that of the Progressive Party than the reactionary policy of Mr Burnham. He dealt with the matter of the Fordney tariff and how it had cut off a market for the Canadian farmer for his surplus product, which the home market was not sufficient to use. Mr. Elliott also dealt with many instances of use and extravagance on the part of the government and said that it was the attitude of every person opposed to misgovernment and mismanagement to support those forces opposed to the government.

Mr. Gordon dealt with the Riordon scandal showing how the Canadian people had lost $800,000. Mr. Gordon said that Mr. Strickland and Mr. McElderry who were appearing on Mr. Burnham's platform, had jobs in the Meighen Government, as Mr. McElderry was the prosecutor in cases of breach of the income tax; and Mr. Strickland searched titles for the government, in any cases where the government was interested in Peterborough.

Mr. Gordon dealt with Mr. Burnham's attacks upon Mr. Crerar and the Farmers' Party, and said that the Progressive Party had the right to a reasonable representation, if they desired, and that Mr. Burnham who was now fighting against what he called "class constitutions" was the very man who had appealed to class more than any other man in this part of the province. Mr. Gordon went on to show how Mr. Burnham had now accepted holus bolus, the labor platform, when for ten years he had not introduced any legislation in support of the working man. He had at one time introduced a discussion of the eight hour a day system. But immediately he withdrew that when it began to embarrass the government, and threw down the workingman whom he should have supported.

Mr. Gordon said that when the government lost $800,000 in taxation of the Riordon Co., it fined the men and firms of Smith and Harvey townships, and immediately after the election the government prosecutor would go after the rest of the men who had not made an income tax reports even if they had no tax to pay.

Athletic Theatre Night

SOMETHING UNIQUE IN PETERBOROUGH'S SPORTING AFFAIRS AT THE CAPITOL TO-NIGHT.

WHY YOU SHOULD COME

This is athletic night at the Capitol Theatre.

Every member of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association is, of course, expected to be present, unless some imperative engagement intervenes.

And every other citizen who is in sympathy with the Association's aims to promote more and better athletics in Peterborough should make it a point to attend.

There shouldn't be one empty seat in the theatre.

All over Ontario athletic associations are springing up overnight. Peterborough started before the rush, and with its "second wind" has settled down to real endeavour.

Men from all walks of the city's life have shown that they are in full accord with this co-ordinated effort to bring sports in Peterborough under a "unified command."

Direction would be a better word than command, and more nearly expresses the aims of the P. A. A. A.

Everything the P. A. A. A. has touched so far has been a success. Let's chalk up another to-night. Your presence will be a sign of your goodwill and of your approval of the P. A. A. A.

It's your Association just as much as it is any other citizen's, whether he be a member or not.

One of these days the membership will include everybody but those who imagine that hockey is still "shinny on your own side," lacrosse and rugby forms of suicide, and tennis a diversion for sissies.

Come on out to-night and get an introduction to Mr. Walter Smaill, Peterborough's Director of Atheticsl

And likewise meet Sheriff Paxton, treasurer of the O. H. A., and Mr. W. A. Hewitt, the secretary. They are going to talk on sporting subjects, probably with special reference to hockey.

Everybody knows by reputation "Billy" Hewitt, sporting editor of the Toronto Star. The stamp of his personality shows on all branches of sport in Ontario, but particularly on hockey as governed by the O.H.A.

A crowded house to-night will assure Sheriff Paxton and Mr. Hewitt that Peterborough and the P. A. A. A. whole-heartedly endorse their policies and share their ideals of athletics.

The Football Association should be largely represented.

Why shouldn't a lot of the curlers be there? The motion is carried.

By the way, this is a chance to make it a father and son affair. If you want the boy to get a little lesson in the sporting spirit bring him along.

And finally, this isn't supposed to be a "stag party."

SECOND CARNIVAL DECIDED SUCCESS

NUMBER OF THOSE IN COSTUME AND CLASS OF COSTUMES BEST EVER SEEN IN THE CITY.

The second of the series of carnivals under the auspices of the Peterborough Roller Academy and also the last of the season, was held last evening and those in attendance saw a large number of very excellent costumes, in fact it was declared to be the best masquerade carnival ever held in the city, and the judges, who were appointed by the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, found it very difficult to make their selections. The prizes were awarded as follows:

Lady Fancy Costume — Miss Gladys Watson, jockey.

Gentleman Fancy Costume— Mr. Fawcett, Indian Chief.

Lady Comic Costume — Miss Louise Edwards, Topsy.

Gentleman Comic Costume—Mr. J. Spenceley, organ grinder.

The management of the Roller Academy desire to thank all those who came in costume, other skaters and spectators for making the two carnivals so successful.

DIES CYCLING UP A HILL IN SMITH

CHARLES M'KEE COLLAPSED FROM HEART FAILURE

While cycling up a hill near the R. A. Garbutt farm in Smith township last evening, Charles McKee, 213 King street, collapsed and died of heart failure. He was found about 9 o'clock last evening beside the road. At the time of his death he was on his way to visit Arthur Franks, of Smith.

Mr. McKee was born in Ireland, coming to Canada in 1913. He was 36 years of age and is survived by his wife and one child four years of age, of this city, and his mother, three brothers and three sisters, residing in Ireland.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. A. MacKenzie officiating. Interment in Little Lake cemetery.

40,000 UNEMPLOYED IN ST. MAURICE DISTRICT.

QUEBEC, Iovember 24 (Canadian Press). — That 40,000 men are without employment in the St. Maurice District, and that unless immediate steps were taken to give them work, many of them were exposed to starvation, were the representations made to Pemier Taschereau yesterday by Henri Ortize, manager of the City of Grand Mere, and Henri Valiquette, manager of Shawinigan. The two representatives of these industrial centres claimed that the closing of the lumber camps and the decrease in wages had brought the climax in the situation, and that something had to be done immediately.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

NEW PRINCIPAL APPOINTED FOR THE PUBLIC SCHOOL IN CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, November 24. At a recent meeting of the Board of Education, Mr. Charles Haig, Principal of the Marmora public school, was appointed principal of the Campbellford public school, to succeed Mr. C. A. Moore, who was forced through ill health to discontinue teaching, and will assume his new duties in January. Mr. Haig is well and favorably known in town and township, having attended a public school in Seymour township, and is a graduate of our high school. He has always had marked success as a teacher and will no doubt fill his new poosition most acceptably.

Mr. John Fry of Peterboro is in town on business this week.

Mrs. Atwood and sister, Miss L. Reynolds spent a few days in Toronto this week.

Drs. E. J. Free and Fred Free, with the four other members of their party, who were hunting at Lake St. Peter, not far from Algonquin Park, brought home six fine deer.

Rev. Father Phelan's bazaar which closed last night, was a big success. The interest and enthusiasm of the second day's proceedings even exceeded that of the first day. One could almost imagine himself among the jostle in the midway. There seemed to be no end to the dainty and useful articles, which Mr. McFadden of Peterboro, at his wheel of fortune, handed out to the eager crowd. Mr. Woods at the Kewpie doll booth was also again a busy man, while the ladies in the tea room catered to the wishes of the many who partook of the dainty refreshments.

The drawings for the prize drawing were made by Councillor Wiggins, who blindfolded drew from the churn the following being the prizes with the winners.

1. A pair of pigs, won by Mr. H. R. Tinker, Campbellford.
2. Five pound box of chocolates, won by Adrian Coveney, Campbellford.
3. Cushion, donated by Miss Cassie Shannon, won by Mrs. George Horkins.

Drawings for Grand Prizes.

1. $25 in gold or its equivalent, donated by Father Phelan, won by Miss Anna Scullev Downie street, Peterboro.
2. $20 in gold, donated by C. M. B A., won by Cornelius Young, Peterboro.
3. Gold filled watch, worth $14.50, donated by Mr. Thomas Lavell, won by George Robertson, Hunter street, Peterboro.
4. Reading lamp, value $12.50, donated by J. C. Birmingham, won by R. Macdonald (power house) Campbellford.
5. $10 gold piece, donated by Mrs. P. J. Kelly, won by Mr. Joseph Boudoin, Campbellford.
10. A gold piece donated by Mr. S. H. Neals, manager of the Union Bank, won by J. R. Galvin, Lake street, Peterboro.
7. Goods to the value of $10, donated by Mr. F. W. Wood, won by Leona Forestell, Madoc.
8. Goods valued at $10, donated by T. J. Hopkins, won by De Salles Sculley, Peterboro.
9. Boys' suit, value $10, donated by Linton Bros., won by Mr. Fitzpatrick, Rubidge street, Peterboro.
10. $10 gold donated by George O'Sullivan, won by Samuel Bibby, R. R. No. 2, Hastings.
11. 1-2 dozen Rogers' silver knives and forks, value $8.50, donated by T. S. Tait and Son, won by Rev. Father Whibbs.
12. Silk Paisley scarf, value $8.50, donated by J. B. Ferris estate, won by Simeon Viger, Lawrence, Mass., U.S.A.
13. Ladies' waist, value $5, donated by Carnahan and Co., won by Rev. Father Whibbs, Lindsay.
14. Ladies' waist, value $6.50, donated by E. C. Dolman, won by Jas. Healey, Lindsay.
15. 1-2 ton coal, donated by P. J. Kelley, won by W. H. Casement, postmaster, Lakefield.
16. Bag flour, value $6, donated by Peterboro Cereal Co., Campbellford, won by F. A. Burgar, Campbellford.
7. $5 gold donated by Mr. C. H. Harris, manager Bank of Montreal, won by Mr. Hincks Hickey, Peterboro.
8. $5 worth good donated by Peter Corkery, won by E. Coveney Campbellford.
1. Other drawings, Box Candy, won by William Keating, Campbellford.
2. Silk Comforter won by Mrs. James McEvoy Campbellford.
3. Dressed Goose, won by W. J. Morris Campbellford.
4. Drawing Pair Fancy Pillow Cases donated by Mrs. Thos. McAvoy won by Miss Mary McGrath.
5. Centre Piece donated by Peterboro friends and tickets all sold in Peterboro won by Miss Mary Keeler, Boswell stret, Peterboro.
6. Cushion donated by Father Phelan won by Mrs. Duncan Kerr, Campbellford.

After the bazaar was concluded the floors were cleared and the local orchestra furnished excellent music for the dance.

Rev. Father Phelan and the congregation of St. Mary's Church are to be congratulated upon the great success attending their bazaar.

Some of the out of town guests noted at the bazaar on Tuesday were Rev. Father McAuley, Rev. Father Galvin of Ennismore, Rev. Father J. O'Sullivan of Wooler and Rev. Father Frank O'Sullivan of Port Hope.

Box Social.

A box social will be held in the English line school, Seymour East, on Friday night, Nov. 25. An excellent programme is being provided and no doubt there will be a full house.

KEENE NEWS HAPPENINGS

FUNERAL OF JOHN LANG TOOK PLACE YESTERDAY

KEENE, Nov. 24.—The funeral of the late John Lang was held at the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon at 1.30 p.m. and was the largest in the community since the death of Rev. Andrews. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Archibald, assisted by Rev. D. A. Thompson, of Hastings and Rev. W. E. Honey, of Keene. The following telegram was read by Mr. Archibald from Rev. W. H. Andrews of Toronto:

Regret that previous engagement prevents my being present to-day. Mr. Lang will be greatly missed in both church and community. He was one who gave his substance to the poor. His sympathy to the suffering, his strength to the week, his heart to God.

The pall-bearers were D. Armstrong, O. W. Shearer, W. A. Anderson, John Renwick, John Connall, Robert Wilson.

Following the services the remains were conveyed to Fife's cemetery and laid to rest.

Those attending the funeral from out-of-town were: Mrs. James Stewart, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Sink, of Toronto.

Personals.

Mrs. Mary Edwards spent a few days last week with Peterborough friends.

Mrs. W. R. Wedlock went shopping in Peterborough on Tuesday.

Mrs. S. T. Wedlock and Mrs. Edward Cronk of Toronto, are home on account of the illness of their father, Mr. William Kempt.

Mrs. E. Braden has returned home from Havelock, where she has been visiting friends.

Quite a number of our young people attended the U.F.W.O. ladies' concert and supper at Zion on Friday evening and report it to have been an enjovable affair.

Messrs. William Wellman and father, Alfred and Wilfrid Fletcher, Alfred Kempt and Fred Watkins and Vernon Ellis returned on Monday from their hunting trip. They were successful in bringing home only one deer.

Mr. C. Ellis was in Peterborough on Tuesday.

Mr. William Fletcher was in Hastings a few days this week duck shooting.

Miss Garside of Peterborough, spent the week end with Miss Belle Macfarlane.

Miss Mina Henderson of Peterborough, visited over the week end at the home of her uncle, Mr. James Henderson.

Miss Margaret Bohn spent the week end at the home of her father Mr. J. Bohn.

Mrs. Harold Roche and little daughter returned home on Monday from Peterborough, where they had been visiting friends.

Mr. William Wellman was in Marmora on Monday.

Thieves are apparently busy in the village as some time between Saturday night and Monday morning an attempt had been made to break the lock on the front door of Fletcher Bros.' store.

The U.F.W.O. ladies of Zion and Mathers Corners repeated their concert given at Zion on Friday night, in the town hall, Keene on Tuesday evening. A good crowd was in attendance and the door receipts netted the ladies about $45.

Miss Martha James west shopping in Peterborough on Wednesday.

Messrs. Leo and Joseph Foley spent Sunday evening in Lang.

Mr. William Wellman was in Peterborough Wednesday on business.

VILLAGE OF BRONTE BURNING; CALL FOR HELP

HAMILTON, Nov. 23.— (Canadian Press.)—The village of Bronte is in flames. The Hamilton fire department received a call for assistance about seven o'clock this morning.

Constipation

It is a disease-producing malady, and if not corrected may result in serious complications. In good health the bowels should move freely at least once every day, carrying away the waste products from the Blood and Liver. If this function fails or is irregular, the work of removing the poisons falls on the Skin and Kidneys, with the result of the latter organs becoming congested and clogged. The Blood becomes poisoned, Indigestion sets in, the Kidneys become deranged, and a severe if not fatal illness is brought on. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS correct this trouble by its action on the Liver, causing a healthy flow of Bile, and exerting a soothing and toning influence on the whole Intestinal Track.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets are put up in three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00 per Box. For sale at Warne's Drug Store, Peterborough.

TELEGRAPHIC AND CAELE NEWS

SAYS GRAIN GROWERS' COMPANY NOW A COMBINE.

MOOSEJAW, November 24 (Canadian Press). — E. A. Partridge, of Sintaluta, addressing No. 1 District Grain Growers' delegates and members of the Progressive Party, including R. W. Johnson, the Progressive candidate here, last night, declared that many of the great agrarian movements had lost touch with the idea for which they were conceived. The Grain Growers' Grain Company, now the United Grain Growers' Grain Company, with Hon. T. A. Crerar as its president, he declared, was not the same organisation which had been conceived at the outset. To-day it was a combine opposed to the wheat board, and the speaker asked whether the farmers ever noticed the company fighting abuses. He declared it had become a payer of dividends and not a fighter for the common people.

SAY FREIGHT RATE CUT HAS ARRIVED TOO LATE

WINNIPEG, Nov. 24.—(Canadian Press)—Too late to be of any benefit to the crop movement this year" was the comment of local business men on the ten per cent freight reduction announced by the Board of Railway Commissioners Tuesday.

"So far as I can judge the order is the same order the Board of Railway Commissioners, by a vote of three to two refused to put into effect in September", said H. J. Symington, K.C. counsel for Manitoba and Saskatchewan in the freight rates case in an interview here "In the meantime the railways rushed the grain crop to the lake ports with unprecedented speed while the maximum rates were in effect", he added. "The order is gratifying to the extent", said Mr. Symington, "and only to the extent that it is a reduction."

SHERBROOKE IS BADLY DISAPPOINTED

SHERBROOKE, Que. Nov. 24. —(Canadian Press). — Sherbrooke citizens have been delighted at the prospects of having Marshal Foch as a visitor on December 13, and great preparations have been in progress for a reception to the noted generalissimo. It turns out, however, that Marshal Foch will only be here for five minutes and at such an hour—three o'clock in the morning—that there will be no occasion for an extended welcome. This fact is creating much disappointment.

SLADE AT CAMPBELLFORD

Fred J. Slade, U.F.O. candidate in Northumberland, will open the last week of his campaign with a meeting in Campbellford on Monday night. Senator Turriff of Assinboia, James C. Campbell of South Monaghan and Mrs. Vair of Toronto will assist him. On Saturday night he is due at Roseneath. F. E. Ellis of Peterboro will speak with him there.

"BULL-DOG DRUMMOND"

BY "SAPPER" (CYRIL McNEILE)

"Which, at present, you have not. Right; now we know where we are." A pained expression flitted over the doctor's face: this young man was very direct.

"To continue," Hugh went on, "as you don't know what the drug is, presumably you don't know either how long it will take for the effect to wear off."

"That—er—is, within limits, correct," conceded the doctor.

"Right; once again we know where we are. What about diet?"

"Oh! light. . . . Not too much meat . . . No alcohol . . ." He rose to his feet as Hugh opened the door; really the war seemed to have produced a distressing effect on people's manners. Diet was the one question on which he always let himself go. . . .

"Not much meat—no alcohol. Right. Good morning, doctor. Down the stairs and straight on. Good morning." The door closed behind him, and he descended to his waiting car with cold disapproval on his face. The whole affair struck him as most suspicious—thumbscrews, strange drugs. . . . Possibly it was his duty to communicate with the police. . . .

"Excuse me, sir." The doctor paused and eyed a well-dressed man who had spoken to him uncompromisingly.

"What can I do for you, sir?" he said.

"Am I right in assuming that you are a doctor?"

"You are perfectly correct, sir, in your assumption."

The man smiled: obviously a gentleman, thought the practitioner, with his hand on the door of his car.

"It's about a great pal of mine, Captain Drummond, who lives in here", went on the other. "I hope you wont think it unprofessional, but I thought I'd ask you privately, how you find him."

The doctor looked surprised. "I wasn't aware that he was ill," he answered.

"But I heard he'd had a bad accident," said the man, amazed.

The doctor smiled. "Reassure yourself, my dear sir," he murmured in his best professional manner. "Captain Drummond, so far as I am aware, has never been better. I—er—cannot say the same of his friend." He stepped into his car. "Why not go up and see for yourself?"

The car rolled smoothly into Piccadilly, but the man showed no signs of availing himself of the doctor's suggestion. He turned and walked rapidly away, and a few moments later—in an exclusive West End club—a trunk call was put through to Godalming—a call which caused the recipient to nod his head in satisfaction and order the Rolls-Royce.

Meanwhile, unconscious of this sudden solicitude for his health, Hugh Drummond was once more occupied with the piece of paper he had been studying on the doctor's entrance. Every now and then he ran his fingers through his crisp brown hair and shook his head in perplexity. Beyond establishing the fact that the man in the peculiar condition was Hiram C. Potts, the American multi-millionaire, he could make nothing out of it.

'If only I'd managed to get the whole of it," he muttered to himself for the twentieth time. "That dam' fellah Peterson was too quick." The scrap he had torn off was typewritten, save for the American's scrawled signature, and Hugh knew the words by heart.

At length he replaced the scrap in his pocket-book and rang the bell.

"James," he remarked as his servant came in, "will you whisper 'very little meat and no alcohol' in your wife's ear, so far as the bird next door is concerned? Fancy paying a doctor to come round and tell one that!"

"Did he say nothing more,?"

"Oh! a lot. But that was the only thing of the slightest practical use, and I knew that already." He stared thoughtfully out of the window. "You'd better know," he continued at length, "that as far as I can see we're up against a remarkably tough proposition."

"Indeed sir," murmured his servant. "Then perhaps I had better stop any further insertion of that advertisement. It works out at six shillings a time."

Drummond burst out laughing. "What could I do without you, oh! my James," he cried. "But you may as well stop it. Our hands will be quite full for some time to come, and I hate disappointing hopeful applicants for my services."

THANKSGIVING IN THE U. S. TO-DAY

CELEBRATION IN NEW YORK MARKED BY VISIT OF PREMIER BRIAND.

NEW RORK, Nov. 24.— (Canadian Press.)—Thanksgiving Day is being quietly celebrated to-day throughout the United States. The feature here was the visit of Premier Briand on his way home. During the day he will receive honorary degrees from Columbia and New York Universities and to-night he is expected to deliver his farewell message to the American people.

of rinks of different sizes. This motion, however, was lost and the original recommendation passed Council.

Ald. Turner, in support of his resolution, did not think the site in East City sufficiently central to warrant an expenditure of between $3,000 and $4,000 on a rink there. Such a sum, he urged ,might better be applied on rinks distributed over the city.

Ald. Gainey was strong for the East City rink, and Ald. Whitehouse characterized the corner of Hunter and Burnham streets as an ideal site for a skating rink, which would be particularly adaptable for serving the whole city as well as residents across the bridge.

Ald. Jones thought the estimated cost too high. The plan should have been put into effect earlier in the season, he said, before frost set in, necessitating additional expense for levelling down.

Ald. Phelan approved of a rink in East City, but balked at the estimated cost for the project in question, and suggested that the City Engineer submit, perhaps off hand, the cost of a more modest rink than proposed—say in the neighborhood of $200. People in Ashburnham, he urged, should have opportunity for good winter sport—hockey, skating and such like.

Ald. Whitehouse and Gainey's motion that the report, providing for the rink at the corner of Hunter and Burnham streets be adopted here carried ,and the work will be proceeded with.

By-laws Passed.

To enter into agreements with W. J. Stinson, A. Deal, Herbert Cooney, G. Sexsmith, D. Conroy and H. W. Kerr for the removal of snow and slush during the season 1921-22.

To authorize the construction of a sidewalk on the east side of Monaghan road from Elm street to Murray street.

To authorize the construction of the nine sections of sewers reported on by the Engineer as feasible for construction during the winter months, at a cost of $19,138.72 under the local improvement act.

To authorize the construction of a sewer on Walton street from Cambridge street to Monaghan road, by day labor. This is to serve Mt. St. Joseph.

There were present: Mayor A. A. McIntyre, Aldermen Harry Gainey, Robt. Morrison Joseph Crowe, T. J. Turner, James Hamilton, Robert N. Jones, G. L. Hay, Nagle Phelan and Frank Whitehouse.

ORDER GRAIN PROBE TO RESUME MONDAY

Mr. Justice Hyndman Notifies Commissioners to Attend at Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 23.— (Canadian Press.)—Resumption of sittings of the Royal Grain Inquiry will commence here Monday, and Commissioners of the Board have been requested to resume their duties by Mr. Justice Hyndman, Chairman, in a wire sent to his fellow-members on the Commission. Commissioner W. D. Staples made this announcement, stating that he had been advised by Mr. Justice Hyndman that the Commission would be reconvened on Monday, November 28. Asked as to what line of inquiry the Commission would first pursue, Mr. Staples said that that was a matter to be decided when the Commission reconvened.

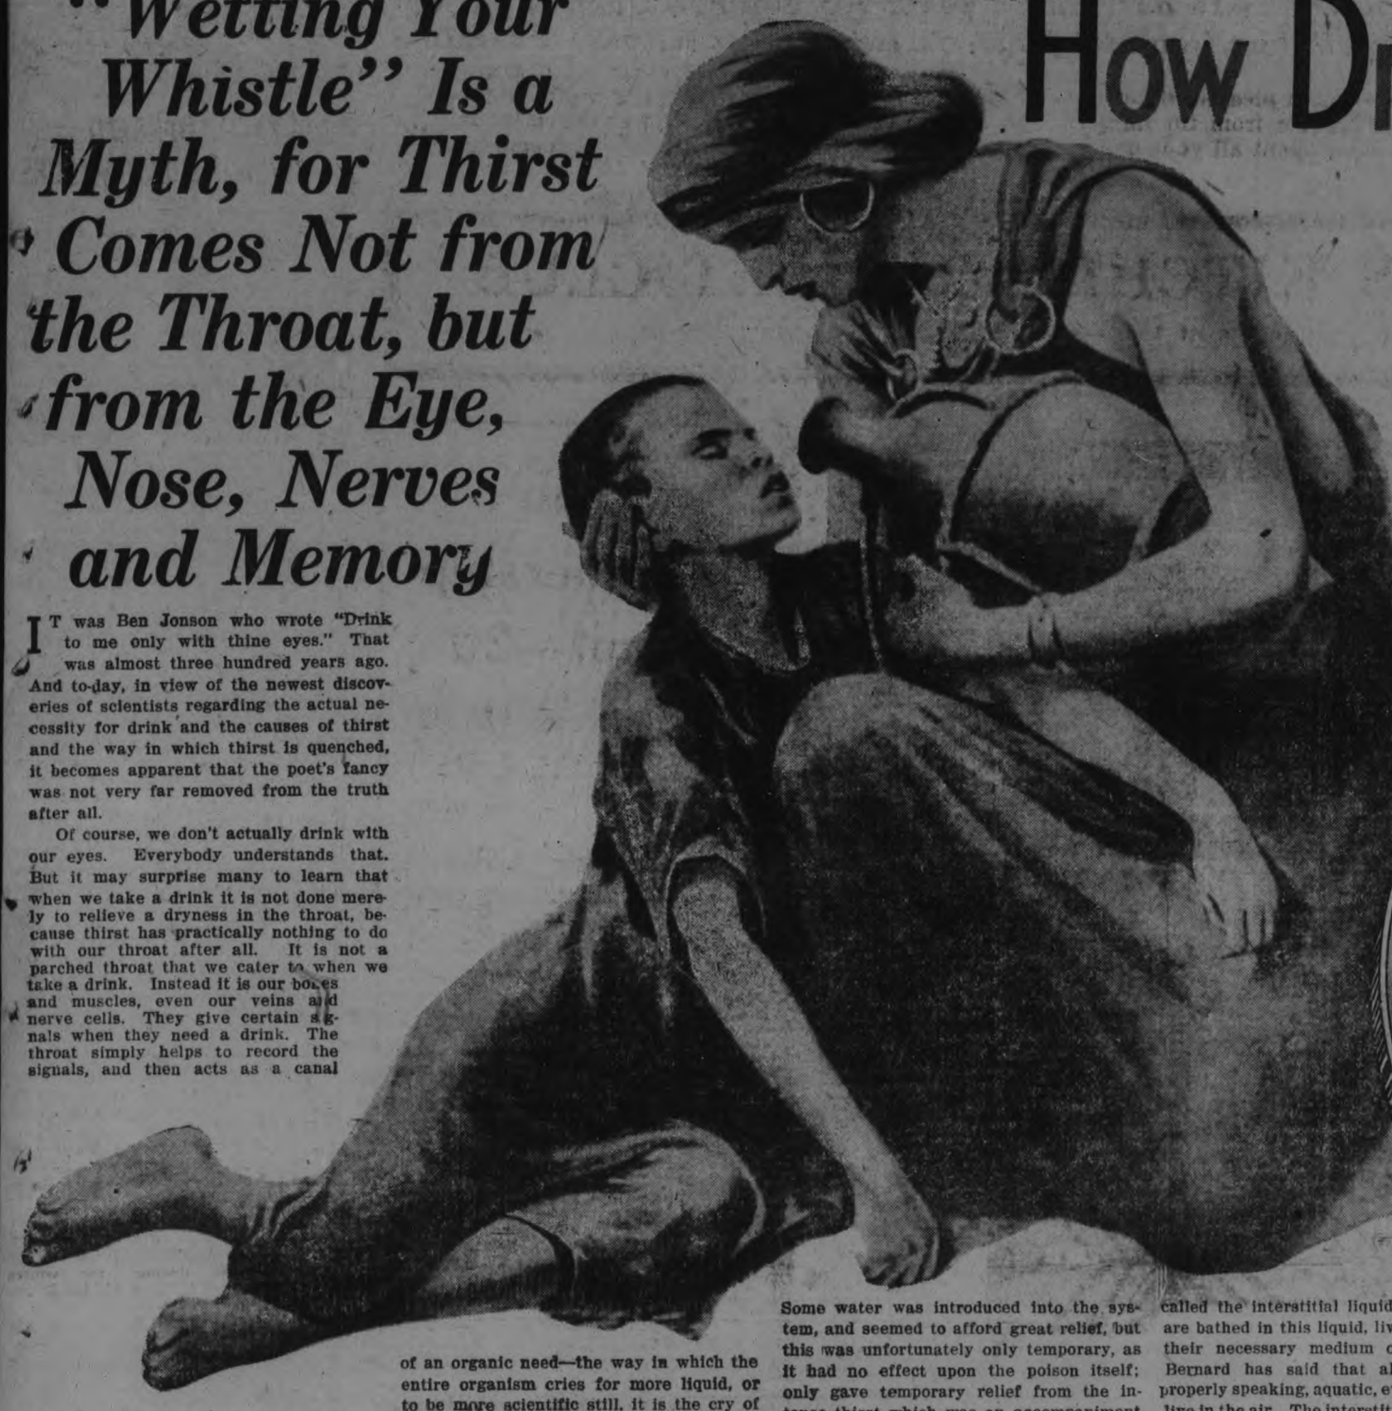
Science Analyzes the Emotion Behind "How Dry I Am!"

"Wetting Your Whistle" Is a Myth, for Thirst Comes Not from the Throat, but from the Eye, Nose, Nerves and Memory



A Classic and Dramatic Interpretation of Thirst, As Presented in the Biblical Painting, "Hagar and Ishmael," by Mme. Virginie Demont-Breton.

Every Bone in Our Body Contains These Microscopic Canals, Each Conveying Its Quota of Nourishing Water to the Bone Fibre.

When We Are Compelled to Abstain from Water, the Bone Canals Become Dry and Our Bones Begin to Shrink.

Thirst Shrivels Our Nerve Cells Exactly as Shown at Left Under the Microscope and Then They Need Water to Restore Them to Activity.

IT was Ben Jonson who wrote "Drink to me only with thine eyes." That was almost three hundred years ago. And to-day, in view of the newest discoveries of scientists regarding the actual necessity for drink and the causes of thirst and the way in which thirst is quenched, it becomes apparent that the poet's fancy was not very far removed from the truth after all.

Of course, we don't actually drink with our eyes. Everybody understands that. But it may surprise many to learn that when we take a drink it is not done merely to relieve a dryness in the throat, because thirst has practically nothing to do with our throat after all. It is not a parched throat that we cater to when we take a drink. Instead it is our bones and muscles, even our veins and nerve cells. They give certain signals when they need a drink. The throat simply helps to record the signals, and then acts as a canal through which liquid refreshment is conveyed to the various parts of the body, where it will do us the most good—or harm. Much depends, of course, on the quantity, quality and temperature of the liquor imbibed.

With these facts as a basis, a body of notable scientists including Dr. Andre Meyer, of Paris, Sir Thomas Fraser, of London and Prof. Carl Richet, of Berlin, have agreed by analytical deduction that thirst is an emotion as well as the symptom of an actual physical requirement.

This conclusion, they are agreed, may be accepted readily when we take into consideration the fact that there are almost as many kinds of thirst as there are varities in the animal kingdom.

It has been ascertained, for instance, that a certain man, or type of man, has a pronounced appetite for one particular kind of drink and that he finds more actual satisfaction through the medium of that one drink than he could derive from a dozen drinks of another kind. A German may like beer, a Frenchman wine, another man gin, or even whiskey. Other appetites may be classified under such headings as coffee, tea, milk or water.

The particular variety of appetite for drink each individual may be said to possess depends, it has been found, more largely on characteristics and environment than on natural bodily requirements.

This newest scientific probe into the promptings underlying human thirst may be considered somewhat appropriate to the present countrywide discussion respecting the changes that have been brought about through the enforcement of prohibition.

Since the Constitutional amendment went into effect and made the United States "dry" the causes of a still apparent thirst and the efforts that are made to appease it have received more serious attention than ever before. It has even been observed that the popular song hit "How Dry I Am" expresses more of a certain kind of sentiment and arouses greater emotion than the author ever intended.

A thirst, it has been discovered, is not located in the throat after all. It has been traced to the eyes, the nose, the nerve cells and even to the memory cells of the brain and each of these contributes its share toward the creation of a desire to drink. The eyes, science informs us, directs the selection of liquid refreshment of a certain color, the nose selects, or prefers, drinks of a certain smell and the memory cells serve to refresh our understanding as to what we did when last we felt the need of liquid refreshment.

For ages men thought that thirst was in the throat, and that if the throat was wet the need of the body would be satisfied. This has, however, been disproved by many careful experiments made in Paris by Dr. Andre Meyer, of the Faculty of Medicine of that city. The common idea is entirely rejected. Thirst is an expression of an organic need—the way in which the entire organism cries for more liquid, or to be more scientific still, it is the cry of the cells for the liquid which they require. Countless experiments were made by Dr. Meyer to prove that this physiologic need is the real explanation of thirst, and it goes far toward the explanation of the well-known fact that if a person have water he may live for weeks without food, but without water to drink, the body soon gives out.

Other scientists who have been making these investigations as to thirst have by no means neglected looking into the effect of alcohol upon the human system, for they were well aware of the claim put forth by some that a highball quenched the thirst better than an equal amount of plain water. The explanation is very simple.

It is well known that alcohol makes its way into the system directly, without any process of digestion, and because of this immediate action it carries the water with which it is mixed directly to the cells which are crying out for moisture.

But there is an additional reason for the action of the alcohol. It acts directly upon the temperature of the body. It dilates the blood vessels of the skin, thus increasing the subjective sensation of warmth, but the actual consequence is that more heat than before is necessarily lost from the surface of the body. It also decreases the oxidation, the main source of body heat, thus really cooling the system.

The conclusion by almost all scientists is that alcohol is an invaluable antipyretic, or reducer of the body temperature, and for this reason it is used in fevers, both to decrease the temperature and diminish the thirst which always accompanies high temperatures. An eminent British authority, Sir Thomas Fraser, has stated most emphatically that nothing else can compete with alcohol in the treatment of desperate febrile cases.

Of course, the alcohol must be very highly diluted to serve as the thirst quencher for the normal, healthy individual. When mixed with iced carbonic water the effect is almost immediate, because the alcohol acts so quickly in entering the tissues of the body, feeding the cells the liquid which helps to restore them to a normal condition of fluidity and at once lowering the temperature of the body, which by its heat was consuming or evaporating large quantities of the moisture in the cells, without which they could not be normally comfortable. Thus science supports a very popular idea that a highball or diluted wine is a better thirst-quencher than plain water. Beer, with its very small percentage of alcohol, is no less valuable to the thirsty, from the standpoint of science, and in the light of the latest study of the entire question of thirst.

Dr. Meyer made several experiments upon dogs suffering from hydrophobia, for it was known that they suffered with a terrible thirst, yet could not drink water. Some water was introduced into the system, and seemed to afford great relief, but this was unfortunately only temporary, as it had no effect upon the poison itself; only gave temporary relief from the intense thirst which was an accompaniment of the disease.

Another proof that thirst was not in the throat was furnished by experiments upon dogs made to run in the hot sun. Water was introduced into the veins, and the panting and signs of thirst disappeared. The localization of thirst in the throat is merely nature's way of most easily notifying the person or animal that water is required by the organism of cells, and is the natural place at which this need would be supplied in the easiest way. It might be called a nervous localization of the feeling of thirst, but if the liquid reach the throat only and stop the organism is by no means satisfied. Thirst is really the need of the body for water. To see how great that need is we must consider the important part which water plays in the economy of the body. It is a striking fact that the total quantity of water in all the tissues is about 75% of the entire body. A table will show its proportion in various parts. The figures are parts of water in 1,000:

Fat	299
Bones	485
Cartilages	530
Liver	693
Brain (white substance)	697
Skin	700
Muscles	720
Blood	757
Heart	793
Kidneys	827
Brain (gray matter)	858

It is quite evident that water is the chief element in the body, and some one has said that the body is really only animate water.

Consider a cell, and you see that the larger part of its protoplasm is water. When we look at cells together we find them separated by spaces filled with liquid called the interstitial liquid. The cells are bathed in this liquid, live in it; it is their necessary medium of existence. Bernard has said that all animals are, properly speaking, aquatic, even those which live in the air. The interstitial liquids are in accord with the rest of the bodily economy, especially with the lymph and the lymphatic system, as well as the blood and the circulatory system. The chief element in all these liquids is water. Water is therefore the fundamental element of the internal organism.

Nowhere in the body do we find pure water, but it is always the solvent agent. It is the organic solvent. All of the internal life of the body is a process of dissolving salts and sugars and transferring them in their liquid carrier from cell to cell, organ to organ.

It must be quite evident, then, that thirst is closely connected with the diminution of the quantity of water contained in the body. If the quantity of liquid is reduced the osmotic pressure is increased within the body, so thirst is merely another expression for the increase of this pressure, making for discomfort.

Professor Richet, of Berlin, has proved that muscular labor induces dehydration, and consequently increases the osmotic pressure. It is well known that muscular labor increases thirst. It is also well known that when we perspire freely we become very thirsty. Experiments upon rabbits, confined under high temperature for two hours, show that when some of the blood is taken from the carotid artery the blood is considerably thicker. Similar experiments upon dogs prove the same, so that it is proved conclusively that abundant perspiration and heating, which produce thirst, also show a great increase in the osmotic tension of the blood.

It is hardly possible to make any experiments in the effects of evaporation by the lungs, but we do know that respiration in dry air makes us thirsty, by increasing the pulmonary evaporation, and this doubtless increases the osmotic pressure of the blood.

It has been said that when travellers have been caught without water in the desert they obtain relief by placing pebbles under the tongue. This can be only temporarily, and is explained as causing an extra flow from the salivary glands, which soothes the dry throat for a while, but as it does not actually add to the amount of liquid in the body cannot give permanent relief.

In nervous diseases there is sometimes an intense desire for water, and this is explained as being due to the over-stimulation of certain nerves, especially in the throat, which makes the person feel more thirsty than he really is.

It is a well known phenomenon that in cases of stage fright the throat feels parched, and the nervous actor or speaker hastens to take a swallow or two of water. Here, too, it is only the nervous constriction of the throat which has simulated thirst, and because this is the usual place in which thirst manifests itself, we have a false thirst, which is, however, assuaged by a gulp of water, which cools the nerve-ends.

The value of these recent discoveries cannot well be exaggerated.

Now that it is demonstrated that the real cause of thirst is a higher osmotic tension in the blood, ways may be found to inject certain serums which by reducing the tension will diminish the suffering and desire for drinking, and thus relieve the patient. The dipsomaniac, who has a constant thirst, has simply developed a nervous idiosyncrasy, and it, too, may be overcome by proper handling. It may be true that the use of large quantities of alcohol has increased the osmotic tension in the blood, but pure water would relieve what additional alcohol only makes worse.

CHRISTMAS BAZAARS AND RUMMAGE SALES GO MERRILY ON IN THE CITY

ALL SORTS OF PRETTY AND USEFUL ARTICLES AND PLEASANT MUSICAL PROGRAMMES ARE THE ORDER OF THESE UNDERTAKINGS

The Christmas bazaars and sales go merrily on. Last week there were two or three. All sorts of pretty and useful articles, dainty handiwork, embroidered things of every description, besides afternoon tea and pleasant musical programmes are the order of these undertakings.

This week the Women's Association of Murray Street Baptist Church is holding a sale of fancy and useful articles, with home-made cooking and candy, at 173 1-2 Simcoe street, yesterday, today and tomorrow; commencing today also and ending tomorrow is the annual Christmas fair of the Ladies' Aid Society of George Street Methodist Church; and on Saturday the Fraser Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church will give their annual sale of gifts and cooking, with afternoon tea.

This afternoon and evening a sale of work is going on and tea is being served at the G.W.V.A. Hall, under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the G.W.V.A., the proceeds to be devoted to relief work; tonight the ladies are asked especially to co-operate in a theatre night at the Capitol in the interests of the local Amateur Athletic Association; and tomorrow afternoon a sale of work will be held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Mills, 451 Hunter street, with afternoon tea, under the auspices of the C.W.A. of St. John's Church.

PETERBOROUGH ORGANIZATION WILL LOOK AFTER THE NEEDS OF SOCIAL LEFT-OVERS

Preliminary arrangements are going forward this week for the organization of a society which, when completed, will occupy rather an unique position in the community. As the Rotarians leftovers, so this new society of local women might be called a clearing house for society's misfits. The mantle of charity, as broad as the universe, is needed for the scope of the work undertaken by these members. A name has not yet been decided upon, but it will be something along the lines of a Personal Service and Girl's Welfare Organization.

A group of women who for the last five years have been occupied amongst the less fortunate dwellers in the highways and byways, looking for the derelicts and the heart-weary, have decided that the work is getting beyond them. They need more funds and they need a central point meeting; they can no longer go about soliciting help here and there, hence the desire for organization.

It might be called uplifting work, a work that has a personal touch which provides help and encouragement for the mind as well as food and clothing for the body. To visit the boarded shack, where the only windows are paper-covered orifices and where a woman on a rag bed has only a green wood fire to warm her and the temperature nears the zero mark; to arm themselves with raincoats rubber, gloves, and enough insecticides to disarm a crawling domicile; to shelter the wayward girl who has no one to turn to in the hour of trouble; in short, to provide clothing and encouragement, soap and firewood, medicine and the warmth of personal interest, for the flotsam and jetsam of the world, has often come within the circle of these women's endeavors in the past. They look after the "lost sheep", the people who are neglected by the churches, forgotten by the charitable societies, and shunned by those in a happier station of life. Children sent from school by reason of their uncleaness, women broken by sickness and discouragement men hounded by unemployment and girls straying farther along a path rendered easier by the averted faces of their fellow-creatures, these are the care of the new society.

A meeting of the ladies with the City Council took place recently, and the latter expressed itself enthusiastically in accord with the aims of the proposed orginization. The ladies are very anxious to co-operate in every possible way with churches and societies engaged in charitable work of any sort, and request the attendance at future meetings of everyone interested.

THE WOODS IN THE WINTER SEASON

The woods in early winter when the snow is on the pine and the sunlight falling lace-like; has a frosty silver shine; when your footsteps crunch and echo as you walk your lonely way—or the woods in early winter at the morning time of day.

There is romance in the forest; it comes thrilling in the air; there's a mystery and silence that seem growing everywhere; there's a sense of bold adventure; there's a throb of strength asleep; there's a hint of hidden power where the drifted snow lies deep. There's a vagrant voice that calls you; that seems begging you to stray through the woods in early winter at the morning time of day.

How the balsam trees seem standing soldier-like in solemn rows! How the hemlock branches quiver underneath their cloak of snows! How the birch trees glimmer frigid; while the oaks stand staunch and tall! How the whiteness of the winter is a coverlet for all!

Oh, the woods in early winter at the twilight time of day, when the trees against the snowbanks glimmer shadowy and grey; when the air is hushed and quiet and the wind is softly still, and the echo is a sleep song from the dusty far-off hill when you feel alone and tiny in a world of coming dark, and the stars just lightly shining are your only guiding spark; when the farmhouse in the hollow seems a haven built for rest, and the little forest creatures are asleep on nature's breast.

The woods in early winter when the snow is on the pine, and the starlight, falling lace-like, has a wistful silver shine; when you hurry through the silence and your footsteps brush the snow with a hesitating crackle—but you're singing as you go. For Father's hand is near you in the silence of the pines in the crackle of the snowfall in each little star that shines. Through the violet-tinted distance comes a thrill that seems to pray—Ah, the woods in the early winter at the twilight time of day!

A HORSE AND GOD OF CHANCE

Just as there are people and people, so there are horses and horses. The little God of Chance doubtless rules over the lives of dumb beasts, and causes their lines to fall in more or less pleasant places.

A white horse stood on the pavement yesterday; on George street. He is a nice white horse with black eyes that keep close watch on the confectionery window where he stands, until someone comes out and gives him the candy he wants. If he doesn't get it, he will come farther and farther in on the pavement, intent on the appealing wares behind the glass. He usually gets his candy, and munches away contentedly, and when you meet him delivering parcels along the street, he has a pleasant look as if he were thinking of the sweets he will almost ask for and get at the end of the route.

A white horse stood on Charlotte street last night, breathing heavily. It had been dragging a heavy load on wheels up the icy street and had fallen. The owner unharnessed it and brought it to its feet. Steam rose from the laboring sides. Presently he harnessed it up again and started off. A man standing by expostulated with no effect. The little beast, with that peuliar pride of the horse that keeps it from shirking the severest load, started gallantly off. It fell again and again, the poorly shod hoofs striking fire from the hard and frosty pavement. With a muttered refrain that "she can do it all right", and the cart lurching crazily along, now dodging a street-car, now on the wrong side almost grazing an approaching automobile, the driver and the litlle white beast disappeared into the darkness.

A BAL POUDRE

The King's Daughters are holding their annual bal poudre this year on December 30th, in the hall of Great War Veterans Association.

The King's Daughters confine their social activities almost entirely to this one affair every season, and it is usually a very popular and well-attended gathering. The funds derived from the dance go toward the maintainence of a system of charitable endeavor which does not cease with one day or evening, but spreads itself impartially over the entire year. Working in the quietest possible manner, with no publicity for their good work, the twenty odd members go about, doing good, in actual charitable help to those in need and visiting the sick and downcast. They also make a practice of visiting the Protestant Home and Nicholls Hospital.

The society of the King's Daughters, with its lovely symbolical name, is one of the oldest of this sort on the continent of America. The local branch has been in existence over twenty-five years.

THE WAITING LINE

She was a striking young lady, stylishly dressed and faultlessly groomed. She stood at the wicket buying stamps and pasting them on sundry small parcels. A line of people waited, more or less impatiently. Her fur coat and scrumptious hat were very nice to look at, but it was noon hour, and the waiting line was hungry—She took her time.

Finally, the small and dainty parcels were stamped, and the young lady turned to go. The patient man behind her had placed a perpendicular package on the small shelf. Her sleeve caught it. A litter of smashed glass fragments lay on the floor. "That was cut glass", remarked the man in a loud tone. The girl, with an angry confused glance, gathered up her parcels and fled.—"A milk bottle," said the man with a smile, shooing the pieces into a corner with his heavy boot.

Working in the Home

By MRS. J. E. LESLIE.

A chill gray November day—just the day to work at home.

Through the windows the roofs and lawns are white with the first snowfall. You can hear the shovel scraping on the pavement as the man of the house throws the snow up into miniature mountain ranges along each side of the walk. He is digging a path for you out to the curb. You are grateful, and will use it tomorrow.

The big corner lot with its open space and bit of woods that have been your joy since you lived near it; looks like a country scene on a picture postcard. You hope; for the ninth time that no real estate man will ast a practical mercenary eye upon it and persuade some one that it would be a proper place to build something.

There are flecks of blue in the sky and a glimpse of sun now and then that give promise of clear days soon.

You leave the window and start for your desk; stopping to play a few bars of "Kiss Me" which Victor Herbert and Fritzi Scheff made famous and which happens to be printed on the back of the topmost sheet of music on the piano rack. Bill the canary; adds a few sustained tones to the melody and you poke your finger through a cage at him as you pass.

At your desk you feel lazy. You watch the sparrows flying in flocks to the trees in the neighbors' yards. They are cold and settle down in the branches in little fluffy bundles. You will throw them crumbs tomorrow—if you don't forget it.

Then you work till your work is done; and you are tired and the couch is too attractive to be resisted.

You rest and think about what your are going to give your friends for Christmas and decide to make out a list. And your thoughts drift off to something nice that happened a day or two before and then—that's all.

LOCAL WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB

The suggestion made at the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club last week that the Club should be regarded as a forum for the discussion of subjects pertaining to, and of interest to women in general, should prove popular with members and would-be-members. One member present advocated the institution of a debating branch, to which local people might contribute. There is nothing more interesting to the average man or woman that a debate, on almost any subject. Probably the attraction partially lies in the spectacle of four or more people endeavoring to "talk each other down" but there are excellent arguments usually advanced in debates, and it is an admirable way of making people do some hard thinking.

THE QUEEN BANS PLUMAGE

Orders recently given by Queen Mary to her milliners that no plumage of wild birds should be used for any of her hats; cannot fail to exercise a far-reaching influence says a special despatch to the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

For the edict means that the Queen has joined in the crusade against the destruction of the most beautiful of the wild feathered tribes and from henceforth headgear the plumage of which indicates it has cost the life of one or more wild birds will be St. James.

subject to the ban of the Colrt of Queen Mary is already assured of the suport of her mother-in-law; Queen Alexandra who is never seen with a feathered toque and through whose influence during the reign of her husband; Edward VII.; the wearing of egrets' feathers was virually put out of fashion in Great Britain.

Nowhere will this decree of Queen Mary be received with more sympathy than in India where the natives have always regarded the use of birds' feathers for adornment as a form of revolting barbarism and as offensive to all their religious prejudices.

Now is the time to think of winter hats; it doesn't cost much to think.

PETERBOROUGH HOUSEWIVES ARE TURNING THEIR ATTENTION TO BREAD-MAKING

MANY OF THEM BAKE FOR BETTER BREAD AND OTHERS BAKE FOR CHEAPER BREAD—COST OF MAKING BREAD COMPUTED—VARIOUS METHODS OF BAKING BREAD.

Once upon a time, as the story-books say, there lived a man who had been born long enough ago to have had an old-fashioned mother, and who declared that when his daughters grew up they should be taught to do two things well: to knit socks and to make bread. So they were drilled when very small in these two housewifely virtues. The one who didn't like virtuous housewifery knitted her socks with a drop stitch effect somewhat out of the ordinary, but not at all conducive to satisfactory usage, and she literally kneaded her bread 'with tears'. The other girl went ahead and learned all about it. Whether they were any the better or happier for their early endeavours is a question, and somewhat beside the point, which is, are there many modern women who make their own bread? The answer is, there are more than one would suppose, and every single one of them is enthusiastic about her ability along these lines. Talks with several of them revealed some interesting facts:

Bakes for Better Bread

Lady Number One has several reasons for baking. There is more nutrition in her product, she declares; she doesn't buy so much cake and pastry now as formerly, because the fam.. like her bread and are satisfied with less frills. She doesn't believe she saves anything, however, because she gives away so much of it to friends.

Lady Number Two has her bread baked at home because she will allow nothing on table made by hands other than those under her own roof.. To her boughten bread is often half-baked and doughy; it has no substance or flavor in comparison with the home-grown product; she thinks that her children are much more healthy when consuming home-made products, and attributes the lack of influenza in her household when the epidemic was at its worst to the fact that no germs of sickness were brought into her home by outside agencies. She is firmly of the opinion that homemade bread is much cheaper than the purchased article.

Lady Number Three and Lady Number Four bake because they regard a great portion of their families' health as dependent on the bread question. One bakes nine large loaves every Saturday for her family of growing boys. They enjoy it so much and eat so much of it that she is unable to say whether the actual cost is lower but is of the opinion that if the same quantity of baker's and home-made bread were consumed, the latter would be much the cheaper article. Lady Number Four would much rather make a batch of bread than bake a cake; she finds it no trouble at all is very enthusiastic about the benefits, and would be willing to give recipes or advice to anyone enquiring. She lved in Vancouver previous to her removal to Peterboro, and baked bread there. She says that Manitoba flour is used extensively in Vancouver ,and yet, although this flour is transported across the Rockies for use on the Coast, bread in Vancouver is cheaper than in many eastern centres.

Lady Number Five, a doctor's wife, uses nine or ten loaves of home made bread weekly in her household. In her opinion, it is more nutritious, is nicer in every way, cleaner, keeps moist and eatable much longer, and costs a great deal less.

Lady Number Six, who frankly bakes for the economy of the process, declaring that she saves about $1.50 per month in the family bread-bill, as no doubts whatever about the qualities of the home-brewed products.

Cost of Making

There may be some difference in the prices of flour with which we are not familiar. However a brand that is described as excellent for bread-making has been chosen for illustration purposes, and this brand now retails for $4.30 per sack of 98 lbs. That is first grade.. The second patent may be bought retail for $4.05 per 98 lbs. And the computation arrived at by experts who keep track of their output is this; a house wife should be able to make least 135 lbs of bread from 98 lbs of flour Queries to different housewives quoted above bear out this contention, some getting more than this from their flour and some less, all agreeing that it is impossible to compute with exactness.

Then, 135 lbs, of bread from 98 lbs, of flour at $4.30 brings the cost of pound of bread of the first grade of flour to, within a very close fraction of 3 1-5 cents per lb and a pound of bread made from the second grade of flour at $4.05 costs exactly 3 cents. That makes the cost of the ordinary small loaf of bread,—a 24 ounce loaf—of the first grade of flour: 4 and 8-10 cents, if made at home, and the ordinary small loaf made of the second grade of flour will cost 4 1-2 cents. Bread it will be remembered, if bought from the baker costs you now ten cents per small loaf and the grade of the flour is left to the baker's choosing.

This, of course, leaves out the question of fuel, time, and the sundry small accessories which go to the making of bread, such as yeast, lard, sugar and salt. Careful enquiry, however, from various housewives as to the quantities of these things reveals the fact that a computation of the ingredients used in the making of a batch of home-made bread would lead the writer into the mazes of higher mathematics, and result in such a small decimal that the cost of same may be regarded as negligible. For instance one housewife who makes bread for her large family uses one tablespoonful each of lard and sugar a small quantity of salt and one yeast-cake for the mixing. We defy anyone to compute what a tablespoonful of these ingredients and one yeast-cake costing approximately two cents will come to if spread over eight or nine loaves of bread. Then there is the question of fuel and time. But the fire is there anyway and so is the oven and it takes only about an hour and a half, at the outside, to bake bread properly. As for the time, what mother can reckon the cost of her time if the welfare of the family and the inflation of the family purse is the desired end in view?

Just for the sake of argument, however, suppose a small, 24 ounce loaf taking all ingredients into consideration, made from the first grade of flour is taken as costing approximately five cents, and, if made from the second grade, 4 3-4 cents.. By the expenditure of a little time and most of the housewives engaged in bread-making say it is not at all a laborious or wearisome process, you may save on every loaf of bread that comes into your household, (and every woman knows just how soon a small loaf disappears from view) either five cents, or, if your taste in flour is not too finicky, exactly 5 1-4 cents. It looks like a good business proposition and, from the standpoint of health and nutrition, is an absolutely unbeatable proposition.

It should not be forgotten, either that in making bread at home, one may choose the brown or whole wheat product, and thus contribute to the family's organizations some more of those mysterious vitamines that we hear so much about, the lack of which, according to some beautifully-worded advertisements, is going to be the ultimate downfall of the white race.

Various Methods

There are various methods of making bread. Although the writer hasn't much personal experience, information gleaned from different sources resulted as follows:

For the old-fashioned type of real, home-made bread, you simply take half a cup of the old-fashioned yeast a quart of water and enough flour to make a sponge, which you allow to rise over night. Then in the morning, you add enough flour and water for your batch.

For the 'salt-rising' bread, spoken of with much enthusiasm, it was impossible to procure a recipe. Perhaps someone would be kind enough to send one along.

An Old Country lady, who has had much experience in the bread-making line gave us the following:

Make a "starter" from a quart of potato water, two tablespoonfuls of salt, one-half of a yeast cake and a half cup of brown sugar. This must not be stirred and is left untouched for 24 hours. Then add half a cup of warm water, one yeast cake, and stir. Flour and water in sufficient quantity complete the mixture, which is left overnight and cooked in the morning. Fourteen large loaves is the weekly output of the owner of this recipe.

And then there is the popular formula, roughly described as using a tablespoonful of sugar and lard, with some salt and a yeast cake for a baking of nine or ten loaves.

A reader of The Examiner would like to hear from someone who has been successful in the making of one hundred per cent. whole wheat bread.

WAS TROUBLED WITH HER STOMACH FOR FIVE YEARS

Mrs. Samuel Ward, Millerdale, Sask., writes:—'I feel that I must write to you before another day passes I am so happy and so grateful for your splendid medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, for after an illness of five years I am better.

I had stomach trouble so bad, I could not bear the smell or taste of food of any kind, and got so thin and weak I could not work. I was in pain, but felt so ill, at times, I thought I would die, in fact, all my friends were sure I could not live many weeks.

This time last year I saw where a man was relieved of stomach trouble by Burdock Blood Bitters, so my husband got me two bottles, but I had no faith in it after all the different medicines I had taken, however he insisted, and after the first two days I must say I began to feel better, and after the first bottle I felt so much better I went out every day, but I soon got so I could walk and eat and have got quite stout.

I am nearly seventy years of age and I feel better than I have for years, and can now do all my housework.

You may make use of this letter if you wish, as it may be the means of making others as well and as happy as I am."

GENERALS COME BACK FROM SPAIN

American Light Brigade Returns, But Not the 148.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—Eighty three young belligerents who enlisted here as generals in the foreign legion of Spain to fight in the somewhat sporadic war with the Moors are back in New York searching for the Moorish consul if such there be to offer their fighting services to the other side of the row.

Early in September they sailed away from New York on board the Antonio Lopez, shouting "Viva El Toro" and other sturdy Spanish war-cries, to accept high commissioned ranks in the Spanish Foreign Legion and mop up those Moors, who were then making themselves obnoxious to the Spanish high command.

The steamship Montevido brought them back from Barcelona.

Captain Donald Grant, organizer of the expedition which numbered 148 men when it sailed for Spain, and seven others were the only ones who enlisted on the Spanish terms. The 83 came back here and the other 57 are now hoboing through all parts of Europe with the notable exception of Spain. Captain Grant was to have been some sort of field marshal on the original terms but at last reports he had worked his way up to the rank of lance corporal.

The Spanish officers explained briefly that the 'temperamental' Spanish soldier would not submit to command by officers of alien birth.. Yet, the disappointed legionnaires declared, there were only 28,000 Spaniards in the entire expeditionary force of 62,000 rifles.

"The theory of the Spaniards seems to be not to shoot except in self-defense and not even then if the running is good" explained George Dimond, of New York, twice decorated for valor in the great war. You buy your own ammunition and if you fire two rounds—bang! bang! goes a day's pay".

With the Moors in a mean frame of mind General Dimond figured it out that in 10 years' time he would owe the Spanish government enough to pay off the indemnity of 1898, so he resigned by stealth, leaving the barracks swiftly but quietly in the dark of the moon.

COLOR IN THE FROCK

The touch of red—and there are many reds from which to choose—is a favorite means to enliven a somber gown. Here, there is somewhat more than a touch, for a full-sleeved chemise beneath this frock of black Morrocaine, is developed in Chinese red crepe de chine. The pockets, braided and tasseled in black, and the girdle are also red.

FILM ROMANCE MAY YET LIVE

Constance Hints Pialoglo Can Remain Her Husband if He Lets Her Act.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23. — If John Pialoglo mends his ways and listens to reason he may long be the husband of Constance Talmadge. If he doesn't he will simply be John Pialoglo, New York tobacco importer, with no wife at all.

This was the stand of Constance here Friday, although she didn't have much to say about it.

She said, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Buster Keaton, that her husband did not want her to come out here to make pictures. In fact, he did not want her to make pictures at all. Family debates on this question, she intimated, started as soon as the honeymoon was over three months or more ago.

But, she hinted, if he will only understand that a film star can't stay home and watch the clock go round, and that she has "Her Public" to consider as much, if not more, than a husband, all may yet be well.

She has nothing else against Mr. Pialoglo. There is no other man or women in it.

Friends of both in the picture colonoy hope that Mr. Pialoglo will listen to reason. There are so few happily married couples left in the colony that it is argued everything that can be done to keep the thinning ranks intact must be done.

GREATEST MOMENT IN HISTORY, HE SAYS

LONDON, Nov 24.— (Canadian Press).—"This is the greatest moment in the history of the world", declared Lord Birkenhead yesterday at a luncheon in his honor, in alluding to the Washington Conference. "The Conference presents a greater prospect of success than any other similar meeting. If this attempt fails I see little alternate prospect of international bankruptcy. If it is a success it may be possible even now to save the financial position of Europe and of the World".

WOULD YOU
—prefer a beautiful home with servants to wait on you, wealth galore, gowns, motor cars and everything that wealth could provide, and an unhappy married life, or would you take "love in a cottage" with the man you love and who loves you?

CAN YOU
—picture the misery and utter wretchedness of a beautiful high strung accomplished woman being married to a nasty tempered bull-dozing type of a man who gives of his money, but not of his affection or love?

TONIGHT ALL ROADS LEAD TO THE CAPITOL; LEASED TO ATHLETIC SOCIETY

Tonight the Peterborough public will have an opportunity to show their appreciation for more and better sport. The Athletic Association will give a monster big entertainment at the Capitol, when the splendid big week-end program of pictures and other events and first-class speakers will complete a great show.

A pronounced victory for the cause of finer pictures is scored in the presentation of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's greatest drama of married life. Its world-famous title is "Mid-Channel," which made a sensational success during its run on Broadway, with Ethel Barrymore in the role now played by Clara Kimball Young. The achievement in the picturization of this dramatic masterpiece can best be appreciated when it is recalled that even before "Mid-Channel" was presented on the speaking stage, it aroused international interest among its readers, and was responsible for many domestic upheavals everywhere as a result of its outspoken message of married life.

In the screen adaptation of this brilliant stage-play, "Mid-Channel" gains infinitely in its power, for the screen naturally brings scenic effects and local color in support of the action which are impossible to secure on the stage. The magnificence of the outdoor settings, the gay lawn parties and steamboat scenes, the typical Parisian and English atmosphere that is interwoven skillfully in the course of the movement of the plot—all the technical accessories that are brought to bear to heighten the force of the play, make the picturization of "Mid-Channel" by all odds superior to any stage presentation—and this in spite of the appearance of Ethel Barrymore in the Broadway run of the play.

There is another advantage of the picture over the play. Since "Mid-Channel" opened on the stage, much has been learned about dramatic technique, which has been put to excellent use on the screen. The high spots of "Mid-Channel" have been emphasized with vivid effect, and the theme in general has been so handled as to apply forcibly to modern life. "Mid-Channel" will undoubtedly go on record as one of the greatest achievements of the modern photo-drama, and the truth of its message on the pitfalls of married life will be impressed with such weight as to stamp this picture permanently in the memory of theatre-goers.

POOL SAVES RAY IN PLUNGE WITH FIGHTING "THUG"

In "Nineteen and Phyllis," Charles Ray's third independent production, which is coming to the Allen Theatre today for an engagement of 3 days, several scenes take place on the roof of a cottage. Mr. Ray is called upon to capture a burglar—which role is played by DeWitte C. Jennings—who has climbed to the roof in order to be in a secluded spot, but he is discovered and a lively combat takes place, which results in the pair rolling off the roof.

As the popular star did not relish the idea of falling twenty-six feet from the top of a thatched bungalow to the ground below, a novel scheme was perfected. After the necessary scenes for the bungalow were taken on location at Sawtelle, Cal., an exact reproduction was built in the studio over the swimming pool; hence when the combatants dropped, they lit on the cool waters of Mr. Ray's plunge, and thus escaped what would otherwise have been a very bad fall.

The scene, however, resulted in the ruining of one perfectly good dress suit worn by the star.

In "Nineteen and Phyllis" Mr. Ray departs from his usual country boy role, and is seen as a dapper youth whose array of clothes is his greatest delight. Having been invited to a party by the village belle—played by Clara Horton—he has used his meagre savings to procure an elegant "stove pipe" hat and evening clothes. It is while on his way to the party that Mr. Ray discovers the burglar and captures him. Upon his arrival at the party he receives much praise for his bravery, but it is little consolation, for his splendid hat is in ruins as a result of the roof escapade.

HOW BIG IS A SMALL BOY'S BIRTHDAY APPETITE?

During the filming of "Edgar's Feast Day," Johnny Jones, who is featured by Goldwyn in the Booth Tarkington "Edgar" comedies under the direction of Mason N. Litson, ate so much that he could hardly eat any dinner at home.

"In the story," said the twelve-year-old star, "my cousin and I are supposed to eat ourselves sick—actually—before the hour set for his birthday party. And we did. We had pickles, apples, tomatoes, soda pop, candy and everything we could think of. There was always something left after the scene, and Mr. Litson, our director, let us clean up in real party style."

"Edagr's Feast Day" will be shown at the Allen Theatre for 3 days, beginning today.

AT THE REGENT.

Thrilling Western Story, "The Wallop."

It has been some time since Harry Carey has used his famous and popular Flying Squadron of cowboy roughriders in a picture. The last two stories filmed by the Universal western star did not call for any spectacular horsemanship, even on the part of Carey himself. But in his latest production, "The Wallop," which now is to be seen at the Regent Theatre, the Harry Carey fans will see their idol as they like him best—a hard riding adventurer, surrounded by his corps of broncho saddlers, and indulging in stunts that would seem fantastic were they not performed in that human, natural fashion typical of Harry Carey.

Carey's Flying Squadron is a movie institution. When the western actor first began to achieve fame on the screen, some Montana cowboys who knew him when he was ranching up in that country drifted down to California and applied to him for help to get in the movies. As these punchers were the real article and a great improvement over the store cowboys, Carey had no trouble placing them with the various units. The story of their achievements soon spread by way of the films, and other range riders joined the group. Three years ago, when Carey settled on his ranch in the San Fransiquito Canyon, he made provisions to house all his cowboys in their original capacity whenever they were not engaged in his pictures.

Carey's Flying Squadron will be very much in evidence in his latest production, "The Wallop."

AT THE GRAND.

"JUST SUPPOSE."

Never in the history of theatricals have patrons of the Grand Opera House had the opportunity of witnessing a more pleasing comedy than "Just Suppose," the romance based on the recent visit of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, that Edward H. Robins will present for a special engagement to-night.

Hector Charlesworth, dramatic critic of the Toronto Saturday Night, said of "Just Suppose" when it was presented last summer at the Royal Alexandra Treatre, Toronto, by Mr. Robins: "'Just Suppose' is a masterpiece in miniature." Fred Jacob, of the Toronto Sunday World and the Daily Mail and Empire, said in his summary of the theatrical year, "'Just Suppose' was the best and most liked of all." After seeing the comedy presented at the Grand, local theatregoers will verify the judgment of thousands of theatre patrons of the Queen City. The same wonderful company presented last summer by Mr. Robins at the Royal Alexandra Theatre will be seen here.

"MUTT AND JEFF."

Those two laugh-makers of international fame, "Mutt and Jeff," whose antics, adventures, escapades, and idiosyncrasies have contributed endless mirth and gaiety to the nations of the world are underlined to disturb our peace of ennui at Grand Opera House, two nights, on Friday and Saturday next, with the customary matinee on Saturday. They will be seen in high-class, wholesome, mirtrful, rib-tickling, and rollicking comedy in two acts and six scenes, entitled "Mutt and Jeff in Chinatown." Prety girls, lilting, catchy, and ear-haunting tunes, melodies, and jingling music predominates. According to all accounts, this latest exploit of the famous Bud Fisher cartoons is the best yet, and does more to establish the pair as a real American institution than anything they have heretofore accomplished—which, by the way, is saying more than a 'mouthful."

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN."

On Thursday night, 1st December, there will be shown at the Grand Opera House what is in all probability the greatest achievement ever accomplished for the silver screen—the picture version of the famous novel by Vincente Blasco Ibanez, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." No film since the inception of the silent drama has caused so deep an impression, and certainly none has involved such a colossal outlay in time, personnel, and money. The cosmopolitan appeal of the novel is unparalleled in recent time, and the picturised conversion is said by eminent critics to reflect Ibanez' tremendous dramatic feeling and profound psychological analysis in a manner as remarkable as it is impressive. The picture has proved to be nothing short of all sensation in the great and popular scenes of

OVERCOATS

WITH the first real touch of cold weather this store is ready to announce an Overcoat Exposition that presents selections and values of outstanding importance. These are not displays that have been grouped overnight. They represent weeks of efforts in searching the markets for dependable qualities and extreme values. Every style and type of overcoat for immediate and future wear is featured at prices that mean the greatest possible values.

At $20

We have been able to secure an attractive variety of Overcoats at this low price. Included are light and medium Overcoats for Men and Young Men in single and double-breasted styles, well tailored and of warm serviceable materials. All the new colorings are shown. We haven't seen values to equal these for years.

At $25

$25 is a very popular price in our Overcoat displays. The selections are very extensive. There are Overcoats for Men and Young Men and Men of unusual proportions. Light weight coats, medium weight coats and heavy ulsters, distinguished by fabric quality ordinarily found only in the finest clothes made.

Quality can't be put into Clothes as an after-thought. It doesn't just happen and the price tag can't make it. The first essential of quality must be the right foundation—the right raw materials. Every detail in the process of manufacture must have a certain definite standard. Our clothes are quality clothes; the quality idea predominates in foundation and finish.

It's Fall in the Boys' Store

Everything in the way of clothes and fixings that boys will need between now and Christmas can be most satisfactorily selected at this time. You have the advantage of the most extensive assortments of the year. Clothes for best wear, Clothes for school, Clothes for odd hours and play—for every type of boy from the smallest little fellow to the "young man" who needs his first long pair; and it's all new stuff; all high grade; all chosen with the aim of keeping up the boy's appearance and keeping down the expense.

PETERBORO' COLLEGIATE WIN GROUP HONOURS

BEAT OSHAWA 14 TO 9 IN SUDDEN DEATH GAME AT PORT HOPE YESTERDAY AND WILL MEET WINNERS OF HAMILTON-U. T. S. SERIES IN THE SEMI-FINALS OF INTER-SCHOLASTIC RACE.

The Peterboro Collegiate rugby team captured the championship of this group in the Interscholastic O.R.F.U. series, and qualified for the semi-finals by beating Oshawa Collegiate on the Trinity College School campus at Port Hope yesterday afternoon by 14 points to 9. The two teams were tied for group honors with three wins and one loss each, and yesterday's game was a sudden death affair to see which outfit would meet the winners of the University of Toronto Schools-Hamilton series. Although their margin was not large, P. C. I. left no doubt as to which was the better team, for they had the edge through the greater part of the game, and led all the way except for a few minutes in the third period, when a clever fake kick play gave Oshawa a momentary leadership.

The score by periods was as follows:

Peterboro	5	0	8	1	14
Oshawa	2	1	6	0	9

Strange to relate, Peterboro's superiority lay in a department of the game in which they were weakest, when they first met Oshawa—in the handling of punts. Ernie Legon was shifted from outside wing to rover, and he and Jack Fanning looked after the third line of defence in great style. They caught splendidly, and ran back punts in spectacular fashion. Legon, in fact, was Peterboro's outstanding star. It was his birthday yesterday, and the youngster celebrated it in effective fashion by tearing off run after run, while he got the Petes off to a flying start in the first period by grabbing a long pass and flashing twenty-five yards for a touch-down. Oshawa held their own on the line and tackled smartly and accurately, but they were slow in handling kicks and were often nailed in their tracks. The result was that when Peterboro opened a kicking game in the second half they gained on every exchange through the fine running of Legon and Fanning, and the eventual result was disaster for the Oshawa crew.

The near zero weather and the Arctic breeze that was blowing made conditions unpleasant for the spectators, but the footing was fast, and the sprinkling of snow which powdered the grid-iron did not interfere with the play in the least. The wind was cross-field, and of no great advantage to either team. It was a half-holiday at T. C. S., and the Trinity boys were out in force to see the battle, while sixty Peterboro rooters motored to Port Hope for the game, and Oshawa also had a contingent on hand. The fans who braved the weather were well rewarded, for they saw an exciting, snappy game, with plenty of open play and spectacular features.

Coach Walter Smaill, of the Peterboro Amateur Athletic Association, who has been assisting in the training of the Collegiate boys during the past week, was with the team yesterday, and his counsel was a great help to the winners. Smaill was as excited as the smallest garnet and grey-ribboned rooter at the victory of the Petes.

The work of Legon and Fanning for the Petes has already been referred to because it stood out prominently, but the rest of the crew all had a hand in the victory. Flowers, who came on at half-time at centre half, did some great kicking, his long punts being a big factor in the final result. His wing line gave him almost perfect protection, and they held so tightly that Flowers had time to get his kicks away cleanly and to place them to advantage, while the fast following up and good tackling of Ridpath and Rishor nailed the Oshawa backs in their tracks. And every other man in the squad gave everything they had to bring victory for P.C.I.

For Oshawa the brightest light was Jamieson, the little flying wing. Fast on his feet and a deadly tackler Jamieson was of the greatest assistance to his team. Luke also tackled well, while Bouckley, the quarter back, and Wright on the half line, showed up to good advantage.

Oshawa suffered more from casualties than the Petes, N. Irwin and Hubbell both having to retire on account of injuries, while P.C.I. came through with only one stop for repairs.

The game was well handled by Referee Reg. De Gruchy, of Toronto, and his cousin, who acted as umpire. The thanks of both teams are due the Trinity College School authorities, who not only readily allowed the game to be played on their campus, but provided comfortable dressing rooms for the two teams, and furnished the yard sticks and other accessories needed.

The line-ups:

Oshawa—Flying wing, Jamieson; halves, Hall, Browne and Wright; quarter, Bouckley; snap, Moffatt; inside wings, P. Irwin and Beath; middle wings, N. Irwin and McKay; outside wings, Hubbell and Luke. Sub[illegible] Clarke, Miller, Wil[illegible]

[illegible]egon; halves, [illegible]rown; quarter, Yo[illegible] inside [illegible]

Ridpath. Subs—Maniece, H. Young, Flowers, Parrington, Hay and Fleming.

Referee—Reg. De Gruchy, Toronto. Umpire—P. C. De Gruchy, Toronto.

Oshawa won the toss, and Breyfogle kicked off for Peterborough. The P. C. I. immediately took the offensive, stopping Oshawa's line plunges and forcing Browne to kick. Legon ran the ball back nicely, and then the Peterboro students started an attack that culminated in a touch-down. They plunged for their yards on three downs, and then, on a combination run, Young to Grime, to Browne, the latter skirted Oshawa's right wing for a twenty-yard gain. With the ball on Oshawa's quarter line, Young tossed a long pass out to Legon, who galloped twenty-five yards for a touch-down, which Breyfogle failed to convert. P.C.I. 5, Oshawa 0.

The set-back failed to disconcert the motor town crew, and they came back strong after the reverse. A long kick from Browne carried the play into Peterboro's quarter, and the Oshawa crew gained possession on a fumble. The P.C.I. line held tightly, and after two attempts at line plunging, Browne kicked over the Pete's line for a rouge. Peterboro 5, Oshawa 1.

Oshawa continued to press, and a few moments later Browne kicked to the dead line for another single. Peterboro 5, Oshawa 2.

P.C.I. worked the ball out of their territory early in the second period, and for ten minutes pressed the ultimate losers hard. Browne saved one point against his team by returning a kick from behind his own line, and Wright ran several punts back in good style. Finally an offside against Peterboro gave Browne a chance to get a long punt away, and when it bounced into touch off Legon, Oshawa got possession twenty yards from the Petes' line. The Peterboro wings held solidly, however, and after two line plays had been thrown back, Browne kicked over the Petes' line for a single. Peterboro 5, Oshawa 3. The figures remained unchanged at half-time.

Flowers went on in the second half at centre half for the P.C.I., and the Petes changed tactics by opening out a kicking game. First blood, however, went to Oshawa, for they nabbed a Peterborough onside kick at Peterboro's thirty-yard line, and after two line plunges had been stopped, the Oshawa crew caught P.C.I. completely off their guard with a fake kick, Browne slipping the ball to Luke, who galloped 25 yards for a touch-down before the Petes realized the expected kick had not come off. Oshawa failed to convert, but they were ahead for the first time in the game. Peterboro 5, Oshawa 8.

Flowers' long punts and the fast following up of the Peterboro wings, however, soon chased the Oshawa gang back on the defensive. They could not make any gains on line plays, and when Browne was forced to kick, Legon and Fanning ran the ball back for a good gain and left the opening for another long punt from Flowers. These tactics soon had their effect, Flowers kicking to the dead line for a single. Peterboro 6, Oshawa 8.

A few moments later a long kick from Flowers was knocked forward by Wright, and P.C.I. got possession almost on Oshawa's line. A try seemed certain, but Oshawa stopped two line plays dead, and Flowers kicked over for a rouge. Peterboro 7, Oshawa 8.

Oshawa scrimmaged on their quarter line, and when Browne kicked to Legon, the Petes' little flying wing tore off a twenty-yard run. Flowers booted a long high one, which was fumbled by the Oshawa backs, and Rishor fell on the ball behind the line for a touch-down, which Breyfogle converted neatly. Peterboro 13, Oshawa 8.

Oshawa rallied, and fast following up of a long kick from Browne, followed by an offside, gave them a chance to kick over for a rouge before the quarter ended. Three-quarter score: Peterboro 13, Oshawa 9.

P.C.I. were satisfied to play safe in the last quarter, and their tactics were confined to two bucks and a kick. Oshawa tried a kicking game too, but Legon and Fanning handled their punts cleverly, and on nearly every kick were able to gain ground by nice running. For the greater part of the quarter play was around midfield, Peterboro getting the only point, when Flowers kicked to the dead line. P.C.I. held the losers safe all through the quarter, and were the fresher team on end, in spite of the fact they did not call upon their substitutes nearly as often as did the green and white outfit. Final score: Peterboro 14, Oshawa 9.

Morisette was shot as an alleged lover of Mrs. Remillard by the son Romeo at the instance of the father.

Society

Invitations have been sent out for the Rotary Club Dance, to commence at 9 o'clock on Friday evening next, December 2nd in the Conservatory of Music Hall. Davis' Orchestra from Toronto will provide music for dancing.

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent by the ladies of the Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E., yesterday at the residence of Mrs. H. Morphet, Hunter street, in celebration of Canadian Authors' Week. The ladies were addressed by Mr. A. Mowat who gave a very interesting discourse on the work of Canadian authors mentioning many who have achieved fame by their pens, including Sir Gilbert Parker, Ralph Connor, Arthur Stringer Duncan McLeod and many of the poets. Lt. Col. McRae's poem' "In Flanders Fields", was cited as an instance of a beautiful lyric, and Mr. Mowat also recited "But Not Today' one of the outstanding war poems by a Canadian writer.

Miss A. Lancaster followed with a brief talk along the same lines, referring particularly to the writers among the women, and mentioning Mrs. Moody of Lakefield Miss Isabella Valancy Crawford and Miss Camilla Sanderson both of whom were former residents of Peterboro. Miss Lancaster gave "The Sea" with excellent recitative powers.

Miss Margaret English spoke a few words, commending "The Echoes" the official organ of the chapter to the attention of the members and a pleasant musical programme was rendered by vocal solos from Mrs. Geo. H. King and Mrs. W. R. Widdiss and instrumental selections by Mrs. Geo. Porter and Mrs. . Cruikshank.

Afternoon tea was in charge of Mrs. E. C. S. Huycke, with Mesdames W. R. Widdiss, A. Robinson, H. Stenson and Mrs. J. R. Renwick assisting.

IRISH PEACE IS HANGING IN BALANCE TODAY

HOPES FOR BREAK IN DEADLOCK DEPEND ON MEETING OF LLOYD GEORGE WITH ULSTER PREMIER

"GRAVE AND CRITICAL"

LONDON, Nov. 25. — (Canadian Press).—Hopes for a break in the deadlock in the Irish situation hang upon the meeting of Sir James Craig with Premier Lloyd George and Lord Birkenhead to-day, but as they gathered for the conference at Downing Street it was admitted that the negotiations have reached a "grave and critical stage."

A prominent Sinn Feiner bore this out, stating that the "situation is too serious for talk," but that Collins and Griffith would return Saturday night to meet Lloyd George.

The Premiers met for an hour in a conference which, according to officials, marks one of the final stages of the Irish negotiations, conceded to-day to be verging on a break. It is understood a statement agreed upon between the two Premiers has been drawn up.

No Party Will Have Majority Is Prediction of British Paper

LONDON, November 25 (Canadian Press Cable). — Discussing the Canadian elections, the Yorkshire Post notes the rapid rise of the Progressives, but declares that there is little expectation that they will secure a majority, although some supporters hope to see the Progressives and Labour strong enough to force the fusion of the Liberals and the Conservatives, and pave the way for a straight fight in the next election.

Stating that the difference between the Liberals and Conservatives on the tariff is merely one of degree, it is of the opinion that no party will have a majority, and that there will be a period of confusion.

EXPERTS TESTIFY BONES ARE HUMAN

VERSAILLES, Nov. 26.—(Canadian Press.)—The prosecution in the case against Landru to-day continued to pile up expert evidence in an effort to leave no doubt in the minds of the jury that the small fragments of bones which have figured so prominently in the evidence of the last two days were those of human beings. Two more experts to-day confirmed the opinion of others yesterday that the fragments were the bones of human skulls.

AUTOMOBILES IN A COLLISION

Three automobiles pulled up close together on Aylmer street at 10.20 last night gave the impression of a serious accident. Lena Johnston, 156 Douro street, driving Automobile No. 133275, struck the left front wheel of Automobile No. 133-496, owned and driven by Frank White, 174 Hunter street, when he pulled up sharply just north of Hunter street. He was bringing "gas" to a friend who had stalled near Brock street. When he came up Aylmer street he did not notice they had pushed the automobile nearer Hunter street until he heard a yell. He pulled up sharply and his rear swung in towards the curb.

Miss Johnston, who was driving behind him, was unable to avoid a collision and struck his left front wheel with her right fender. The fender was broken and skidding across the road the left front wheel struck the curb with an impact that broke the wheel. The damage to White's car was confined to a broken section of the steering rod. Both cars were able to travel on their own power.

BOBCAYGEON STORES WERE BURGLARIZED

BOBCAYGEON, November 25. — Burglars visited the village on Wednesday night and got away with the following loot: F. W. Read, general merchant, boots, clothing, etc., value, $80; Copeland, the plumber, $38 in cash and $22 in flashlights and accessories; R. A. Kennedy, general merchant, $20 in cash; Conway Bros., general merchants, $25 in cash and waists; Perkins' restaurant is missing cigars, cigarettes and tobacco; Grocer Croft mourns the loss of all his small change, as also do Wright and Leber, confectioneers; Grocer Devitt reports that his cellar was entered. In each case but one entrance to the stores was effected from the rear. The burglars were heard at the door of Miss Edgar's novelty store, but decamped when she shouted at them. Miss Edgar says that one of the men had a flash light, neither wore overcoats; one was dressed in dark and the other in grey suits, and she believes they fled south, either toward Lindsay or Peterborough.

FLAMES DAMAGE KINGSTON STORES

KINGSTON, Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press.)—Fire this morning damaged the Isaac Cohen building at the corner of Princess and Barrie streets, completely destroying the stock and fixtures of Dominion Stores, Ltd., and partly damaging the stock of the Vetcraft store conducted by E. Warburton, the tailor shop of N. B. Calhoun, who represents the House of Hobberlin, and the millinery stock of the Misses Wheeler and O'Conner. The loss to the Dominion Stores is five thousand, to the Vetcraft store thirteen hundred.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.— (Canadian Press.)—Dealings were light at the opening of to-day's stock market and speculative interests continued to centre around seelcted issues. Division Chemical rose two points to a new high record and Gas Traction and Express Company shares strengthened. American Smelting Preferred, American Ice and Sumatra Tobacco also improved. But rails, Steels, Equipments, Textiles and Mail Order stocks were disposed to ease. The weakess of German marks featured the foreign exchange list.

Of the more representative issues, Oils were the only stocks to lag in the further advance of the morning. Rails of the investment and speculative groups, particularly Transcontinentals and Coalers, rose 1 to 1¾ points.

Food, Leather and Metal shares gained one to three, and Utilities registered further advances on buying of American Telephone and Western Union. Trading in Bonds was active but confusing. Liberty 3½'s made a new high for the year at 96.30, but new offerings of French Municipal, namely, Bordeaux, Lyons and Marseilles, resulted in re-actions of about 1 3-4 points in outstanding French municipal issues. Call money opened and renewed into next week at 5 per cent.

A two point rise in Mexican Petroleum created an inquiry for other popular shares and the market became livelier and stronger in the early afternoon. A wide assortment of usually inactive shares were marked up substantially, Gulf States steel Allied Chemical, Otis Elevator, Endicott-Johnson, New York Dock, Colorado and Southern and Studebaker preferred gaining two to four points. Profit taking in Davison Chemical forced it down nearly five points from its high figure of the forenoon.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange heavy. Demand, Great Britain, 3.99 1-8; Canadian dollars, 8 3-4 per cent. discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press).—Wheat quotations, which ranged from ¾ to 1 3-8 higher, with December 1.11⅛ to 1.11 3-4, and May 1.15 to 1.14 5-8, were followed by material further gains.

Corn and oats were firmer with wheat. Corn started 3-8 to 3-4 to 7-8c higher, May 55 5-8 to 55 7-8, and later re-acted a little.

Oats, after opening a shade to ¼c higher, May 38 3-8 to 38½, held steady at about the initial figures.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Nov. 25.— (Canadian Press.)—Very little of interest occurred on the local stock exchange during the first half hour this morning, only a few of the leaders putting in an appearance. Atlantic Sugar was up a quarter point at 32, while Brazilian was down a quarter at 25 1-4. National Breweries was stronger by three quarters at 57.

CURZON SPEECH STIRS BRITISH PRESS TO-DAY

TIMES IS NEUTRAL

LONDON, Nov. 25.— (Canadian Press.)—Commenting on Lord Curzon's criticism of Britain's speech, The Daily Chronicle to-day declares that the Government has been compelled to take a serious view of the French Premier's utterance, and The Daily News states that the Foreign Minister's "grave utterance is entirely true."

The Times, however, interprets Curzon's "veiled allusions" as intended to explain that the "manifest inadequacy o the British foreign policy" was a result of the war, Britain not being able any longer to act independently. The Morning Post charges Lord Curzon with "venting his spleen on an ally" and thereby inviting some dangerous retorts. "The French policy may be isolated," it says, "but it is certainly intelligible and successful, while Curzon's is neither."

French Aroused.

PARIS, Nov. 25. — (Canadian Press.)—The French Government is deeply aroused over the criticism of the French policy at Washington by Lord Curzon, but it was explained in official circles to-day, however, that the opinion of A. J. Balfour would be accepted as that of the British Government.

DANGEROUS

LETTER FROM DAY-NITE BATTERS CO., STORAGE BATTERY EXPERYT

Dear Sir or Madam:—

At this time of the year when you are thinking of storing your car for the winter, have you given your Storage Battery any consideration?

The Storage Battery, while often neglected, is one of the most import ant parts of the modern automobile, and such should be given every possible care.

We have lately enlarged our Battery Station, installed larger and more up-to-date equipment, also acquired the services of another Battery Expert.

We intend during the coming winter, to prove to our many clients why it will pay them to let us look after their Batteries and give the attention that only an expert can give.

You must realize that once a battery has been frozen, it is useless, and therefore must be replaced or rebuilt. Why then take a chance? Store your battery with a reputable Service Station and save money.

We will positively guarantee your battery against fire, damage or frost, also call for and deliver same when required.

Hoping to have the pleasure of serving you. We are, respectfully your, Day-Nite Battery Co.; P. S. Dallin Manager.

188 Charlotte street, or call Phone 855.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 25. — (Canadian Press).—An appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from the Manitoba Court of Appeal on the dissolution of the injunction against the Grain Commission is probable. Notice has been served that the Manitoba Appellate Tribunal will be asked to permit appeal from its decision.

SHOT BY ROBBER, HE MAY RECOVER.

WINNIPEG, November 25. Canadian Press. — Abe Davis, the drug store clerk, who was shot last night by a robber, who escaped wth $40 from the cash drawer, is still alive, and may recover.

Joseph Wilder, the manager of the store, also received two bullets in his body.

The less you pay to build a house, the less it will cost to tear it down.

Moots Wireless From Australia To V. K. and Here

LONDON, Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press). — Reuter's correspondent at Melbourne cables that Premier Hughes has submitted to the House of Representatives a scheme for direct wireless communication between Australia and the United Kingdom.

The Commonwealth and Amalgamated Wireless Company will forthwith construct high power stations to carry a direct commercial service between Australia, the United Kingdom and Canada, main trunk stations to be erected within two years.

A GOOD BAZAAR GEORGE STREET

For the presentation of their annual Christmas sale the large, airy basement of George street Methodist church has been turned into a very pleasant place by the members of the Ladies' Aid Society. The suggestion is essentially a Christmas one. Everywhere, miniature Christmas trees and boughs of balsam and cedar are used for effective decorations.

The bazaar was formally opened yesterday afternoon by the Rev. W. H. Young, and a bumper crowd attended last evening for supper, which is laid in two long, brightly-lighted rooms, decorated with Christmas bells and cedar boughs, with cut flowers on the tables. The supper room is in charge of Mrs. George Robinson, and the prettily-arranged tea-room in the outer hall is looked after by Mrs. B. Shotrley.

The different booths are filled with the prettiest of Christmas wares and home-made articles of all sorts. Mrs. W. Eyres and Mrs. Andrew Allison have charge of the dainty flower table; Mrs. S. A. Oke looks after the novelty booth, a pretty affair of yellow and white crepe festoons; the white goods section, with a very effective 'snow' effect in green and white, is under the supervision of Mrs. P. Hetherington and Mrs. F. J. Redpath; Mrs. Belleghem has the aprons, in a red, white and blue-striped nook; and Mrs. S. J. Stubbs watches over the home-made cookery in an attractive corner, with garnishings of gaily-decorated Christmas fancies in red and white.

Handkerchiefs, baby wear and dolls, in red and green, are under the care of Mrs. Mather; the candy is in a lovely little lattice-work arrangement of mauve and white, with floral wreaths, supervised by Mrs. J. M. Fannings, Mrs. A. M. Celland and Miss Mary Elliott, and the corner where 'Canada's Garden' waits, is the most notable of the lot. Here are orange and white drapings, with high stalks of wheat, and all sorts of garden produce, the yellow tints of oranges, squash and pumpkins making a glowing point of color. Mrs. F. Sanderson, Mrs. Sarginson and Miss McMillan have charge here.

The Jam is Breaking; Business Improvement Becoming Perceptible

DUE IN PART TO SEASONAL INFLUENCES, BUT DEGREE OF STABILITY COUPLED WITH SHORT STOCKS IN HANDS OF RETAILERS IS CONTRIBUTING TO INSPIRE CONFIDENCE— "THE WORST IS OVER" IS CONCENSUS OF AUTHORITATIVE OPINION-

After fifteen months of reverses, business is on the upgrade. The improvement which has been becoming more perceptible for the last two months is continuing. While this improvement is due in large part to seasonal influences, there is no doubt that it stands on pretty secure foundations. There is a degree of stability now which, coupled with short stocks in the hands of retailers, is contributing to inspire confidence.

The Royal Bank of Canada, in its monthly trade bulletin for November, gives the following three features of the situation:

1—Greater stability in prices.
2—Greater trade activity due to depletion of stocks on hand.
3—Increased confidence.

Greenshields & Company, Montreal, in their review, point out that if deflation is not by any means complete, it is at least plain that with 81 per cent. of the war rise in prices cancelled in the United States, 61 per cent. in the United Kingdom, 52per cent. in France, and 54 per cent. in Canada, the worst is over.

The National Bank of Commerce of New York, in its bulletin states: "There is no doubt that the improvement which has thus far taken place is more or less seasonal in character, but it is nevertheless true that the progess made toward normal business is sound. Such temporary setbacks as may occur after the autumn buying should, therefore, bring no discouragement. Viewing conditions as a whole, the facts justify conservative optimism as to the future."

Following is from the Royal Bank bulletin:

"It is possible to report a slight improvement in general business conditions during th past two months; and although this improvement has not been of a duration or scope to warrant any great optimism, yet it is exceedingly welcome to a business world which has suffered little but reverses since the summer of 1920.

"Unexpectedly low estimates of the outturn of the current United States cotton crop and a consequent heavy advance in the price of raw cotton, probably has been a factor in the increased activity of the cotton goods trade. The price position of cotton is as yet a far from settled one. The possibility of short supplies supports the opinion of those who predict still higher prices. But the possible reduction of consumption, which these higher prices may entail, is an argument on the other side.

"Whatever the outcome may be in the case of cotton, it is not felt that the return of prices in general to a permanently higher level is probable. The very fact, however, that certain commodities have managed to advance is an encouraging sign after a period of prolonged liquidation. It is a sign that greater stability may be expected.

"In British Columbia, the lumber and salmon fishing industries find business slightly better. Export orders for lumber have been more numerous. Good shipments have been made to Japan. Approximate figures covering the production of canned salmon are now available. British Columbia this year has produced about 420,000 cases, as against nearly 1,200,000 cases last year. This is discouraging. The pack of Sockeye salmon reached a total of only 158,000 cases, which compares with about one million packed in 1913. Prices for this grade of canned salmon have steadily improved. The short pack has also created a new demand for the lower grades, and the prospects for the disposal of the stocks on hand are good.

"In Ontario, there has been little change in industrial conditions during the last month. Some firms advise an improvement, others continue to note a gradual slowing down. Certain favourable features which our report emphasises are:

"1—Greater stability in prices.
"2—Greater trade activity due to depletion of stocks on hand.
"3—Increased confidence.

"The lumber market still is very quiet. It is felt that operations will be largely curtailed during the coming winter, but it is not possible to present any general statement as to how the cut will compare with that of a year ago. Buying on the part of retailers is being conducted on a limited basis, and for immediate requirements. Orders are for the better grades, and there is still a wide divergence in prices.

"In the the Povince of Quebec, conditions in the manufacturing industry have undergone little change recently. The boot and shoe trade is fairly quiet, the factories in general working on rush orders. An improvement is looked for shortly, as oders come in fom travellers who have only lately been sent out. Some cotton mills are very active. The demand for kraft paper is improving.

"The lumber business in the Maritime Provinces still is quiet. Inquiries from local and United States buyers, however, are increasing, and the outlook has somewhat improved.

"The fishing industry, too, has taken a turn for the better. The year's catch is well up to average, and weather conditions have been favourable for curing. There is a fairly good demand at prices averaging about $6.25 per quintel, which is considered satisfactory when present costs of production are taken into account, and no difficulty in disposing of present stocks before the beginning of next season's fishing is anticipated.

"Quiet prevails in the manufacturing industry.

"Collections throughout Canada continue slow, and many renewals are being sought. Delay in thresh-

MEETING AT BRIDGENORTH

Messrs. J. H. Burnham, V. J. McElderry and J. F. Strickland were at Foresters' Hall, Bridgenorth, last evening. Mr. Noble Kelly made a most acceptable Chairman.

Mr. Burnham called attention to the fact that all the great mergers and combines of which people complained got their charters from the Laurier Government. He pointed out the absolute necessity of a Government-owned ocean-going merchant marine to the Canadian exporter, and said that he had supported it and worked for it for years, and yet Mackenzie King wished to throw the carrying trade back into the hands of private companies.

He defied Mr. Gordon to say that the Government had, or would, lose a dollar on the Riordon deal.

Takes Exception.

Mr. J. F. Strickland took strong exception to the attacks made upon him in the press reports of Mr. Gordon's meetings by Mr. Gordon. "If we look at the gag unfurled at the top of the advertisement of the Hon. Mackenzie-King's meeting on Saturday night next," said the speaker, "we must wonder of this is the same flag which Mr. King supported during the war by going to the United States." Neither Mr. Gordon nor Mr. King had volunteered for the war in defence of that flag which they now so triumphantly unfurled, so far at least as the speaker had ever heard of.

The Tariff.

Mr. McElderry devoted his alloted time to a discussion of the tariff, and surveyed the tariff situation throughout the whole world. It thus appeared that all great and progressive countries of the world were engaged in a keen competition of tariff raising, and that Canada was the only country in the civilised world where there was any party pledged to a reduction of tariff.

LIBERAL FEDERATION SUPPORTS U.S. PROPOSALS

LONDON, November 25, Canadian Press. — The National Liberal Federation, meeting in Newcastle yesterday, adopted a resolution endorsing Secretary of State Hughes' proposal for a ten year naval holiday, urging that the Britsh representatives in Washington be instructed to support all practical projects for the progressive disarmament of all nations, and demanding the publication of all treaties.

An attempt to include in the resolution an amendment demanding denunciation of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, was defeated on the ground that considering Japan's hearty cooperation at Washington it was "inadvisable to give Japan such curt and brusque notice."

JOHN DEWART AT CORDOVA MINES

CORDOVA MINES, Nov. 25.—A large crowd turned out to hear Capt. John A. Dewart, M.C., the Liberal candidate, and Reeve Curtis of Havelock, discuss the questions of the day.

Mr. Dewart in a vigorous speech showed that Premier Meighen was talking tariff because he did not want the electorate to examine the record of the past government. He reviewed the railway situation and showed how the business of the C.N. Railway was concealed from the people and was losing huge sums of money annually to the Canadian people.

He charged that Hon. Arthur Meighen and the Hon. T. A. Crerar of betraying the confidence of the people and violating the civil rights of Canadian citizens by giving a limited franchise to the women of Canada, using the soldier vote for defeating the will of the people and breaking election pledges in 1917.

He pointed out the serious financial condition of the country and called the 15 years of prosperity under the Liberal administration.

He concluded with a plea of unity and co-operation of all people of the Dominion regardless of occupation.

Reeve Curtis.

Mr. Curtis discussed the Murdock charges showing how cabinet ministers prevented the Board of Commerce from prosecuting profiteers and combines.

He reviewed the life of Hon. W. L. M. King, the Liberal leader from the time he was President of Newsboys' Association to the present day.

He concluded with a plea for all the people to combine in supporting a man who had served his country in the war, had been decorated by His Majesty King George, knew the farming industry thoroughly and was qualified to fight the battle of East Peterborough in the House of Commons.

The meeting closed with three cheers for th King and the candidate.

TO SUE FOR FALSE ARREST.

NORTH BAY, Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press.)—Charles Sandrelli, out on bail pending decision on his appeal against the judgment of a magistrate at Kinson sentencing him to six months' imprisonment for selling liquor, last night declared that he was going to sue the government, the town or somebody for false arrest. He was arrested Monday last for alleged connection with a robbery of furs from Adams' store here.

THE BEATTY TILT

Admiral Beatty has revealed the reason why he wears his hat aslant, almost rakishly atilt over one eye, accentuating that determined jaw of his and lighting the expression of his personality with the glamour of romance.

"Really you know," he said to a reporter in Washington yesterday, "people may consider it affectation for me to go around with my headgear at that angle, but it is not intended for that. I've always had to do it. I've a bump on my head, and if I wear my hat straight it gives me a headache."

GREAT PACING MEET AT OTTAWA THIS WINTER

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press.) — In connection with the Winter Carnival which is now assured for Ottawa, there will be the biggest winter meeting for trotters and pacers ever held in Canada. Plans are already under way to arrange a programme of races which will be most attractive to horsemen and spectators alike. A committee of management will be appointed and an effort made to arrange with Mount Clemens, Mich., Toronto and Montreal association to have no confliction of dates, so there may be a grand array of harness horses for the meeting which is to be staged here January 28 to February 4.

HEARNE WINS AUTO RACE BUT MILTON IS CHAMPION

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press.)—Eddie Hearne, of Los Angeles, won the 250-mile automobile race here yesterday and Thomas Milton, second, took the lead in the national championship on seasonal points.

Frank Elliott took third place. Roscoe Sarles, contending against Milton for the championship, was forced out of the race in the 180th lap.

ZBYSZKO O RETIRE.

NEW YORK, November 25, Canadian Press. — Stanislaus Zbyszko, who will defend his heavy weight wrestling title on Monday night in a bout with Ed. (Strangler' Lewis, former champion, announced today that he expected to retire within a year.

"I intend," he said, "to give all those worthy of a chance a crack at the championship as fast as the matches can be arraned. Then I expect to quit."

Zbyszko is more than forty years old and has engaged in 940 matches during his career.

BE SURE YOUR GARAGE PROPERLY VENTILATED

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Cold weather "don'ts" of the past have been increased this year with a new one by the ventilation experts. It is that you make sure your garage is properly ventilated or your relatives may have to call an undertaker. Deadly carbon monoxid, a poisonous gas given off by automobile engines in motion, has taken a big toll of human lives in the past in the case of chauffeurs or car owners who failed to realize that working in a poorly ventilated or closed garage with the engine running was really as foolish as "blowing out the light" in the good old days.

New discoveries of the virulence of carbon monoxid recently have been made by Professor Yandell Harrison and other engineers working to solve the problem of ventilation for the proposed vehicular tunnel under the Hudson River. Among their tests was one to show the effect of the gas when it is confined in closed spaces. A summary of their observations, with particular reference to garages, appears in The Journal of the American Medical Association.

It showed that if the quantity of carbon monoxid in air did not exceed three parts in 10,000, no physiological effects were produced. Between three and six parts to the 10,000 the effects were hardly perceptible. Above that, headache and nausea were induced, increasing in severity with the rising of the ratio, and when it reached 15 to the 10,000 life was in jeopardy.

Motor car owners and operators are warned that an engine emits a square foot of the deadly gas a minute when in motion, and in three minutes the air in a closed garage is surcharged to a sufficient degree greatly to imperil muman life. The victim falls unconscious before he realizes he is in peril, and death is the outcome unless he is speedily rescued and brought into the open air.

BETHANY AND THE DISTRICT

BETHANY, Nov. 25.—Mrs. (Rev.) Victor Walker and little son, of Janetville, are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rowan.

Mr. Chas, Roland, who has been some years in the West, is visiting his brother, Mr. Walter Roland.

Mr. Frank Hannah has accepted a position as clerk in F. C. Lawe's store.

Mr. Lloyd Davis returned to his home here on Tuesday night, after a year spent in Western Canada.

Mr. Cecil Magill has taken a position in the Bank of Toronto.

Mr. Milton Challice has sold part of his farm to a company for building purposes. The erection of four new houses will commence early in the spring. It is hoped that this will help to overcome the shortage of houses in this village, which is felt by prospective inhabitants.

Rev. and Mrs. T. E. Beckel entertained the Epworth League on Wednesday evening at the Parsonage, as it was social night. Miss Lillian Westlake had charge of the programme, which was of unusual interest, and consisted of contests, songs, music, readings and recitations.

Mr. Walter Rowan was a business visitor to Peterborough on Thursday.

HAIR BOBBED AT 110

Owner of Tresses Wants to be "Like Other Girls"

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 25.—The oldest inmate in the Daughters of Israel Home for the Aged, 110 years old, is about to have her hair bobbed, "like the other girls," as she expressed it.

She is known among the other inmates as "The Telephone," because of her facility in gossip. She ascribes her longevity largely to diet, eating no meat and very little bread.

Another inmate of the Home is Mrs. Rivka Zippe, 105 years old. She primps constantly, and says the secret of her old age and beauty is fresh air. Her favorite diversion is playing with dolls.

JAPAN TO GET MOST BY PLAN TO CUT NAVIES

STATISTICIANS SAY BRITAIN WOULD GET SECOND - BEST DEAL ON THE WHOLE.

U. S. TO SUFFER MOST

WASHINGTON, November 25 (Canadian Press). — The demonstration has been at work on the disarmament proposals of Secretary Hughes, and his efforts have resulted in elaborate tables showing how Great Britain, the United States, and Japan will fare from the naval standpoint should the Hughes plan be adopted.

The finding of the statistician is that the Hughes proposal is "generous" on the part of the UnitedStates, both as regards the proposed "5-5-3" ratio, and the retained tonnage phases of the United States plan. It is further found that Japan is securing by far the best deal throughout.

To treat the tonnage figures of the Hughes plan from a new angle, the "5-5-3" ratio presents a distribution of capital ship tonnage on the basis of Japan keeping a fleet representing 23 per cent. of the total tonnage of the three Powers, the other two dividing the remainder. During the ten-year period, however, Great Britain would have in the neighbourhood of 43 per cent.; the United States would have something more than 35 per cent.; and Japan over 21 per cent. of the total. The change at the end of the ten-year holiday represents equalization of the United States and British fleets, to which Great Britain already has agreed.

Under the "5-5-3" ratio and the proposed limitation of auxiliary tonnage as well as capital craft through application of the replacement rule of maxims, the British and United States fleets would reach a total of 1,120,000 tons in all combat craft and Japan 672,000. This makes possible a comparison of the relation of the fleets to various factors, representative of the place of each power among the nations.

Against the simple question of geographical area of each, for instance, the limited fleets would mean for Japan more than 2,500 tons of naval strength per thousand square miles. The same figure for the United States would be approximately 300 tons, and for the British Empire between 80 and 90 tons.

Even more striking in disproportion favourable to Japan is the comparison on the basis of accepted estimates of national wealth. Japan would have something like 26,000 or 27,000 fleet tons per billion dollars in national wealth, while the United States figures would be little more than 3,000 tons per billion, and the British 6,000 tons per billion.

Dispropriation again holds true as to foreign commerce of each Power. Japan would have almost 200 tons of naval tonnage per million dollars in her import and export both over a period of years. The United States would have little more than 80 tons per million, and the British between 40 and 50 tons.

Many Messages From Dominion For Delegates

EXPRESS HOPE FOR SUCCESS OF CO FERENCE AND PLEDGE PUBLIC SUPPORT TO CANADIAN DELEGATE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.— (By Ben Deacon, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press)— Members of the various delegations from other countries celebrated the United States Thanksgiving Day yesterday. There were no formal conference meetings but the representativs of several nations met in informal consultations, while others spent a part of the day in work connected with the various phases of the conference problems with which they are now dealing. As a reshlt it is believed that a number of more or less obscure points were cleared up and the way paved for expediting matters on the resumption of the committee meetings to-day.

This was the second Thanksgiving Day of the year for Sir Robert Borden, for he already had celebrated the Canadian Thanksgiving. Today he again did his duty by the turkey and cranberry sauce in honor of the big holiday of his United States friends. Sir Robert went to church in the morning and in the afternoon he was at the Canadian delegation headquarters in consultation with Mr. L. C. Christie, his adviser, and attending to various matters necessary to the work of the conference. In the evening he dined with friends.

A flood of telegrams and letters has been received at the Canadian delegation's headquarters since the opening of the armament conference from various organizations and from private citizens in the Dominion.

They contain resolutions endorsing the objects of the conference and pledging support to the Canadian delegates'. Some of them offer advice and suggestions as to what the conference might undertake to accomplish.

These messages arrive by the score in every mail and hundreds of them are now on file in the Dominion headquarters in the Franklin Square Hotel. Anyone in doubt as to the interest of Canadian citizens in the great international gathering at present under way need only glance through this file to be convinced of a very real, heartfelt interests which extends from ocean to ocean, a unanimity of support for the object which the conference seeks to achieve, and a wide realization of the responsible part which the Dominion is taking in the conference, through the Canadian representative, Sir Robert Borden.

Most of the resolutions are similar in form. They express hope for the success of the conference and pledge public support to the Canadian delegate. Some of them urge that full publicity be given to the discussions and a few declare in favor of all sessions being open. Several contain a plea similar to that sent by the Women's Institute of Lunenburg, N.S., which urges Sir Robert not to allow himself "to be influenced by motives unworthy the people of Canada". One from the Inter-church Advisory Council of Canada, Toronto, declares it voices the sentiment of the people of Canada, Toronto, declares it voices the

LAST EFFORTS FOR PEACE IN IRELAND TO-DAY

LLOYD GEORGE TO MEET CRAIG IN WHAT MAY PROVE TO BE LAST ATTEMPT AT IRISH SETTLEMENT.

PARLEYS IN PERIL

LONDON, Nov. 25. — (Canadian Press).—Mr. Lloyd George, who probably will be accompanied by Lord Chancellor Birkenhead, is scheduled to meet Sir James Craig this morning in what may be the last effort to induce him, as Premier of Ulster, to discuss alternate plans, devised to protect Ulster's interests, to the proposed All-Ireland Parliament, which the Northern delegates thus far have refused to even consider formally.

Meanwhile Arthur Griffith, chief of the Sinn Fein delegates, for the first time since the Irish conference opened in October, went to Dublin last night to consult with Eamon De Valera, the Irish Republican leader.

Effort in the negotiations with the Sinn Fein this week has been directed to devising some constitutional means for reconciling this divergence, but with little hope of success. Any agreement with the Sinn Fein that did not include allegiance to the Crown would, it is believed in Government circles, receive little support by any party in England. Therefore, those best informed are predicting an early end to the conference.

On Tuesday the Ulster Premier will submit to his Parliament the reasons urged by the Prime Minister why Ulster should consent to treat with the Sinn Fein. It is expected that he will ask Mr. Lloyd George to facilitate full consideration of Ulster's case by publishing the whole correspondence exchanged thus far so that Ulster may see the real state of the negotiations.

The Irish Liberal Federation, an organization in which former Premier Asquith is interested, at its annual meeting yesterday, passed a resolution supporting Dominion Home Rule for Ireland, suggesting that Parliament should be asked to endorse this policy, and recording its conviction that if the conference fails there will be return to the policy of force.

PROVINCE TO BUILD 75 MILES OF PAVEMENT

TORONTO, Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press.)— About seventy-five miles of permanent pavement will be started by the Ontario government next year at a cost of almost four and a half million dollars. Tenders for the work will be called for early in the spring.

A SPLENDID START.

The Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association are to be congratulated upon the impetus imparted to their drive for clean sport by the success of last evening's theatre night. The large attendance, the presence of such well known sporting celebrities as W. A. Hewitt and Sheriff Paxton, the most favourable impression created by Walter Smaill, director of athletics for the Association all have helped to bring the new movement prominently before the public and to intrigue popular interest and the Examiner is sure that the mate the officers of the Association With such a splendid start the organization should be encouraged to continue along the lines that have been laid out for its work and to establish a new era in Peterborough so far as healthful, clean sport is concerned. The progress of the Association will be watched with interest an dthe Examiner is sure that the best wishes of the community are freely proffered to the officers and members in their endeavour to put Peterborough effectively on the sporting map and to develop in local teams and in the people who attend the various games a spirit of co-operation and loyalty that will affect a transformation in sporting conditions in this city.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING.

The public meeting called by the Tenants' and Owners' Association to-night in the G. W. V. A. Hall should exhaust the accommodation of that building, for if ever there was a time when the ratepayers should interest themselves in civic government and in the selection of capable aldermen and other public servants that time would seem to be now. Usually there has been little done, except the publicity given by the Examiner to arouse the electors until nomination day and then a handful of citizens come together and attend to the important duty of nominating candidates. The balance of the ratepayers having taken no steps to see that good men are placed in the field usually spent the time until election day grumbling about the paucity of candidates and complaining that there are no capable aspirants in the list. The nominating of candidates at a public meeting at this early stage in the campaign is an interesting experiment that promises to have fruitful results. It will at least allow time for the electors to size up the men who are offering themselves and it will permit the latter to study the problems of municipal government and to announce the platform upon which they are running, two features which commend themselves to the thinking citizen.

PARTIZANSHIP.

Commenting on the present election campaign the Kitchener Record declares that party lines have to a great extent been wiped out in Canada and that while partyism still exists it is an intelligent and independent partyism. Other newspapers as well as individuals have been makinging similar statements. But will they stand up under examination? Has partizanship been abolished because there is a third party in the field? Anyone who has observed the development of the Farmer political movement must know that the answer to these questions is "no." There has never been a more blindly partizan political class organization in Canada than the Farmers' party, never a party in which class lines were drawn so tightly, never a party so intolerant towards its rival organizations. Men may have dropped their Conservative or Liberal allegiance, but if they have connected themselves with the Farmers' movement they have not ceased to be partizan, rather their blind acceptance of the Progressive doctrine has left them narrower and less open to a logical appeal than ever before. And when has there been heard in Canada such shameless playing upon class prejudice and such parochial appeals as Mr. J. J. Morrison has given utterance to in Ontario? Partizanship is far from being dead; on the contrary it is being developed to an extradordinary degree of bitterness by the Agrarian party.

THE INDIVIDUAL'S GREATEST PROBLEM

Worry kills more people than war, and the greatest source of worry is generally personal finances. How to keep ahead of the world is a problem which is common to practically all people. If one was to judge from figures recently compiled from Government statistics an overwhelmingy large number of persons have never solved it. One hundred and seven thousand, one hundred and nine persons died in Canada last year ad out of this vast number only 7,078 left estates taxable under the sucession duties acts,—the vast mejority leaving little or nothing.

The rise of the institution of life insurance has provided the way out for many people. Of those who died last year life insurance formed a large part of their estates—in many bases all of it. Over fifty million dollars was paid out last year by the life insurance companies. This amount is growing rapidly as is also the number of personus availing themselves of life insurance service, a thousand persons a day on an average insuring their lives.

This system provides the salvation for many people. They cannot save much each year. Good sound investments for small sums are hard to find. Money in the bank is good but it is often squandered or death comes before it has grown to any appreciable size. Small sums however, in life insurance eliminate all chance and morover once provision is made for the future, a person is more free to spend the rest of his money,—within certain limits of course—and enjoy the spending of it.

Life insurance teaches us to live. It gives courage from a knowledge of financial backing, guarantees a comfortable old age for oneself and comforts at least for one's dependants with a chance in life for their children.

Very recently the great merchant prince John Wanamaker used his paid space in the newspapers to give this advice to the public, Wanamaker being for a long time the most heavily insured man in America.

"It is almost a crime to bring up a family in affluence and for its master or chief to not arrange his affairs so that they shall not be exposed to sudden and severe poverty in case of death when, by forethought and the help of substantial insurance companies, he can put something aside out of his earnings for the mother and each child without being dishonest with his creditors.

In many instances known to the writer the wife has been the best partner the man had and helped him materially in making his business a success.

(Signed) John Wanamaker.

Add to this the Hon. Mr. Lloyd George has said:

The willingness to take risks is in the great merchant or capitalist a virtue. It is to him what courage is to a soldier or a statesman, or imagination to a poet. But the willingness to take risks is in the wage earner or the salary earner a weakness, or in great excess, a vice. The contrary of the vice of gambling is in the virtue of thrift and the system of life insurance has given the thrifty man an opportunity of practicing his virtue.

David Lloyd George.

POLITICAL PRINCIPLES.

Some people seem to regard principles as a luxury which may be indulged by politicians in easy and prosperous times, but are a perilous encumberance in times of danger such as these. We do not agree. What is a principle but the crystallization of experience? If a principle is sound, it is of value in any situation, not a danger, but a guide to safety. A man who abandons his principles in a time of danger is like a man who throws away his arms in battle in order to run away the faster—he is not a coward only, but a fool. We gain nothing, but lose much by a surrender of sound principles—principles slowly crystallized out of the experience not of one generation but of many.

FOWLERS CORNERS.

On Tuesday evening the congregation of Lakevale Presbyterian Church, spent a very pleasant and social evening at the home of Mr., and Mrs. Alfred Rutherford in connection with the W.M.S. The evening was spent in music, games and several contests. A silver collection was taken for missions. Refreshments were served after which the Rev. Mr. Crow, spoke a few words thanking Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford for their kindness in giving their home and acting the part of most genial host and hostess. The very pleasant evening was closed by singing the National Anthem and prayer.

"EXAMINER EXTRA"

Paris Surrendered

Examiner Office,
Peterborought, Jan. 30, 1870.

By Special Telegram this morning we learn that Paris has surrendered.

Like the whisperings of long-ago ghosts are the printed sheets of the little "Examiner Extras," printed in the year of Our Lord 1870, with their black headlines of "European War." Small single sheets, ten inches by five, with their bleached, parchment-like paper, and the tiny type of 51 years ago, they are curious little reminders of a mighty conflict, and timely enough now, when world powers sit in solemn conclave to decide whether France shall maintain an army sufficient to guard her against a third attack from her grasping neighbor.

The warfare of those days is well portrayed in the tiny bulletin. A despatch dated "Paris, midnight, August 29th," says: "It is believed here to-night that a tremendous battle has been going on all day, as according to all accounts McMahon must have reached the troops of Prince Frederick Charles to-day— Prince Royal appears undecided; he has arrested his course at Chalons, owing to his ignorance of McMahon's intentions."

"New York, Aug. 30th.— A few Frenchmen gathered last night in Union Square and were soon joined by a procession of Irishmen singing the Marsellaise. Rev. O'Leary, a Catholic clergyman, made an address."

"New York, Aug. 30th.—World's London correspondent telegraphs repetition of warning already given that there is imminent peril of Russian intervention at no distant time in this war.

"The Belgian Army has been put on a war footing by vote of August 12th and ordered to front."

From Paris, Sept. 7th, comes the following: "Large numbers of soldiers from recent fields of battle are reaching Paris, who affirm that the want of concert among chiefs was cause of defeats."

From Favre's circular to diplomatic agents in France:

"The dynasty of Napoleons has fallen, and France arises free. If the King of Prussia, who marches upon us and declared that he warred upon the Emperor and not upon France, means to continue hostilities, now becomes imperious, and a war against humanity upon his head be the responsibility.—

"We will not cede one inch of French territory, nor one stone of the fortresses of France.—If our forts are taken, we have our walls; if our walls shall be taken, we have the barricades of Paris; her streets can hold out for months and conquer."

London, Sept. 8th.— "Distressing accounts are given of the sufferings of the people of Strassburg, but still the yrefuse to surrender."

Berlin, Sept. 8th.— King William enters Rheims on Monday.

London, Sept. 8th.—An immense meeting was held at Newcastle-on-Tyne last eevning to express sympathy with France in war against Prussia.

London, Sept. 9th.—It is announced in official circles that France will accept any terms shortof dismemberment of territory. In refusing which she is supported by Russia.— If the Prussians should insist on the cession of Alsace and Lorraine, or even Metz and Strassburg, war will assume a most terrible character.

Paris, Sept. 10th.— "The impression is that the Prussians will be in sight of Paris on Sunday next, and will have religious services inside of Paris on the Sunday following."

"The Paris correspondent of the "News" writes that England having refused to negotiate for an armistice, Austria has undertaken it."

Berlin, Sept. 10th.—More than 25,000 French prisoners were captured in front of Sedan before capitulation. By capitulation 83,000 prisoners fell into our hands; of these 14,000 were wounded besides prisoners, 400 field pieces including 70 mitrailleurs, 150 siege guns, and 10,000 horses.

Brussels, Sept. 10th—"At the present time, the army of Prince Royal and Bavarians should be in their designated positions around Paris on Wednesday next. From these points they will slowly close in upon the French fortifications. A Prussian force was at campaign this Saturday forenoon."

Then a tiny sheet, 5 inches by 2 1-2, the "Examiner Extra of Jan. 30th, 1871. Two days after the actual occurrence, under the heading, "Paris Surrendered," are printed the significant words: "By Special Telegram this morning we learn that Paris has surrendered." Nothing more.

WINTER CHEESE

To take advantage of the rising market for cheese, C. E. Anderson of the Wilstead cheese factory, near Gananoque, has decided to fit his plant up for manufacturing cheese during the winter.

MISTRUST AND CYNICISM

There is some disappointment over the determined stand made by France at the Washington disarmament conference, for an army adequate to the needs of that country, as it conceives them, in view of possible German aggression. Mr. H. G. Wells scouts French fears, and even casts doubt upon the sincerity of M. Briand in parading them. France, according to that authority, is obstinately militaristic, 'learning nothing, forgeting nothing." He more than hints that she has sinister designs against Great Britain, "preparing energetically for fresh warlike operations in Europe and for war under sea against Great Britain." But is there not a great deal to be said for the French viewpoint, as presented at the conference? Desirable as it is that France should disarm, one must take account of actualities. Recently, the London Times published a communication which showed how easy it would be for Germany, in spite of the strict enforcement of the terms of the Treaty of Versailles, to put millions of seasoned troops in the field fully equipped and officered by ambitious junkers, who at present find it expedient to keep in the background. The weakness of her victorious neighbor might well prove the opportunity for revenge which these incurable war lords are awaiting for.

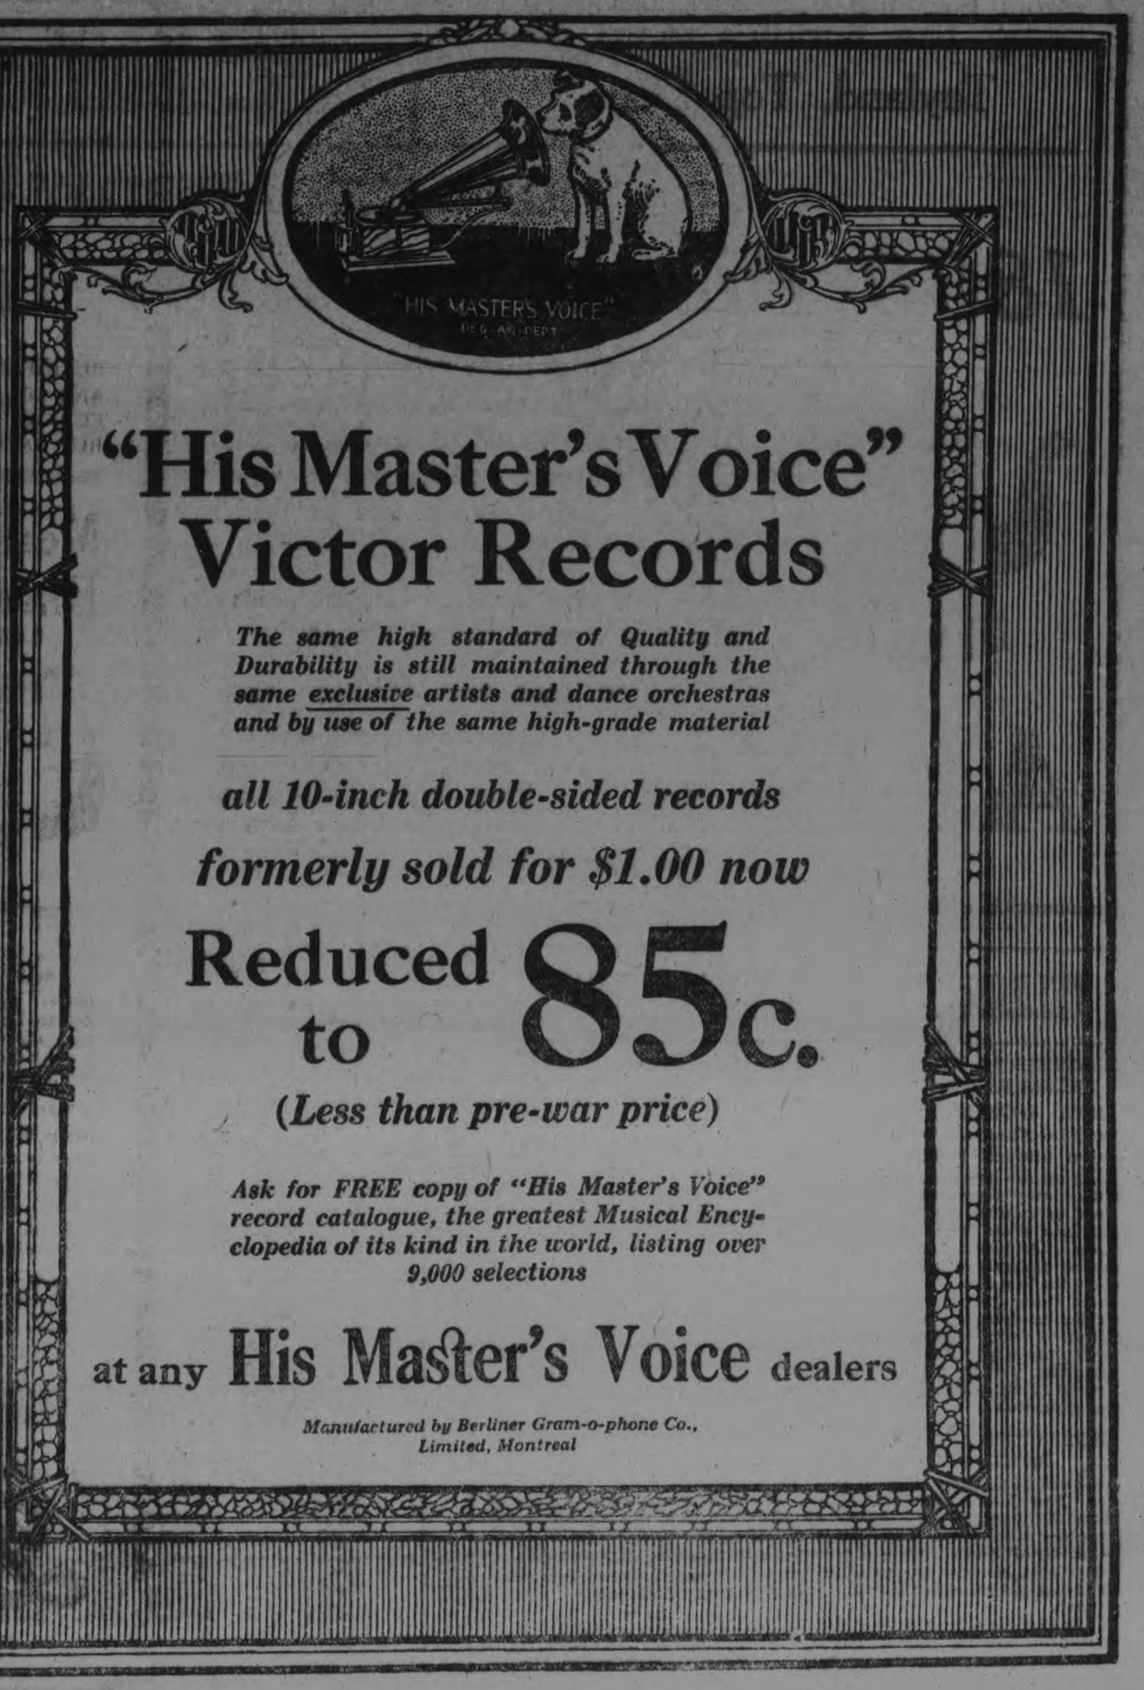
All France wants is to be guaranteed security. If other friendly nations will assure her of their protection, she will be content to cooperate with them to the fullest extent in the task of reducing armaments, naval or military, to the barest necessity; but if she is to be left to her own unaided resources, she insists that those resources shall not be dangerously impaired. It is an understandable position, and one with which it should not be difficult to sympathize. It it to be deplored that this suspicion of French intentions has emerged so prominently at this early stage of the proceedings. M. Briand has stated frankly and candidly the attitude of his countrymen. It is not the final word, but clears the air of ambiguity for further discussion. The matter must be threshed out by the delegates with minds free from misconception and prejudice.

Worse—very much worse—than this suspicion of France's good faith is the open cynicism of Mr. Bernard Shaw regarding Britain's attitude. It would be very difficult to imagine a more convincing proof of Britain's sincerity than her action in immediately cancelling her shipbuilding program. Yet we find Mr. Shaw talking about the inevitability of a war between Great Britain and the United States over the command of the sea. He finds justification for his prophecy in Premier Lloyd George's dictum that "sea power is necessarily the basis of that whole empire's existence." As if there is any possibility of disputing it! The United States recognizes the fact just as much as do the British themselves. It is not a question of rivalry, but of the very existence of the empire. Britain's sea power has never been misused, and never will be. To talk of war between the two great Enlish-speaking nations over a question of maritime supremacy, is preposterous. Great Britain has accepted with enthusiam the Hughes proposals, and would go even farlier than they recommended. What ground exists for Mr. Shaw's outburst, except sheer perversity? But it seems to be his mission to sound a'ways a jarring note.

—Hamilton Herald.

VERDICT OF ACCIDENTAL DEATH OF MRS. AHRENS

KITCHENER, Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press.)—That Mrs. Carl Ahrens came to her death by accidentally falling into the Grand River was the verdict returned early this morning by the inquest jury here. Interest in the case was intense and the Council Chamber, where the inquiry was held, was packed. Carl Ahrens is still held on a charge of murder.



CURZON DELIVERS A PLAIN WARNING

TELLS FRANCE HER SECURITY LIES IN CONFIDENCE OF WORLD

LONDON, November 25 (Canadian Press). — One of the most outspoken warnings ever addressed by the Foreign iMnister of one nation to another friendly nation was delivered publicly yesterday at a luncheon by Marquis Curzon of Keddleston, to France.

The British Foreign Minister declared that if France pursued an isolated and individual policy, she would not in the long run injure Germany, and would fail to protect herself.

It was a warning couched, if anything, in plainer terms than a similar speech delivered by Premier Lloyd-George last May, at the time when France was proceeding to the occupation of Germany's Ruhr towns, which created such a tremendous sensation.

Lord Curzon's address was directed primarily to the Washington conference on limitation of armament and Far Eastern questions, but it was clearly an intimation to France of the effect of that country's attitude towards disarmament. It also applied with equal force to the French policy in the Near East.

"Peace will never be achieved," said Lord Curzon, 'if any one Power tries to steal a march on another and conclude an arrangement on its own account."

CIVIL SERVANTS QUERY CANDIDATES

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press).—The Federated Association of Letter Carriers in a letter being sent to all Ottawa candidates seeking Parliamentary honors, containing four questions, have asker them if they are in favor of the present bonus being incorporated into the salaries of the civil servants, without prejudice to their statutory increases; employes who have been filling a position of a permanent nature for one year or more being placed on the permanent staff; removing discrimination against single men, by placing them as far as earnings are concerned, on a par with married men, and favoring civil servants being granted full political and civil rights.

a remedy without an equal, for the soothing of the lungs, loosening the phlegm, strengthening the breathing organs and fortifying them against serious pulmonary disease.

Mrs. John McKerney, Lower Montague, P.E.I., writes: "About three years ago I caught a very bad cold accompanied with a sore throat and hoarseness, and was so hoarse you could hardly hear me speak. I could get no rest at night with the terrible annoying, hacking cough. I tried several remedies but they did me no good. Finally I saw Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup advertised; got a bottle, and at once it gave me relief and after using four my cough had all gone. Now I always keep "Dr. Wood's" in the house, and shall recommend your wonderful remedy to others."

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, November 24. — Mr. and Mrs. John Blewett have returned from a month's visit to friends in St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Bradin entertained some friends on Monday evening in honour of their guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Nelson, of Toronto.

Miss Dorothy Sherin has completed her training at the Toronto General Hospital, and her many friends in the village wish her success in her chosen career.

Mr. T. H. Adams of Peterborough motored to the village on Wednesday.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will hold their annual Day of Prayer on Friday afternoon at two o'clock, in the basement of the Methodist Church.

As the season of Christmas approaches, we will have the usual Christmas bazaars and sales of work which have been manufactured to tempt the fancy of the seeker for Christmas gifts. This is one of the season's signs just as much as snow and cold weather.

This promises to be quite a busy season, as there will be a number of dances given during the winter, and the Chautauqua series of concerts for the Fireman's Fund, to provide the village with a proper fire alarm.

The key to success is work— There is no substitute for it!

In order to do your best work, you must be healthy. You must sleep soundly at night, your nerves must be strong, steady and under perfect control.

If you are accustomed to drinking tea or coffee with your meals or between meals, you may be loading yourself with a very great handicap. Your nervous system may be stimulated beyond what is natural for you.

For tea and coffee contain thein and caffeine. These are drugs, as any doctor can tell you. They are known to irritate the nervous system by their action and to cause restlessness and insomnia, which prevent the proper recuperation of the vital forces.

If you want to be at your best, capable of doing the very best work that lies in you, why not stop drinking tea and coffee? Drink Postum, the rich, satisfying beverage made from scientifically roasted cereals.

Postum contains absolutely no drugs of any kind, but in flavor is rich and satisfying. It helps nerve and brain structure by letting you get sound restful sleep.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Ask your grocer for Postum. Sold everywhere.

Big Graniteware Sale in Our Economy Basement

ON SALE SATURDAY AT 8.30 A.M. SHARP

1800 Pieces of Grey Graniteware (Seconds)

The Manufacturer advised us of a lot of seconds they had on hand and quoted a price on them that made it possible for us to take the entire lot. At present our Economy Basement is stocked to the limit with Christmas merchandise, and if we did not think it possible to clear this entire stock of Graniteware out in one day we would not have bothered with it. But as the prices were right, and the Graniteware, we judged from former shipments, was just as good as first quality, although they are rated as seconds, we purchased the entire lot. They will be on Sale Sat. at these low prices.

This is the eclipse of Graniteware Sales in the history of the Economy Basement. This department is surely living up to its far-famed name. ECOMOMY BASEMENT.

Here are the Prices and Items, on Sale Saturday at 8.30 a.m. sharp

At 53c

Tea Pots, Coffee Pots, Sauce Pans, Potato Pots, Roasting Pans, Dish Pans, Water Pails' London Kettles, Daisy Kettles, Preserving Kettles and Double Boilers

At 2 for 25c

TELEGRAPH AND CABLE NEWS

TEACHERS TO RESIGN UNLESS AWARD EFFECTED

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press.)—Seventy-four teachers in the high and public schools here have their resignations ready to present to the school board of trustees unless that body puts into effect the award of the Board of Arbitration of last May approving the scale of wages sanctioned by the Teachers' Federation. The award means an increase in salaries for the teachers, but the board has refused to comply. The resignations would take effect at the end of the year. The teachers held a meeting recently at which this line of action was approved.

SHOOTS TWO AND RIFLES TILL IN STORE

WINNIPEG, Nov. 25.— (Canadian Press.) — A youthful bandit, about 22 years of age, entered a drug sore at the corner of Gertie and Notre Dame avenue at six o'clock last evening, shot the proprietor and his assistant, cleaned out the till and escaped.

J. Wilder, the proprietor, was shot in the arm and hip, and A. Davis, the assistant, was shot in the abdomen and seriously wounded. Both are in the hospital.

No "hands up" command was given by the assailant, who simply entered the store and started firing at the two victims. It is not known how much money was stolen.

HUNDREDS PAY RESPECT TO MEMORY OF DR. SPARLING

MONTREAL, Nov. 25. —(Canadian Press.)— In spite of a raging blizzard, hundreds of ministers, church members and citizens generally, gathered to pay their last respects yesterday to the memory of the late Rev. William Sparling, D. D., of First Methodist church, London, Ont., whose funeral took place here yesterday afternoon.

The loss sustained by the Methodist church at large in Canada was the dominant note in the addresses delivered by Rev. Robert Smith, chairman of the Montreal district, the Rev. James Henderson and the Rev. Principal James Smyth, while a message of deep regret at inability to be present was conveyed from the Rev. W. S. Lennon, of Kingston, president of the Montreal conference. Rev. Mr. Smyth was the presiding minister and a lengthy choral service was rendered.

The Rev. Dr. James Henderson, pastor emeritus of St. James' Methodist church, where the funeral ceremony was held, paid a feeling tribute to the character of the late minister to his great abilities, and to the work which he had accomplished. Canadian Methodism had suffered a great loss in the death of Dr. Sparling, he believed and it would be nigh impossible to replace him.

FOCH SENDS MESSAGE ON THANKSGIVING DAY

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 25. — (Canadan Press.)— Marshal Foch, in a Thanksgiving Day message to Hanford MacNider, commander of the American Legion, sent on his arrival in Harrisburg yesterday, joined with the people of the United States in "prayers of gratitude for the blessings enjoyed by the world."

Marshal Foch also sent a message of greeting to the wounded soldiers of the United States through the Public Health Service.

GANDHI THINKS THE TROUBLE IS OVER NOW

BOMBAY, Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press.)—At a meeting of representatives from various communities, held in the home of Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the Non-Co-operationists to discuss measures for preserving the peace, Gandhi declared that the Hindus and Moslems were primarily to blame for the trouble, as it was their business to protect the minorities.

Gandhi said that he felt that the trouble was over and that he would break the fast he had entered upon, but if it started aagin he would undergo a stronger penance, even if he died in consequence of it.

DOUBLE FUNERAL FOR SLAIN MAN AND WIFE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 25.—(Canadain Press.)—Arrangements for a double funeral for Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Graham, paper manufacturer who was shot and killed Monday, are being made. Mrs. Graham was a fourth wife. She shot and killed herself Wednesday night at the family home while the body of her husband lay downstairs prepared for the funeral.

Graham was shot and killed by his negro chauffeur who is in jail charged with murder.

B. C. MAKES $541,606 PROFIT ON LIQUOR SALE

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 24. — (Canadian Press.)—The British Columbia Government made a profit of $541,606 on liquor sales for the first three and a half months of operation under the Liquor Sales Board, from June 15 to Sept. 30, according to a balance sheet filed in the Legislature yesterday afternoon by Hon. J. Wade B. Farris, Attorney General, in accordance with the terms of the Liquor Control Act. This does not include the $121,000 received from the sale of permits.

MANY MESSAGES

sentiment of the people of Canada in assuring the Canadian delegates of the "enthusiastic approval of the general proposals now being made."

Letters from individual citizens offer a wide range of suggestions. Many of them are interesting; all are sincere. A Regina citizen suggests that the conference organize an international naval police force to be under the command of on man as the allied armies were under Foch during the war. The object would be "to keep in order unruly members of the family of nations".

"The people out upon western plains," he adds, "are watching with almost breathless interest, the reports of the disarmament conference. May the Most High grant you success."

From Welland Ontario, comes the suggestion that the conference arrange for the passing by all nations of constitutional amendments which would insure arbitration of all differences.

A few of the messages indicate that the writers have not a very clear idea of the task which the conference has to accomplish, but of their good intent there can be no doubt. Several demand that the Canadian delegate stand firmly for the complete destruction of all implements of war, from battleships to daggers. The majority, however are content to leave the details to the conference. Many express pride that Canada is playing such an important part.

BOTNICK BROS., 432 GEORGE STREET

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

MR. BURNHAM AND HIS LOVE FOR THE FARMERS.

Sir: I notice that Mr. Burnham has had several meetings throughout the riding and he is asking the farmers and their wives and sons and daughters to vote for him. Why should you vote for him? Is it for what he has done for the farmers? It cannot be possible. It must be just because he is Mr. Burnham. I have in my possession several copies of Hansard of the year 1920 session. This you all know is the gospel truth from Parliament Hill, and I find in reading them that Mr. Burnham has had more to say against the farmers and the farmers' political party than all the rest of the members put together in some of his speeches; he appears to work himself into a terrible rage over the thought that perhaps some day the farmers might have something to say in the making of our laws. He seems to think that he is the only man capable of looking after the interests of West Peterboro. We all know that he has a habit if anybody don't see things in the same way he does, he always has some sweet-smelling place he wishes to send them. Sometimes it smells strongly of brimstone; other times it smells of the garbage barrel, or the swill barrel, as we call it down on the farm. In one of his speeches he stated that he believed the farmers' party would be thrown into the garbage barrel.

A Mr. Caldwell from Victoria and Carleton, in referring to Mr. Burnham, said, if he had to be thrown into the garbage barrel he hoped they would take Mr. Burnham out before they put him in, and he did not want to be in the same barrel with him.

Mr. Caldwell also said that he was somewhat surprised to find a man who presumably by the wording of his resolution is a self-confessed uplifter so strongly opposed to prohibition. I want to tell him I am in favor of prohibition and that the mud he slung at the prohibitionists comes from him with very bad grace indeed.. A Mr. Stacey, Frazer Valley, B.C., said: "I am an agrarian though not a member of the party I should consider myself in very good company of the Hon. member, who has virtually denounced the prohibitionists. Y.M.C.A. workers and the W.C.T.U. leaders and the members of the agrarian party. On the whole it is not a bad quartette, Mr. Stacey also says I want to state here openly and candidly that I do not enclose the position taken by my Honourable friend Mr. Burnham although I am on the same side of the house as the Honourable member I do not believe in his principal nor in his policy nor in his spirit, nor in the attitude taken towards the great movement which has bought society up to the high position that it occupies to-day and he also gets a severe calling down by other members of the house. In rading those books I find that Mr. Burnham has made himself the laughing stock of the house and when he was not doing that he was nursing some grouch against the farmers' political party.. ..I wish to give you Mr. Burnham's parting kick to the temperance people. He says with regard to prohibiton the reason I ridicule and fight it is because it is an anti-Christian measure. No man can be a prohibitionist without sneering at the policy of the most high which is not prohibition There is no prohibition of evil in the Christian religion the prohibitionist cannot be a religions man. He is nothing but a tyrant. It is because I hope that I am at heart a Christian and a religious man that I am fighting prohibition and will fight to the end because I believe that it does not come from God and cannot be supported by a single quotation from the word of God. I believe it comes from the devil whither it will go."

CLAIMS POPE READY FOR A RECONCILIATION

LONDON, Nov. 25.— (Canadian Press.)— A Central News despatch fromh Rome says the newspaper Tempo publishes an interview with Cardinal Gasparri, the Papal Secretary of State, who is quoted as having asserted that Pope Benedict is ready for a reconciliation with Italy.

A smart coat of a double-faced fabric has the plaid in brilliant colors.

"BULL-DOG DRUMMOND"

BY "SAPPER" (CYRIL McNEILE)

"The gentleman is asking for you, sir." Mrs. Denny's voice from the door made them look round, and Hugh rose.

"Is he talking sensibly, Mrs. Denny?" he asked eagerly, but she shook her head.

"Just the same, sir," she announced. "Looking round the room all dazed like. And he keeps on saying 'Danger.'"

Hugh walked quickly along the passage to the room where the millionaire lay in bed.

"How are you feeling?" said Drummond cheerfully.

The man stared at him incomprehendingly, and shook his head.

"Do you remember last night?" Hugh continued, speaking very slowly and distinctly. Then a sudden idea struck him and he pulled the scrap of paper out of his case. "Do you remember signing that?" he asked, holding it out to him.

For a while the man looked at it; then with a sudden cry of fear he shrank away. "No, no," he muttered, "not again."

Hugh hurriedly replaced the paper "Bad break on my part, old bean; you evidently remember rather too well. It's quite all right," he continued reassuringly; "no one will hurt you." Then after a pause—"Is your name Hiram C. Potts?"

The man nodded his head doubtfully and muttered "Hiram Potts" once or twice, as if the words sounded familiar.

"Do you remember driving in a motor-car last night?" persisted Hugh.

But what little flash of remembrance had pierced the drug-clouded brain seemed to have passed; the man only stared dazedly at the speaker. Drummond tried him with a few more questions, but it was no use, and after a while he got up and moved towards the door.

"Don't you worry, old son," he said with a smile. "We'll have you jumping about like a two-year-old in a couple of days."

Then he paused: the man was evidently trying to say something. "What is it you want?" Hugh leant over the bed.

"Danger, danger." Faintly the words came, and then, with a sigh, he lay back exhausted.

With a grim smile Drummond watched the motionless figure.

"I'm afraid," he said half aloud, "that you're rather like your medical attendant. Your only contribution to the sphere of pure knowledge is something I know already."

He went out and quietly closed the door. And as he re-entered his sitting-room he found his servant standing motionless behind one of the curtains watching the street below.

"There's a man, sir," he remarked without turning round, "watching the house."

For a moment Hugh stood still, frowning. Then he gave a short laugh. "The devil there is!" he remarked. "The game has begun in earnest, my worthy warrior, with the first nine points to us For possession, even of a semi-dazed lunatic, is nine points of the law, is it not, James?"

His servant retreated cautiously from he curtain and came back into the room. "Of the law—yes, sir," he re-reated enigmatically. "It is time, sir, for your morning glass of beer."

At twelve o'clock precisely the bell rang, announcing a visitor, and Drummond looked up from the columns of the Sportsman as his servant came into the room.

"Yes, James," he remarked. "I think we are at home. I want you to remain within call, and under no circumstances let our sick visitor out of your sight for more than a minute. In fact, I think you'd better sit in his room."

He resumed his study of the paper, and James, with a curt "Very good, sir," left the room. Almost at once he returned, and flinging open the door announced Mr. Peterson.

Drummond looked up quickly and rose with a smile.

"Good morning," he cried. "This is a very pleasant surprise, Mr. Peterson." He waved his visitor to a chair. "Hope you've had no more trouble with your car."

Mr. Peterson drew off his gloves, smiling amiably. "None at all, thank you, Captain Drummond. The chauffeur appears to have mastered the defect."

"It was your eye on him that did it. Wonderful thing—the human optic, as I said to your friend, Mr.—Mr. Laking. I hope that he's quite well and taking nourishment."

"Soft food only," said the other genially. "Mr. Lakington had a most unpleasant accident last night—most unpleasant."

Hugh's face expressed his sympathy. "How very unfortunate!" he murmured. "I trust nothing serious."

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

DON'T STAY GRAY—HERE'S AN OLD-TIME RECIPE THAT ANYBODY CAN APPLY

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to it's natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

THE JAM IS BREAKING

ing the crop was an adverse factor in the West, but an improvement is expected as the grain comes to the market."

Greenshield's Review says of the harvest and business conditions:

"As to the first, the wheat crop of the Western Provinces is now estimated at 248 to 264 million bushels, giving thirty million bushels over 1920. The gross return will be smaller, but the erpenses of the crop were less, and this with a higher yield will leave a profit not seriously below that of a year ago.

"In any event, the thirty million bushel increase in our principal cereal represents that much additional surplus for sale abroad, and in view of the even balance between the world's production and consumption this year, it is a surplus that will find a ready market.

"The decline in the general level of wholesale prices was carried on into August in Canada but at a much slower rate, and in the United States, Great Britain and France the downward movement appeared to have been definitely checked for the time being in the period from June to August. The lag in Canada is a natural sequel to the relative tardiness of our downward movement, when the world-wide slump set in in the early part of 1920. If deflation is not by any means complete, it is at least plain that with 81 p.c. of the war rise in wholesale price cancelled in the United Staes, 61 p.c. in the United Kingdom, 52 p.c. in France and 54 p.c. in Canada, the worst is over.

"Stabilization in prices of raw materials at this level will stimulate confidence in future manufacturing, and assist liquidation of existing stocks. The slowness of the adjustment in retail prices continues to occasion much impatience not entirely justified by the facts, as the rise never equalled the rise in wholesale prices. Rents, labour and transportation dosts are liquidating as usual much more slowly than raw materials."

"Business has not been as large in volume as a year ago and it has certainly been very much less profitable. But the record is not as dismal as is sometimes pictured. The chief disappointment of the year lies in new building. The supplying of a serious deficiency in residence property was checked by abnormally high costs, now at last coming down. Deferred requirements in this direction are an important reserve for business activity in the spring of next year. Measured by dollar indices, August showed relative improvement over July and June."

Following is a summary of the conditions in the United States from the bulletin of the National Bank of Commerce, New York:

"The last thirty days have been characterized by slowly improving sentiment and by some expansion of production. The most marked gains have naturally been in those lines where recovery has been the longest delayed. Bituminous coal production is increasing, and while partially seasonal, this to some extent is due to enlarged operations in the iron and steel industry, which is now running at about 40 per cent. of capacity. There has been less change in the rate of production of other leading industries, but the gains made since midsummer have so far held. Activity in the building trades is well maintained.

"Autumn buying in reflected in an improved retail dry-goods trade. It is noteworthy that this betterment is more marked in the rural districts than in industrial centres. This is clearly the result of the marketing of cotton and grain crops at fairly satisfactory prices and affords good grounds for confidence that the extreme depression in the agricultural industry of the United States has definitely passed..

"Wholesale prices of a number of raw materials have advanced since September 15, while the markets in several lines have been somewhat more active. Caution on the part of the wholesale trade has served to keep the volume of manufacturers' advance orders small, but frequent repetition of orders for immediate delivery has thus far served to render the present basis of operations fairly stable. There is no doubt that the improvement which has thus far taken place is more or less seasonal in character, but it is nevertheless true that the progress made toward normal business is sound. Such temporary setbacks as may occur after the autumn buying should therefore bring no discouragement. Viewing conditions as a whole the facts justify conservative optimism as to the future."

TORONTO MAN NOW FEELS JUST FINE

HAD A WORLD OF TROUBLE FOR SIX YEARS BEFORE TAKING TANLAC, DECLARES JENNER.

"The very first bottle of Tanlac I took brought back my appetite in full force, and now I feel fine all the time," said George T. Jenner 980 Ossington Ave., Toronto, Ont.

"For six years my stomach gave me a world of trouble. My appetite left me, I always had a mean, sickening taste in my mouth, and I could scarcely eat anything without getting so sick I could hardly stand it. My food seemed to collect in a lump like lead right in the pit of my stomach and it often soured and nauseated me so I couldn't retain it. I was very billious, and had awful headaches and nervous spells when I suffered agony. I lay awake a great deal at night and always felt tired and shaky. At times I had an awful pain in the back of my head and neck which lasted for several days.

"Well, I started on Tanlac, and I certainly glad I go it. I can eat anything I want now, and no matter how much I eat, everything agrees with me perfectly. My nerves are better and stronger and feel better in every way than I have in a long time. Tanlac done so much for me I am glad to recommend it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by the Warne Drug Co., Ltd., and by leading druggists everywhere.

HAPPY AFFAIR IN ST. ANDREW'S CHOIR BANQUET.

Last night the choir of St. Andrew's Church was the guests of the elders and managers and their wives. Covers were laid for 95, and at 6.45 o'clock every chair was occupied. The tables were arranged in a hollow square, and were loaded with the good things of the season. The flowers were red carnations. Nine ladies poured tea at intervals round the tables—and the ices were cut at the tables. It was a real family gathering, and proved a most happy affair. Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie, ex-M.L.A., chairman of the Music Committee, presided, and proposed the toast to the King.

Mr. J. John proposed a toast to Mr. John Crane and Mrs. Maurice Park, the leaders of the choir, and Mrs. Park responded in a neat little speech, generously handing all the credit for the splendid efficiency of the choir to the members of it.

Later a night letter was despatched to Mr. Crane, assuring him of the affection and appreciation of the choir and congregation and wishing him a speedy and complete recovery.

Mr. Andrew McFarlane, the veteran chairman of the Board of Managers, proposed a toast to the entire choir. Mr. D. D. Brown responded, confessing that the evening had been spoiled for him by the knowledge that he would have to speak, but he looked happy and spoke well, thanking the hostesses and hosts for their entertainment.

St. Andrew's Church was proposed in an enthusiastic manner by Mr. J. I. Allen, and when Mr. Rollins rose to reply he was greeted with "For he's a jolly good fellow."

During the evening musical numbers were rendered by the choir and the "Imperial Male Quartette" (Messrs. Humpage, Park, Smith and Brown), and at 8.30 the choir adjourned to the church for their weekly practice.

WILL LOCATE HERE.

The Lindsay Post of Nov. 24 says: Mr. H. Daniels, who for some time has conducted a successful bill-posting and advertising business in Lindsay and district, has sold his entire interests locally. Mr. Daniels will locate in Peterborough, and went to that city this morning. His genial presence will be much missed in Lindsay as he was well known and well liked. The Poultry Society will lose an energetic member also, as Mr. Daniels was an ardent chicken fancier.

GRADED UNION HELD A MEETING

ADDRESS BP REV. HAROLD YOUNG—INTERESTING PROGRAMME.

The regular monthly meeting of the Elementary Graded Union which was held on Tuesday night was of special interest to the teachers present as the programme had been prepared with a view to the approaching Christmas season.

Rev. W. Harold Young who gave a short but very shelpful address, chose as his subject "The Aim and Object of the Work of Sunday School Teachers". He emphasized the importance of teachers having a clear and definite conception of what the aim and object of the work of the Sunday School is—to train the children in the art of Christian living so that they will make good citizens of the Kingdom of God. To successfully carry on this great work the speaker pointed out that it is essential for the teacher to understand the child.

"A Christmas Party for the pupils in the Primary and Beginners' Departments' was the subject dealt with in a most interesting way by Miss Florence Cameron. Many practical suggestions dealing with the various phases of such a party were given in the course of Miss Cameron's remarks.

Mrs. L. J. Petit then told the Christmas Story in four short sections in a way that would particularly appeal to the children in the Primary and Beginners' Departments. Mrs. Petit also spoke for a short time on the 'Principles of Story-telling'.

At the conclusion of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was extended to those who had helped to provide such an excellent programme.

The next regular meeting of the Elmentary Graded Union, to which the teachers of the Primary; Junior ,and Beginners' Departments are invited, will be held on the third Tuesday in January.

DYED HER SKIRT TO MAKE CHILD A DRESS

"Diamond Dyes" Package Tells Mothers How to Save Any Old Material.

Don't wonder whether you can dye or tint successfully. Just buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—and follow the simple directions in every package. Then perfect home dyeing is guaranteed even if you have never dyed before. Worn, faded dresses, skirts, waists, coats, sweaters, stockings, draperies, hangings, everything, become like new again. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade, or run.

HIGH OPINION OF EGYPT NATIONALIST LEADER

LONDON, Nov. 25.—(Associated Press.)— Major Barnes has a very high opinion of Said Pasha, Zagloul, the Nationalist leader in Egypt. He Ldescribes him as the "Lloyd George of Egypt" and says that for the government "to ignore him in our negotiations about Egypt is simplyy to deliberately pursue a policy of diseaster."

With several members of Parliament, Major Barnes recently went to Egypt at the request of the Egyptian parliamentary party to study the political situation there. He has just reutrned to London.

What has been happening in Egypt, he said, was undoubtedly an "outburst of the national consciousness. From the highest to the lowest," he added, "the desire for independence has become the predominant national feeling.

"H travelled hundreds of miles in Egyptian soil and sa wand heard hundreds of thousands of Egyptian people and the unanimous conclusion we have come to is that if ever there was a man who represented the soul of a nation that man is Zagaloul Pasha. We also found that there was no antagonism between the Egyptian and the British people. The reverse is the case. It was said to us over and over again, 'We want the British people in Egypt, but as our friends, not as our masters; as our guests not as our rulers."

Said Pasha Zagloul, as head of the Nationalist party in Egypt, is leader of the campaigin for independence from British rule in that country. He headed a mission which went to Paris in an effort to obtain a hearing from the Peace Conference after the world war. Last year he formed an Egyptian delegation to London to advocate Egyptian independence. He has refused to accept a British protectorate.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, dgestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formatiou of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

FEWER BREACH OF PROMISE CASES

English Girls Becoming More Independent in Love Affairs.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Women appear to be getting more independent in love affairs.

Breach of promise cases are becoming fewer, and there is a feeling growin gamong women that it is undignified to sue a man who has broken his promise of marriage.

Apart from the unpleasant character of publicity of one's private affairs, theer is often nothing to be gained materially from the pursuit of a reckless Don Juan.

It has been a long time since there have been any outstanding cases, and it is significant that whereas there were formally many minor cases down for hearing, there were only three on the lists issued on Saturday.

Times are becoming normal again, and sudden love affairs are less frequent is all classes of society. The renewal of all forms of social gatherings, where introductions are made and offers of marriage result, is bound to have the effect of reducing the numbers of unhappy affair in the courts.

Girls who realize that their marriages will be partnerships take the sensible view that, probably, it would have been unwise to have gone to the altar ,and that the rift has saved them from an unhappy life.

Braid, iridescent beading and fine stitching are used in autumn gowns.

CATHOLICS GAIN IN BELGIAN HOUSE

BRUSSELS, November 25. Canadian Press. — As a result of the recent legislative elections, the Catholic party has gained eight seats in the Chamber, making its total 81, the Socialists losing 4, retain 66, and the Liberals maintained their quota at 34. The five remaining seats go to the minor parties.

Of the 93 Senators re-elected, 42 were of the Catholic party, 33 Socialists and 18 Liberals.

It makes no difference who earns the money, the question is, do women save more than men because they think their husbands will overdraw them? You're right, they don't.

A 50c Mid-day Lunch Served in Our Tea-Room from 11.30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

No Time Like the Present, No Store Like This One

A REMARKABLE DAY'S BUSINESS IS OUR AIM FOR THE LAST SATURDAY OF THE MONTH. This is Birthday Week in The Bargain Annex. Sixteen years ago this week our first Bargain Annex Sale was held. On Wednesday tremendous crowds came to participate in the great values. On Saturday many more opportunities will be presented.

A Clear Day Is the Time to Blow Bubbles

They'll last longer when the wind's down and look prettier when the sun's out, but don't try to blow them, too, big, or they'll break, even on a calm day.

There were many war-time bubbles — great big handsome ones, full of pretty colors, but they are all gone now. The blowers gave one blow too many, or a strong gust of wind destroyed them.

There are no inflated prices in this store, and never were, but conditions have allowed us to bring prices away down and we're glad of it.

How About Some Overcoat Assurance

To Protect You From Piercing Winds and Driving Snow?

Our policy is the same to-day as yesterday, and was the same yesterday as it was the first day this store commenced business.

Quality, Reasonable Prices, Service and Preparedness To Stand Behind Every Garment We Sell

When you can select a coat in this store that is worth anywhere from $45 to $55 and pay only $36.90 for it, you can rest assured that there is no misrepresentation.

These We Offer Are Traveller's Samples, bought from makers of good repute. The materials are English tweeds and blanket cloths in Lovat and heather shades. They are good, warm, mannish coats with loose or belted backs, and some are form fits.

Dark grey Chesterfield models with velvet collars are good dressy coats, too, and are fully lined with satin.

Choose Anyone of Them and You Get a Good Value. Displayed in Both Windows of Our Men's Shop.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION WARMLY ENDORSED BY OFFICIALS OF O. H. A.

ADDRESSES OF SHERIFF PAXTON AND W. A. HEWITT EXPRESS DELIGHT IN LAUNCHING OF LOCAL ORGANIZATION—WARM TRIBUTE TO WALTER SMAILL, DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS ---LAST NIGHT'S FUNCTION AT CAPITOL.

The aims and objects of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association were clearly set forth last night during the course of the programme arranged for Athletic night at the Capitol Theatre and the event should go a long way towards securing for the Association that warm-hearted support that will be necessary for complete success. The evening was featured by the presence of Mr. W. A. Hewitt and Sheriff Paxton, secretary and treasurer respectively of the O.H.A., the formal introduction of Mr. Walter Smaill, director of athletics for the P.A.A.A. and by the presentation of prizes to the winners of the city championships and of the Examiner Thanksgiving Day road races. All the addresses laid emphasis upon the community value of clean sport and of the necessity of removing from athletics all taint of professionalism.

The picture programme included several interesting reels of sporting pictures, including "Inside Baseball" and the race between Man O' War and Sir Barton.

Sheriff Paxton and Mr. Hewitt were introduced by Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, who remarked, however, that neither required any introduction to a Peterborough audience.

Mr. Kenner congratulated the P.A.A.A. upon the progress it was making and paid a tribute to the splendid work of the Ontario Hockey Association on behalf of clean hockey in Ontario. In this connection he recalled that Peterborough had supplied a number of officers for the O.H.A., including W. A. Buchanan, Dr. McPherson and R. M. Glover.

Sheriff Paxton, in reply, expressed his delight in the formation of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, which was carrying out exactly the desires of the O.H.A. He emphasized the value of athletics, remarking that the player who was a clean athlete was nearly always a real man. For the man who came out in the open and adopted professional sports as a means of livlihood Sheriff Paxton remarked he had nothing but admiration, but his opinion was not high of the player who, under the guise of an amateur, had his hand out for the money. He advised every man and woman in Peterborough to become members of the Athletic Association.

Mr. Hewitt followed in similar vein, commending the P.A.A.A. to the hearty support of the community. They were working on the right lines, he declared and in the selection of a director they had been most wise.

"I have had a long acquaintance with Mr. Smaill," declared the speaker, "and he is the finest type of a man."

Mr. Hewitt advised the people of Peterborough to give Mr. Smaill their heartiest support and there would be no doubt of the result.

The Objects of the P.A.A.A.

In introducing Mr. Smaill later on in the evening, Dr. A. W. McPherson, president of the P.A.A.A. set forth the objects of the Association clearly and effectively. After reviewing the proceedings that had led up to its formation, Dr. McPherson explained that the P.A.A.A.'s aim was not the making of championship teams or champion runners or athletes, although these might come as a result of their efforts. Their ambition was to so direct the athletic activities of Peterborough that healthful recreation would be provided for the whole community, boys and girls, men and women alike. They hoped to provide organized sport for the school boys, the boys in the factories and for all other classes, in addition of course to entering teams in the various leagues. Realizing that the work entailed in these plans could not be carried out by men who, however enthusiastic, had their own business to look after, the Association had decided to secure a director of athletics who would give his whole time to the movement, and they had been fortunate in securing Mr. Walter Smaill, who had been most highly recommended. Dr. McPherson then introduced the director of athletics, asking for united support for him.

Mr. Smaill, who was received with rounds of applause, remarked that he was enthuused with the whole movement but that he would let his work, rather than his talk, speak for him.

The Prize Winners.

Mr. R. M. Glover presented the prizes to the winners of the City Championships and of the Examiner Road Races. In doing so he congratulated the boys upon their success, and the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association upon what has been accomplished. Referring to the Examiner races Mr. Glover pointed out that they had been inaugurated to encourage the running game as a developer of character, stamina and endurance and he recalled the fact tat graduates of Examiner senior road race had been on two Canadian Olympic tams, Fred Simpson in London and Albert Smoke in Antwerp. Smoke had also won the Hamilton Herald race and yesterday had finished a close third in the Detroit marathon. The senior race had also brought out Charlie Thorpe, while the junior race had produced T. J. McAuliffe, the inter-collegiate middle distance champion, who recently clipped nearly a minute off the Inter-collegiate three mile record.

The presentation of the prizes followed, Messrs. Charles Thorpe and Douglas Loomis assisting in this part of the programme. All the winners were heartily applauded, while Stan Stacey, winner of the Junior Examiner race and inside wing of the Collegiate rugby team, was greeted with the Collegiate yell by his team mates as he came forward to receive his prize.

Here is the list:

LIVER TROUBLE

BAD BILIOUS ATTACKS

When your liver becomes sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers. Your bowels become constipated, the tongue coated, the breath bad, the stomach foul and sick, and bilious spells occur on account of the liver holding back the bile which is so essential to promote the movement of the bowels, and the bile gets into the blood instead of passing out through the usual channel.

The only way to keep the liver active and working properly, and thus get rid of the nasty bilious attacks, is to keep the bowels regular by using

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS.

They are purely vegetable, small and easy to take, work smoothly and gently, and there is nothing of the griping, weakening and sickening effects of the old fashioned purgatives.

Mr. John S. Caron ,Donavon, Sa.. writes: "I was troubled with my liver and had severe bilious attacks. A friend advised me to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, so I took two vials and have had no more attacks."

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HOT WATER FOR SICK HEADACHES

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headaches are caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head, producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilid, aspirin or the bromides, which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank before breakfast, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache, but will cleanse, purify and freshen the alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar.

If you aren't feeeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up in the morning with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biloiusness constipation, or sour acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of the Examiner,—

Allow me through your columns to ask Mr. John Stewart, the Liberal candidate for East Peterboro, why he did not call for a chairman from the meeting he held in Douro at S. S. No. 7 on November 21st.

Did he think there was no a farmer capable of filling that position at that meeting as well as the man he brought with him or was his object to make little of those farmers whom he asked to support him in the coming election.

When he said the United Farmers shoud not of gone into politics and while I believe it was a farmer he brought with him for chairman, he showed to us very poor judgment if he thinks that all we are good for is to sweat and work and vote.

Thanking you Mr. Editor,

JOSEPH O'CONNOR,
Douro.

TWO HOLD-UPS REPORTED TO OTTAWA POLICE

OTTAWA, Nov. 25|—(Canadian Press).—Two hold-ups were reported to the police yesterday.. Henry Ladouceur travelling on the Hurdman road was accosted by two masked men who demanded his money. An automobile hovering in sight caused the assailants to flee.

John Larson, a visitor to the city, was dragged into an alleyway on Queen street, by an unknown, and his watch and six dollars removed.

Fines aggregating $9,500,000 were imposed on a number of fire insurance companies formerly doing business in the state of Mississippi.

Drive In Comfort This Winter

Before you go through all the mental anguish, worry and trouble caused by the failure of your battery in cold weather, drive around to our service station. We can save you all this inconvenience by putting a Willard Threaded Rubber Battery on your car.

This battery is built with Threaded Rubber Insulation between the plates, to resist the Canadian climate. Threaded Rubber Insulation does not crack, warp or split like ordinary wood separators but withstands low temperatures, uneven roads, and long trips.

Threaded Rubber Insulation doesn't require renewal. It assures you of more miles of comfortable driving per dollar.

If you expect to lay your car up, ask us about our winter storage plan.

BELIEVES MAGNATE WAS HIS BROTHER

NEW HAMPSHIRE MAN SEEKS TO ESTABLISH IDENTITY OF MILLIONAIRE.

NEW YORK, November 25. — John H. O'Brien, of Nashua, N.H., brother of Terence O'Brien, who is said to have adopted the name of John K. Stewart and become head of the Stewart-Warner Speedometer Corporation, and died five years ago, worth $7,000,000, was in New York yesterday. O'Brien came to see Robert B. Honeyman, Sr., father-in-law of the former Marian Stewart, in the hope of learning more about his brother's strange career.

He saw Mr. Honeyman, and talked with him, and returned to Nashua with his questions unanswered, but more convinced than ever, he said, that Stewart was his brother Terence.

O'Brien, who was accompanied by a Boston newspaper man, brought with him the few letters the family ever received from Terence after the boy left home. The last one was dated from London, 26th December, 1905. In it Terence said:

"I have two daughters. For certain reasons I have never cared to go back to Nashua and have tried to forget there was such a place. I have been quite prosperous financially, beyond any dreams I ever had in the early days. My wife does not know I ever lived in Nashua, and I do not wish her to know anything about my early days, and for that reason I have kept away from there. Tom and I are still partners."

He signed this letter "Ted." An answer addressed to Terence O'Brien" was returned unclaimed.

In a letter from Chicago, dated 1893, he wrote: "Tom and I have just returned from the West."

"Tom," according to John H. O'Brien, meant Tom Conlon. Conlon was the Nashua boy who later was associated with him in business under the name of Thomas Clark.

Identify Writing.

The handwriting of the letters was said yesterday by persons who have seen Stewart's writing to be his.

O'Brien showed Mr. Honeyman the letters, he said, and Mr. Honeyman told him Stewart had been born Stewart, that he knew his birthplace, and that the story that he was Terence O'Brien was a "fake." He refused to say where he claimed that Stewart was born, or to give any information to disprove he was O'Brien.

John H. O'Brien was obliged to return to Nashua on account of his duties as chief clerk in the freight house of the Boston and Maine Railroad there. When he left he had not heard of the statement from Arthur F. Conlon of Yakima, Wash., published in The World yesterday, in which Condon, who was Thomas Conlon's brother, made positive connection between O'Brien and Stewart by saying he had known him under both names and in both Nashua and Chicago.

"I don't understand," said John H. O'Brien before he left, "why Mr. Honeyman can't tell where Stewart was born, if he knows. I am not seeking money, but I believe that somewhere in this case is the answer to what became of my brother, and I intend to find out. I've got to get back to work, but I don't intend to let this rest.

"When I showed Honeyman the letter from my brother in London, in which he said he had two children, he said this showed my brother was not Stewart, because Stewart had only two children, and the youngest was only ten when she died last October. And in another sentence he said Stewart had had another child, who died shortly after birth.

"Somebody's lying in this affair, and I'm going to find out who it is. Either Stewart was my brother, or else somebody's has put over one of the greatest hoaxes in history."

Mr. Honeyman admitted to a reporter yesterday that he had seen and talked with John H. O'Brien, but refused to comment on O'Brien's proofs, or admit he had shown him anything.

"A man who said he was the brother of Terence O'Brien came to my house on Sunday," he said, "and was very insistent on seeing me. I only saw him for a few moments. I am not disturbed about the matter, and don't intend to talk about it. I have not changed my mind about Mr. Stewart's identity. If O'Brien said somebody was lying, I can only say that I agree with him."

STRANGLED WHILE ROCKING CRADLE.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—A story of heartlessness, poverty and robbery was mixed with that of concern for his wife in the confession of Thos. Catherwood, 26, that he had strangled his sister-in-law, Mrs. Betty Sharples, to death while she rocked the cradle of her 13-month-old child and worked on tiny garments for another child, expected within a month.

For weeks Catherwood had been out of a job and his wife finally said she would obtain work to support the family. It was concern for his wife and dread of her going to work which, Catherwood told the police, forced him to wind a rope about Mr. Sharples' neck and steal the $65 in her bank-book.

"My poverty worried me," Catherwood told the police. "When my wife said she would get work, I couldn't bear it. I went to visit my sister-in-law. A neighbor came to borrow some money and I saw the bank-book. I thought there was at least $200 in it. I picked an argument with Betty and grabbed her by the throat and wound the rope around her neck."

Catherwood was arrested with his brother, while the pair were laughing and joking in a barber shop.

"Catherwood seemed to be without feeling in telling his story," Sergeant James Fleming, who made the arrest, said.

PUBLISHERS FIGHT DUAL PRINTING OF PETIT PARISIEN.

PARIS, Nov. 25.—Senator Paul Dupuy, "the French Northcliffe," owner of the Petit Parisien, which has the largest daily circulation of any newspaper in the world, finds himself locked in battle with a coterie of his rivals because of his decision to print his simultaneously in Tours and Paris.

In this the Senator is merely following in Lord Northcliffe's footsteps, the latter having started a Manchester edition of the London Daily Mail as long ago as 1906. But M. Dupuy has aroused genuine passions which will make his project most difficult.

Several of the largest of the other Paris journals have ordered their agents to boycott the Parisien. They also publish in large type and on the front page the charge that M. Dupuy see nothing in journalism but commerce. It is added that he must never acquire "a monopoly of opinion or exercise an intellectual tyranny."

The Parisien's rivals are perhaps on firmer ground when they evoke the spectacle of a ruined provincial press, for, as a result of the Parisien's invasion, a large number of newspaper men in Central France are likely to be thrown out of work. The other complaints are easily brushed aside, for M. Dupuy in no way poses as a popular mind-moulder.

His paper is rather an enterprising sheet in the collecting of news, but its political influence, even if it had much and this were greatly extended would not prove particularly harmful, as Senator Dupuy is a moderate liberal.

Meanwhile Paris is taking a keen interest in the fight and speculating much as to its outcome.

Kessock, Sask.—"My mother has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and upon learning of my troubles advised me to try it, as I seemed all run down after the flu and had leucorrhoea very bad. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and used the Sanitive Wash also Dr. Brown's Capsules and Prescription and am much better in every way. I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial as I recommend your medicines." — Mrs. IRENE NELSON, Kessock, Sask.

It is not always in business that a woman is forced to give up her work on account of ill health. It is quite as often the woman who does her own work at home. When backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, when that bearing-down sensation attacks you, when you are nervous and blue, the one great help for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

SPECIAL SERVICES IN MILLBROOK, BAILIEBORO AND FRASERVILLE CHURCHES.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 25.—Mrs. J. N. Walsh left on Thursday morning for Lakefield, where she will be the guest of her niece, Mrs. Jos. Porter, for a few weeks' visit.

Mr. James Dawson has been spending this week with his son, Mr. Harry Dawson, of the 7th Line, Cavan, while the latter's youngest daughter, little Miss Lois, is with her grandmother in Millbrook during Mr. Dawson's absence.

Rev. Mr. Millson, of London, who will preach in the Methodist Church, Millbrook, on Sunday morning, and at Bailieboro and Fraserville in the afternoon and evening, will also sing at the Sunday services. At the congregational meeting to be held in the Sunday School-room on Monday evening, Rev. Mr. Millson will be the chief speaker, and will also assist with the service of song. Refreshments will be served at the close, and a social time enjoyed. A treat is in store for all those who will hear Mr. Millson, as he has had many years of experience in the ministry and is a very fine speaker.

Mr. J. A. Vance is now able to be out again, after being confined to the house for some time, suffering from a large carbuncle at the back of his neck.

Mr. Edgar Burnham, of Peterborough, made a business trip to Millbrook on Thursday. He was the guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Burnham.

Mrs. (Dr.) King, of Peterborough visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, on Thursday.

Mr. Charles Rowland, who has spent the past year in Alberta, was the guest of his brothers, Mr. Wm. Rowland, of Millbrook, and Mr. John Rowland, of Cavan, over the week-end. He is now living in Toronto, where he has a good position.

Mr. Budd received word on Wednesday that his second son, William, who has been on one of the lake boats during the past season, has been taken to the hospital in Montreal, where an operation for tumor is considered necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Orry and Mr. and Mrs. William Rowland, of Millbrook, and Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Lang, of Cavan, were amongst the guests attending the wedding of Miss Laura Reynolds and Mr. Walter Rowan, in Bethany on Friday. The marriage took place in the Anglican Church at noon, Rev. Mr. Weir officiating.

The L.O.L. No. 79 will hold their annual meeting on Friday evening, Dec. 2nd, when the election of officers will take place, and other important business will be transacted.

Mrs. Offa Williamson returned to Lindsay this week, where she is keeping house for her brother, Mr. Harold Horner, and looking after his two children, Mrs. Horner being very seriously ill in the Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough. Before her marriage, the latter, who was Miss Hattie Courtney, spent some time in Millbrook and was very popular.

Mrs. McBrien, Sr., of Peterborough, who returned this fall after spending the last two years with her youngest son, Mr. Louis J. McBrien, of Detroit, has recently been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Alex. Wilson, for some weeks. Mrs. McBrien is now visiting her other son, Mr. N. W. McBrien of Lindsay and afterward will spend the winter with her youngest daughter, Mrs. J. R. Kearns, Peterborough.

Judge Vance, of Barrie, spent the week-end with his mother and sisters here.

Dr. Sarjeant, who has been for some months in Millbrook assisting Dr. Turner with his practice, and taking complete charge during the latter's recent absence in New York, left on Thursday for Toronto, and afterward will go to his home at Barrie. Dr. Sarjeant made many warm friends while in Millbrook, and won much praise for, and confidence in, his professional skill. He will not permanently locate until after the New Year.

Mrs. Hugh Kennedy will receive for the first time since her marriage on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 26, her husband's mother, Mrs. Annie Kennedy, receiving with her.

ELECTION NEWS

MEEING AT BENSFORT.

Bensfort saw an enthusiastic meeting last night when Sam Clarke, K.C., M.P.P., of Cobourg, and Mr. G. N. Gordon of Peterborough, addressed the electors.

Mr. David Dodds was the chairman and Dr. Watson of Cobourg, was the first speaker. He dealt with the slump in prices and showed to the audience that the farmer needed a wider market in order that he might sell his surplus products and with the money he received buy from the factory and the manufacturer in the urban centres.

Mr. Ed. M. Elliott said he was an U.F.O. man the last time, but he admired Mr. Gordon's declaration of independence when he said that he intended to promote legislation of a constructive character whether it came from the King group, the Meighen group or from the Progressive group. He said that the ordinary toiler had a far better chance with a man like Mr. Gordon as member than Mr. Burnham.

Mr. Deyell said he was brought up as a Conservative, but he had decided that Partyism has been the bane of the country ,and he had thrown aside party lines, and was supporting Mr. Gordon, who he said, was not only a public spirited citizen, but an active, vigorous believer in the success of Peterborough City and County.

The speaker cited many instances where Mr. Gordon's vigorous support of a bigger Peterboro policy had brought factories to Peterboro, and had given employment to men, which had generally assisted in upbuilding the city. Mr. Deyell as a small boy went to school in the very building which is now the hall at Bensfort, and he met all his old friends who crowded out to hear him and renew acquaintances.

Mr. Gordon said the Government had wasted money, had bought goods from foreign manufacturers, when they could have got Canadian goods made by Canadian artizans, and kept the money in this country, that they had taken notes for $800,000 of the Riordon Company, and fined respectable, responsible citizens after they had been dragged into the police court for the first time in their lives for failing to make an income tax return.

Mr. Gordon said the government had no right to attack the Progressive Party and to impute bad motives to Mr. Crerar. Mr. Crerar to his knowledge was a man of high character, of great vision, and while he did not go as far as Mr. Crerar did, he had a great respect for him personally, and for his opinions.

Sam Clarke, M.P.P., gave a characteristic address, full of humor, which caught the audience, and made an impression. He said his friend Gordon was the type of man he believed in supporting, because he would not be tied down to any strict party lines, but would support legislation for the little fellow.

Mr. Clark said he had supported the Drury Government in many instances in Toronto, and he found them a pretty good lot of fellows; and whenever they gave legislation for the public benefit he intended to support it, and he knew Mr. Gordon would support the Progressive legislation when he felt that it was in the interests of the country at large.

He went on to say that he had known Mr.Gordon since he had been a boy, that he had found him a fair, square good type of man, who believed in the rights of the men with large domestic responsibility, and would do what he could for the little fellow every time, and as far as he was concerned he would always support a man of that type.

KINGSTON, Nov. 25. —(Canadian Press).— Three memorial windows and a bronze tablet erected in the courthouse in honor of the one hundred and twenty-five young men of the county of Frontenac, who fell in the Great War was unveiled at an impressive service yesterday afternoon. The unveiling was performed by Warden MacGregor. Addresses w ee deievrrdel were delivered by Judge Lavell, Mayor Nickle, Brig.-Gen. W. B. King, Principal Bruce Taylor, Captain the Rev. Father Nicholson, Major Gen. A. C. MacDonell and Anthony Rankin N.P.P.

Faber, Ruth's Worst Enemy

The records show that a team to win a pennant must be able to defeat its strongest contender.

That theory certainly held good in both major league races last season. The Yankees won in the American League because they consistently beat Cleveland. The Giants won in the National League because Pittsburg proved easy.

In the victory of the Yankees over the Indians, no player contributed more to the success of the New York Club than Ruth. Working along the lines of the above theory, Ruth did his best hitting against the Cleveland Club.

A persual of the records shows that Ruth hit for an average of .483 against Coveleskie, Uhle, Bagby, Caldwell, Mails Sothoron, Clarke, Odenwald and Morton, comprising the Cleveland staff. Strangely enough he did his best batting against the star of the staff, Stanley Coveleskie. Batting against "Covey's" deceptive spitball, Ruth had an average of .615 in seven games.

"Red" Faber of the Chicago White Sox was the most effective pitcher against the Babe. The King of Swat batted only .167 against Faber. It is rather hard to find an explanation for the success of Faber and the failure of Coveleskie since both use the same delivery.

Of the southpaws, Billy Bayne of St. Louis and Red Oldham of Detroit made the most trouble for Babe. Against these two pitchers, Ruth was able to collect an average of only .182.

It Pays to Play the Game

Playing the game square pays.

It pays to give your best efforts on the ball field.

It pays to accept the bitter with the sweet without a whimper.

It pays to conduct yourself on and off the field in a manner that will bring credit to your profession.

Those four sentences tell the story of the career of Christy Mathewson, the once great pitcher, now fighting for his life against tuberculosis.

The fans have not forgotten about him away up there in the Adirondack Mountains. His deeds and his actions form an epoch in baseball history that will live forever.

The other day the news report carried a story that a check for $30,000 had been sent to Mathewson. That tidy sum represented the receipts of a benefit game played at the Polo Grounds for the great "Matty." It was the largest sum by thousands of dollars ever taken in at the gate for such a cause. It was the testimonial of the fans showing their apreciation for "Matty." It was a great tribute, richly deserved.

Speaking of "Matty" there was an incident that happened at the close of the 1912 series. The series was over. Matty had been defeated in the final game because of the new famous Snodgrass muff, coupled with a few other errors of ommission. He had pitched a remarkable game and lost. Waiting at the Back Bay station in Boston for the train to New York, a fan spied Matty, walked over to where he was standing and remarked:

"That was a tough one to lose, Matty."

"Someone had to win," he replied, with a smile. That was his only comment. He had no unkind words for the unfortunate players who had lost the game and championship. That was a typical Mathewson.

What Will Befall Babe Ruth?

From scanning the record of Judge Landis, both on the bench and as baseball's high commissioner, it is harder than ever to guess what will befall Babe Ruth for his barnstorming escapade. A delver into the high up and the low down on Judge Landis has brought out the following dope:

As a United States judge he fined the Standard Oil Company of Indiana $29,400,000 in a rebate case, though the decision was afterwards reversed.

He sentenced 94 I.W.W. leaders to prison for obstructing war preparations, and the decision was upheld.

He sentenced a Milwaukee Congressman and six Socialist leaders on the same charge, but the case was sent back for a new trial.

He sent a wealthy Westerner to prison for eight years for selling cattle infected by tuberculosis, and when President Wilson pardoned the prisoner, Landis remarked that somebody had slipped a fast one over on the President.

He fined a travelling salesman one cent for sending bills through the mails in transparent envelopes.

He sentenced a Government clerk to one hour in the County Jail for robbing the mails because "it might mean death to someone else."

He sent home for the Christmas holidays a boy who had confessed to stealing $2.00 from a registered letter.

He released on his own recognition a $00.00 a month clerk who pleaded guilty to embezzling $06,000 from a bank because "receiving $00.00 a month salary was an invitation to commit robbery."

He sent to a hospital and collected $24.00 back pay for a consumptive coal passer who had sent a threatening letter to a Government official demanding the amount.

As baseball's high commissioner, he started an unrelenting crusade against all kinds of gambling on ball games.

He characterised as a plain violation of the rules all "gentlemen's agreements" between major and minor league clubs in the matter of farmed-out players, and declared six players "free agents."

He declared a "free agent" sixteen-year-old Phil Toft, who had signed with the St. Louis Cardinals and refused to be farmed out to a minor league club.

Can you figure out from this what Landis will land on the big Bambino?

SPORT COMMENT

Indications that Norman E. Brookes and Gerald Patterson will accompany Australia's next challenging team for the Davis cup are obtained in the comment of Austral, leading tennis critic of the Antipodes, in a recent article in the Sydney Referee. As Austral's opinions are usually more or less semi-official, they are bound to interest devotees of the sport.

Austral intimates that James O. Anderson, who defeated William T. Tilden in the east-west matches following the national championship, is likely to return as one of the members of the challenging team and play singles in the Davis cup event and that Gerald Patterson, with a greatly improved backhand, will be ready to assist Anderson in a serious bid for international trophy.

The veteran Brookes is to come back as captain of the team and the leading candidates for the Davis cup doubles matches, with O'Hara Wood next in line for doubles and John B. Hawkes and alternate in singles.

Ty Cobb seems to have learned something new—or rather learned anew something old—about baseball in his experience with the Winter league on the Pacific Coast. Frank Chance, the one time "Peerless Leader" of the Chicago Cubs, presides over that circuit, and it may be that the Georgia Peach has taken some advice which as a youngster he was inclined to spurn. Cobb now says that the relatively ancient Chance, who seems to have taken on a new life in the glorious climate of California, has put a lot of real life into the coast baseball, and the other leagues might take some of the "innovations" to themselves with profit to all concerned. Chief among Chance's plans is that which calls for quick moving of teams on and off the field and the general speeding up of play. Cobb says it is surprising the amout of time that can be saved if all hands interested will but do their part. The matter of disputes with the umpire has been reduced to a minimun, according to the Detroit leader. Chance has ordered all disputes handled by the manager, and in this way the patrons of the game are not bored by long conversations following bum decisions.

OTTAWA MAY LAND GORDON ROBERTS

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press.)— The Ottawa hockey club announced last night the identity of the big league star they have been negotiating for during the past week. The puck chaser whom the Ottawas hope to land to replace Sprague Cleghorn is none other than Gordon Roberts, who for several seasons was the leading scorer of the National League. Roberts was the property of the Pacific Coast League but he came east on business and the Ottawas received yesterday his release and transfer from President Patrick of the Pacific Coast League, with which he played until last season. Roberts is endeavoring to make business arrangements and if he succeeds he will sign an Ottawa contract in a day or two.

Robert was one of the youngest players who ever broke into professional company being only 17 year old when he played for the Ottawas against the Edmonton team. Subsequently he went to Montreal and played for Wanderers, putting himself through McGill by his hockey earnings. Then he went west and starred for Vancouver. Last year he did not play as he had begun practice at Britannia Beach, B.C., and could not make the trip across. He is 29 years of age and weighs about 190 pounds. Roberts has been playing tennis and is in the best of shape. He came east to take a post graduate course at New York but the Ottawas say he will probably postpone it and line up with the world's champions.

Cyril Denenny returned his signed contract to the Ottawa club today. Benedict and Boucher are also under contract.

Weather strips will soon be classed as long felt wants.

ARBUCKLE WISHES TO TESTIFY IN HIS OWN BEHALF

SAN FRANCISCO, November 25, Canadian Press. — Roscoe C. Arbuckle wishes to testify in his own behalf in his trial for manslaughter resulting from the death of Miss Virginia Rape, Gavin McNab, his chief counsel, has announced. It has not been decided however whether his counsel will permit him to do so.

Yesterday being a holiday no session of the court was held. When the trial is resumed to-day Alice Blake, motion picture actress, and several others, are expected to be here from Los Angeles to testify.

The defence expects to introduce testimony of more physicians in its attempt to refute the assertions of the prosecution that Miss Rappe was injured fatally by force applied by Arbuckle. The defense has contended that the bladder of Miss Rappe, which an autopsy disclosed had been ruptured, causing death, was weakened by disease. A committee of three physicians appointed by the court is expected soon to render its opinion concerning this.

It was expected that the case would be sent to the jury next week.

ART JOHNSTON MAINTAINS THAT SMOKE FINISHED IN 2ND PLACE

RUNNERS WERE LOST IN A MOB —SCENE OF CONFUSION AT THE TAPE SAYS PETERBORO' MAN WHO SAW THE FINISH OF THE RACE IN DETROIT.

"The worst fizzle I ever saw," said Arthur Johnston to-day, who declared that the information he telephoned to Peterborough yesterday was correct, and that Albert Smoke had finished second in the Detroit road race.

"When Earl Johnston, who finished first, crossed the line, the crowd swarmed around him," continued the proprietor of the Windsor. "Smoke was right at his heels, and was also caught in the crowd and swept off to one side of the street. In the confusion Mellor, arriving third, was directed to another part of the street through the crowd, and in that way was declared second. Honestly, it was the worst mob scene I could imagine. There was no tape line, and Johnston, when he finished, was running around looking for the receiving officials. But the judges had been coming along with the runners, and shot out or tried to get ahead of them about a block from the finish. As far as I could see, they failed, and there were no officials at the line when the first man and Smoke scored."

Mr. Johnston insists that he saw the finish, and that Smoke beat Mellor for second place. He said he had no doubt about it whatever, and that had the race been properly handled from the start to the finish, as if should have been, there would have been a different story sent home through the press wires.

"Smoke developed cramps in the stomach early in the race, and was troubled more or less for seven of the ten miles," said Mr. Johnston. "Two miles from home he was in seventh position, but the pain suddenly left him, and with a burst of speed he overtook the men in front of him, and was strong right up to the sprint where Johnston beat him."

Smoke's next race is in Toronto, where the Gladstone Athletic Club are running a ten-mile event on New Year's Day. The trophy he brought home from Detroit was the Frank Bagnasco Cup, easily the best offered by the Irish American Athletic Club of Detroit.

The Toronto Globe carries the following story of the race:

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 24. — Although none of the Canadian entrants succeeded in capturing first position in the Thanksgiving Day marathon of the Irish American Athletic Club over a ten-mile course from Ferndale to Detroit, Albert Smoke, Peterborough A. A., crossed the tape in third position, thereby winning the coveted Frank Bagnasco Trophy.

E. Earl Johnson, Braddock, Pa., National A. A. U. ten-mile champion, won the race in 53 minutes 45 second, clipping better than two minutes from the course record. He was crowded to the finish by 'Chuck' Mellor, Logan Square, A.C. of Chicago, who finished two seconds behind the Pennsylvania star. Smoke was one minute back of Mellor. Congestion of traffic within a block of the finish line in Grand Circus Park hampered Mellor and Smoke somewhat.

Running a steady and consistent race, Johnson and Mellor came away from the starting line together in Ferndale, and remained within a few seconds of one another all the way. They had as companions Albert Smoke, of Peterborough, and James Moorecroft, of Toronto. Gradually the Pennsylvania and Illinois runners pulled away from the others and finished better than a minute ahead.

The previous record was held by Mellor, who covered the course in 55 minutes 47 2-5 seconds in 1919.

REFORMER SAYS BETTER TEAM WON

ERNIE LEGON AND OSHAWA'S INEVPERIENCE CHIEF REASONS, SAYS MOTOR TOWN PAPER.

The Oshawa Reformer says:—Peterboro' won the play-off at Port Hope yesterday for the O.R.F.U. group title. The score was 14—9, and the game was as tidy a battle as anyone could wish to see. The better team won, and is was the better team for two reasons. The chief reason is red-headed, plays the flying wing position for Peterboro' and answers to the name of Legon. He was the best player on the field, and his running and catching gave the Petes the necesary edge. The other reason for the Lock City's win is Oshawa's inxperience. The kids from the Motor Town lost the game in the first five minutes by leaving Legon uncovered to take a long pass and stroll over the line for an easy touch. Then by steady uphill battling they secured the lead in the third quarter, only to lose it again when the backs did not know enough to boot a bounding ball to the lead line but tried to fall on it. In the resulting scramble the Peterboro wings secured the ball for a touch, which they converted, putting the game on ice.. It's certain that the Oshawa backs won't make that mistake again, but their lesson cost the decision. It was a tough game to lose and a good one to win. Oshawa's best wishes follow Peterboro' to the semi-finals.

COLLEGIATE PLAYING HERE ON SATURDAY

The Collegiate "varsity" rugby team and the Old Boys will play an exhiibtion game at Riverside on Saturday afternoon, beginning at 2.30 o'clock. Although this is intended as a conditioning game to keep the squad in shape for the semi-final game aagins tthe winner of Hamilton Collegiate and the University of Toronto Schools who are playing to-day, it should provide an interesting bout for the public who are following the Collegiate team. The Old Boys have a lot of good material and will undoubtedly put up a strong argument.

BOXERS GO BACK WHEN BUSINESS BECOMES SLACK

LEONARD AND DEMPSEY ARE EXAMPLES — ARE VERY MUCH ALIVE WHEN BOUT IS ARRANGED

(By Henry L. Farrell, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. — Every time business gets bad a boxer "goes back."

When opponents become few and cash scarce, the big fighters stimulate trade by getting not as good as they used to be.

Last winter Jack Dempsey was pining away for a little work and the heavyweights were all wanting as much money to be the victim as he wanted to be the victor.

Bill Brennan came along and went 12 rounds with the champion, twelve rounds in which the champion "looked terrible."

Then every big fellow in the game thought he had a chance for the title, and Georges Carpentier was so sure he could get Dempsey while he was slipping that he was willing to cut a hundred thousand off his price for the privilege of winning the crown.

The Frenchman thought the same thing until he got one poke from the champion's left, and he realized then that if Dempsey had gone back it was a good thing he had never met him when he was good.

Benny Leonard hasn't been working much. The lightweights all pass him up because he's too good. They want a fortune to be knocked off and Benny has to associate with the welters.

Last night Leonard went eight rounds against Sailor Friedman in Philadelphia, and they say this morning "he was terrible."

The insiders say that he has gone back, that he can't make the weight, that he's afraid of his hands, that is judgment is gone and is speed vanished.

It was a no-decision bout, and as long as the champion was on his feet at the end he "successfully defended his title."

Benny thinks a lot of himself and he might not like the talk that he isn't so good as he was, but he'll get a lot of business. The Tendlers, the Dundees, the Jacksons will be back on his trail and the old cash register will start its old tune.

Benny has found, like others before him, that it doesn't pay to be so good in these days when the fighters are all business men.

EXTRA TERRITORIAL RIGHTS BEFORE MEET

WASHINGTON, November 25. — Canadian Press. — The arms conference discussion of the Far Eastern questions shifted to-day to the possibility of abridging the system of "extra territorial rights" under which the powers maintain their own judicial agencies in China for the trial of cases in which their respective nations are involved.

China wants the extra territorial privileges abolished. All the other nations have expressed the hope that the system can be modified

SAY FRENCH ARMS CUT WOULD TEMPT GERMANY

MAYOR M'INTYRE GOING TO RETIRE

MEMBERS OF CIVIC ADMINISTRATION WHOSE TERM OF OFFICE EXPIRES THIS YEAR.

The terms of office of the Mayor and five members of the Council expire next month. Mayor McIntyre has spent two years in the mayor's chair and will now retire. Ald. J. J. Turner has not completed his two year term having announced his entrance into the mayoralty contest.

The aldermen whose terms expire this year are: N. E. Phelan, G. N. Gordon, F. Whitehouse, R. N. Jones, G. Hay, Ald. J. J. Turner's successor has a year to fill and others who will be on next year's council are Ald. J. Crowe, Ald. James Hamilton, Ald. H. Gainey and Ald. Robert Morrison.

Mayor A. A McIntyre announced to the Examiner to-day his retirement from municipal politics. "I have decided not to seek re-election" he said. "I think I have done my duty to the city. I think its up to someone else to come forward and take up the work."

It would not have been an unprecedented thing for the mayor to have sought another term of office however, although it has not occurred since 1895. Previous to that it was quite common to be mayor of the town for more than two terms. Some of the mayors nearly became Local Tommy Church's so far as adhesiveness to the office went.

G. A. Cox was first three years and then two years mayor. James Kendry was four years in one term and one year in another. William Toole the records show was the chief citizen for four years and James Stevenson's record caps all, embracing as it does three years in one term and six in another and W. E. Scott also attained six years in office.

The School Board

Six out of ten of the Board of Education will have to have a renewal of confidence by the people if they are to be on next year's Board. Those whose two year term's are completed are: Dr. F. C. Neal (chairman), J. W. Worth, Mrs. Kate Morris, G. O. Cameron, E. G. Patterson. Those who have another year in office are: A. A. Fowler, R. Denne, J. A. McKone and J. M. Greene.

Utilities Commission

A Utilities Commissioner has to be elected. It is understood Mr. C. E. Sisson who has been Commissioner for two one-year terms, will retire since he has been transferred to Toronto. He has been a valued member of the Commission and had he been in a position to fill another year would undoubtedly have been elected by acclamation. Chairman Robert Hicks has another year in office and Commissioner F. F. Mason two years.

WALTER SMAILL HIGHLY RECOMMENDED BY VISITING OFFICIALS OF THE O.H.A.

PETERBORO'S DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS MAY BE CONFIDENTLY TRUSTED BY THE PARENTS OF THE BOYS WHO WILL COME UNDER HIS CHARGE—P. A. A. A. PRAISED FOR ITS INITIATIVE TO PUT LOCAL ATHLETICS ON SOUND AND HIGH BASIS.

Peterboro parents may confidently intrust their boys to the charge of Walter Smaill in any of the sporting activities of which he assumes oversight as director of athletics for the Peterboro Amateur Athletic Association. This was the assurance given by W. A. Hewitt, the sporting editor of the Toronto Star, at a dinner at the Empress last night, at which he and Sheriff Paxton of Whitby, respectively secretary and treasurer of the O.H.A., were the guests of the P.A.A.A.

The effect of Mr. Hewitt's glowing testimonial was simply to make assurance doubly sure, for the executive of the Athletic Association and all those who have come in contact with Mr. Smaill since he took up his duties here, have been most favorably impressed by him. They have have been congratulating themselves upon the good fortune that attended their choice of an athletic director, but in turn they must have been gratified by the enconiums upon Mr. Small, not so much for his athletic experience and reputation, which are widely known, but especially in respect to his personal character.

The engagement of a director of athletics, a position which should not be confused with that of a coach, for the one comprehends the other, is a venture, almost an adventure, which to yield the fullest success, must have the staunch and intelligent support of every citizen, if it is possible to win them all this endeavor. Mr. Hewitt and Mr. Paxton both emphasized the importance of that factor, and as an influence to the enlistment of it, they warmly bespoke the fitness of Walter Smaill, congratulated the Peterboro Athletic Association upon securing him, and also commended the association for its leadership in this district in an effort to sueprvise and promote athletics.

Both guests, who with Mr. R. M. Glover of Peterboro, have been prominent officers of the O.H.A., predicted success for the P.A.A.A.

Mr. Hewitt reminded the executive that they would have to be constantly vigilant to see that all its affairs were kept in good order. Loyal and unremitting cooperation with Mr. Smaill would eventually realize the aims of the Association.

Approval of the O.H.A.

"This is just the sort of an organization the O.H.A. has been trying to get in every town and city in Ontario," said Sheriff Paxton, who spoke particularly of the management of hockey. Too often hockey teams were under the control of the owner of a rink and lacked the character which well established associations should give to them. "Peterboro has taken the lead in this district," Sheriff Paxton continued, "and their example will undoubtedly have a wide effect. Don't forget the kids, the boys who have not had a chance in the past. I am sure Peterboro is full of young fellows who will make good athletes. Under Mr. Smaill's direction they should have an opportunity that has not been developed in the past."

For the Boys.

"That's why I am interested in the Peterboro Amateur Athletic Association," said Dr. A. W. McPherson, who presided. "I'd like to see all the boys given a chance and also to get the right motives in sport. With Mr. Smaill as the leader I think that idea will be carried to a success."

Mr. Smaill was introduced to the gathering and in a few words said that he had met with a splendid ception in Peterboro. After looking over the situation here he felt sure that with the support of the P.A.A.A. and the citizens generally the Association would produce the desired results.

Those present were Mayor McIntyre, Sheriff Paxton of Whitby, W. A. Hewitt, Toronto, Eddie Wright, H. R. H. Kenner, Rev. P. J. Costello, Dr. A. W. McPherson, R. M. Glover, Frank Convery, J. E. Sullivan, J. J. Condon, Dr. E. Wood, Jas. Skinner, T. H. Theobald, Dr. Frank, Doug. Loomis, P. P. Westbye, Walter Smaill, Ald. Phelan, A. Cranfield, G. A. Campbell, D. R. Wren, J. P. Bond, and C. E. Curtis, secretary of the P.A.A.A.

"JUST SUPPOSE" PRETTY ROMANCE

MERITS TRIBUTE OF "MASTERPIECE IN MINIATURE"

Act 1. — The Stafford drawing room, Fairview An evening in May.
Act 2.—The same. Next afternoon.
Act 3.—The Stafford garden. A fortnight later. Evening..
Scenery by Charles Gallagher.
Electrical Effects by Alfred Jackson.

"Just Suppose", at the Grand last evening, proved to be the best comedy romance which Peterborough has seen in several seasons. It merits Hector Charlesworth's tribute, "A masterpiece in miniature".

In his play, which is based on the recent visit of the Prince of Wales to the United States, A. E. Thomas has woven the fairy tale attraction which attends princes and the romance of the South into a simple lov plot complicated by international affairs.

The scene is laid in Virginia during the Prince's visit to Washington His Royal Highness is bored by the round of dinners, dances, receptions and adulation and, accompanied by Sir Calverton Shipley his friend of school days at Eton and now attached to the British embassy, he escapes and motors into the country They stop at Fairview to visit Mrs. Carter Stafford, friends of Shipley's mother. The Prince immediately becomes interested in Mrs. Stafford's grand-daughter, Linda Lee, feigns illness and spends the night at Fairview.

While the officials of the British embassy and the United States secret service are scouring the country for the missing scion of royalty his romance with the Southern girl begins. Pasing as George Chester, he tells her of his "friend" the Prince, "the loneliest beggar in the world", unable to choose his own mate. H.R.H. is located at Fairview by the Marquis of Karnaby,. British diplomat ,and taken back to the capital and — duty as representative of Britain in a foreign country.

The Prince sails for home ten days later, but prevails upon the Marquis to turn back secretly in order that he may see Linda again. The meeting of the two lovers in the moonlit garden is dramatic and set in a triumph of stagecraft. The Prince begs her to marry him offering to renunciate his position, but she prevails upon him to follow the path of duty, and "the loneliest beggar in the world" returns to England where the Foreign Office will choose his mate, but with Linda Lee's ring and promise to write to him once a year in care of Shipley.

Edward H. Robins' company of players which made "Just Suppose" a record-breaker to the Royal Alexandra in Toronto, interpreted their parts with wonderful delicacy. Graham Velsey invested the role of the Prince with very human, very youthful and very romantic attributes.

Kathleen Wallace was charming as the romantic Southern girl with a few of the modern American girl's characteristics who "cried for the moon" and got it. Walter Howe and Mrs. Julia Hurley as the Marquis and the aged Southern woman of the old school respectively, did excellent pieces of character work. Norman Cope tok advantage of his opportunities for comedy as Shipley and Murray Bennett was convincing as Linda Lee's rejected lover.

W. L. Philips, manager of the Grand, is attempting to arrange for a return engagement of "Just Suppose" late in February.

"MUTT AND JEFF."

An event of more than usual importance is scheduled for this Friday and Saturday at the Grand theatre, commencing Friday, Nov. 25th, with the customary matinee Saturday. The offering will be Bud Fisher's famous cartoon play, "Mutt and Jeff in Chinatown." This mirth-provoker, brand new and thoroughly up-to-the-minute, is said to be the best of all the series of the wonderful comics presented thus far. Unlike previous productions, the comedy will be in two acts instead of three as formerly. However there will be a succession of diverting scenes and surprises, executed on different lines and replete with novelties and features. In this particular piece there is a well defined plot which keeps the action at a merry pace and displays these inimitable gloom destroyers in an environment entirely apart from any they have heretofore appeared in. Lilting music, pretty girls, ornate, original and exceptional scenic effects and equipment form a welcome adjunct to an exceptional show.

"JUST LIKE A GYPSY"

Who has not heard at one time or another, the insistent, appealing call of the blood—a call to the wide open spaces to follow man's first impulse to shake off the shackles of convention and hit the trail. "Gipsy" has become synonymous with freedom—it suggests absolute personal liberty—to roam wherever one will, to pitch a tent, to build a fire, and to live out under the star-lit ifirmament untrammeled in body as well as in spirit.

Modern civilization is pretty well systematized — a paternal, loving government looks after our daily, existence, draws up a set of rules to guide us, provides nice, strong bars to keep us within bounds when we take too many liberties, and provides heavy penalties for the petty offenders and political honours for the man higher-up. Down deep in our hearts, we are all more or less gipsies—given an opportunity almost evgryone will admit a love for the care-free, happy-go-lucky life of the wandering gipsy. Robert Housum has written a delightful romance on the subject—he used the theme I've mentioned and weaves a clever story about it. The Rex Stock Company will play "Just Like a Gipsy" for three days beginning Monday, November the twenty-eighth.

LAURA.

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN."

When Niegl de Brulier, who created the role of Tchernoff, the Russian mystic who suggests in his life and symbolic philosophy a reincarnation of St. John, the author of the Book of Revelation, was offered the part in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," he hesitated to accept it.

"I realized," he said, "that the entire symbolism of "The Four Horsemen" centred about Tchernoff. I wanted to go back to Revelation a study St. John's prophecies before I made up my mind. It was too reverent a role to attempt without deep reflection."

What De Brulier discovered by the study of the Apocalypse made him eager to visualize the role of Tchernoff.

Many of those who will see "The Four Horsemen" at the Grand Opera House will wonder whether Tchernoff was meant by Ibanez to typify the pitying Christ. Ibanez, however, had the thought of St. John in his mind in writing the symbolic part of his great story and this is the view that De Brulier entertained in visualizing the character for the screen.

AT THE CAPITOL.

Intensely modern is the feature production at the Capitol Theatre for the week end. It is a psycholoical problem play in which the heroine is one of those neglected ladies who are intensely bored in the midst of the most luxurious surroundings. A contemplated trip to Paris with her husband, who wishes to stay at one of the cheaper hotels, drives the lady to the verge of distraction, and finally after a series of undignified biekerings, she goes away to Italy, followed by her more or less platonic admirer. Her husband in the meantime, consoles himself with a peroxide widow, and when they both tire of their escapades, they return home. However, temperament once more interferes and another row ensues. The lady decides to return once more to her lover, but he has become engaged in the meantime. A dramatic and tragic episode, which seems to wind up the whole affair in the most heart-breaking manner is converted by a twist of playmakers' art into an ideally happy finale, with a wholesome moral to give effect to a most convincing tale of modern life and passion.Clara Kimball Young, in some wonderful gowns and poses, is the heroine of an attractive production.

The comedy is a mirth-provoking medley centred around an all-night barber shop and there is a very interesting short reel featuring the wonder horse of the time, "Man o' War."

AT THE ALLEN.

Catherine Bates, the Aunt Ellen in "Edgar's Feast Day," one of the Goldwyn "Edgar" comedies, by Booth Tarkington, which comes to the Allen Theatre for the balance of the week has four children of her own. She began her stage career in 1902, in New York City, as understudy for Marcia van Dresser in "In the Palace of the King". She first appeared on the screen in 1917 as an extra with Douglas Fairbanks

Charles Ray has registered another cinema triumph in his third picture from his own studio demonstrating the fact that since becoming an independent producer and star he has great'y increased the opportunities his talents afford.

The production, "Nineteen and Phyllis," opened an engagement at the Allen Theatre last night, providing a most wholesome and refreshing entertainment. It is a delightful story of youthful romance from the pen of Frederick Stowers, and has been picturized in a most skillful and entertaining manner.

Replete with humor and founded on the boyish romance of a nineteen-year-old youngster, it is a typical Charles Ray vehicle, and a worthy successor to the star's two preceding releases, "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" and Peaceful Valley," which have achieved the distinction of being foremost among the season's most succesful photoplays.

In "Nineteen and Phyllis" Ray makes something of a departure from his favorite role of a rube. He is seen as a town dandy, Andrew Jackson Cavanaugh, whose greatest aim in life is to dazzle with his gorgeous attire the eyes of the fair young miss whom he some day hopes to win.

While Andrew's greatest rival for the affections of the young lady appears at a dance garbed in the first dress suit ever seen in town, the lad's dismay knows no bounds.

However, a mail order house quickly places him in the same sartorial standng with his rival, but for a time his romantic progress appears to be seriously threatened when a fight with a burglar ruffles Andrew's immaculate garb.

Opposite Charles Ray in the leading feminine part is pretty litle Clara Horton, who in the role of Phyllis gives a delightful characterization. Lincoln Stedman, the jovial fat boy of the films, has the role of Jimmy Long, Andrew's rival in love. The balance of the cast is made up of George Nicholls, Cora Drew, Frank Norcross and DeWitte C. Jennings, who contribute their share to the splendid acting which predominates throughout this photoplay.

"Nineteen and Phyllis" was produced under the direction of Joseph DeGrasse, who is entitled to a good share of the honors with Charles Ray for this very human and entertaining motion picture.

SUCCESSFUL TEA.

A very successful afternoon tea and sale of work was held in the ladies' rooms at the G.W.V.A. Hall, yesterday afternoon and evening, under the auspices of the Ladies Auxiliary, with Mrs. R. Bugg and Mrs. Massey-Cooke in charge. There was a good crowd in attendance during afternoon and evening and an excellent musical programme was rendered by the following: Instrumental selection, Miss Margaret Flowers; recitation, Mrs. F. McNeely; vocal solos, Mrs. J. H. McDonald, Mrs. George Perks, Mrs. Patterson, and the Misses Betty Cooke and Florence Harrison.

The sale of work under the direction of Mrs. T. H. Skinner was well patronized, the crocheted yoke donated by Mrs. Milby being won by Miss Lacey.

Some men might just as well be insane for a the sense they've got.

WHY BALFOUR REMAINED A BACHELOR!

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The Right Honorable Arthur Balfour, England's chief delegate to the arms conference, the most celebrated bachelor in the British Empire, was speaking.

And Balfour was speaking of matrimony considered as a personal possibility.

He shook his head negatively. Pressed his lips into a thin, rather determined line. There was the hint of a smile in the lines that spread fan-like from his kindly eyes. Then:

"I proposed to have a career of my own."

This from England's most famous and probably wealthiest bachelor.

Balfour, 73-year-old diplomat, a feminist! Fully 40 years before woman first evolved the theory that husbands, frying pans, nursing bottles and dust cloths were useless impedimenta, Balfour decided that the swish of silken petticoats would strike discord in the grand symphony of power.

With the influence of wealth to aid him, young Arthur Balfour began to brush the coat-tails of fame—brushing with his whole heart in his hand.

Might've Been Nice

"Matrimony? It might have been a nice thing." As if only a remote consideration.

"It would make a very great difference—possibly a very sweet clutter of things about the house." His hand, ringless and strong looking, took in the room with a careless gesture.

A man's room, man secretary, men servants and a solitary sense. A sense of strength, dominion, unleavened.

But not really a forbidding man, merely a genial old gentleman with a voice inclined to rumble in a loose low collar hung with a not too carefully tied black tie.

Balfour's home in London is one of the finest. His Wittingehame estate is picturesquely beautiful—such a place for women and children!

But, says the sturdy Scot, the powerful English statesman,

"I proposed to have a career of my own."

"I proposed to have a career of my own."

JUDGE LANDIS' SISTER DEAD IN LOGANPORT

LOGANSPORT, Ind., November 25. Canadian Press. — Miss Katherin Landis, sixty years old, sister of Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, of Chicao, died at her home here last night. She had been in ill health for some time. She is survived by two other brothers, in addition to Judge Landis. They are C. B. Landis of Chicago, and Frederick Landis of this city.

W. L. GEORGE, AUTHOR OF RECIPE FOR BLISS, WILL MARRY AGAIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—It must be that those who know most about women like them best. How else account for the announcement that W. L. George, noted English novelist, essayist, lecturer and feminist, is to marry again, the third time?

George is popularly supposed to know all about women, a statement that always makes women smile sardonically. How real that smile is and how much it is just woman being up-stage because she thinks man never can know all about her (men have told her that, too), can not be told.

At any rate, George has been married twice before, and if he doesn't know more about women than any other public man, then he is clever enough to make the world—and a lot of women—believe he does. If he doesn't know it all, he does the next best thing; he tells very entertainingly what he does know.

George's third wife — he is to marry her Dec. 3—is Miss Kathleen Geipel, an English tennis player. Immediately after the ceremony they are to come to the United States, where George will lecture during the winter. It was during his last lecture tour, early this year, that he lost the second Mrs. George. She was fatally burned while visiting in the South.

There is this to be said for W. L. George; he is something of a hero. He recently made a study of 150 marriages, not including his own two, and he discovered that only nine of them were perfect. Twenty-six were actually bad, and the remaining 115 were just so-so. Now either he is a very brave man, or he has charged his own two experiences against the whole 150 and found the balance all to the good.

This English chap has a system, too. He talks about it, and for all that is known to the contrary he may practice it. When he talks he gives it this way:

"There are eight maxims to be followed in matrimony. Here they are:

"Do not open each other's mail; you might not like the contents.

"A woman should occasionally change her views, her ways and her hats.

"If you must be frank let it be in private."

"Once a day the husband should say to his wife, 'I love you,' and once a day she to her husband, 'How clever you are.'

"Lies are no good, but you can exaggerate a little, as in courtship."

"If it seems hard to be married to your wife, remember it is hard for her to be married to you."

"Find out on the honeymoon whether crying or swearing is the more effective."

"Finally, forgive your partner seventy times seven—and then lose the account book."

The BRUNSWICK CHRISTMAS CLUB

A co-operative plan in support of the "Sensible Christmas" movement limited to 35 members, in co-operation with

HEINTZMAN & CO., Limited

SUPPORTING the "Improve the Home" movement that is being advocated so earnestly this Christmas, this club is being organized on the great principle of co-operation, through which 35 families will add to their homes, on Christmas Eve, a Genuine Brunswick Phonograph, with but little cash outlay, exceptionally liberal terms, and special privileges not generally accorded purchasers.

These 35 families will group together and place a Christmas order now, through this Christmas Club for 35 Brunswick Phonographs.

In consideration of this co-operative order (which not only enables Heintzman & Co., Ltd., Company, to forecast their Christmas needs, but will lessen the burden of the Christmas rush) Heintzman Hall extend the special club privileges as listed here to each member, both sides thus benefitting through co-operation.

CLUB MEMBERSHIP, $1.00

You pay only $1.00 to join this Club. This payment does not obligate you to get a Brunswick, but it reserves the right to get one through this Club. You then have until December 1st to select your Brunswick. If you do not buy your Dollar is refunded. If you do buy the Dollar is credited on the purchase.

When you make your selection you commence the small payments accorded Club members, ranging from $1.50 to $5. weekly, depending on the model you select.

On Christmas Eve the Brunswick you selected is delivered. You continue the Club payments until paid in full, but the Club privileges still protect you and insure satisfaction.

CLUB PRIVILEGES

CASH PRICE. Although Club members have from one to two years to pay for their Brunswick, there is no extra charge. You get the cash price with only nominal interest on unpaid balances.

COMPLETE VARIETY. Club members may select from any of the fourteen Brunswick models, ranging in price from $80.00 to $450.00, or any other Phonograph on our floors.

NO CASH PAYMENTS

The usual cash payments of $15.00 to $75.00 required on Brunswick Phonographs is eliminated. You pay only $1.00 at time of joining and then the weekly Club payments.

EXTENDED TERMS

The terms usually required on Brunswick Phonographs have been reduced over a third, for Club members.

PARTIAL PAYMENTS

If through sickness or unemployment, Club members are unable to meet the Club payments, half payments will be accepted for a reasonable time.

FOUR MONTHS EXCHANGE

Any time within four months Club members may exchange their Brunswick for any other model we have of greater value, without losing one cent they have paid in.

RECORDS ADDED

Instead of having to pay extra cash for records, Club members may select $10.00 in records and have this amount added to the total purchase, to be paid for in the Club payments.

IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

Any Club member not wishing to wait until Christmas for his Brunswick, may secure delivery at any time before then, by advancing the Club payments due up to that time, yet retain all the Club privileges.

GUARANTEE

In addition to the Brunswick guarantee, which includes springs for one year, is our personal guarantee of complete satisfaction.

FREE DELIVERY

The Phonographs for Club members are held and delivered free within city limits or vicinity.

THE INSTRUMENTS

Brunswick Phonographs need no praise. Their present popularity has been built on quality, and musical excellence. It is the only phonograph in the world that is built to play all makes of records properly. The remarkable ULTONA, which by a simple turn, provides the proper point, weight and position for each record; and the famous ALL-WOOL OVAL HORN that insures proper accoustic support and vibration are in no other phonograph. The Brunswick is sold by most of the best music stores across Canada, and its combination of beauty, excellence and tone will satisfy you.

HOW TO JOIN

Simply call at the Club Headquarters, Heintzman Hall, Royal Bank Building, Hunter street, and pay your $1.00. You can select your model then, or any time up to Dec. 1st. Start the Club payments now, but all payments are refunded if you decide to withdraw.

IMPROVE THE HOME

There is a growing realization that the home is a "backbone" of the nation - - that our home-life not only reflects our character, but moulds the character of the coming generation.

It is this knowledge that has prompted the great "Better the Home" Movement, through which it is hoped to influence fathers and mothers and young people to put more thought, not only into home necessities and comforts, but home pleasures, so that memories of home will be memories of happiness, and another such "home" will be the goal and ambition of young Canadians.

There is no one influence for establishing cheerfulness, happiness and entertainment that can compare with music. And the Phonograph is the one instrument that brings to you the best of all the world's great music.

It is fitting that Christmas should be the time to join in this movement for better homes, and it is in support of this that our Brunswick Christmas Club makes its appeal.

A HORSELESS FARM.

In Eastern Canada successful farming is based on live stock. In the West, live stock are becoming more general but there are still farms where the only stock are the work horses. According to "Tractor Farming" one farm at least has not even work horses.

"The farm of Schaal & Schaal, 25 miles south-west of Winnipeg, on the Canadian National Railways, contains 10,200 acres and is not only horseless but cowless, sheepless and hogless. It has not a single head of live stock on it. Not a work animal has been used on it in its four years of successful existence.

"The Schaals, father and son, do all their plowing, seeding, harvesting, threshing and transportation of grain by tractors. Four hundred horses would be necessary to do the work accomplished by the fleet of tractors. Three complete threshing rigs are a part of the regular equipment. Forty tractors, each pulling two 14-inch plows, are used in plowing time. They turn over one acre of land every two minutes. Tractors are used again in disking the soil to prepare it for seed. Twelve foot drills drawn by tractors seed 640 acres a day.

"During harvest, the grain is cut and shocked at the rate of a section a day. A large number of automobiles are used at seeding and harvest time to transport farm hands from one part of the farm to another."

This is not a picture, however, of what may be expected on Canadian farms generally; even in the next 100 years. Permanent agricultural prosperity is still linked closely with live stock and the horse is still, by all odds, the most economical power agent on the farm of 100 acres or less. The true field of the tractor is as a supplement to horse power on large farms. Only in exceptional cases can the horse be supplanted with profit.

MAY LAY LIQUOR CHARGE UNDER HEALTH LAWS.

REGINA, November 24 (Canadian Press). — Charges, if any, levelled against liquor firms raided by the Dominion Customs Department in Regina on Tuesday, are likely to be laid under the provisions of legislation governing the Dominion Department of Health, and not under existing Federal or Provincial liquor laws. This information was secured through officials of the Saskatchewan Liquor Commission.

Compounding illegally is the practice which Customs officials are sampling and making search to establish. This matter is governed by regulations of the Health Department, which rules that goods or liquors must be strictly in accordance with the labels.

Customs officials, led to believe that some of the liquor in the huge stocks maintained here was not imported, as indicated by the labels, are thoroughly probing the matter to discover if any compounding has been carried on.

CONDUCTED MEETING WHILE HOUSE BURNED

MATIERLY, Nov. 25. — Resentment is held against the progressive candidate and the local member here because they continued to conduct a political meeting while the home of a South Sherbrooke farmer, a mile away, burned to the ground.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS;

YOUNG MOTHER: What you must guard against is chafing. While there is no particular objection to using powder, it is much better to use CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM before powdering the baby. A liberal application of CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM to the affected parts after each bath will go a great way to prevent chafing and irritation of the skin. You will also find it a wonderful preventative of chapped or red hands. CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM keeps the skin soft and smooth and reinforces the natural oils of the skin in performing their natural functions. You can buy CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM at any Druggist. 40c. a lareg bottle.

MOTOR FATALITIES INCREASE

There have been more automobile fatalities on the streets of Toronto in the past six months than in the first six months of the year. There were eight motor car deaths in October, 1920, and five in October, just issued by the Safety League shows a total of forty-nine fatalities in the ten months of 1921 on Toronto streets—an average of four a month. In the first ten months of 1920 there were fifty-seven automobile deaths and forty-three in 1919.

Anaemia

Thin, watery blood is no more nourishing than thin, watery milk—skim milk.

But you can soon enrich thin blood, overcome the anaemic condition and build up the whole system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. F. G. Simmons, 42 Curtis St., Brantford, Ont., writes:

"For about eight years I suffered from anaemia. My circulation was poor, my gums and lips were pale, and my hands and feet were always cold. I was nervous and unable to sleep well. I had frequent headaches, seemed restless and easily worried or irritated. There was a buzzing sound in my ears. Indigestion was also one of my complaints, and I often was attacked by weak spells. I went to a doctor, who told me I was anaemic, but as I did not get any better I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after the first box I felt brighter and my headaches completely disappeared. I continued using the Nerve Food for quite a while. I am quite well now, and cheerfully and gratefully recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to people suffering as I did before I used this splendid medicine."

DECREASE IN NUMBER OF WOMEN'S PRISONS

CARLISLE, Eng., Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press.)—In consequence of a decrease in the number of women convicts, the women's prison here is being closed. Recent years have seen a gradual closing down of prisons for womn in this country and there are now only 25 left of 100 which were in existence some years ago.

Women prisoners have decreased from 3... in 1914 to 1,209 in October, 1920.

OBITUARY

W. H. McILMOYLE.

His many friends will be grieved to learn of the death at 2 o'clock this afternoon of Mr. W. H. McIlmoyle, King street.

A more extended announcement will appear later.

MRS. FRED DAWSON.

The death occurred in Lindsay on Monday of a former resident of Otonabee and South Monaghan in the person of Mrs. Fred Dawson, 76 Bond street.

Harriet, second daughter of Martin Parker and his wife, Hannah Akitt, was born in Bailieboro, Ont., on October 13th, 1837. After careful training in the home and at school in Port Hope, she was united in marriage on April 7th, 1864, to Frederick Dawson, with whom she began a very happy married life, first on a farm in South Monaghan, then in Otonabee township for a few years, and later in Ops township, near Reaboro. In 1888 their only son Howard died, and the family moved to Lindsay, where they resided at 76 Bond street. In early life she became a member of the Methodist church and has lived a quiet, consistent life ever since, always taking a deep interest in the welfare of the different ministers on the circuit and helping in all its activities. Seven years ago their golden wedding was fittingly celebrated. Early on the morning of November 21st she passed to her eternal reward.

The funeral service on Wednesday afternoon gave opportunity for tributes of respect and was conducted by Rev. Francis Johnson. The pallbearers were Mr. D. Cinnamon, Walter Reesor, Stanley Beall, W. Lloyd Wood, Rev. T. Brown all of Lindsay, and J. W. Dawson of Bailieboro. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery.

In addition to her bereft husband there remain to cherish her memory two daughters, Mrs. Rev. W. M. Leigh, Enterprise, Ont., and Mrs. E. W. Rea, of Lindsay, three brothers, Richard Parker of Bailieboro Wm. Parker of Dryden, Ont., Martis Parker of Dryden, Ont., Martin Kezia Sadler of Toronto.

ENGINEER FOR BIRMINGHAM MOTORS WAS CONNECTED WITH CANADIAN SHELL INDUSTRY

Mr. C. E. Weaver, chief engineer for Birmingham Motors, who is preparing the floor plants in connection with the operation of the Peterboro plant, in a letter to Mr. Byron Lederer of this city, has the following interesting comment to make on his industry of Canada. The letter in connection with the shell making part reads as follows:

I would like to add that I am very interested in anything that is developed in Canada, as I have had a great deal of experience working for and with Canadians.

It fell to my lot the first year of the war to open a shell plant in Prescott, Ontario, just across the river from Ogdensburg, N.Y. We took a contract for the manufacture of 25,000 18" high explosive shells ,and through energetic work was successful in producing the first production run of high-explosive shells of this calibre ever manufactured in Canada. During my time there in charge of shell production, I had the opportunity to meet and become associated with a great many manufacturers in that locality, and I can only say that I was greatly impressed with the possibilities for a progressive manufacturing enterprise, and I am very much pleased that I am about to become associated with the manufacture and sale of an article which will be distributed throughout the Dominion. It may interest you to know that I personally machined the first three 18" high explosive shells off from the Shell Committee drawings, and that these shells were retained and used as models for accuracy in production. It may interest you to know that we ran a contract of 25,000 shells with a net material loss of 2½% scrap, which was less than any plant in the Dominion."

TOLMIE LANDS MEICHEN.

VICTORIA, Nov. 26.—(Canadian Press).—Speaking here last night, Hon. Mr. Tolmie said that in sizing up the three leaders in the Federal campaign, it would not take him a minute to select the man he would choose to carry out a big stroke of business. His choice would be the Premier.

British Press Raises Chorus Of Protest Against Irish War

LONDON, Nov. 26.—(Canadian Press).—A chorus of vehement protest against the renewal of war in Ireland in event of the collapse of the Irish negotiations, is raised by the morning papers, following the meeting of Premier Lloyd George with the Ulster Premier yesterday.

"The Government cannot engage in civil war with the Irish nation if the people of Great Britain are determined that there shall be no war," says the Daily News, while the Daily Herald declares a new war would outrage the morals of the whole world and would never receive the sanction of the British people. The Daily Express urges all parties to rally to the defence of an Irish settlement, and the Westminster Gazette expresses the opinion that "the people are quite determined not to fight anybody in Ireland in the interests of anybody else in Ireland."

INSPECTOR WOODCOCK INVESTIGATES FUR-BUYING OF BELLEVILLE MAN AND LAYS CHARGE

The activities of the local Inspector of Game and Fisheries, M. J. Woodcock, have not been confined to Peterborough county. At the request of the Department a brisk investigation was made this week of the fur-buying trade of Harry Yanover, 129 John street, Belleville, and as a result at 10.30 p.m. Thursday, 10 bags of furs, said by Yanover to be worth $4,000, were seized from the buyer and Yanover will be charged in Toronto with a breach of the Game and Fisheries Act.

It is alleged that Yanover bought the furs without a license and unless he can acquit himself, the six bags of skunk, three bags of raccoon and one bag of fox are the property of the Crown.

Inspector Woodcock was assisted by the Belleville police in the seizureof the big bale of furs, which are now in Peterborough, awaiting shipment to Toronto. Yanover alleges his license had not been sent him ,although he applied for it.

TORONTO STAR BOOMS P.A.A.A.

WILL BE SOURCE OF PRIDE AND POWER FOR GOOD IN CITY, IT PREDICTS.

TORONTO, Nov. 26.—(Canadian Press.)—The sporting editor of the Toronto Star says to-day: "The citizens of Peterborough are heart and soul behind the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association and the best people of the city are not only supporting the movement, but are also taking an active interest in the work of the organization. The calibre of the men at the head of the movement ensures its success, but they aim to interest every person in Peterborough in the Association and to make it a community organization that will be a source of pride and power for great good in the city.

The Association has made a good start by securing Walter Smaill as Director of Athletics and his work will lie chiefly in the development of recreation and organized sport among the young boys and girls of the city. It is really an undertaking that belongs to the municipality, but the new Association has the endorsation and support of the Civic Fathers and expects to receive valuable assistance from the members of the Council."

SUGGESTED PALE BLUE COLOR FOR COLLECTION

Last evening, the annual celebration of St. Andrew's Night took place, when members of the Peterborough Caledonian Club, both ladies and gentlemen, to the number of about 160, gathered in the Woodmen of the World Hall for one of the jolliest and most enjoyable banquets of the season. An evening of fun and music was spent, after the enjoyment of an excellent supper, catered for by Mr. Thomas Hooper in the very best manner; one item in the service which rendered particular notice being the cakes, which were decorated with the cross of St. Andrew and the emblem of the Caledonian Club.

The Programme.

Mr. A. Dick made a very proficient chairman, and proposed the different toasts, leading off with "The King," which was followed by the singing of the National Anthem. A sweet vocal solo, "Caller Herrin'," was rendered by Miss Crosbie, and the Rev. J. A. MacKenzie gave a much-enjoyed address on "St. Andrew." Mrs. R. Dingwall sang "Loch Lomond and You," and Mr. Wm. Thompson gave some excellent impersonations of Harry Lauder, rendering a varied repertoire of over twelve songs, in full tartan costume and the crooked stick of the great entertainer.

The toast to "The Caledonian Club" was responded to by Mr. S. Leith in fine stlve. Mr. Leith quoted from a report of a "Burns" night held by Scotchmen of the city in January of 1913, as follows:

"A proposition was noo laid afore the lads as tae the formation o' a club among the Scots element in Peterborough. Amang the speakers in favour o' sic a club were John Moyes, Sandy Hardie, Campbell, Stroyan Leith, Mitchell Laird, Bob Dickson, Harry Taylor, Bob Smith, an' a wheen others—a' bein' anxious for a society bein' sterted. Various social side lines tae accrue frae this central society. An auld country dance was mooted, which it is hoped, will be carried tae a heid afore March. Knox Kirk Brotherhood have kindly gien the use o' their room for the society if set agaun. It wis settled tae meet next Friday in the room mentioned abune, to elect a committee."

Miss Foulis' song, "Sprig o' Purple Heather," followed, with the "Chronicles of St. Andrew," by Mr. James Brown, the latter a short skit on the meeting of several Scotchmen in India.

The toast to "The Two Countries" was replied to by Mr. G. N. Gordon in an excellent discourse on the merits of Canada and Scotland. A vocal solo, "Friend of Mine," was rendered by Mr. J. Smith, and a duet, "Hunting Tower," by Mrs. Dingwall and Mr. John Anderson, which followed, was pronounced the treat of the evening. To enthusiastic encores, the singers responded with the favorite ballad, "The Crookit Bawbee."

The toast to "The Ladies" was replied to by Mr. R. French, and Rev. J. A. MacKenzie gave two humorous selections in excellent style. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought to a close one of the most entertaining events in the history of the local society.

All accompaniments for the evening were played by Miss Buchanan in a most efficient manner.

PREDICTS SWEEP BY LIBERALS IN BRITISH FIELD

LONDON, Nov. 26.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Speaking at the National Liberal Federation meeting at New Castlie yesterday ex-Premier Asquith urged revision of the Versailles Treay with regard to reparations and indemnities, cancellation of Allied indebtedness of foreign states and removal of tariff walls for the economic reconstruction of Europe.

Sir Donald MacLean declared that the next general election the Liberals would sweep the field clear of the Coalition.

$15,000 SAVED ON MAINS FOR FILTER PLANT

SAVING EFFECTED, IT IS SAID, BY UTILITIES COMMISSION DOING WORK INSTEAD OF LETTING CONTRACT.

PERMISSION FOR $50,000 DEBENTURE ISSUE ASKED

That a saving of over $15,000 has been made by the Utilities Commission in laying the mains of the filtration plant themselves was revealed at a meeting of the Utilities Commission yesterday afternoon, which was adjourned till evening because of the numerous matters to be discussed. The waterworks department estimated that the work would cost $31,126, using ten-inch pipes. As a matter of fact, work has cost only $23,586.86. Six-inch pipes were laid, but even had the original design been carried out they would have been $5,000 within their estimate, according to the Commission.

Other tenders for the work were: Russell Construction Co., Toronto, $33,433; McAusland and Anderson, North Bay, $33,995; J. A. Grant and Co., Montreal, $39,250; Archambault and Leclair, Montreal, $42,000; Atlas Construction Co., Montreal, $48,900; W. H. Yates Construction Co., Hamilton, $60,617. The tender of the Russell Construction Co. was only good, providing they secured the entire contract for the plant, and the Grant tender was on similar terms, while the tender of McAusland and Anderson was qualified to the securing of the reservoir contract.

Owing to the decision of the Commission that high velocity wash should supercede the air and water wash formerly designed for the filter system, the ten-inch force mains were reduced to six inches at a saving in cost of $3,000. The nearest bid to that of the waterworks department eliminating the qualified ones was that of Archambault and Leclair for $42,000. Reducing this by $3,000, as a fair allowance for the difference in the cost of the pipe completion of the job by this company would have cost $39,000. The work has now been completed by the Commission and the total cost has been $23,586.86, of which $5,074.01 is chargeable to labor and $18,512.85 to material. Comparing this to the $39,000, the cost if the contract had been let at a minimum, a saving of $15,413.14 is effected.

Rotary Ask Free Water.

Fearing to establish a precedent, but fully appreciating the merits of the request, the Commission hesitated to give free water to the Rotary Club for flooding a rink in the Manufacturers' Building at the Exhibition Grounds. The club explained that the rink would be free three afternoons in the week, and it was proposed to charge at other times, the revenue to go towards the construction of a summer camp for underprivileged boys at Stoney Lake. It was pointed out that only to the city rinks has free water been allowed, and churches that have had rinks have had to pay a minimum rate. The Commissioners felt that while commending fully the motives of the Rotary Club, it would be unwise to make an exception, and it was accordingly resolved that the rate be

LETTER FROM DAY-NITE BATTERY CO., STORAGE BATTERY EXPERTS

Dear Sir or Madam:—
At this time of the year when you are thinking of storing your car for the winter, have you given your Storage Battery any consideration?

The Storage Battery, while often neglected, is one of the most import ant parts of the modern automobile, and such should be given every possible care.

We have lately enlarged our Battery Station, installed larger and more up-to-date equipment, also acquired the services of another Battery Expert.

We intend during the coming winter, to prove to our many clients why it will pay them to let us look after their Batteries and give the attention that only an expert can give.

You must realize that once a battery has been frozen, it is useless, and therefore must be replaced or rebuilt. Why then take a chance? Store your battery with a reputable Service Station and save money.

We will positively guarantee your battery against fire, damage or frost, also call for and deliver same when required.

Hoping to have the pleasure of serving you. We are, respectfully your, Day-Nite Battery Co.; P. S. Dallin Manager.

Business Now On the Upturn Say Bankers

ONTARIO ADVICES STATE WHOLESALE TRADE STIRRING AND PUBLIC BUYING MORE FREELY

WINNIPEG, November 26 (Canadian Press). — "On the whole, it would seem from reports received that trade is on the upturn," states the weekly bulletin of the Canadian Credit Men's Association, issued yesterday.

Toronto and Ontario advices say there is apparently a little more business stirring in all lines in the wholesale trade, and the outlook appears brighter, though collections are not satisfactory, and, in fact, no better than for some time past. The retail trade is still making strenuous efforts to attract buyers by extensive advertising and special sales. Although the public are still buying warily, they are doing more freely than for some time past. While there are a considerable number of unemployed, they do not seem to be increasing to any serious extent.

Montreal and Quebec reports state that the wholesale trade is now fairly active in all lines. In manufacturing circles there is litte change, excepting a strike in one of the largest boot houses, due, it is claimed, to a reduction in wages, but help is coming forth freely. Retail trade shows general improvement on a month ago, but turnover still below that of the same time last year. District failures less during past two weeks. This week eight reported with liabilities of $150,000.

Winnipeg wholesalers fairly active, especially furniture, dry goods, ladies' and men's wear, groceries, and musical instruments. Retail trade more active with the commencement of the Christmas trade. Departmental stores now open until 6 p.m. and on Saturday afternoons. Collections still slow.

Regina and Saskatchewan advices state quite an improvement noticeable this week, with greater demand for merchandise. Wholesalers are holding back, except where credit is is distinctly warranted. Retail trade good. Threshing not yet completed. Collections very slow.

On the whole, it would seem from reports received that trade is on the upturn.

FINE SKATING NIGHT AT ROLLER ACADEMY

ONE OF THE MOST PLEASANT OF THE SEASON LAST NIGHT—SOMETHING SPECIAL EVERY NIGHT NEXT WEEK.

The programme at the Brock street rink last night was just about the best since the opening of the Academy and will be repeated by request one night next week. There will be something special every night next week.. Be on hand Monday night to hear the programme. It is expected that the roller skating will be over in two weeks, but these two weeks will be made most pleasant for the patrons of the rink.

PASTOR OF ST. ANDREW'S WILL GIVE THIRD ADDRESS OF SERIES TO YOUNG PEOPLE.

Continued interest is undoubted in the series of talks to Young People by Rev. Jas. Rollins in St. Andrews Church on Sunday evenings. Each address is complete in itself and have been found to be most profitable to the great numbers of people who are attending. The musical numbers for to-morrow evening have been most carefully selected and prepared.

Special attention being drawn to the Anthem: "Crossing the Bar".

Every stranger in the city and those not actively identified with any church in the City as well as others who find it convenient to attend, will be given a friendly welcome.

FUNERAL YESTERDAY.

Charles McKee, 213 King Street, who died while cycling up a hill in Smith Township on Wednesday night, was buried yesterday afternoon in Little Lake Cemetery, the funeral taking place from his late residence, 213 King Street, at 2.30 o'clock p.m.

The service at the house was conducted by Rev. J. A. MacKenzie, of Knox Church. The pallbearers were: Harry Rush, Ed. Hollingshead, William Sutherland, T. A. Lang, William Hill, and Samuel Sands.

A. B. CUNNINGHAM DESIGNATES PROPOSED OLD BOYS' REUNION AS AN OLD WORN-OUT CHESTNUT

DOES NOT FAVOUR A CIVIC GRANT TO THE PROJECT—DEFICITS IN OTHER CITIES — MEETING OF THE TENANTS' AND OWNERS' ASSOCIATION.

DISCUSS CIVIC ISSUES

The Tenants' and Owners' Association met last evening in the G. W.V.A. Hall and discussed a number of municipal issues. The tendency of the meeting was to endorse anything that would bring about a lower tax rate. Mr. W. H. Bradburn handled the gavel and had little difficulty in keeping the meeting within the prescribed limits of the programme. Several hundred tenants and ratepayers crowded into the hall, including representatives of the civic administration, who were interested spectators.

Mr. Bradburn opened the meeting with an enunciation of the aims and objects of the Association, and was followed by Mr. S. T. Medd, secretary of the Association, who informed his auditors that the Association had no axe to grind and was non-political. It was created to protect and develop the interests of all citizens.

Mr. R. E. Layfield said similar associations could be found in other cities and much good could be accomplished by such an organization.

The city's sewage disposal problem, from an engineering standpoint, was the subject of an interesting address by City Engineer R. H. Parsons, whose appearance before the Association was sanctioned by Mayor A. A. McIntyre. Mr. Parsons went back into ancient history in an effort to explain to the meeting some of the difficulties associated with such an undertaking. The Provincial Board of Health insists upon the installation of the activated sludge system of sewage disposal at a cost of approximately $243,000. The Imhoff system, favoured by City Engineer Parsons, would cost nearly $80,000 more, but the cost of operation would be several thousand dollars less each year, and many of the mechanical features of the activated sludge system would be eliminated. Mr. Parsons paid a tribute to the engineering ability of F. A. Dallyn, of the Provincial Board of Health, but contended that the local engineering department was more familiar with the city's need.

Mr. T. Tooms, M.P.P., enumerated some of his efforts in connection with the local sewage disposal scheme. He had accompanied a number of civic deputations to Toronto.

A discussion as to the respective methods of dewatering the sludge and its commercial value followed and resulted in a draw. J. L. Humbers, J. W. Worth, James Bogue, W. H. Lytle and others took part in this discussion and at its conclusion, the chairman pointed out that City Engineer Parsons was not on trial before the meeting but was present as

TO-DAY'S NEWS OF THE DISTRICT

JAMES C. CAMPBELL IS AN EXAMPLE OF ACCOMPLISHMENT BY SELF-HELP

SOUTH MONAGHAN FARMER HAS BECOME A LEADER OF THE U. F. O. IN THIS DISTRICT AND HIS SERVICES ARE MUCH IN DEMAND IN POLITICAL CAMPAIGN.

J. C. CAMPBELL.

Listening to the address of James C. Campbell of South Monaghan, at Warkworth, last Tuesday, where he spoke in support of Fred J. Slade, the U. F. O. candidate in Northumberland, recalled the advice Sir Wilfrid Laurier once gave to young Canadians who desired to study the development of the forms and the evolution of the British principles of representative and responsible government. The Liberal chieftain recommended to them Macaulay's "History of England," of which he himself had been a diligent and responsive student; and although some of its statements may not agree with the revelations of subsequent research, it is still a standard history and a work of high literary merit.

Mr. Campbell may not have been guided in his search for knowledge by the suggestion of Laurier; his own reading may indeed have directed him toward Macaulay, but in any event he must have burned the midnight oil in long poring through those absorbing pages in his younger years not so long ago. And those hours of industry or recreation without any special promise of future extraneous profit are now bringing their reward in the apt and copious and impressive quotations from memory with which Mr. Campbell illumines his speeches.

His store house of references includes many other authors than the great English historian, indicating a fairly comprehensive acquaintance with the classics; and from another mental compartment he draws timely and appropriate stories and anecdotes to change the mood of his address, to point and drive home an argument or to rest and refresh his audience with a recess of humor. Mr. Campbell taps these funds of his so spontaneously and so readily that there is no suggestion of a mere parade of his "learning." His ideas flow forth readily and aflame with earnestness, his jokes carry force and light with their humour, which is often of the soil, always good-natured and never too subtle for the average audience. In brief plays upon the entire scale of oratory persuasively and with an art that may have been acquired, but which seems entirely natural.

Once upon a time farmers may have been suspicious of those of their class who were gifted with smooth and effective address. Eloquence may have struck them as incongrous with horny hands, and the power to move men by the spoken word may have been regarded as a prerogative of the brain-workers only. If such prejudices were ever entertained they are nowhere found in Ontario in this day and generation. The U.F.O. appear to be combing their ranks for oratorical talent, and in this district of Central Ontario, comprising the counties of Northumberland, Durham, Victoria and Peterborough, they have discovered a 'find' in James C. Campbell, whose platform abilities have been in demand in Northumberland, and may also be used in Victoria before the campaign ends.

The welcome he has received in his tour with Mr. Slade and the impression he has made in the rural sections of Northumberland, are in themselves an ample reward for the studies he once gave to subjects with which he familiarized himself without expectation perhaps of the fulness of the opportunity that is now coming to him. In Warkworth the other day he was acclaimed by the majority of a crowd of nearly three thousand, many of whom remained to congratulate him upon his address.

Of course, Mr. Campbell does not pose as an orator, a "spell binder," his services have been requisitioned because the supply of capable speakers is far below the demand but he is developng fast, and is already held in high esteem by the U. F. O. leaders. The only criticism of his style might be the suggestion that his delivery is sometimes too rapid. In those passages his points pelt upon his audience with the probable effect that the force of some of them may be lost in the torrent. That, however, s a defect, that may be remedied by a little thought and practice, rounding out the labour of long ago, which may well be cited as an example to present day youths who have golden hours if they will put them to intelligent use.

Actor Shoots Girl Partner, Wounding Her, Kills Himself

HAMILTON, Nov. 26.—(Canadian Press).—Cecile Bartley, aged 21 Chicago, an actress playing at the Lyric Theatre on the Keith Circuit in a miniature musical comedy entitled "Under the Apple Tree" was shot three times and probably fatally wounded yesterday afternoon after the matinee, by Jack Grubb, aged 42, New York another member of the company who afterwards turned the gun on himself and ended his life.

Grubb had been paying attention to the actress for some time, and he waited far her at the top of the steps leading to the dressing roms. When she reached the top of the stairs he tried to speak to her, but her companion, Helen Campbell, of the same company, pushed him away. He then pulled a revolver and fired three shots, wounding Miss Bartley in the stomach, breast, and behind the left ear. He then fired two shots into his own chest and died on the way to the hospital.

LAST SCENE FEARED TO HAVE BEEN ENACTED IN PARLEY FOR SETTLEMENT OF IRISH PROBLEM

LLOYD GEORGE COMMUNICATES SINN FEIN'S REFUSAL TO OWN ALLEGIANCE TO KING, TO ULSTER PREMIER.

MODERATES EXERTING PRESSURE ON SINN FEIN

LONDON, Nov. 26.— (Canadian Press.)— What is feared to be the last scene in the effort to bring peace to Ireland was enacted yesterday when Prime Minister Lloyd George and Sir James Craig met in the former's official residence in Downing Street, when the Imperial Premier told the head of the Northern Government that Sinn Fein Ireland had not consented to own allegiance to the King, a perquisite to Ulster's agreement to enter an All-Ireland Parliament.

The Sinn Fein delegates are consulting with members of the Dail Cabinet in Dublin on the crisis thus brought about, while Sir James packed his bag and returned to Belfast, where he will report to his parliament next Tuesday and possibly disclose the cause of the virtual breakdown of the Irish negotiations. The official correspondence that has passed between the various delegations also may be published at the same time in London.

Week-end efforts, meanwhile, will be made by peace-makers in an attempt to persuade the Sinn Fein to modify its attitude of allegiance to the King. The Dail Eireann members have taken the oath of allegiance to the Irish Republic, and thus far the have refused to substitute for it recognition, within Ireland, of King George. The furthest concession from the Sinn Feiners has been their willingness to recognize the King as the formal President of the community of free nations which Ireland might choose voluntarily to join, but even this was not defintely promised.

Lord Chancellor Birkenhead and Attorney General Hewart, law officers of the Crown, have ransacked the constitutions of all the British dominions to find any precedent for the only kind of relationship with the British Crown that Sinn Feiners will consider, but nothing can be found, and the Evening News, the first London newspaper to indicate the real cause of the crisis, suggests that the relations of Bavaria with Prussia in the German Empire might furnish such a precedent.

But Mr. Lloyd George, it is understood, would not admit of any arrangement which would leave Ireland's allegiance to the Crown in any doubt, and the Government would support Ulster in refusing any association which would weaken its British citizenship.

The only proscect for peace now is said to rest on the Sinn Fein's conceding allegiance to the Crown and the influence of the advocates of moderation has been invoked in a final effort to change its position. The question is being put as to whether the point involved is worth renewed warfare, for a breakdown of the negotiations on that issue, it is believed, would be followed, either before or after the general election, by the handing over of Ireland to military rule and the displacement of the civilian officials in Dublin Castle, to whose influence is attributed the previous failure of military measures.

All along the Sinn Fein delegates have held the belief that no matter what the result of the negotiations mght be the British public would oppose the employment of the military, and, in this they have the support of former Premier Asquith, who at a meeting of the Liberal Federation yesterday, said the Liberal party had not receded from any pledge given against the forcible coercion of the Ulster minority. At the same time he asked all Liberals to assent to the proposition that it was equally true that they were not going to be parties, at the instance or for the sake of a corner of Ulster, to coercion of the great mass of the Irish people.

THREE DIVORCES ASKED.

OTTAWA, November 26 (Canadian Press). — Three notifications of application for divorce at the next session of Parliament are contained in this week's issue of the Canada Gazette. They are:

C. R. Miners, London, from his wife, Kathleen M. Miners.

W. Elizabeth Snider, Toronto, from her husband, Buret K. Snider.

CROWN PRINCE OF JAPAN IS REGENT

TOKIO, Nov. 26—(Canadian Press).—Crown Prince Hirohito has been designated Regent of Japan. An imperial rescript making the anouncement issued by Emperor Yoshito said:

"We are unable to attend in person to the affairs of State, on account of protracted illness, and accordingly appoint Crown Prince Hriohito Regent with approval of the Council of Princes, the Imperial Family, and the Privy Councillors."

Simultaneously a bulletin was issued stating that the Emperor's mental condition was such as to preclude his further attention to State duties, traceable to an affliction of his infancy. It added that there was no serious development in his physical condition.

PRINCE GETS HIS FIRST TASTE OF INDIAN OPULENCE

ENTERTAINED AMID GORGEOUS SPLENDORS BY GAEKWAR OF BARODA.

BARODA, India, Nov. 26.—(Canadian Press)—The Prince of Wales is experiencing his first taste of the opulence and splendor of Indian princes as the guest of Gaekwar of Baroda, one of the most powerful native rulers, whose resources are said to be almost unfathomable and whose yearly income is placed at many millions of dollars.

The Gaekwar's son, Prince Jasingh, was educated at Harvard and his allowance was so great as to make him a sort of mysterious Monte Cristo among his less fortunate comrades.

It is a novel experience even for the heir to the Throne of the world's greatest Empire, for undoubtedly no present-day monarch has at his hand the facilities for such gorgeous display and pomp as the Gaekwar and many other Indian potentates who will play host to their future sovereign.

The Prince's train drew up at the station yesterday amidst the thunder of cannon, and awaiting him was the Gaekwar himself, with his shining retinue. From there the young prince was driven in a barouche scintillatng wtih gold and jewels, through the elaborately decorated streets in which cheering thousands crowded to catch a glimpse of the heir to the Imperial Throne.

It was a most imposing procession At one point were aranged the famous battery of gold and silver guns with silver carriages and richly caparisoned horses together with six colossal elephants bearing silver and gilded thrones, each one of which represented a fortune.

The procession was followed by the Durbar, (as the official reception is called), which took place in Durbar Hall, with its carpeted floor and walls of teak. Gorgeously attired dignitaries participated in the ceremonies reserved for British royalty.

During the afternoon there was a garden party in the spacious grounds of the palace, where Indian musicians, acrobats and dancers entertained. The Prince also was shown the crown jewels and saw displayed the glittering mass of gems of inestimable value.

HUGHES DENIES STORY RAPPING GREAT BRITAIN

WASHINGTON PAPER PRINTS REPORT THAT BRITISH DELEGATION SEEKS TO IMPOSE "OLD SCHOOL" DIPLOMACY.

AROUSES U. S. PAPERMEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(By Ben Deacon Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—The rumor peddlers are busy again, and as has been the case in connection with practically all the wild yarns that have been circulated since the Washington Conference, began, the British are the victims.

Yesterday a story was printed in a local paper to the effect that the British delegation was attempting to impose the methods of "the old school of diplomacy" upon the Conference. This "old school" it was stated, was seeking "to transplant to American soil the sods of the old methods of secrecy, evasion and old methods of secrecy, evasion and diplomatic intrigue." Opposed to this, the story said, was the new school of diplomacy, represented by the United States, whose slogans were "open diplomacy with the backing of public opinion as against secrecy action as against evasion frankness and direction against diplomatic intrigue."

The story gave a circumstantial account of a meeting of the Far Eastern Committee at which, it alleged, there was "a clash between the two schools." It was said the question of keeping a record of the proceedings was under discussion and that while the United States delegates favored this, Mr. Balfour, on behalf of the British delegation, objected.

"He made the usual plea for the old accustomed way of conducting diplomatic conferences of this character," the story proceeded, "and under the circumstances it would not have been courteous for the other delegations to insist." On this account the writer says, it was decided no stenographic report would be kept.

The story brought a prompt denial from Mr. Hughes, United States Secretary of State. At a meeting of the Committee yesterday he made a statment saying the story was "not only untrue but grotesque".

KINGSTON TO APPEAL THE ACCOUNT FOR HIGHWAY.

KINGSTON, November 26 (Canadian Press). — The County Council yesterday decided to appeal the account of the Provincial Highway Department for $87,200.73 for work done in 1020 on the Provincial Highway in the townships of Kingston and Pittsburgh, which cost has been charged against the whole county. It was the bill for similar work in 1919 that the railway in its decision given out this week, put the cost of the six townships—Bedford, Portland, Loughborough, Storrington, Pittsburgh, and Kingston, and the village of Portsmouth.

SWALLOWED WHOLE DOCTRINE

It is claimed on behalf of the Progressive party that the fact that some of its candidates in urban centres are not farmers proves the organization led by Hon. T. A. Crerar is not as partizan as The Examiner last evening declared it to be. Stronger proof than that will be needed. In the first place, there are but a handful of Progressive candidates in the cities and, secondly, any concessions that have been made in connection with their candidature, it is safe to say, have not been made by the Farmers. The candidates have swallowed the whole Progressive doctrine and the party is willing to let them fall in behind the procession of "enbattled farmers" and support their policies if elected. They will not be numerous enough to make the fact that they are not farmers a menace to the class ambitions of the Progressives and they will be expected to vote blindly for the furtherance of those ambitions in the event of the Crerar party being called upon to form the next Government. Out in the rural ridings the United Farmers loudly declare that they don't need any one to come from the cities to tell them how to vote, but at the same time they do not object to having the support of a few city candidates so long as they are satisfied merely to vote as directed by the Farmer whips.

CANADA'S UNKNOWN.

It is announced that Canada, following the example of Great Britain, France, Italy and the United States, is to honour the memory of her heroic sons who fell in the great war by bringing from France the body of an unknown Canadian soldier and burying it with full national honours beneath new Victory Tower at Ottawa. This undertaking has been mooted for some time and there has been considerable difference of opinion, many Canadians maintaining that such a ceremony would be in the nature of an anti-climax and that Canada's dead are represented as are the dead of every part of the Empire in the unknown warrior whose body was buried in Westminster Abbey, while on the other hand it has been pointed out that London is far away and only a handful of Canadians will see the resting place of the unknown hero, whereas the burying of a Canadian soldier at Ottawa would give the Dominion a national shrine. Now that the decision has been made to carry out the ceremony in Canada, it is to be hoped that there will be no controversy of the matter and that Canadians will unitedly support the plan and co-operate if called upon in seeing that it is carrid out with the proper dignity that the occasion calls for.

WHERE THE FAULT LIES.

Not the least important feature in connection with a campaign to place the civic administration of a community upon a successful business basis is the problem of educating the people to the necessity of voting. The Tenants' and Owners' Association should not lose sight of the fact that while it is not always a difficult matter to place strong candidates in the field, it is quite a different affair when it comes to inducing the electors to get out and vote for them. How that difficulty is to be overcome is a question that deserves consideration. Some people suggest compulsory voting, with a penalty of disenfranchisement in the event of the failure of an elector to vote, unless he can show that he was ill or unavoidably absent on election day. That would be a pretty harsh regulation and yet when it it is considered that at some elections fully fifty per cent. of those on the lists fail to use the ballot it becomes fairly evident that a severe jolt is badly needed to awaken the public. There is little sense in complaining about inefficiency and extravagance in the handling of public business when half the community is too indifferent to vote. We get just the kind of civic government we deserve, and it is idle to look for better conditions until we realize that as ratepayers we have sadly neglected our duty and that the remedy lies in our own hands.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

So far as the Examiner has been able to learn the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association in appointing a director of athletics to superintende amateur sport in Peterborough, has broken new ground. Other organizations in other cities have the services of a coach or of a number of them, but Mr. Smaill is to be more than a coach—he is, to use a business term, to be the efficiency expert of local sport and his advice and experience are to be used in developing young material, in encouraging the citizens generally to get into the various games themselves instead of being mere spectators, and in every way to arouse a more general interest in healthful recreation. The director chosen by the Association seems admirably suited for the position. He has had experience in many lines of sport as a player with a record second to none and he has also had the advantage of years of experience in training and directing athletes. And on top of it all he has "pep," personality and a clean record. As Mr. W. A. Hewitt, sporting editor of the Toronto Star, and one of the leading authorities in Canada on sporting matters, put it the other night: "No father need be afraid to trust his boy with Walter Smaill." There could be no finer tribute.

PEACE—WITH SECURITY.

However much we may pay homage to the ideal of peace, however much humanity may long to be freed from armaments and war, few with a memory of the past seven years, [illegible] with a clear comprehension [illegible] realities of the world, can view [illegible] hostility the great speech on [illegible] of French preparedness before Washington Conference. M. Briand is among the great orators of the world. But, as was pointed out by Mr. Balfour, the speech which he delivered yesterday, while moving in its eloquence and in its passion, depended upon something much more salient for the success which it achieved. It depended upon the unassailable truth of the message which M. Briand brought to America: The message that with Germany unrepentant, unregenerated, untaught, at her doors, France cannot, must not disarm. It is a message, a truth with which we in lands of comparative safety must have sympathy. On the great continent of America, with its immeasurable resources, its vast human raw material, its inexhaustible wealth, its two great oceans separating it from possible foes, it is easy to stand for peace. But France; how different her position! She is in the heart of a troubled, thronged, and war-torn continent. She has just emerged from a conflict which imposed upon her a burden of blood and tears such as no other people have ever endured in the history of the world. For five weary, terrible years France saw her beautiful fields churned into saturnalias of slaughter; saw her altars desecrated; her homes laid waste; her women outraged; two millions of her citizens die. Can we here in America, who have lived far from the sound and carnage of that frightful ordeal, can we understand what this must have meant to France? If we can but dimly realise it, if our own share of anguish, so trivial by comparison, enables us to but vaguely understand what heroic France must have endured, then surely we must sympathies with her now in her plea for security.

If it were that the world would be ready to rush to the aid of France in the event of attack, the position would be different. But the world does not stand ready to give this aid. The other nations, democratic Government being what it is, have their own difficulties, their own domestic and international complications; they might not be able or ready to strike a blow for France. That, at all events, was the lesson which France read from the fate of the proposed Anglo-French alliance. It was the only lesson which that proposal's fate permitted her to read.

And so, who can say that M. Briand was not upon impregnable ground when, with his incomparable Gallic eloquence, he said:

"You might come and tell us: 'This danger that you are exposed to, we see it, we realise it, and we are going to share it with you.' We are going to offer you all means, put all means at your disposal in order to secure your safety.' Immediately, if we heard these words, of course we would strike upon another plan. We should be only too pleased to demonstrate the sincerity of our purpose.

'But we understand the difficulties and necessities of the statesmen of other countries.

"We understand the position of other peoples who have also to face difficult and troublous situations. We are not selfish enough to ask other people to give a part of their sovereign national independence in order to turn it to our benefit and come to our help. We do not expect it; but here I am appealing to your conscience, if France is to remain alone, facing the situation such as I have described, and without any exaggeration, you must not deny her what she wants in order to ensure her security. You must let her do what she has to do, if need arise, and if the time comes."

THE WORD OF TRUTH.

The Word of Truth is like a stained-glass window rare,
We stand outside and gaze, but see no beauty there,
No fair design, naught but confusion we behold;
'Tis only from within the glory will unfold.
And he who would drink in the rapture of the view
Must climb the winding stair, the portal enter through.
The sacred door of Truth's cathedral is most low,
And all who fain would enter there the knee must bow
In deep humility. But once inside, the light
Of day streams through and make each color heavenly bright;
The Master's great design we see, our hands we raise
In reverent ecstasy of wonder, love and praise!

—Gertrude W. Seibert.

LITERARY GEMS

IN AFTER DAYS.

In after days, when grasses high
O'er the stones where I shall lie,
Though ill or well the world adjust
My slender claim to honored dust,
I shall not answer nor reply.

I shall not see the morning sky;
I shall not hear the night-wind sigh;
I shall be mute, as all men must
In after days!

But yet, now living, fain would I
That some one then should testify,
Saying—"He held his pen in trust
To Art—not serving shame or lust"
Will none? Then let my memory die
In after days.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 26.—Mr. John McCulloch, one of the oldest and most respected residents of Seymour Township, passed away at the home of his son, Robert McCulloch, Seymour, West, on Friday, at the advanced age of 76 years and 5 months, death being due to old age, accentuated by a serious cold.

The deceased, who was born in Seymour, was the son of the late Neil and Mrs. McCulloch, and had lived nearly all his life on the farm in Seymour, now occupied by his son Archibald. The late Mr. McCulloch was twice married, his firt wife being Catherine Rutherford, and to this union, there are surviving, three sons and two daughters: Archibald and Robert, of Seymour, Jabez of Campbellford, Mrs. John Stephens of Campbellford, and Mr. Henry Stephens of Seymour. His second wife was Mrs. Weese of Campbellford, who passed away about five years ago. The deceased was a faithful member of Bethel Methodist Church, Seymour West. The funeral will be held on Saturday from the home of his son Robert, serve at the house at 1.30 p.m., interment taking place in Clark's Cemetery. The friends have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. York, of Corbyville, are visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. D. A. Montgomery.

Mr. Samuel Johnston left yesterday to visit friends in Dundalk. He was accompanied as far as Toronto by Miss Eva Martin, who will visit friends in the city.

Mr. Cyril Chessell visited friends in town this week.

Literary Society Meets.

The bi-monthly meeting of the High School Literary Society, was held on November 18th. There was a large number present and it was one of the most successful meetings of the term. Miss Smith, B.A., was appointed critic for the meeting. Miss Frances Dingman gave a very humorous reading entitled "A Mock Fight." A very pleasing number was a drill, "Swedish Dance," by a number of girls under the direction of Miss Mackay. Miss Clara Petty gave a very instructive paper on current events. A solo by Miss Helen Bygott, was sweetly rendered, following which Miss Harriet Potts gave an interesting paper on "School News," which was the cause of much laughter. The critics' report followed and Mr. Reginald Reynolds was appointed Current Event speaker for the next meeting. The meeting closed with the National anthem.

"At Home."

The "At Home" given last evening by the Oddfellows in their inviting rooms to their wives and lady friends, was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number present. Mr. G. A. Kingston occupied the chair and proved himself a very capable and witty chairman.

The chairman's spicy address outlined briefly the Oddfellows' organization, it being the largest in the world, having over 2,000,000 members. He also spoke of its emblem, the three links, signifying "Friendship, Love and Truth," and the thousands of dollars paid out each day by this great society in sick benefits, etc. He also expressed the opinion that with the strong Oddfellow Society in town there would no doubt be organized in the near future a flourishing Rebekah Lodge.

Mr. George Lucy then delighted the audience with an instrumental solo, "Nature's Voices." The solo, "I Want the Twilight and You," rendered in fine voice by Mr. Robert Dunk was heartily applauded. Mr. George Salter in his usual pleasing manner rendered a euphonium solo (polka.)

A most pleasing part of the programme was the address by Rev. H. B. Kenney, which was permeated with true wit and humour and was thoroughly apprecaited.

Mr. Alfred Mann then favored the audience with a solo "Dear old Pal o' Mine." The euphonium solo "Holy City," by Mr. George Salter, won much applause. Mr. Lucy's instrumental solo, "Cathedral Chimes," displayed much ability as a pianist and was heartily applauded. A duet by Messrs. Walter Lowe (cornet) and Geo. Salter (euphonium) was much enjoyed. Mr. Joseph Poulton's number, "When Father Killed the Bird," was most humorous, as well as the encore, "Where Does Daddy Go When He Goes Out?" Mr. Robt. Dunk again, in pleasing voice, sang "Broken Blossoms." The next number, a reading by Mr. George Salter, entitled "When Socrates Set the Men," which was well rendered, caused much laughter. The men then provided an excellent lunch and a very sociable and pleasant hour was spent, after which the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

A very humorous reading by Mrs. S. A. Maguire, "Walt Mason's Surprise Visitors," won hearty applause.

CANADIAN REPRESENTATION AT CHICAGO IS LARGE.

The United States Government is represented with an enormous display, comprehensive and complete in live stock and feeding features.

WARKWORTH NEWS ITEMS

WAS THE SCENE OF SEVERAL NOMINATION MEETINGS—PERSONALS.

WARKWORTH, November 26. — Warkworth is and has been the "hub of Northumberland" this fall. Nomination day saw one of the largest gatherings that has taken place in these parts. Each party held a convention here.

Girl Guides.

The Girl Guides are going strongly under the capable leadership of Mrs. Kemp and Ms. Richards. No meeting was held last week as their leader was away visiting her sister in Belleville.

Boy Scouts.

The Boy Scouts held their regular meeting on Monday night. Nearly all were present. The following have qualified for second class Scouts,—James Leonard, Thomas Dick, Lionel Nelson, Harold Nelson, Will Wiggins, Arnold Henry. These are ready now for their winter work of earning badges.

Both Scoutmastes, Mr. Atkinson, and Mr. Kemp, and Assistant Scoutmaster, Mr. Bamber, were present. The president of the local Council, Mr. Twiddy, addressed the boys.

Personals.

Mr. Atkinson and Mr. Twiddy were in Morganston last Wednesday night, November 16, on Scout business.

The local bands have turned in their instruments and it is hoped to organize another among the Boy Scouts.

Mrs. Richard Honey spent last week in Toronto as a delegate from the Women's Institute here to the Institute Convention held in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Eagleson of Cold Springs, spent Tuesday and Wednesday here visiting relatives and friends.

Quarterly Service.

The Children's Quarterly Service was held in the Methodist Church last Sunday. Rev. Mr. Kemp gave an illustrated talk on "Life as a Voyage, with its Light Houses and Dangers."

In the Presbyterian Church last Sunday communion was celebrated. The preparatory service was held on Friday afternoon. Rev. Mr. McGillivray officiated at the services.

ELECTION NEWS

RIORDON TAX CASE IS PETTY, MEIGHEN THINKS.

LINDSAY, Nov. 26. — (Canadian Press).—"I venture to say that you wouldn't have found a petty paltry, miserable thing like this introduced into the campaign if Sir Wilfrid Laurier was head of the Liberal party," Premier Meighen told a great audience in the Armouries here last night, when discussing the charge that the Government had accepted promissory notes from the Riordon Company in settlement of business profit taxes.

"We wouldn't have this petty, miserable stuff that you hear from Murdock, and the likes of Murdock in the campaign, if there were real issues, and the volume of innuendoes and stupid insinuations which we have been hearing for two years from men who have not the courage to come out and make any allegations against anybody."

CRERAR DENOUNCES PROTECTIVE PRINCIPLE

WEYBURN, Sask., Nov. 26.—(Canadian Press.)—Denunciation of the principle of protection was the outstanding feature of an address here last night by Hon. T. A. Crerar. Protection, he said, had never done anything for the farmer, except to raise the price of everything he used. He declared that larger markets were most essential for Canadian farm produce and that if returned to power the Progressive party would do all in its power to secure tariff reciprocity with the United States.

KING SEES DEFEAT OF MEIGHEN GOVERNMENT

CHESLEY, Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press.)— Hon. Mackenzie King addressed three meetings here last night. Speaking at the main gathering in the town hall he declared that he did not think there was a Conservative that would bet the Meighen government would not be completely defeated. The only hope the government had of getting a number of supporters in Parliament was that those opposed to it were divided. The Progressives would not draw from the Tories because their policies were much along the lines of the Liberal policies. If there was any party that had fought the battles of the farmers in this country, it was the Liberal party, he said.

Rinso

You need not rub

You need not boil your clothes

If you have a washing machine—

Soak the clothes overnight in the usual Rinso way. The cleansing suds loosen every bit of dirt. In the morning operate the machine for a few minutes and the clothes are perfectly clean—even the most soiled pots.

LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED, TORONTO

The wonderful new soap in granules, just soaks the dirt out of your clothes in a few hours. No need to use the wash board or boiler.

Moreover, Rinso saves your clothes. In these pure, cleansing suds they soak as safely as in water alone. There are no harsh chemicals to eat the fabric. Just rich, pure suds, so mild they do not even redden your hands.

BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Choking and Gasping for Breath Relieved by "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MRS. PENNINGTON
NEW ROCKLAND, P.Q.

"In 1919, I was taken with Bronchial Asthma and no one knows what I suffered with it during the winter. I began having Choking Spells—gasping for breath and could not speak. I would have one of these bad spells in the evening, one during the night, and one in the morning. The doctor said he could do nothing for me.

"In the spring of 1920, I started taking "Fruit-a-tives" and in a few days, the choking spells stopped, and I have had none since May 7th, 1920. I have so wanted to tell other sufferers who have the same trouble about "Fruit-a-tives" for I know how they must suffer.

Some thought the Asthma would come back on me as winter came on but it has not, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives" Mrs. J. M. PENNINGTON,

TRENT RIVER NEWS

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 26.—The children of the day school are making great preparations for a concert to be held at the School-House about the night of the 21st of December.

Seymour West Women's Institute visited Flemming's School on Friday afternoon, and presented the prizes won at the School Fair. On the same evening, in connection with the shadow social, the prizes won by Seymour West School were presented.

The weather has turned much colder, with light snow and sleet storms.

The usual mid-week prayer and Bible study class was held at the Methodist Church, Rev. E. O. Seymour in charge.

HAPPENINGS IN NORWOOD

NORWOOD, Nov. 26.—On Wednesday, a pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Johnson, when their only daughter, Marjory, was married to Mr. Ernest McCook, of Campbellford. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Wesley, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, in the presence of about twenty guests. Mrs. Wesley played the Wedding March. The bride was becomingly attired in white silk crepe de chine, over pink. Her travelling costume was a pretty suit of brown, and a small black hat. Mr. and Mrs. McCook, who will reside near Campbellford, left on the afternoon train for Toronto. Congratulations are extended to the happy couple.

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND
BY "SAPPER"
(CYRIL McNEILE)

"I fear his lower jaw was fractured in two places." Peterson helped himself to a cigarette from the box beside him. "The man who hit him must have been a boxer."

"Mixed up in a brawl, was he?" said Drummond, shaking his head. "I would never have thought, from what little I've seen of Mr. Lakington, that he went in for painting the town red. I'd have put him down as a most abstemious man—but one never can tell, can one? I once knew a fellah who used to get fighting drunk on three whiskies, and to look at him you'd have put him down as a Methodist parson. Wonderful the amount of cheap fun that chap got out of life."

Peterson flicked the ash from his cigarette into the grate. "Shall we come to the point, Captain Drummond?" he remarked affably.

Hugh looked bewildered. "The point, Mr. Peterson? Er—by all manner of means."

Peterson smiled even more affably. "I felt certain that you were a young man of discernment," he remarked, "and I wouldn't like to keep you from your paper a minute longer than necessary."

"Not a bit," cried Hugh. "My time is yours—though I'd very much like to know your real opinion of The Juggernaut for the Chester Cup. It seems to me that he cannot afford to give Sumatra seven pounds on their form up to date."

"Are you interested in gambling?" asked Peterson politely.

"A mild flutter, Mr. Peterson, every now and then," returned Drummond. "Strictly limited stakes."

"If you confine yourself to that you will come to no harm," said Peterson. "It is when the stakes become unlimited that the danger of a crash becomes unlimited too."

"That is what my mother always told me," remarked Hugh. "She even went farther, dear good woman that she was. 'Never bet except on a certainty, my boy,' was her constant advice, 'and then put your shirt on!' I can hear her saying it now, Mr. Peterson, with the golden rays of the setting sun lighting up her sweet face."

Suddenly Peterson leant forward in his chair. "Young man," he remarked, "we've got to understand one another. Last night you butted in on my plans, and I do not like people who do that. By an act which, I must admit, appealed to me greatly, you removed something I require—something, moreover, which I intend to have. Breaking the electric bulb with a revolver-shot shows resource and initiative. The blow which smashed Henry Lakington's jaw in two places shows strength. All qualities which I admire. Captain Drummond — admire greatly. I should dislike having to deprive the world of those qualities."

Drummond gazed at the speaker open-mouthed. "My dear sir," he protested feebly, "you overwhelm me. Are you accusing me of being a sort of wild west show?" He waggled a finger at Peterson. "You know you've been to the movies too much, like my fellah, James. He's got revolvers and things on the brain."

Peterson's face was absolutely impassive; save for a slightly tired smile it was expressionless. "Finally, Captain Drummond, you tore in half a piece of paper which I require—and removed a very dear old friend of my family, who is now in this house. I want them both back, please, and if you like I'll take them now."

Drummond shrugged his shoulders resignedly. "There is something about you, Mr. Peterson," he murmured, "which I like. You strike me as being the type of man to whom a young girl would turn and pour out her maidenly secrets. So masterful, so compelling, so unruffled. I feel sure—when you have finally disabused your mind of this absurd hallucination—that we shall become real friends."

Peterson still sat motionless save for a ceaseless tapping with his hand on his knee.

DIVERSIFIED INTERESTS STABILIZES CANADA STEAMSHIP EARNINGS; NOW CLASSED AS GREAT PUBLIC UTILITY

Canada Steamship Lines Bond Offering Gives Investors Opportunity of Sharing in Growth and Development of Company—Company's Immense Properties Valued at Over $41,000,000 Security for Present Offering.

During the past few weeks the bond market has witnessed substantial appreciation in prices. This has been most strikingly illustrated in the market for Dominion of Canada Victory bonds as they have been the most active, the demand being most insistent in that quarter owing to the preference of many buyers for an exceptionally high-grade security. Other bonds of public utility and industrial corporations are receiving their share of attention the highest yield in that quarter and the substantial security inviting investment.

This development is but one of the signs of the times which was foreseen and predicted months ago by diagnosticians and statisticians who believe that the financial world has entered on an extended period of declining money value and that security prices will have to become adjusted to the changed conditions as the rate drops and prices go up automatically thus decreasing the yield.

It is considered fair betting that a year from now good bonds will be yielding less return and selling at correspondingly higher prices than they are today. This is one of the reasons why buyers are so keen on taking advantage of the present attractive range of prices. There is also greater confidence now than there was a few months ago of the business drift back to normal conditions.

There are very few new issues coming on the market at the present time, the present dealings being larger in existing issues which had declined during war uncertainty and are now on their way to complete recovery. One of the new issues which is beginning to attract attention owing to the exceptional conditions in the bond market is the 7 per cent. offering of Canada Steamship Lines Limited. It is believed in financial circles that the days of such issues are pretty nearly at an end and that such an opportunity will be very rare in future.

The business of Canada Steamships may now be classed as that of a great public utility, as 80 per cent. of its large freight operations on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence is conducted on contract basis. In years gone by the revenues of the company were subject to violent fluctuations as they were more dependent on the vagaries of tourist travel, which in turn was affected materially by weather conditions for a few months in midsummer.

Now that the company has been rounded out in its existing complete combination of freight and passenger business with diversified interests, the tendency towards stability of earnings is much greater. The contract transportation of iron ore, grains and pulp wood, three of the most important factors in the way of freights, transform the business completely. Passenger business, which once bulked so largely in the fortunes of the company, is a secondary consideration now, but even that has worked into more stable status owing to the wide publicity obtained for the Niagara to the Sea route, which is admitted to be one of the finest and most attractive steamboat trips of its kind in the world.

Besides the greater stability of earning power, there is the additional assurance that the bonds are amply secured. A point worth noting is that the company's valuation of steamships, real estate, docks, wharves, hotels, etc., is $35,468,716, less depreciation reserves amounting to $6,261,584, leaving a net valuation of $20,207,131. This is approximately $12,500,000 less than the valuation fixed by the Canadian Appraisal Company as of June 30, 1921, their estimate being $41,870,848.

With the total bonds, including the present issue, covered nearly three times by fixed assets and the net earnings of the company for the past five years averaging more than six times the interest required, the safety of the bonds should be apparent. Like the railways and public utility companies, Canada Steamships does a cash business, and having no inventories it may be readily accepted as belonging to that group. It is also worth noting that the present issue of $6,000,000 is secured by pledge with the trustee of $8,400,000 five per cent. consolidated first mortgage bonds.

The occupation of a chauffeur, who is also a competent mechanic, has as high rating as a locomotive engineer.

The Safeguarding of Peterboro's Milk Supply

The safeguarding of a municipal milk supply is as important, if not more so, than the safeguarding of the water supply.

A municipality would be more justified in enforcing the PASTEURIZATION of all milk than they would be in requiring the filtration or chlorination of their contaminated waters.

The largest cities in the United States and Canada enforce PASTEURIZATION—the only safe and sanitary milk for consumption.

In addition to PASTEURIZATION, all our milk is CLARIFIED—that is, the milk is run through a centrifugal machine which forces out all foreign particles, however minute.

This Department will be presented twice a week for the benefit of those interested in this phase of local activity. It will be conducted by Miss Kathleen McCarthy. Articles of a social or general nature are always welcome, providing they are brief. Address all communications, such as personals and other social items, to the Society Editor of the Examiner, or telephone 1,600.

Officers who will head the newly formed relief organization here

The organization will take the form of a big sister movement and work along the lines of personal service.

The new charitable organization, refernce to which was made in these columns a few days ago, held a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Thursday afternoon, when officers were named for the coming season. The election resulted as follows:—President, Mrs. Joseph Knox; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Jas. V. Gallivan; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. W. H. Darcy; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. A. E. Sanderson, of Springville; Treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Perrin; Secretary, Mrs. J. S. Fanning; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. B. McClelland; Executive, Mrs. C. Wright, Mrs. J. Welch, Mrs. E. Maybee, Mrs. Kimberley, Mrs. H. Clark, of North Monaghan, and Miss G. Brooks.

A suitable name for the society, which works along lines of personal service and girls' welfare work—a sort of big sister movement, combined with active charitable endeavors—has not yet been chosen, but will be decided on in the near future. Its aims and objects are primarily to give aid in cases of need, to help with moral, mental and physical encouragement and to assist in every branch of charitable endeavor in all classes of the community, and their slogan might be epitomised in the words, "No home too wealthy or too poor for us to enter."

The ladies have not yet been able to procure suitable quarters where they can receive supplies, which might also be used as a distributing centre.

MANY ACTIVIES IN WOMEN'S FIELD

Women's activities in the city for next week cover quite a large field. Doubtless there are many ladies just now interested in the political campaign, and many of them are working more or less actively for their favorite candidate, but their fingers are still working for the Christmas season.

Today the Fraser Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church is holding its annual sale of gifts and home-made cooking, with afternoon tea; on Tuesday and Wednesday next, Nov. 29th and 30th, two bazaars will be in progress, that of the Women's Guild of St. Luke's Church and the Rebekah Lodge bazaar in the store at 173½ Simcoe street.

On Tuesday also the autumn rally of the Grenfell Association takes place in the green room at the Y.W.C.A., where a display of rugs, toys, etc., the work of the Industrial Department of the Labrador Medical Mission, and a sale of work will be held, and afternoon tea served.

On Thursday and Friday next, Dec. 1st and 2nd, the 57th Regimental Chapter of the I.O.D.E. are holding their annual bazaar in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms.

And on Tuesday, Nov. 29th, the Women's Missionary Societies of the local Methodist Churches will have their annual day of prayer from 3 to 5 o'clock in Trinity Church.

On Friday evening, December 2nd, the Rotary Club is holding its first dance in the Conservatory of Music Hall.

TEACHING FRENCH

The courses in French tuition recently inaugurated at the Conservatory of Music are getting along swimmingly. Classes for seniors, juniors and children from fourteen years of ago up, have been started each with a very satisfactory membership. French is the one language outside our own which seems to have a universal appeal, and which is of value wherever one may go. A study of it was considered essential in the education of a politer generation, and it is a considerable asset to the mental resources of any individual to be able to speak a language other than his native tongue.

RHEUMATIC PAINS HAVE DISAPPEARED

AS A RESULT OF TREATINGTHE TROUBLE THROUGH THE BLOOD

The chief symptom of rheumatism is pain. The most successful treatment is the one that most quickly relieves and banishes the pain. Many rheumatic people suffer pains that could be avoided by building up the blood; when rheumatism is associated with thin blood it cannot be corrected until the blood is built up.

Mr. Ed. Hall, Main-a-Dieu, N.S. suffered from rheumatism for years but was more fortunate than many victims of the disease for he found a remedy that so built up his entire system that he is now free from rheumatism. Mr. Hall says: "I was taken down with rheumatism, and at times was under the treatment of several of the best doctors in Cape Breton, but they held out no hope for my recovery from the trouble. I was confined to bed for three years and a helpless cripple from the trouble. I could not move and had to be turned in sheets. My legs and fingers were drawn out of shape, and sores developed on my body as the result of my long confinement to bed. I was in this serious condition when a friend advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I began taking them. The first benefit I felt from the pills was an improved appetite, and then I began to feel stronger, and was finally able to get out of bed and go about on crutches. I continued taking the pills for months, slowly but surely getting new strength, and finally I was able to lay the crutches aside. I will always be lame, as the result of my long stay in bed my left leg has shortened somewhat, but otherwise I am feeling fine and able to do my work as Fishery Overseer. I may and that when the rheumatism came on I weighed 140 pounds, and when I began going about on crutches I only weighed 67 pounds, and now I am at normal weight. There are many there who know ad can vouch for the truth of these statements".

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicne Co., Brockville, Ont.

TO HOLD DEBATE

The Catholic Women's League is planning an extensive program of winter activities, along the lines of social service work, recreation and literary endeavors. The lastnamed section, in charge of Miss M. A. McConnell, is opening with a debate which is to be held in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum on Friday evening, December 2nd. Four young ladies will contend the relative merits of the woman of yesterday and the woman of today, as exemplified in the resolution: "That the woman of the twentieth century is superior to the woman of the nineteenth century." RECIPES

Whatever else we omit from the Christmas table, the plum pudding is a "must-have." But, luckily, when we get to the pudding stage of the Christmas dinner, we are not so very hungry, and if we must scant, a little pudding goes a long way. The English "cannonball" variety of steamed pudding has never been so popular here as across the water, the more convenient tin pudding boiler taking the place of the floured cloth. The mysterious and alluring blue flames of the burning brandy must now be omitted from our Christmas pudding rites, and enough good things put in the mixture to take the place of the delicious flavor formerly imparted by the enveloping blaze.

If one wishes to make a rich, superior pudding that will keep indefinitely and of which one can not possibly eat more than the littlest bit, I can unreservedly recommend the following as the choicest recipe I know. The mistress of the household whence I obtained it is in the habit, every Christmas, of making up this recipe, steaming portions of the mixture in small bowls, and presenting one to each of her most dearly beloved friends as a top-off to the Christmas feast, or to be kept indefinitely for some special, or perhaps unexpected, occasion. In this recipe and others which follow, I have substituted for the brandy originally called for, cider, white grape juice or coffee.

Lou's Christmas Plum Pudding: Chop until fine one and one-half pounds each of currants and seeded raisins, one-half pound each of candied orange-peel and citron, and one pound of suet. Mix all together and add one pound of fine breadcrumbs (these should be stale but not dry), the yolks of eight eggs beaten until light, three-fourths of a grated nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoonful of ground cloves, one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon, one teaspooful of salt, one and one-half cupfuls of dark brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls of cider, white grape juice or coffee, and last, the stiffly-beaten whites of eight eggs. Put the mixture in buttered bowls, covered with a floured cloth or parchment paper, tie down well, plunge into water which is boiling hard, and cook two and one-half hours. When used, steam two and one-half hours longer.

Snowdrift Sauce: Cream one-half cupful of butter until very light, add gradually one cupful of powdered sugar, beating constantly until thoroughly blended. Add one-half teaspoonful of orange extract or any other flavoring preferred. Pile lightly in a glass dish and grate a little nutmeg over the top.

English Plum Pudding: Mix together in a large bowl one-half pound of suet chopped fine, one-half pound each of seeded raisins chopped, currants, citron thinly sliced and brown sugar, the inside of a one-pound loaf of stale bakers' bread crumbed fine, one cupful of pastry flour sifted with one-half tablespoonful each of cinnamon, ground cloves and nutmeg, one teaspoonful of soda and one teaspoonful of salt; one cupful of sweet milk, four eggs well beaten, one-fourth cupful of cider and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Steam in a well-greased pudding boiler five hours. This may be steamed in several smaller containers, if preferred.

Sauce for Plum Pudding: Beat one egg until very light, add powdered sugar until the mixture is the consistency of custard—about one-half cupful will be needed—then add one cupful of cream whipped and two tablespoonfuls of orange or lemon juice or one-half teaspoonful of vanilla and two drops of almond extract. If orange or lemon juice is used, add a little of the grated rind to make a tasty flavoring.

Every Man's Christmas Pudding.

For Every Man's Christmas Pudding, mix together one cupful of suet chopped fine and one cupful of molasses. Add one teaspoonful of soda and stir until foamy. Then add one cupful of rich milk, three cupfuls of pastry flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of ground cloves, one teaspoonful of grated nutmeg and one-fourth teaspoonful of mace; one and one-half cupfuls of seeded raisins chopped and a cupful of currants or seedless raisins—the latter coarsely chopped and all the fruit floured with another half-cupful of pastry flour. Steam in a large pudding boiler or two smaller ones four or five hours.

York and Lancaster Sauce: Whip the white of one egg until stiff, add one-half cupful of sugar gradually, continuing the beating. Then fold in one cupful of cream beaten until solid. Just before serving add one-half cupful of a bright red jelly cut in bits. Combine very lightly and pile in a serving-dish.

Wedding Cake Puddings.

Wedding Cake Pudding: Mix in a bowl a cupful each of sour milk and chopped suet, three-fourths cupful of molasses and one-half spoonful of soda dissolved in one tablespoonful of hot water and beaten in until the mixture foams. Then add three cupfuls of pastry flour sifted with one cupfuls of pastry flour sifted with one teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of baking-powder and one-half teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg, one cupful of seeded raisins chopped and one-fourth cupful each of sliced citron and currants. Reserve a little of the flour in order to roll the fruit before adding it to the mixture. Steam three hours.

Wedding Cake Pudding: Mix together in the order given one-half cupful each of sour and sweet milk, three-quarters cupful of molasses, one well-beaten egg, one tablespoonful of melted butter, three cups of pastry flour sifted with one teaspoonful baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of nutmeg, one teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-half teaspoonful of ground cloves. Then add a cupful of mixed fruit floured with part of the flour. Steam two and one half hours.

A Sauce for Steamed Puddings.

An Inexpensive Liquid Sauce: Mix together well four tablespoonfuls of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Cream thoroughly with two tablespoonfuls each of butter and molasses. When well blended, add one pint of boiling water, stirring all the time. Stir until the sauce bubbles, let boil a minute or two, add one-eighth teaspoonful of grated nutmeg and serve hot. This sauce is suitable to serve with any of the simpler steamed puddings, and delicious with steamed huckleberry pudding in summer.

USEFUL GIETS FOR CHRISTMAS GIVING

Gifts both useful and simple for the Christmas season may be fashioned from various fabrics and in many pretty ways. A pillow for an aching head has a sweet balsam filling encased in a China silk bag, 7 to 9 inches, with an easily laundered slip of lawn or organdie, the hems finished with colored cotton in darning stitch and a small green tree cross-stitched in one corner. This same idea may be used for the linen closet or a sachet for the bottom of the bureau drawer.

A novel lingerie bag is made as follows: Sew up wrong side out a striped bath towel, 44 by 23 inches; fold over tops to depth of 7 inches, insert colored tape draw string and attach white tape tassels with buttonhole stitch.

To make an "apple-pie" table cover, cut and hem a circle of crash the size of table top and fold it both ways, creasing firmly. Now draw and cut out an irregular pattern, turn back both sides half an inch and edge them with half-inch entre-deux. The four pieces fit together, or may be used as individual doilies.

Roller towelling makes an effective runner and plate doilies when a thread is drawn two inches from each end, and, using this drawn thread as a base, a loose buttonhole stitch is worked in red, a quarter of an inch deep, and blue stitches are inserted between the red. Threads are drawn below stitching to form fringe. Children will be delighted also with the linen crash towel upon which there is a carrot-eating brown muslin squirrel, to whom form is given by straight black stitches. The borders are of orange Chinese crepe, buttonholed in black.

Hunt up your old hat boxes and some of those nice, flat boxes that once held stockings; buy a few odds and ends of bright figured wallpaper; cover your boxes smoothly with the paper and coat them with painters' sizing and then with shellac They will be more than welcome for the closet shelves these days when boxes are scarce.

'TEEN GIRLS

The organization of 'teen girls in the city in groups in connection with the Canadian Girls in Training Course, which took place in this city last spring, is starting in on the winter season with anticipations of a successful season.

A programme of unusual interest, in which 1,000 girls took part, including all the C.G.I.T. groups in the city, was presented at the Fourth Older Girls' Conference held in Hamilton last week, under the direction of the Inter-Sunday School Council of the Older Girls' Division of the Hamilton Council of Religious Education. The purpose of this Council is to "enthuse, inspire and develop girls, spiritually, mentally, physically and socially, for Christian leadership in their own Sunday School and community."

Dr. Margaret Patterson of Toronto gave an address on "The Upward Look" at this conference, and one of the most notable features of the two-day meeting was a series of five-minute talks delivered by girls on Christian life, as exemplified in the qualities of truth, purity, strength, courage, comradeship, giving and humility, the young speakers taking as their text the verse which says:

"I would be true, for there are those who trust me,
I would be pure, for there are those who care;
I would be strong, for there is much to suffer,
I would be grave, for there is much to dare;
I would be friend to all, the foe, the friendless,
I would be giving and forget the gift;
I would be humble, for I know my weakness,
I would look up, and laugh, and love, and lift."

Individuality

A Salient Feature

OF all the factors which go to make up the goodness of a garment, none are more important than individuality, yet it is the one which is to often overlooked.

Many are the times that we could buy garments which would yield a bigger profit, but we refrain from doing so simply because such garments lack that certain thing which goes to make up individuality.

It is one thing to sell merchandise, but another to sell the kind of merchandise that makes for a satisfied customer. For our part, we prefer to sell the latter. That is why customers come back to us season after season. That is why women for miles around depend upon this store—they know that in quest of sales, individuality is never sacrificed.

In this Special Purchase Sale of Suits and Coats

Every one is distinctive and the price is about one half of what we would have to ask if bought in the ordinary way.

These Suits range in price from $29.95 up to $85.00 each.

a servant of the city to give any information that might be required.

Street Paving Question.

The question of street paving was dealt with fore and aft by ex-Alderman F. H. Dobbin. The latter pointed out that any programme of street paving would have to e preceded by surface drainage.

Ald. J. Crowe brought up the question of a letter which he addressed to the Association. At a previous meeting it was claimed that Ald. Crowe was not the author of the missive. This Ald. Crowe repudiated and said it was a very modest effort in which he was assisted by City Engineer Parsons. The later supplied a few of the technical details and was given credit in the letter for this assistance.

"I might say that I have never worekd at anything that I got less out of," said Ald. Crowe referring to his position on the Council Board.

"You ought to have gone down to Montreal with Ald. Morrison," observed a voice in the audience.

Mr. D. W. Dumble warned the meeting against attempting to dabble in things with which they were not familiar. Technical questions should be left to engineers who were competent to handle them.

F. Tugyg favoured a municipal owned pavin plant and an economical civic administration, to which he added less "joy riding around the country."

J. W. Worth was of the opinion that some of the questions before the meeting should be voted upon in order to determine the trend of opinion.

James Bogue was of the opinion that day labour employed by contractors would lay pavements cheaper and better than would be the case if the city owned its own paving plant.

On motion of Mr. J. J. Hartley, it was moved and carried that the meeting record its objection to the purchase of a paving plant at the present time.

It was also moved by R. E. Layfielnd and carried, that in order to relieve unemployment a programme of surface drainage be authorized by the City Council.

Several present ephasized the need for surface drains in many sections of the city.

Constructive Policy.

J. Knox addressed the meeting on the need of hewing to the line and keeping in mind the fact that the Association was not created to criticize but to discuss ways and means of advancing the interests of the citzens. The polcy of the Association should be constructive, not destructive.

The water rates were not discussed, but Mr. Medd reported to the meeting that the Association had been unable to obtain the required information from the Utilities Commission. The Commission reported that the information would not be available until the books were closed at the end of the year.

Question of Taxes.

Discussing the question of taxation, Mr. Bradburn cited his house as an example of the increase in taxes. Twenty years ago the taxes on his residence was forty-two dollars a year and this year tre taxes were $29-. During the summer the assessor came around and increased the assessment by seven hundred dollars, which insures another increase in taxes next year. "If you ask the assessor why he increases the assessment as I did, remarked Mr. Bradburn, he will tell you that the city cannot borrow any more money unless the assessment is raised.

A. B. Cunningham said all deputations should be eliminated. Mr. Cunningham referred to the proposed Old Boys' Re-union as an old chestnut. In Grimsby the committee in charge of the Old Boys' Re-union had a deficit of two thousand dollars, and this summer St. Catharines had a similar experience. The committee in charge of the proposed local Old Boys' Re-union plan to obtain financial assistance from the City Council. "The scheme is worn out," commented Mr. Cunningham.

COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK HEART WAS SO BAD

Many women get weak and run down and unable to look after their household duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired or the nervous system unstrung.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and wretched. But how can a woman be strong and healthy when day in and day out she has to go through the same routine of work sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. Is it any wonder that the heart becomes effected and nervous, has hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

are the best remedy to tone up the system and strengthen the weakened organs.

Mrs. Daniel Bezanson, Loganville, N.S., writes:—"As I was troubled with a weak heart for nearly two years I am writing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me.

"My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep, I would take smothering spells, and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors, but no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is."

Solicitor Asks Bonus.

In view of an unusual amount of legal attention to the affairs of the Utilities Commission this year because of the construction of the filtration plant, E. H. D. Hall, solicitor for the Commission, suggested in a letter a consideration over and above his salary of $300. After consideration of the demands on his service this year, it was felt that a gratuity of $150 would express the Commission's appreciation of his extra work in a tangible way.

Refuse Financial Report.

A very courteous request from the Owners' and Tenants' Association for an interim report of the finances of the Commission from July 1 to October 31 was refused, because the preparation of this would disrupt the preparation of the annual statement to be made in about thirty days. The resolution passed to explain the stand of the Commission follows: "That in reply to the request of the Owners' and Tenants' Association for an interim report on the finances of the Water Department, the Association be informed that a statement could not be given without closing the books and taking the same proceedings for getting out a statement as is done at the end of each year, and that as there is only a little over a month left of this year, after which this work will be done and the statement audited and published, the Commission does not deem it advisable to go to the expense of getting out an interim report at this time."

"I shouldn't think another 30 days would make much difference to them. We want to g: them all that in- We want to give them all that in- Mason.

"They're bound to get it," said Chairman Hicks.

"It looks to be impossible almost to get that out. Wouldn't it be well to ask them to delay that for another month?" asked Commissioner Mason.

"I think that's quite right," added Commissioner C. E. Sisson.

"It's just a matter of time," declared the Chairman.

Ask $50,000 Debenture Issue.

It was determined at the meeting last night to ask the city to allow the Commission to issue debentures for $50,000 for the electrical department towards paying for the work that has been done, since the system was taken over by the city, in extension and improvement of the system. At present there is a bank overdraft of $38,000, due to improvement of the electrical department; in all, over $100,000 has been spent in this way. Revenue has not been sufficient to meet this expenditure, and since no debentures have been issued since 1914, thebank overdraft has been accumulating. At last it has become imperative to meet the overdraft, and the $50,000 will do this and allow the electrical department a working surplus for next year.

EGGS 80c. DOZEN TO-DAY, AND $1.00 LEVEL IN SIGHT

TYPICAL WINTER MARKET THIS MORNING—BUTTER 45 CENTS, CHICKENS APLENTY AT 20 CTS. LB., DUCKS AND GEESE 30 CTS

To-day's open market was a typical winter one, and especially cold for a vendor selling a combination wire contraption for lifting hot dishes. But from his energetic appeals to menfolk to purchase one for their wives as a surprise gift, and by a gratifying response thereto, he may have been warmed up to some extent.

Great quantities of meat featured the open market. Pork was 15c to 17c, and beef 10c and 12c a lb. Potatoes were in lesser quantities than a week ago, and farmers were asking $1.75. Onions were 75 cents a peck; beets and carrots, 25c; cabbages, 10c and 15c each. Spy apples were somewhat scarce. One grower was selling them at 50c a peck, and they seemed to be good value at that, and gleamed appealingly in their red coats. One of the applemen had second grades at $3.75 a barrel, but they were not to be compared with the others. Snows are rapidly disappearing, and only one man had any offerings to-day. He was asking 60 cents a peck.

Eggs maintained their prohibitive position this morning, and of all the hundreds of baskets in the market, less than a dozen contained eggs. "Our hens are hardly laying at all, but the pullets are coming on, and from now on we should get more," said one farmer, speaking pretty truly of the entire farming community. To-day eggs were 80 cents, and if this farmer's prediction is not right, eggs may yet be $1.00 a dozen.

Butter was steady at 45c, and fowl of all kinds was plentiful. Chickens could be had as low as 20 cents a pound, although 25c was a general price. Ducks and geese were 30c a lb.

REMOVING THE CAUSE OF BACKACHE

Weekly Health Talk No. 6
By A. P. Rogers, D.C.

Uncle Ben Says:
Keep up your Health. Keep Plugging on, for it's Easier to Keep up than it is to Catch up.

As the gravy thickens, as pancakes grow in popularity, and the holidays near, there is a tendency among those who suffer from liver and kidney weakness to experience backache and its brother, lumbago. Failure of the kidneys and bowels to throw off the waste of heavier foods develops the soreness as the blood absorbs the waste.

HEALTH FOLLOWS
CHIROPRACTIC CORRECTS PRESSURE ON SPINAL NERVES IN DISEASES OF THE FOLLOWING ORGANS:

THE LOWER NERVE UNDER THE MAGNIFYING GLASS IS PINCHED BY A MISALIGNED JOINT. PINCHED NERVES CANNOT TRANSMIT HEALTHFUL IMPULSES. CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTING REMOVES THE PRESSURE. THE UPPER NERVE IS FREE AS NATURE INTENDS.

Chiropractic spinal adjustments get at and remove the cause of this sluggishness, and recovery comes about naturally. Many who are learning the all around efficacy of chiropractic are turning in increasing numbers to the aid it offers.

Backache Is Gone

"Before taking chiropractic spinal adjustments I was bothered with my back and kidneys, and could not sleep after two or three o'clock in the morning, but after two or three adjustments I could sleep till I got up. The adjustments were continued and now the backache is gone for good. At the same time I was cured of piles."—Marion Morgan, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1237H.

BRUNSWICK CHRISTMAS CLUB AWAY TO GOOD START TODAY

HEINTZMAN HALL ANNOUNCE IMMEDIATE RESPONSE TO UNIQUE CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

$1 Secures a Brunswick Phonograph For Christmas

What is probably one of the most attractive and unique plans ever devised for supporting the "Better the Home" movement, is he "Brunswick Christmas Club" that opened this morning in co-operation with Heintzman Hall, of this city.

Through the co-operative purchase plan families will form a club for the purchase of 35 Brunswick Phonographs to be delivered at Christmas time through the old esatblished house of Heintzman Hall. In consideration of this group order, which enables them to forecast their needs Heintzman Hall are extending a variety of unusual privileges to each club member, which not only makes their purchase easy but affords protection and security not generally accorded purchasers.

Club members pay one dollar, which reserves for them the right to select a Brunswick by December 5th. If they decide to withdraw, the one dollar is refunded; if not, it is credited on the purchase price. Club members then commence the Club payments of $1.50 to $5 weekly, depending on the model they select. The phonograph is delivered Christmas Eve.

But the no-cash payment and easy weekly payments are but part of the concessions. Each member is entitled to the other special privileges, including a four months' exchange privilege; privilege of half payments when sick or unemployed; immediate delivery of the instrument by prepaying a few payments; unlimited selection of entire Brunswick line or any other phonograph in the store; $10 worth of records added to contract on Club Terms; ironclad one year guarantee; and yet Club members pay only actual Cash price for their Brunswick, with but nominal interest charged on unpaid balance.

It is not surprising that such an attractive plan should appeal to music lovers of Peterboro who desire to improve their homes at Christmas without a big outlay or risk. As the Club is limited to 35 members it is wise to call at Heintzman Hall at once and enroll as a member by simply paying one dollar. If you change your mind you get your dollar back.

It should be remembered that all these privileges are extended on Brunswick Phonographs—the only phonograph in the world that plays all records properly; the only phonograph equipped with the famous "Ultona" and All-Wood Oval Horn. A complete variety of these instruments on display at Club Headquarters. Heintzman Hall; Royal Bank Building, Hunter street.

THIN, FADED HAIR NEEDS "DANDERINE" TO THICKEN IT

Thin, Faded Hair—

35 cents buys a bottle of "Danderine." Within ten minutes after the first application you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, helping your hair to grow long, thick and luxuriant.

Girls! Girls! Don't let your hair stay lifeless, colorless, thin, scraggy. A single application of delightful Danderine will double the beauty and radiance of your hair and make it look twice as abundant.

SORES SPREAD ALL OVER FACES AND HANDS

Mrs. Howard Houlette, Waskatenau, Sask., writes:—"I wish to tell you of the benefit we have received by using your valuable medicine Burdock Blood Bitters.

My children started to break out on their faces in small white pimples which kept getting larger each day. Pus would form under the scabs and they would come off, and each time the sores would be larger; some were as large as a twenty-five cent piece and would spread all over their bodies. I was nearly in despair and sent to the village for a bottle of good blood medicine. The druggist sent me a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, which I commenced giving them at once.

In about ten days I saw an improvement and they grew steadily better each day, and in one month the sores had all disappeared."

All blood and skin diseases are caused by bad blood, and to get it pure and keep it pure you must remove every trace of the impure and morbid matter from the system by a blood cleansing medicine such as BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS a remedy that has been on the market for the past forty-five years, and one without an equal for all diseases and disorders of the blood.

POLITICAL LEADERS IN U.S. COMPLETELY AT SEA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(By Canadian Press)—Political leaders Republican and Democrat, are at sea because of the growing evidence of independent political thought and action throughout the country. On the one hand, the recent electons have revealed that the grip of the Republican Party is by no means as strong as it was a year ago and on the other hand the Democrats are uncertain whether they can capitalize whatever dissatisfaction there is with the Republicans.

The widespread distress in the agricultural sections of the United States, from Dakato to the Gulf of Mexico, is having its political possibilities.

Some derision has been indulged at the expense of the agricultural "bloc" in Congress. As a matter of fact, this agricultural group, composed of both Republicans and Democrats from the agricultural states is not only working together in a non-partisan way but it has become a distinct force in legislation. Many believe that it forecasts the formation of a third party, the basis of which will be agricultual and labor voters. If any leadership arises which is capable of uniting the agricultural voters, of North and South, under a third party banner, there is no telling what might happen in the 1922 and 1924 elections. The mutterings of a third party movement which will break up the Democratic grip on the Solid South, are plainly to be heard.

Much will depend on how the country takes the new tax measures If it provokes the discontent which it seems likely to provoke, then one may expect a shake up in the elections a year hence, with a third party much more than a possibility.

BIGGER MARKET FOR MANITOBA POWER

A. W. McLimont, Vice-President and General Manager of Manitoba Power Company, Points Out That Eastern Canada Hardly Realizes Big Industrial Field Built Up in and Around Winnipeg

A. W. McLIMONT,
Vice-President and General Manager of the Manitoba Power Co.

A. W. McLimont, Vice-President and General Manager of the Winnipeg Electric Railway Company, also Vice-President and General Manager of the Manitoba Power Company, who is in town to-day states that conditions in the West are much more promising, and that a number of the leading business men there are looking for a business revival and an industrial expansion, and that labor conditions are very favorable.

The work on the new plant of the Manitoba Power Company is progressing very favorably, and the prospective demands for commercial power are even better than anticipated. The demand for power can be gauged by the fact that the Winnipeg Electric Railway Company connected 650 customers in October, 1920, and 1,287 customers in October, 1921.

There are few points, he remarked, about Winnipeg, the average citizen in Eastern Canada does not realize, namely. Winnipeg is entered by seven main line steam railways; twenty branch lines radiate from Winnipeg. All Canadian trans-continental lines pass through Winnipeg. Bank clearings over $3,000,000,000. Taxable property in Winnipeg is worth over $255,000,000. It is the third retailing centre in Canada. Winnipeg has the largest individual railway yard in the world, also the largest stock yards in Canada. In the great business of the world Winnipeg ranks second. The value of industrial products manufactured in and around Winnipeg amounted to $18,000,000 last year, and it is anticipated will increase materially with power available for industrial purposes, through the development of the Manitoba Power Company, Limited.

WOMAN DRESSED TO REPRESENT "PEACE"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(By Canadian Press)—Dressed in white from head to foot, with a dove decorating her hat, a woman appears among the crowd which congregates daily before the building where the delegates to the Conference on the Limitation of Armament meets. In one hand she carries the U.S. flag, and in the other a placard with "Peace" in large letters. At one of the full sessions she made repeated efforts to gain admission, but she had no card she could not get past even the outer guard.

"I represent Peace," she wailed, "and they won't let me in."

255 SHIPS WRECKED DURING THE PAST YEAR.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Steam and sailing vessels totally lost, or condemned, last year, numbered 561 of 645,603 tons, according to statistics published by Lloyd's Register of Shipping. The United States lost 108 vessels of 159,694 tons, Great Britain 163 of 160,503 tons.

New Medicine Relieves Thousands of Sufferers

EMULSIFIES THE WASTE IN BOWELS, STOPS HEADACHES, INDIGESTION, CONSTIPATION, RHEUMATISM, KIDNEY PAINS, ETC.

The new medicine is called Tanated Calomel and is the only medicine that acts upon the Liver. The bile is excreted into the bowels, forming an emulsion and causing a natural and easy movement of the bowels. Doctor say take one tablet before meals or two at bedtime and in a few hours your aches and pains will disappear and you will feel 100 per cent. better. The poisonous waste which collects in the bowels poisons the whole system and is the cause of 90 per cent. of the sickness of today. Always keep a few Tanated Calomel tablets on hand and take a few when you are not feeling well. For sale by F. C. Webber, Charlotte street.

When Investment was a Venture

In the days of the Merchant of Venice most forms of investment open to the business community were of a highly speculative nature, often in the shape of ventures in trade across distant seas. It was therefore deemed prudent not to put all one's eggs in one basket, lest the basket come to grief.

In modern days investment need not incur risk. There are many securities backed by the credit of the nation, the provinces, or the municipalities in which the risk is nil.

For thirty years Aemilius Jarvis & Co., Limited have been buying for and advising clients on the intricate and technical points of security investments, and with this long experience we are in a position to render service of positive value to investors.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

MILLBROOK, Nov. 26.—The late Mrs. Jane Gray, whose funeral took place on Tuesday, November 22nd, from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. Killingbeck, Peterboro, to the cemetery at Manvers was born on the 13th line, Cavan, eighty-five years ago. Mrs. Gray whose maiden name was Jane McBrien, lived in Cavan until her marriage to the late M.. Roderick Gray, when they settled on a farm in Manvers township about three miles from Ballyduff, iving there between fifty and sixty years. Her husband predeceased her seven ago, and she had made her home with one or other of her children ever since. The family consisted of seven sons, Adam of Novar, Robert of Pontypool, William of Millbrook, Henry of Michigan, Orman of Pakesley, Stanley of Sault Ste. Marie and Claude of Peterboro; and four daughter one of whom died in infancy, and another, Mrs. Jeffrey McMahon at her home in Michigan. The two still living are Mrs. Arthur McMahon of Millbrook, and Mrs. J. Killingbeck of Peterboro.

Mrs. Gray's death occurred at the Nicholl's Hospital, Peterboro, on Sunday, November 20th., following an accident by which her hip was bady dislocated. She was very dearly loved, and highly respected by a large circle of relatives and friends. Except for one brother, Mr. David McBrien of Novar, she was the last of a large family. Her pallbearers were: Messrs. Orman and Claude Gray, who were sons; two grandsons, Floyd McMahon and Stanley Killingbeck, two nephews, Hugh Howden and Willie Armstrong. The funeral services at the house were conducted by Rev. W. E. Morrow, and at the grave by Rev Andrew McLaughlin of Pontypool.

Amongst those from outside points who attended the funeral were her three nieces, Mrs. A. Wilson of Millbrook, and Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Sanderson of Omemee; also her sin, Mr. William Gray of Millbrook Mrs. Gray was a faithful worker in, and a devoted member of, the Anglican church.

Huners Successful

Most of the local deer-hunters have returned after a successful outing; one party of seven brought home four fine specimens. Mr. Carson, who was in the Parry Sound district, has returned with a choice deer, and so has also Mr. William Gray. Mr. William McIvor has not yet been heard from but will doubtless meet with his usual success.

Mr. Frank Alcorn had his broher Mr. Lawrence Alcorn with him at the League meeting on Monday evening. The latter has just returned from spending some time in the West.

Mr. Latta Dead.

Mr. N. Latta, of Frankford, a brother-in-law of Mrs. (Rev.) William Higgs, died at his home on Wednesday after several weeks' illness with typhoid fever, at the age of 57 years.

The funeral services were held at the church and friends were asked to go directly there owing to the serious illness of his niece, Miss Mary Higgs, who has been teaching at Frankford, and boarding at her uncle's home, and who also has the typhoid fever.

The later made many warm friends in Millbrook during her father's pastorate here, and all are most anxiously hoping that she may soon be on the road to recovery.

To Hold Bazzaar.

The Forward Movement of the Senior Epworth League of the Methodist church are preparing to hold a bazaar and tea in the Waverley parlors on Saturday afternoon, December 17th.

The articles for sale will be suitable for Christmas gifts. The President, Miss Stella Hetherington, and the second vice-president, Mrs. G. W. Sayles, have the matter in hand, and all League members, as well as many of their friends, are pledged to help make the bazaar a success.

Attended Meeting.

Messrs. J. A. Vance, J. J. Clarke, Levi Russell, Mrs. Vance and Mrs. Thomas Bradley motored to Orono on Friday and attended the political meeting at which the Hon. Arthur Meighen and others were to speak.

A.Y.P.A. Meeting.

Th A.Y.P.A. of St. Thomas' church held their usual meeting on Thursday evening, the president, Mr. Robert Stone, being in the chair. After the devotional exercises were concluded and business items attended to, a very interesting paper on the life of "Robert Morrison," was given by Miss Lillian Clarke, who also gave an excellent report of the Dominion A.Y.P.A. convention recently held in Peterborough.

Nine new members were initiated, this service being conducted by Rev. C. R. Spencer. Refreshments and a very enjoyable social hour brought a most successful meeting to a close.

The next meeting will be when the Peterborough district A. Y. P. A. Council meets here in two weeks' time.

There were over forty members in attendance at Thursday's meeting.

Death of Mrs. Campbell.

In North Monaghan, on Thursday, 24th November, there passed away Margaret Ann Goodfellow, beloved wife of Alexander Campbell, in her 63rd year. The funeral will take pace from the family residence, Lot 3, Con. 7, on Saturday, 26th November, at 2.30 p.m., to Frazerville Cemetery. Service at the house at 2 o'clock.

Archdeanery Meeting.

Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen were in Port Hope this week attending the meeting of the Archdeanery of Peterborough, which was held in that town from Tuesday to Thursday. The gathering was presided oved by the Venerable Archdeacon Davidson (formerly of St. John's Church, Peterborough), who now has under his supervision the Archdeanery, which includes the counties of Haliburton, Victoria, Durham, and Northumberland. Thirty-seven clergy were in attendance, and the speakers included the Bishop of the Diocese, Rev. Dr. Haslem, a missionary from India, who gave a fine address on the work of the Bible Society in that land, and Miss Vera Martin, of Hamilton, who spoke on the Girls' Friendly Society, and the excellent work it is accomplishing. Dr. Blagrave, of Peterborough, was also a speaker at one session. The meetings were held in the Parish Hall of St. John's Church, and a delightful luncheon was served to the delegates at noon each day by the ladies of the Anglican Churches of Port Hope.

Rebekahs Hold Euchre.

The Rebekahs are holding a progressive euchre in the Lodge Rooms on Monday, 28th November.

Mission Band Meets.

The meeting of the Sunshine Mission Band was held in the Methodist Church on Friday evening, the president, Miss Gladys Tucker, being in the chair. The worship period occupied the first fifteen minutes, after which the secretary, Miss Bonna Robinson, read the minutes of the last meeting and called the roll. Miss Jean Burnham and Miss Elsie Spence each gave a reading, appropriate hymns were sung, and the superintendent, Miss Byam, gave the talk for the evening—a study in natural history, and included a very interesting description of insect life in a few of its various forms.

The members were reminded of the contributions for the box to be sent to Miss Hawken, which must be shipped at least three weeks before Christmas.

The meeting closed with the benediction.

Going to Church--Wherein Does it Profit?

Some people go to Church because it is "good form." Some go because their friends would think it strange if they didn't. Others attend because they have nothing else to do. Others are present because they want to hear the singing and see who is there. Others, many, many others, go because they recognize a need in their lives which Christ alone can satisfy.

THE NEED AND THE PROMISES

HENRY DRUMMOND ONCE SAID:

"What most of us feel we really want religion to do for us is to save us from something which we feel in our life—a very terrible something which is slowly dragging our life downward. This something has gained an unaccountable hold upon us; it seems to make us go wrong, whether we will or no, and instead of exhausting itself with all the attempts it has made upon our life in the past, it seems to get stronger and stronger every day. Even the Christian knows that this strange, wild force is just at his very door. Its existence is a great fact, and the first practical question in religion that rises to many a mind is this: What must I do to be saved from this inevitable and universal and terrible fact of sin?"

Are you one of those who have been attending Church more regularly during November? Then we hope you will get the habit, and with it the blessing that faithful attendance in God's House brings to all who seek after God "with all their heart."

THE WAY OF DELIVERANCE:

Most people go to Church in order that they may find the way of deliverance from the power of indwelling sin in their lives. They have the assurance, "If the Son, therefore, shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." (John 8: 36.) Also, "Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." (2 Cor. 3: 17.)

Read these other promises:

"Ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart." (Jeremiah 29: 13.)

"My grace is sufficient for thee, for my strength is made perfect in weakness. (2 Cor. 12: 9.)

"For sin shall not have dominion over you, for ye are not under law, but under grace." (Romans 6: 14.)

"Therefore, if any man be in Christ, he is a new creation: Old things are passed away; behold all things are become new." (2 Cor. 5: 17.)

JAPANESE NIGHT AT Y.W.C.A. HUGE SUCCESS

PRETTY AND DAINTY PLAY PRODUCTION CREDITABLY PRESENTED—NOVEL FEATURES.

The gymnasium of the Y.W.C.A. was comfortably filled last evening for the presentation of the little play, "It Happens in Japan," by members of the Association.

The entertainment was opened by the National Anthem, and by a short address from the president, Mrs. T. Cruikshank, outlining the foreign work of the association and explaining the purpose of the evening's entertainment, to give an idea of the work being carried on. Miss Trucie Pearson rendered a delightful vocal solo, "A Jaapnese Love Song," and the play followed, a pretty stage enactment of the trials of a young Japanese girl who takes up the wrong sort of English reading in her pursuit of education ,and falls into numerous city pitfalls from which she is rescued finally by a study of the Bible and a following out of the precepts of the Y.W.C.A. secretary stationed in Tokio. In the course of her adventures, she stabs her faithless sweetheart and is imprisoned until he recovers, her final regeneration expressing itself in the establishment of "The Garden of Good Friends," a refuge for women, where her good work leads to recognition from the Emperor himself, his message to her closing a dainty little production which was enacted beautifully by young girls clad in the traditional costume of the country.

The cast included: Jean Mervin as Sako, the heroine; Marjorie Best as her mother, Mitani San; Hazel Miller as O Hara San; Maragret Andrews as Michi, Florence Eichorn as Kiku; Frances Legon as Chiyo; Rose Williams as Ichiro San; Gladys Evans as the matron of the prison; Geraldine McIlwaine as Hana; Gladys Watson as Masa; Clare Morgan as Ume; Dorothy Mills as Yoshido San; Beatrice Meredith as Hishino San; Mabel Young as Miss Ray, the Y.W.C.A. secretary, and Josephine McGill as the Imperial Messenger, in a gorgeous costume of red and white.

Dances and Reading.

Following the play, several excellent solo numbers were rendered; the Misses Martha Kirn, Edna Connor and May Stone giving an aesthetic dance depicting a Chinese love story; Miss Jean McLaughlin a Grecian dance in costume, and Mrs. F. McNeely delighting her audience with a fine reading.

A hearty vote of thanks to the performers of the evening was moved by Mrs. J. F. Chapman and seconded by Mrs. R. W. Cormack.

Japanese Tea Room.

Refreshments were served in the green room, converted into a pretty Jaapnese tea-room with Mrs. A. W. Cressman and Miss F. Walton pouring, and assistants in gay costume; the Misses Clare Mason, Doris Clegg, Eleanor Eastwood, Daisy Davidson, Margaret Cameron, Jean Cormack and Edna Connor. Miss Gertrude Kirn assisted at the door.

Candy and Curios.

A pretty feature of the evening was the exhibit of Oriental curios in the library, where examples of the art and handicraft were displayed in various forms; a wonderful Japanese draperies, a beautiful Chinese tablecloth of exotic red, with peacocks in natural shades and heavy gold embroidery; carvings of all descriptions, and dainty miniatures of scales, ancestral tablets and tiny shoes.

Miss Robina Montgomery gowned as a Russian girl, Miss Margaret Eastwood as a Hindu maiden and Miss Lena Shearer in the costume of a Chinese woman explained the various collections.

In the entrance hall a dainty purple and white candy booth was erected, with Oriental floral decorations, which was in charge of two young ladies in attractive Egyptian costume; the Misses Theressa Taylor and Ethel Elliott.

Could Not Eat

Constipation is caused by a torpid condition of the liver. Dosing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.

If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the scores of annoying symptoms and diseases which come in its wake, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter:

Mrs. Alvin Richards, R. R. No. 1, Seeley's Bay, Ont., writes:

"For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my breath was bad. I had a poor appetite, and just felt like eating certain foods. I used many different medicines as a laxative without benefit, and the doctor's medicine did not help me at all. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything I had ever tried. I can highly recommend them to anyone troubled with constipation or kidney troubles."

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

CONSTIPATED CHILDREN

Mothers if your little ones are constipated; if their little stomach and bowels are out of order; if they cry a great deal and are cross and peevish, give them a dose of Baby's Own Tablets—the ideal medicine for little ones. The Tablets are a gentle but thorough laxative and never fail to right the minor disorders of childhood. Concerning them Mrs. Noble A. Pyr, Ecum Secum, N.S., writes:—"My baby was terribly constipated but Baby's Own Tablets soon relieved her and I now think them a splendid medicine for little ones". The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SUCCESSFUL SALE OF WORK AND TEA

The Churchwomen's Association of St. John's Church held a very successful sale of work and tea yesterday afternoon at the residence of Colonel and Mrs. Joseph Mills, 451 Hunter street. There was an exceptionally large attendance, including many of the older members of the society, and the ladies realized a handsome sum from the sale of articles, which included the very daintiest of fancy and useful gifts for the holiday season.

Mrs. Mills received, assisted by Mrs. D. Mulholland and Mrs. H. Morphet, Mrs. W. D. Tyrer, Mrs. A. H. Stratton and Mrs. J. Dishart had charge of the sale of fancy work; the Misses Poole and Burnett supervised the sale of candy, and in the pretty dining-room, beautifully decorated with glowing red carnations, Mrs. A. Palmer and L. E. Dean poured tea, assisted by Mrs. I. H. Macdonald, Mrs. Darcy and Miss Rubidge.

DID ROBERT YOUNG KILLED IN STATES BELONG TO DOURO?

LEFT A CONSIDERABLE SUM OF MONEY AND HIS RELATIVES ARE SOUGHT FOR.

Hanson's Personal Service Company, of Newport, Washington, U. S.A. are looking for the relatives of a Canadian, who met with an accidental death same three months ago, and left an estate consisting of a large sum of money. he man's name was Robert Young and may have had connections in Peterborough city or county.

In this connection Police Chief Newhall has received the following communication from Hanson's:

"Dear Sir,—This is to advise you that about three months ago a man named Robert Young, met with accidental death in this county (Newport, Washington). Considerable money has been found by the authorities here belonging to this man and we are making a effort to find relatives of his.

"We have some slight reason to believe that this man had relatives living either in Renfrew, Peterborough, or London. We ask you to give this matter publicity with instructions for any relatives to write L. Gibson, Hanson's Personal Service Company, Newport Washington."

Inquiries so far instituted by the Peterborough police have elicited the information that a man named Young left Douro six years ago, and it may be that he is the party whose relatives are sought for.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(Canadian Press).—The short interest in the stock market was again driven to cover at the opening of the week end session. Buying of rails and oils continued on a extensive scale. Union Pacific, Great Northern, Reading, Norfolk and Western, St. Paul, Illinois Central and Texas, and Pacific were the most conspicuous among the rails. Standard Oil of New Jersey Rose 2 3-4 points and further accumulation of Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums, Middle States and Pierce Oil preferred was noted. Among the specialties, American Tobacco, American Telephone, Central Leather preferred, Utah Copper and Davison Chemical registered irregular gains. Sumatra Tobacco and Granby Consolidated were the only prominent stocks to show re-actionary tendencies.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—(Canadian Press)—Practically no trading occurred on the local market during the first half hour this morning. Atlantic Sugar appeared at 32 1-4, its closing quotation, while Brompton was also unchanged at 24. National Breweries advanced a quarter to 57 1-2.

SAYS ALLIES DISAPPOINTED WITH TREATIES WITH REDS.

THE HAGUE, Nov. 25.—(Canadian Press).—Foreign Minister Karnebeek told the Netherlands Parliament that England, Germany and Norway were greatly disappointed over the results of their commercial treaties with Russia. He said that Russian production was so unimportant that barter was impossible, that the economical conditions in Russia were getting worse and that the Russian gold supply was rapidly decreasing.

The Minister was skeptical about opening diplomatic relations with Russia, saying that the Soviet Government had never approached the Dutch Government for recognition. This, he said, was natural because recognition would mean respect by Russia for the Dutch Government, and they could hardly expect the Soviets to respect the Dutch form of Government.

MOTHER! MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup," and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother. You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

BIRMINGHAM "PROMISES"

ALWAYS HAVE and ALWAYS WILL be FULFILLED

THIS past week we have exhibited at the Capitol Theatre a MOVING PICTURE showing our factory at Falconer, N.Y., pictures of our cars, BIRMINGHAMS being assembled—the $5000 Challenge Destruction Test—and the strong sturdy parts that are put in the BIRMINGHAM.

This picture was witnessed by hundreds of our Shareholders as well as hundreds of others.

THE concensus of opinion, as expressed to us, is most gratifying. We were congratulated on all sides for being enabled, by means of this picture, to satisfy, not only those who believed our claims and representations, but we satisfied those few who were "Doubting Thomases."

THE BIRMINGHAM CAR HAS MADE POSSIBLE THE MOST STARTLING AND EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN IN HISTORY

A Sweeping Cash Challenge to All Cars, Regardless of Make or Price, will be the Key Note of an Advertising Campaign in Canada that will Sweep the BIRMINGHAM to the Highest Crest of Public Favour Almost Overnight

PICK UP THE Saturday Evening Post or any high class national publication, and read the automobile advertisements. See if any of them say anything of importance—see if any one of them announce any improvement that gives them any advantage worth mentioning over any other car in their class.

In placing any article, from automobiles on down to carpet tacks, before the buying public in a national advertising campaign the advertiser must have some feature that he can play up in his advertising. If he can't find some way in which his product is superior to the other man's, he has no basis on which to expect returns from his advertising.

Generalities at $6,000.00 Per Page That Say Nothing

TAKING the Saturday Evening Post as an example we find that one car is being played up as a beautiful car. They take a page of $6,000.00 per page to show you a picture of their car, and perhaps a dozen lines of generalities. The next one may show a picture of their car and tell you some more generalities at $6,000.00 per page.

Look through all the automobile advertisements and see if any one of them has anything to say to the car buyer other than generalities. Millions of dollars are spent every year by automobile manufacturers on advertisements that say nothing of importance and that have no particular meaning.

Not a single one of them can come out boldly in print and say "This car is stronger than any other, and we will back it up with actual cash in competition with any other car."

No, none of them dare make any such statement — but, if one of them could and would, that car would jump into the very forefront of public interest almost overnight.

As it is now, the manufacturer spends from $100,000 to $500,000 per year on generalities, and with a few years' consistent advertising begins to get his car before the buying public.

Birmingham Plan of Advertising Says Something, and Accomplishes Something, at Little Cost

ON NEXT PAGE is reproduced an advertisement that has been repeated in 52 cities. Read the advertisement carefully, because it is one of the opening guns of an advertising campaign that will firmly associate the name BIRMINGHAM with super-strength and super-riding qualities in the minds of every prospective car buyer in Canada.

One-fifth to one-tenth the amount of cash used by most of the automobile companies in their unconvincing and often meaningless advertising campaigns, and applied to the plan of advertising to be followed by the BIRMINGHAM, will jump the car into national prominence in a space of time measured by WEEKS and MONTHS instead of YEARS.

Let us analyze this plan of advertising, and find the effect it will have in the moulding of opinions in the minds of the automobile purchasing public.

No Statement of Belief is so Strong as That Backed up by Cash.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, a truer adage was never coined than "money talks." It is absolutely true that no statement is so convincing as that which is backed up by good, hard, spendable cash. The BIRMINGHAM campaign allows of no generalities. Every statement will uncompromisingly say something. Each line will carry a punch.

The first statement bluntly says that BIRMINGHAM MOTORS has $5,000.00 in real cash that they will place in any bank to back up a challenge to any and all cars that the BIRMINGHAM is the easiest riding car in the world, regardless of price.

No beating around the bush there. Just a bold, blunt statement of facts backed up by an uncompromising offer to meet any car in actual competition, with $5,000.00 to lose if every statement is not absolutely true.

The backing up of these statements as to what the BIRMINGHAM will do, with a $5,000.00 challenge to every car—from the Ford to the majestic Pierce-Arrow — brings instant conviction to the mind of the reader that the BIRMINGHAM must be a remarkable car.

Having read the advertisement, the reader remembers it. He can't help but remember it, and although he may not have had the opportunity to ride in the BIRMINGHAM the car immediately is associated in his mind with easy riding and comfort.

There is an interesting story of how Henry Ford, when he was seeking capital to enable him to go into some kind of production on his car, after meeting with rebuffs and discouragements without number, finally grew so discouraged and disheartened that he decided to throw up his project, abandon his hopes, and go back to a job.

Many bankers enjoyed a hearty laugh, also a few chuckles, which, with their advice to leave Ford alone, was a part of the banks' service, and cost the client nothing.

AS SAID BEFORE, Ford had reached the limit. He had been called every name, damaging to his self-respect, ever coined. To some people he was a crank—to some an unpractical dreamer—and some questioned his honesty. He had doors slammed in his face times without number. He had been offered every variety and shade of rudeness — had suffered insult after insult — and, worst of all, had to endure the humor of those astute and practical business men who saw in Ford and his plans excellent material for their humorous proclivities.

The breaking point having been reached, he announced his decision to abandon his project to his wife. She, true helpmate that she was, brought every resource to bear in an effort to hearten him, and finally succeeded in inducing him to make one more effort. That final and despairing effort was successful, and the Ford Company of to-day, with its world-wide organization, is in existence because Henry Ford made one more effort, and the credit for that one last effort goes to his courageous wife. There is hardly a large and successful business in existence to-day that does not owe its final success to a man or a group of men, who refused to quit in the face of difficulties and obstacles, but who fought the harder when the going was roughest.

What These Companies Have Done, Birmingham Motors Should Better —And There is Every Reason in the World to Expect This.

Probably no industry has equalled the profits of the Automobile Industry, and certainly no industry has had such a small percentage of failures. Following are given the profits that some of the companies have made for their shareholders. These profits are large enough to suit anybody, yet none of these companies had a car that could compare with the BIRMINGHAM in features that make a car easy to sell to the automobile buying public. You will notice this list does not include some of the largest selling cars. What should BIRMINGHAM MOTORS pay?

Saxon Motor	$500 in 2 years	$ 6,000
Chandler	$500 in 3 years	$ 17,500
Stutz	$500 in 4 years	$ 22,500
Chalmers	$500 in 3 years	$ 10,810
Chevrolet	$500 in 7 years	$140,000
Hupmobile	$500	$100,000
Reo	$500	$150,000
Paige	$500	$120,000
Overland	$500	$100,000
Franklin	$500	$ 7,905

An Illustration of the Earning Power of Money Under the Birmingham's Policy of a Sixty-Day Turn-Over of Its Capital.

AS the greater part of BIRMINGHAM MOTORS' capital will be available for the actual purchasing of parts and units which are capable of being turned every sixty days for a cash profit, with but, comparatively, very little tied up otherwise, for illustration, let us take the sum of $1,000.00 and follow it through the year.

We will not quote costs here, and in using the sum of $1,000.00 in connection with the manufacturing cost of the car, it should be borne in mind that this figure is used as an illustration only.

Approximate cost of placing car in dealer's hands	$1000.00
Approximate cost of placing car in owner's hands	400.00
Total costs	$1400.00
Approximate selling price	$2000.00
Deduct cost of car	1400.00
Leaving profit of	$ 600.00

THE investment of $1,000.00 in parts and units, factory costs, etc., by BIRMINGHAM MOTORS is turned every sixty days at a cash profit of $600.00, or 60 per cent.

This turnover six times yearly would mean a profit of $3,600.00 yearly, or 360 per cent. on each $1,000.00 of working capital.

The Reimbursement Certificate shown calls for 25% of the first profits to be set aside and returned as a bonus.

On an investment of $1,000.00 the Reimbursement Certificate would call for $1,000.00. If each $1,000.00 earned during the year 360%, or $3,600.00, that would mean that 90% of the $1,000.00 invested would be returned under the Reimbursement plan, and there would still be $2,700.00 profit on each $1,000 that would be available as dividends after deducting necessary charges.

There is nothing that is not entirely reasonable and logical in the estimates as shown here. While the figures used are approximate as to costs, etc., they are estimated considerably higher than will actually be the case in quantity production.

With the appearance of BIRMINGHAM cars on the Canadian market this spring, their performance will create a sensation that will eclipse anything known to the industry—an unprecedented demand that will spring up almost overnight.

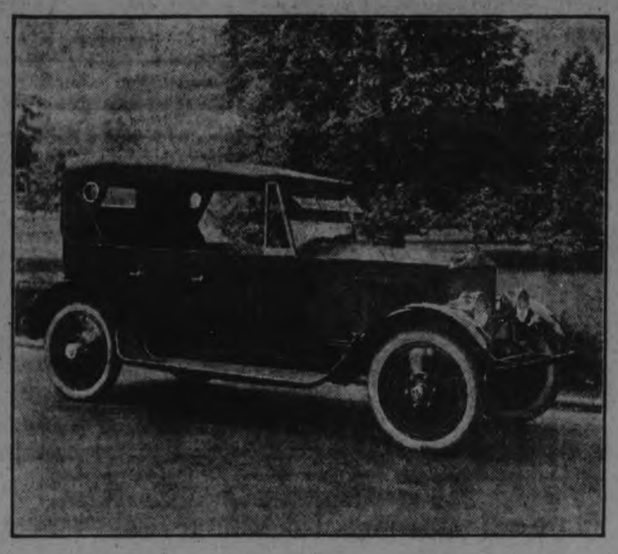
HERE IS THE WONDER CAR OF ALL TIME

Distinctive Beauty, Light Weight, Economy, Supreme Strength, Incomparable Ease of Riding, Longer Life---All These Qualities, and More, the Birmingham Offers the Automobile-Purchasing Public



THE BIRMINGHAM NO-AXLE TOURING CAR

A Distinctive Car in Appearance that will Show to Advantage in Comparison with Cars of Double Its Price.

Although the BIRMINGHAM will be popular in price it will have these refinements in construction that are not usually associated with cars within a thousand dollars of it in price. Because of the elimination of the axle we have been enabled to drop the floor sufficiently to cut down the total height three inches below the average and still give 1 inch more headroom and secure over 12 inches road clearance. This will mean an unusually well-balanced car, fast and rakish in appearance.

The Most Economical Car on the Market in Operation and Upkeep and the Easiest Riding Car Ever Built Regardless of Price.

The BIRMINGHAM is placed on the market with the unqualified statement that not only is it the most economical car on the market from every angle, but we go farther and without reservation—without a single exception, from the lowest-priced car to the imported car whose cost runs into five figures, we go on record that it is absolutely the easiest riding car built—and furthermore, we will prove it in actual competition with any car under a substantial Cash Forfeiture.

$5,000.00 CASH BIRMINGHAM CHALLENGE

This sum will be placed in the hands of any local Bank by BIRMINGHAM MOTORS, to back up this challenge:

"The Birmingham is the easiest riding car in the World. That it will go over rough roads faster and with greater ease and comfort than any other car, regardless of price."

A BIRMINGHAM car has arrived for demonstration and will meet all comers.

Many of the world's famous cars are expected to contest the claims of the BIRMINGHAM Challenger.

It will be the greatest demonstration of fierce fighting for Supremacy in automobile history. Don't fail to see it. Likely never again to be repeated. See Automobile History made, and remember—there is $5,000.00 cash that the BIRMINGHAM is the easiest riding car ever built.

Birmingham Motors expressly states that it will not be responsible for damages on account of death or injury to anyone connected with those who contest our challenge.

These cars are beautiful of line and finish, 30 to 50 per cent. lighter than any car of the same wheel base. Be sure and see them put through their sensational performances—tests that would wreck other cars.

Those who wish to ride in this BIRMINGHAM CAR, write a postal card with your address, to BIRMINGHAM MOTORS immediately, as we will be able to accommodate only a small percentage of the Spectators.

Demonstration held rain or shine.

$1,000 Additional Challenge

BIRMINGHAM MOTORS offer an additional $1,000 in cash that will be given to any car dealer or owner who will follow the BIRMINGHAM at the same rate of speed over a road constructed by us and designed to test the strength and riding qualities of a car under exceptionally rough conditions.

This Offer is open to any car regardless of Price or Make.

BIRMINGHAM MOTORS

NOTE—The above advertisement has been run in the newspapers in over fifty cities. This challenge has never been accepted until the 19th of October, at which time two cars, one a flexible axle, the other a solid axle car, attempted to duplicate our performances.

Both cars came to grief and the Birmingham is still unbeaten.

THE BIRMINGHAM NO-AXLE SPORT TOURING CAR WITH ALL-WEATHER WINDOWS

124 - Inch Wheelbase---Yet Weighs Less Than 2,500 Pounds in the Touring Car and Less Than 3,500 in the Sedan

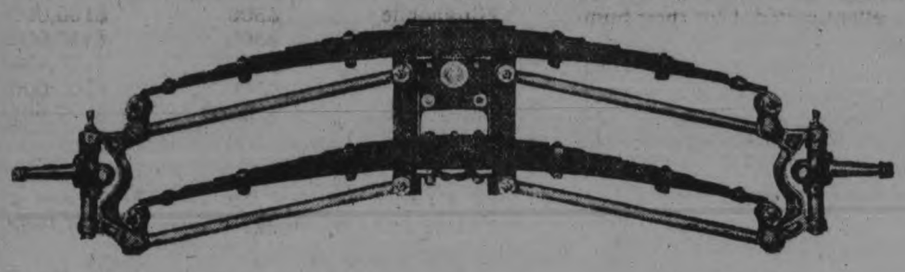
A dependable light-weight car is the demand of the automobile-buying public to-day, for light weight means economy, and from now on the car that is economical on gasoline, tires, and general upkeep is going to be the unhesitating choice of the majority of buyers.

In the BIRMINGHAM the reduction in weight has been so radical that it is entirely safe to say that it is 30 to 50 per cent. lighter than any car now on the market of its wheel-base.

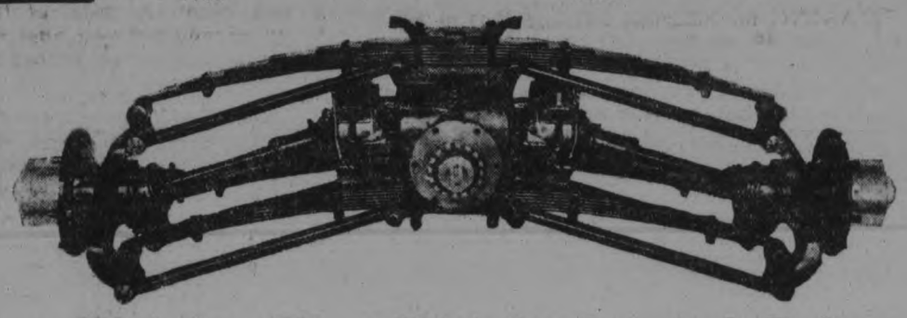
Michelin Disc Wheels are Standard Equipment for the Birmingham.

Weight reduction in the rear wheels, providing no strength is sacrificed, is extremely important. Take a grindstone. The heavier it is the harder it is to get started, and, after it has gained momentum, the harder it is to stop. The lighter the stone the easier it is to start and stop. This illustration applies very aptly to the wheels of an automobile. The heavier the wheels are the harder it is to start and stop.

Michelin Disc Wheels are a French wheel and the lightest and most simple in construction on the market. The weight of the Michelin is 27 pounds 5 ounces, against 60 pounds for the average artillery wheel.



The BIRMINGHAM is in a class by itself. It has no intelligent competition. If the BIRMINGHAM is as good-looking as any—more economical in operation and upkeep—more rugged in construction—and easier riding than any car, regardless of price—what, in your opinion, will the profits be?



Birmingham Front Spring Unit is the Simplest in Operation and the Strongest in Construction that can Possibly be Built.

It is Also Ideal from a Manufacturer's View Point Requiring Few Operations in Assembly and Facilitating Production.

There are many angles to consider when designing and engineering an automobile which is to be manufactured with the expectation of deriving a profit from its sale.

One important feature that probably never enters the minds of 99 per cent. of the investors in new automobile companies is this—is the car so designed and consructed that it will not only make good on road performance, but is it designed so that it can reach quantity production quickly and economically?

Will the labour cost of assembling and building the car be low—or too high? Does the assembling of the car consume so much time and labour that quantity production is prohibitive—or is the car so designed that there are comparatively few operations, meaning low overhead cost per car, and large and economical production?

The prime importance of production requirements were constantly kept in mind by the BIRMINGHAM engineers when the car was being designed.

In the past some few companies have, to the damage of their profit and loss column, found that it is one thing to build a car that would run and look well, and another thing to build a car that would do all these things and could be manufactured at a good profit.

As an example, the front spring unit of the BIRMINGHAM comes to the assembly plant in one unit, and is dropped into place with very few operations, with very little labour cost, and requires but a fraction of the time usually taken up on similar work.

The springs used are BIRMINGHAM special alloy.

Another important feature in BIRMINGHAM construction is the almost complete absence of oil and grease cups. Many owners of cars sadly neglect the unpleasant work of keeping the car greased, with unpleasant results to the car. Twelve oil-less bushings are used on the BIRMINGHAM front spring unit, with only two oil cups on the wheel spiders. These bushings have been thoroughly proven on several high-priced cars in every way.

They outlast the ordinary bushing several times over, require no oil, and as there is no metal contact never develop rattles. Their replacement cost is about one-third that of the ordinary bushing.

Unsprung Weight, That Weight Carried Below the Springs, is the Greatest Enemy to the Long Life of an Automobile

The Elimination of This Dangerous Weight in the Birmingham is a Great Engineering Triumph and Will Add Years of Useful Service.

In this cut of the rear spring assembly, especially notice that all differential weights, brakes, etc., are carried above the springs as sprung weight.

Even the best of to-day's cars carry considerable weight below the springs. This weight being unprotected from the shocks of the road by springs is thrown up against the body when shocks are encountered, tending to set the body of the car in motion away from the road. This weight being almost constantly in motion is unceasingly racking and twisting the car.

When a considerable amount of weight is carried below the springs, as is the case in the larger and heavier cars, a very heavy body must be built to resist the effects of this unsprung weight. On any car, regardless of size, weight must be added to the body to counteract the action of the unsprung weight. In other words—were this weight lessened, the weight of the body and car could be lessened in proportion.

A certain car that has enjoyed considerable popularity for many years has cut down unsprung weight to the lowest point possible in a rigid axle type car, and consequently has built up a nation-wide reputation for light weight, easy riding, economy in upkeep and operation, and long life.

This is cited to show the result of merely reducing unsprung weight.

In the case of the BIRMINGHAM, where the construction allows of the total elimination of all unsprung weight except the wheels themselves, this weight practically ceases to exist, and with it the greatest enemy to an economical and long-lived car.

Also notice that the brakes are carried next to the differential, and not on the wheels. This overcomes the inevitable rattle that always develops after service when brakes are carried on the wheels.

Oil-less bushings are also used throughout the rear construction, there being no grease or oil cups whatever.

There have been twenty billions of dollars spent in manufacturing automobiles since the founding of the industry. If the BIRMINGHAM can be proven to you to be the most economical—able to withstand road tests that would wreck other cars—as beautiful of line and finish as the most expensive — and the easiest riding car ever built — WHAT, in your opinion, should be its future?

BIRMINGHAM MOTORS HAVE ACQUIRED THE HOPE PLANT AT PETERBORO

The remodelling of this Factory will be started at once, giving a maximum capacity of Thirty-five (35) cars per day.

As an investment, BIRMINGHAM MOTORS offers big returns, which are measured by MONTHS instead of YEARS.

As it is impossible to reach the many who do appreciate this genuine Investment, that will prove very profitable, we suggest that you call at, or 'phone to, our Plant, and give us the opportunity to prove that you can make big profits by investing in BIRMINGHAM MOTORS.

LURING LIPS

The stirring story of how a beautiful woman's wits and wiles won back the man she loved and so solved a great intrigue---Starring

Edith Roberts

A WOMAN'S wits and wiles are pitted against big odds in this Universal special attraction. Of course, she wins out, and in so doing, releases her husband from prison. But the way she did it—that is another story—a story you will thank us for telling you!

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

WIFE'S SACRIFICES RELEASE HUSBAND FROM PRISON CELL

Edith Roberts in "Luring Lips," a Universal action drama, will be the attraction at the Capitol Theatre on Monday. It is an intense story of a woman, who makes every known sacrifice to secure her husband's release from prison. The novel manner in which the plot is handled and the dramatic ability displayed by the popular star, will add many admirers to the thousands who enjoy the well known star's features.

The situations in "Luring Lips," are human and logical. Adele Martin and her husband are on their honeymoon. Their life is a poem of happiness, until the law snatches her husband and sends him to prison. A shortage of $50,000 is discovered at the bank where the husband is employed.

Justice is misapplied and on the gossamer web of circumstantial evidence Martin is given a term in prison. The point driven home in this drama is the duty of a loyal wife in such a case. The law would easily grant a divorce. In a short time another man of wealth and position edged his way into her life. Adele Martin was human, and the one coveted treasure in her life was wealth and position. To all apeparances her husband was a failure.

What would the average woman do under like conditions? What have women done under the same conditions?

Miss Roberts brings to her role all the fire and feeling which characterizes her unusual screen personality. A notable Universal cast of favorable players support the star, including Darrel Foss, Ramsey Wallace, William Welsh, Carleton King, M. E. Stimson and others.

Balance of this big programme and the Capitol Orchestra will complete a very excellent show at the popular prices in vogue at this popular resort. Fan-Fan.

The Capitol Theatre added to its fine picture programme last evening with a six-act local vaudeville offering which was much enjoyed by the audience. The Misses Sarah Cohen and Bessie Levine gave a number of pianoforte selections; Messrs. Wm. McKinley and Wm. Thompson each gave imitations of Harry Lauder in Scotch jokes and songs enacted in costume; Miss Alice Stinchcombe recited in a very capable manner; Mr. Herbert Rush contributed a couple of excellent vocal solos to the programme, and Mr. Joseph Dean repeated his magician's entertainment with the disappearing balls, finishing with a "vanishing lady" act.

AT THE ALLEN.

THE REAL THING.

One of the big moments in God's Crucible," the picturization of Ralph Connor's novel "The Foreigner," a Hodkinson release which will be offered Monday to the patrons of the Allen Theatre, takes place in a court room, where the young hero is on trial for his life. When Ralph Connor wrote the novel he described this court room at very great length, and because it played so prominent a part in the enfolding of the story, in fullest detail. He was enabled to do this because he did not call upon his imagination, but rather described an actual court room which existed in the City of Winnipeg.

When Henry Alexander MacRae went to Winnipeg to bring Mr. Connor's novel to the screen he at first thought that it would be necessary to reproduce this court room in the studio but was delighted to learn that through the courtesy of the city officials it would be possible for him to "shoot" his scenes right in the very room described by Mr. Connor in the novel.

So that when theatre patrons see the court room scene in "God's Crucible" they will be seeing not a make-shift but the real thing. Not only that but the Court Crier and the clerks and many of the attendants are men who have officaited in their respective offices for a great number of years, therefore their technique is quite perfect. Even the newspaper men are not "extras," but actual reporters connected with the Canadian Free Press,—which seems to insure the last word in realism.

NEAL BURNS HAS FINE NEW COMEDY VEHICLE

In his latest Capitol Comedy, "Treat 'Em Kind," which is being distributed by Goldwyn Neal Burns has one of the best comedy vehicles in which he has yet appeared. The photoplay was directed by M. Goldaine; and the attractive Lucille Ruboy pays the leading feminine role.

The story opens at a prayer meeting in a small town. Here the hero is presented as a model young man who leads the choir and does other worthy tasks for the elders of the church. But there are a few youngsters in the congregation who still believe that prayer meeting is the best place in the world for their pranks. They interrupt the service several times, and finally pick up a mouse and insert it in the hand bag of a typical old maid. This, of course, ends the prayer meeting.

From the church, the good little hero follows his sweetheart to her home, and sees her stop all the evil characters in the town and indulge her instinct for reform. When she gives her time to a drunkard, her model young man decides to win her affections by pretending to need reform. He tries to act deliriously—on tea—and his action land him in the hospital ward where he is kept for observation. Of course, his stay results in winning his sweetheart; but before this is accomplished, the good young man crowds a few dozen laughs into his attemept to be naughty. The picture will be shown Monday at the Allen Theatre.

AT THE ALLEN

What has been declared to be one of the most extraordinary pictures ever made opens on Monday at the Allen Theatre. "God's Crucible", it is called— screen version of Ralph Connor's novel, directed by Henry Alexander MacRae and released by Hodkinson.

The story tells of a young poitcal refugee who flees to Winnipeg to escape his enemies, and there amid the snow-capped grandeur of the Canadian Rockies, wins fame and happiness. Those who have read the novel know that the action moves along at a swift pace from start to finish, and it is said that the picture is vastly more engrossing than the book.

A really marvellous cast will be seen, in which is included Gaston Glass, of "Humoresque" fame, Wilton Lackaye, Gladys Coburn, Bradley Barker, Bigelow Cooper, Jules Cowles, Ann Sutherland, and many others,—an all-star cast if there ever was one.

Manager Furlong is most enthusiastic concerning "God's Crucible", which he feels confident will prove highly enterta ning to his patrons.

AT THE CAPITOL. THREE DAYS COMMENCING MONDAY.

CHAT WITH PRINCE OF WALES CHARACTER IN "JUST SUPPOSE"

If it were true that I had really talked with H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, do you suppose I could sit down to calmly write about it? It would seem scarcely possible, and yet I trust it will not be lese majeste, I must admit that the delightful young romantic actor, Mr. Graham Velsey, must have become so imbued with the role he is playing that he has acquired off stage, as well as on, some of the attributes of the princely young man he impersonates. His is one of the most difficult tasks that an actor has ever essayed. You have heard enough about thhe criticism evoked by Mr. Thomas' play when first produced in New York, but what do you think of the actor's position? In portraying a hero of romance, according to tradition, a man has only to follow along the lines of his predecessors, or, in the case of modern plays, he is only required to be true to form in a general, impersonal way. But to represent a living, popular, universally photographed man such as H.R.H. the Prince, is another matter altogether.

Mr. Velsey told me before the play that he is exceedingly nervous before going on, not through stage fright, but it is a sense of responsibility. "You see, I realise that I do not resemble the Prince very strongly, that I must play to an audience intensely loyal, almost jealous, of that royal personality which has captured the hearts of people all over the world, and one false step may ruin the entire play."

So simple, so unaffected and altogether charming was this young man that intuitively I knew that his performance would be as perfect, as honest, sincere effort added to genuine ability could make it. It gave me a decidedly peculiar sensation—talking with Mr. Velsey. In a few moments I forgot that he was "making up" for a part—his earnestness impressed me just as it must his audiences. "I am conscious at first," he said, "of adverse criticism. I feel that people are disappointed in me, that they really expected to see a living replica of H.R.H., but as the play goes on they gradually warm up, and even when the applause is not over enthusiastic, there is no discordant note, not even a trace of antagonism. And for that I am very grateful to Canadians. Naturally, they would resent anything that bordered on exaggeration, yet their anxiety is nothing to mine. My one ambition is to try to do justice to the part, to deliver the author's lines properly and to justify Mr. Robins' faith in me."

At this point I want to say that beyond everything else I was impressed by Mr. Velsey's sincerity. To relieve him of any embarrassment I told him that I knew he was not an Englishman. Some press notices evidently erred in a few details. Mr. Walter Howe, who acted so admirably the part of the veteran diplomat "who had been bored for sixty years," is an Englishman, so is Norman Cope, the Sir Calverton Shipley of the play, but Graham Velsey is not. To my way of thinking absolute truthfulness concerning such matters is most desirable. Why deny an American actor the tribute of a fine impersonation such as we saw last night. Art knows no geographical distinction, and why not admit that, in voice, deportment and hearing, Mr. Velsey seemed the personification of the well-bred, simple, natural young Englishman. He is of English parentage, possesses the refinement borne of genuine culture, allied to the enthusiasm of a man whose whole heart is in his work. I believe we are to have a repetition of this pretty romance, this play of love and moonlight, of southern courtesy and British chivalry. Mine is not the part of reviewer, but watching keenly as a genuine lover of the drama, every move of every player. I told only the truth this morning to Mrs. Robins when I said I represented a concensus of opinion when I congratulated her and her clever husband, Mr. Edward Robins, on their production. The stage craft, the smooth running performance, the general excellence of the cast made "Just Suppose" one of the treats of the current season. Let us have some more of them!

Unfortunately, I was too late to meet Miss Kathleen Wallace, so in this personal interview I cannot speak of her as I should like to. I forgot to mention that Mr. Velsey made a great impression in Toronto as "Youth" in "Experience" and received very high praise from the critics as Peter Ibbetson—a role made famous by John Barrymore.

AT THE GRAND.

MUTT AND JEFF IN CHINATOWN.

Although there is some reason to suspect that the man who wrote the book for "Mutt and Jeff in Chinatown" must have commenced his work about the time he received his income tax papers, and was out in a mood to find humour in anything, the production at the Grand last night at least contained the two cartoon heroes, and a number of specialties that were entertaining. Billy Browning was "Mutt," while the short end of the arm was taken by Danny McCormack, and both worked hard to be amusing. Blanche Newcomb as Mrs. Mutt, and Josephine Sabee as Lizzie Jeff were equally energetic. Probably the best number on the programme was the specialty given by Fred Roberts, the many-voiced singer, whose offering was the only effort that even momentarily threatened to "stop the show." "Mutt and Jeff in Chinatown" will be the attraction at two performances to-day. —F.D.C.

"JUST LIKE A GIPSEY."

A very pretty song was published a few seasons ago called "The Gipsey Trail." No doubt it was composed after that delightful romance by Robert Housum called "Just Like a Gipsey," had been seen by the author. "The heart of a maid to the heart of a man. All the wide world over"—there you have the basis of the extraordinary heart interest attached to everything unconventional or off the beaten track—Gipsey blood—there is a little in most of us and a great deal of it in some of us. As near as possible to say definitely, Bohemia was the last large camping ground of these nomads, but cities and permanent civilization drove them westward and we find Spanish and English gipsies—finally they even migrated to America and every spring we are reminded of the land of romance when a thin straggling line of sorry looking waggons with their numerous attendants pass through the country on their summer's journey. For, clothe the gipsy in the gay trappings of story and legend as we may, they are better known to the countryside as fortune tellers and horse dealers. And even the sophisticated financier had better look sharp when he measures his wit with that of the apparently gay and careless gipsey.

However, there will be much first-class comedy—a love story with an unusual aspect in "Just like a Gipsey," while the scenic effects will be better than anything hitherto used in Peterborough by the Rex Company. Monday night should be the beginning of a very popular and interesting engagement at the Grand. —Laura.

AT THE REGENT.

"TOM MIX DAZES HIS COWBOYS."

"I had a rattlesnake for a friend once," said Tom Mix, the William Fox star, during a talk of cowboys on location during the making of his latest picture, "The Big Town Round-Up," now being shown at the Regent Theatre—a picture, by the way, in which a rattlesnake figures.

The cowboys laughed. A rattlesnake for a friend! What next? But Tom went on, and soon the bowboys were all ears.

"One day down in Texas," he said, beaming with the recollection of those busy days when $100 per month was a huge sum, "I was tired and the sun was hot. I walked away from the stables and sat down under a tree, leaned my head against the trunk and dozed off. When I reopened my eyes there was a rattler curled up on my chest. In my excitement I brushed him off with one rapid sweep of my arm. I didn't have a gun or I would have shot at him. I reached for a stone, but the rattler had gone. I walked toward the barn, then turned 'round—and there, not ten feet away, following me, was Mr. Rattlesnake. I reached for another stone, but something about the snake made me hesitate: something told me to let him live. So I just said: 'Oh, roll away.'

"By golly, if the rattler didn't unwind, take his tail in his mouth and roll around the grass. That startled me. I never had seen a rattler do a hoop; never thought a rattler could. Another strange thing was that he never rattled. I cried, 'Come here.'

"'Come here,' I yelled. He came to within about two inches of my boot toe and looked up at me. I watched him. Then he curled up around my leg. Well, sir, that snake followed me to the house. He was there when I went out at night. In the morning he was in my room. It was the goldarnest thing you ever saw.

"I had had that snake about a week when the mail came in, and in a paper I saw an advertisement offering $200 for a lost pet snake answering to the name of Joe. I went into the fields and yelled: 'Hey, Joe.' And sure enough he came wiggling to me.

"Oh, boy! I saw 200 iron men in my kit. I got Sandy and, letting the snake wind around my arm, started toward town and that $200. But I made a blunder. I made a nice pathetic speech to Joe. Seems I often make blunders when I make speeches. I said to Joe:

"'I'm sorry to part with you, Joe, but I'm going to take you back to your owner—your boss—and I'm going to collect 200 simoleans for you. Sorry to separate from you, Joe.'

"When I got within a mile of town the snake loosened his grip on my arm, dropped to the ground and disappeared in the brush. I got off and searched, but I never saw him again."

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

THE BIG RUGBY GAME TAKES PLACE A WEEK FROM TO-DAY

The most important rugby game staged in Peterboro since before the war will be played here a week from to-day when the University of Toronto schools team who eliminated Hamilton from the race this week will clash with the Peterboro Collegiate in the O.R.F.U. Inter-scholastic semi-finals. It will be a sudden death game and the winner will meet the Sarnia-Oakwood Collegiate winners for the interscholastic championship of Ontario. The local Collegiate team has put Peterboro back on the rugby man after many years and they should have the united supported of the local sporting fraternity in next Saturday's clash. They have to guarantee the expenses of the Toronto team so that there is no financial loss involved. Tickets will be on sale all week and may be had from any of the Collegiate players. Get one and come to the game if you can— but get one anyway.

Instead of meeting the old boys in a practise game this afternoon the Collegiate decided that in view of the weather conditions and minor injuries to several players, to work out in the Armouries would be more beneficial. The students are working their heads off to improve their condition and team work and they will be on hard as nails and full of "pep" when they take the field a week from to-day.

A rooters' club is being formed at the Collegiate for the big game and every student is expected to join

SPORT COMMENT

The annual meeting of the City Hockey League will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms next Tuesday night at eight o'clock. Preliminary details have been looked after, and the stage is set for getaway night. Players who took part in the race last season and are looking forward to another season with the league, should take advantage of the indoor training at the Y.M.C.A. gym. The invitation is wide open.

Here's a fine line of "dope" from the Toronto Globe:

Bellwoods, St. Aldan's, Sarnia C. I., U.T.S., Peterborough C.I., Hamilton C.I., and Oakwood Collegiate still remain in the running for the O.R.F.U. junior championship. All of these teams, with the possible exception of Peterborough, are formidable and the race from now until the finish should be the best ever staged.

Poor sort of encouragement for a new entry in the O.R.F.U. Why defeat the youngsters before the game is played?

The hockey players who attended the training class at the "Y" last night had a lot of fun chasing a volley ball. The players who have not yet reported at the gym are the losers.

Walter Smaill is sizing up the prospects of an indoor baseball league at the armouries. Sports and recreation for the members of the police and fire departments is another item on his programme.

SPORT GOSSIP

HOPPE CHALLENGES THE NEW CHAMPION

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. —(Canadian Press.)—Willie Hoppe, who recently lost the world's 18.2 balkline billiard championship to "Young Jake" Schaefer, after holding it for sixteen years, has challenged the new champion to a return match and posted a $250 guarantee for appearance.

Under the circumstances of the recent tournament in which Shaefer was victor, he does not have to defend his title until March 15, 1922, and it is believed that he will do nothing but exhibition work until that date.

Schaefer has been quoted as saying that the next time he met Hoppe he wanted at least a 3,000 point contest, and Hoppe also is said to favour the marathon route.

AMERICAN OLYMPIC ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.— (Canadian Press.) —The organization of the American Olympic Association was effected yesterday at a meeting here attended by delegates from more than forty sport governing bodies throughout the country.

After the adoption of the constitution more than 40 sport governing bodies were accepted into membership, including various inter-collegiate leagues, conferences, and associations, the Knights of Columbus, amateur hockey league, and American gymnastic union. All other national organizations which control sports forming part of the programme of the Olympic games are eligible for membership.

TORTURED BY PILES FOR YEARS; RELIEVED BY INTERNAL BATHS

If you are troubled with piles, constipation or biliousness, don't begin taking drugs.

If you bathe internally with the J. B. L. Cascade you will find yourself always bright, confident, and capable. Poisonous waste in the lower intestine is the cause to which a score of common ailments may be traced.

Mr. A. M. Steele, Cupar, Sask., writes: "I had been troubled with my stomach, Piles and Constipation for years until I had become very thin and looked 20 years older. A leading doctor in Regina told me that the main canal was badly ulcered. I gradually became worse, until one day, when purchasing a threshing outfit from Mr. Russell of Regina, Mr. Russell noticed my condition and said: 'I can cure you. Get a J. B. L. Cascade.' Well, I did so, and the first night I used it I slept all night for the first time in weeks, and in a short time felt quite myself again. It also cured my piles, which had troubled me for years."

The Internal Bath is a simple and easy treatment, by the application of warm water. It should be available in every home.

The J. B. L. Cascade is the only perfected appliance for Internal Bathing. It is shown and explained at the Warne Drug Company, Peterborough, Ont.

ELECTION NEWS

Messrs. V. J. McElderry and William Langford accompanied Mr. J. H. Burnham to Selwyn last evening. Mr. Wellington Manning kindly took the chair.

Mr. Langford sketched in a twenty minute speech the changed relations of Canada commercially and pointed out that no civilized country was now without a securely protective tariff.

Mr. Burnham urged upon the electors the necessity of taking a profound and active interest in national affairs because if the economic conditions of the country at large fell down their own conditions must necessarily become hopeless. Outside markets were now cut off by those markets themselves and home-markets must be developd and kept for the home workers. Farmers lived by producing for industrial centers not by selling to each other and if the centres went down farms would necessarily go back to what they were with the first settlers. He said that it might interest them to know that he had received a very kind message of goodwill from the Dominion Alliance which was published in the Examiner.

Mr. McElderry dealt with the general condition of Canada and of the world which she had done business showing that the United States our great market was shut off from us. For the farmer, the Liberal and Farmer Theory of direct taxation would mean a complete change so that they would not be able to do as at present, namely: avoid the burden of taxes by living cheaply until difficulties were tided over.

The meeting closed with cheers for the King and the candidate.

MEETING AT BRIDGENORTH.

Last night Mr. G. N. Gordon had a crowded meeting at Bridgenorth, and he was most enthusiastically received.

He dealt with Mr. Burnham's meeting the night before as he had learned Mr. Strickland was saying things at the township meetings which had not been reported in the press.

He dealt first of all with the statement made by Mr. Strickland that Mr. Gordon had not offered to enlist, and Mr. Gordon produced a telegram from the medical officer who examined him showing he had tried to enlist in 1916, but had been rejected on account of an ailment from which he was suffering. Mr. Gordon said that he was a married man at the time with a wife and family, and was nearing 40 years of age, while Mr. Strickland was a young man in his twenties, unmarried, and did not enlist until it was a matter of comment and discussion about the city.

The crowd cheered Mr. Gordon to the echo at this announcement. Mr. Gordon said he went further and the best information he had was that he (Mr. Gordon) had offered to enlist before Mr. Strickland had, who got away to the war considerably later than a man who had faith in his country should have.

Mr. Gordon dealt with Mr. Burnham's utterances through the press, and on the platform, concerning Mr. Meighen and his government, and read statements showing that Mr. Burnham had said that "This government was in difficulties, and it cannot last long." "No man can be both Grit and Tory. There can not be two policies for one party."

A further quotation which was received with a great deal of applause by the audience, was that Mr. Burnham had said "There is now no Conservative party in Parliament, hence if elected I will sit on the cross benches as an independent." This government declines to be responsible to any party or any people. It is just a little tea party of its own. The people just pay the taxes, that is to be their sole privilege apparently."

Mr. Gordon said that Sir Henry Drayton had acted illegally when he allowed the Riordon Company, which also controlled the Mail Printing Co. and the Mail and Empire, to default in paying $800,000 in taxation, while it fined respectable members of the community for failing to make an income tax return. He said the difference was whether you were friends of the Government or not. The Mail and Empire had been supporting the government and the government had not collected taxes to the extent of $800,000, which were due and owing from the Riordon Company; but the Government, according to Mr. Gordon, had one law for the rich and another for the poor, which it imposed with a ruthless hand, while the law for its rich friends it did not invoke at all.

Mr. Gordon showed further details of extravagance running into millions of dollars which the government had been guilty of. He said they were threatening to cut down the bonus of the soldiers, but they were able to spend millions of dollars upon Parliament Buildings during a time when these buildings should never have been constructed.

Dr. J. E. Middleton dealt vigorously with the tariff, and said Mr. Gordon was the most active, energetic member that could be sent to Ottawa. He spoke of many instances of where Mr. Gordon had given splendid public service, had tried to save the money of the people when he was in various positions of trust, and he was a man who would not resign in two or three months after he was elected, as Mr. Burnham probably would do again.

Mr. H. G. Walker spoke of how he found things as a business man, and why this government had not satisfied the needs of the business man. He said that new blood was needed, and that a new government should be substituted, because this government had outlived its usefulness. He intimated that Mr. Burnham's views were warped, spasmodic and did not represent the people of Peterborough county. He said it was time that Peterborough had a good live representative to do the things that the people required to have done and not leave it to Mr. Burnham's peculiar humor to do just as he pleases or not at all, which was frequently the case.

Mrs. Clayton Telford sang two solos, which were extremely well received by the audience, with which she is a great favorite.

Mr. John M. Telford was the chairman, and the meeting was a most enthusiastic one.

Rev. Mr. Huffman, Mr. R. N. Scott, ex-Warden of Peterborough, and many other prominent citizens were at the meeting.

Constipation

It is a disease-producing malady, and if not corrected may result in serious complications. In good health the bowels should move freely at least once every day, carrying away the waste products from the Blood and Liver. If this function fails or is irregular, the work of removing the poisons falls on the Skin and Kidneys, with the result of the latter organs becoming congested and clogged. The Blood becomes poisoned. Indigestion sets in, the Kidneys become deranged, and a severe if not fatal illness is brought on. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS correct this trouble by its action on the Liver, causing a healthy flow of Bile, and exerting a soothing and toning influence on the whole Intestinal Track.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets are put up in three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00 per Box. For sale at Warne's Drug Store, Peterborough.

A BOON TO WOMANKIND

It is a matter of record that womankind seems to be more susceptible to sickness than the members of the sterner sex. This being so, it can be plainly seen that any Health Science which will locate and adjust the CAUSE of Disease is necessarily a BOON TO WOMANKIND.

Such a boon is the HEALTH SCIENCE OF CHIROPRACTIC.

The human back is the same in all people, and the study of the spine is uniformly applicable to people of all ages and both sexes.

Thousands of happy and healthy women of all ages are now happy and healthy because they have taken Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments.

It has been proven time and again that troubles peculiar to women respond readily to adjustments. Headaches—and hundreds of women in this age are martyrs of these annoying effects—are quickly and often permanently relieved by CHIROPRACTIC.

We call Headache an EFFECT because in women in particular, headache is merely an effect of one or of several disorders that may be present in bodily regions remote from the head. The CAUSE is found to be NERVE PRESSURE, and when that pressure is relieved the headache will disappear.

Women, INVESTIGATE Chiropractic, and you will find by actual experience that CHIROPRACTIC VERTEBRAL ADJUSTMENTS will help you to be Healthy and will Keep YOU Healthy.

All the Chiropractor does is to EXAMINE YOUR SPINE, and if there are any subluxations (displacements) of the vertebrae (small bones), he will adjust same to their proper positions, thus relieving the nerve pressure and allowing the vital force to flow freely to all the organs of the body. HEALTH WILL BE THE RESULT.

SPRACKLIN MAY RESIGN PULPIT AFTER CHARGES

"FIGHTING PARSON" FACES ALLEGATIONS OF NEGLECT BY CHURCH BOARD--PROCEEDINGS OF SECRET MEETING LEAK OUT

HIS RUM FIGHT RECALLED

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

WINDSOR, Nov. 28.—The Rev. J. O. Leslie Spracklin, of Sandwich, the pastor who for many months was the terror of the rum-runners on the Canadian shore, is considering resigning from the pastorate of the Sandwich Methodist Church.

The question of asking Mr. Spracklin to resign was taken up at an informal meeting of a majority of the board of trustees Thursday night, when several men and women made charges against Mr. Spracklin. Among other charges were assertions that he spent too much of his time away from his church work, with the result that church attendance and finances suffered. It was decided to bring up the question of asking Mr. Spracklin to resign on Wednesday night.

For months Mr. Spracklin, furnished with a speedboat by the Ontario officials and supplied with several deputies, raided rum-runners. His admirers called him "The Fighting Parson."

One night he shot and killed Beverly ("Babe") Trumble, proprietor of the Chappell House, at that time a notorious Sandwich roadhouse, while making a raid. A jury acquitted Mr. Spracklin last February on his plea of self-defence.

Pleaded For Support.

Ever since Mr. Spracklin began his outside rum fight several of the trustees of the church have objected to his activities. At one time, during the height of his out-of-church activities, he appeared before the board and asked for six weeks' more time, pleading that though the church might suffer temporarily, it would gain in strength as a result of his outside activities in the long run. He says that the church quadrupled in membership in that six weeks.

But lately charges of indifference, neglect and other charges have been heard. Thursday night his accusers faced him before the trustees and repeated their charges.

Mr. Spracklin denied the accusations. He has made it no secret among his friends that he "expected the rum-running interests" to strike at him in revenge for the harassment he gave them. But the members of his board are, the majority of them, also foes of rum-runners and rum-running.

Members of the board of trustees and Mr. Spracklin all pledged themselves to keep the proceedings of Thursday night confidential, and none would discuss the matter

ARBUCKLE TAKES WITNESS STAND

DENIES EVIDENCE OF PROSECUTION AND RELATES HIS VERSION OF FATALITY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. — (Canadian Press). — Taking the stand to-day in his defence, Roscoe Arbuckle denied the evidence of the prosecution witnesses that he had forced Virginia Rappe against a door or having told Alfred Semnacher that he had applied ice to her body. He said he had found Miss Rappe in his room on the night of the party. She was on the bathroom floor, very sick, and holding her abdomen, so he assisted her and gave her some water. He helped her into bed and left the room. When he returned she was on the floor again and moaning, and he placed her once more in bed. While so doing Miss Prevost entered the room. He left the room, but, returning shortly afterwards, he found Miss Rappe sitting on the bed tearing her clothing.

50 CONGRESSMEN REACH MONTREAL

HERE TO STUDY WORKING OF CANADIAN SALES TAX

MONTREAL, Nov. 28.—Canadian Press).—Fifty members of the United States Congressional party who intend touring Canada for the purpose of investigating the working of the Canadian sales tax as an aid to revenue arrived in Montreal this morning and were welcomed at the station by Stanley Cook, on behalf of the Board of Trade.

The Canadian Club tendered the Congressmen a luncheon, at which Lieut.-Col. Alan A. Magee, president, delivered an address of welcome. Lester D. Volk, chairman of the visiting party, replied, stating that the body of which he had the honor to be chairman was the largest group of law makers that had ever left Washington. He had heard much, he said, of Canada's taxation system, termed by many the fairest in the world.

ARMS PARLEYS HAVE ENTERED ON THIRD WEEK

FAR EAST DIVISION READY TO TAKE UP SEVERAL PHASES OF RELATIONSHIP OF POWERS WITH CHINA TODAY.

BORAH WARNS U. S. PUBLIC

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(Canadian Press).—The third week of the conference opened this morning with the Far East division ready to take up several phases of the general question of the relationship of the powers with China, preliminary work on which was completed Saturday. The naval armament question was declared this morning to have reached a definite stage of advancement.

Last night Senator Borah issued a formal statement designed to warn the public of the United States of the hidden dangers of the arms parley. "It is not what you call it, but what it is that counts," he declared, pointing out his belief that President Harding's proposed "Association of Nations" is the League of Nations in a new suit of clothes.

STINNES' VIEW

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—(Canadian Press).—According to the Deutsche Allegemeine Zeitung, the organ of Hugo Stinnes, Europe is being treated as a negligible quantity at the Washington conference. It sees evidence that curtailment of naval aramament has been given primary consideration and that the issue of land armaments is not causing the conference any apprehesion. This attitude, it declares, gives France an indefinite Franchise to continue her devastation of the European mainland.

U. S. EXPERTS PRESENT CASE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(Canadian Press).—United States naval experts presented to Japanese and British officers to-day detailed answers to questions presented last week as to Hughes' naval reduction programme. The specific nature of the points involved was not revealed, but it is understood that the United States experts feel that they have been able to show that there exists no reason to change any of the tonnage estimates for the three powers upon which the plan was based, and it is assumed that during the week the naval reduction problem will be returned to the conference for action.

OPPOSE 5-5-3 RATIO.

TOKIO, Nov. 28. — (Canadian Press).—After listening to addresses by a group of Tokio Publicists who have held out for a greater naval ratio for Japan than provided by Hughes' naval holiday proposal, a meeting in Shiba Park to-day adopted resolutions opposing the 5-5-3 ratio and favoring abolition of fortifications in the Pacific Ocean.

POWERS TO RELINQUISH POST OFFFICE PRIVILEGES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(Canadian Press).—A resolution declaring for the relinquishment of foreign post office privileges in China was adopted to-day by the nine powers sitting as a committee on Pacific and Far Eastern questions. The date of January 1, 1923, was set for the abandonment of foreign post offices, and this was agreed to by all powers represented except Japan, whose representatives asked for time to hear from their Government.

CANDIDATES AGREE, LAUD ONE ANOTHER

LONDON, Nov. 28.—(Canadian Press Cable). — Agreement on questions before the Washington conference and the Irish problem led to Coalition Candidate Owen Jacobsen and Labor Candidate Thomas Naylor asking each other why they were opposing one another when they appeared on a neutral platform during their campaign for South-East Southwark. Jacobsen referred to Naylor as one of the best friends Labor ever had, and the Labor man testified to Jacobsen's worthiness as an employer.

Placard Up Family Out

QUARANTINE REGULATION OPENLY VIOLATED AND NEIGHBOURS TELL OF FREQUENT INSTANCES

There was nobody home at a house Sanitary Inspector Stapleton visited this morning to remove a quarantine card. Several knocks and twists of the bell brought no response, but a little girl from the neighborhood volunteered the information. "No one is home. They went out this morning." And although the house was placardedfor a contagious disease and supposed to be isolated, the Inspector learned that members of the family had been taking the air every afternoon. How far they went, and whether they called at other homes, was not known, but the main fact was that the quarantine regulation was flouted as flagrantly as most of the traffic rules in this city.

And this is said to be only one of many similar cases.

PROGRAM FOR ROLLER ACADEMY THIS WEEK

SOMETHING SPECIAL EVERY EVENING... WILL BE BEST WEEK OF THE SEASON—SOON OVER.

There will be skating at the Roller Academy this evening with full band. Special attention will be given to this year's skaters. Mr. Pitcher will announce a program for the balance of the week that will be the best weeks amusement of the season There is not more than two weeks roller skating and it is the intention of the management to make this period most entertaining.—Advt.

RELIEF APPEALS RATHER NUMEROUS

LIST TO BE PRESENTED TO CHARITY BOARD AT MEETING TONIGHT

Appeals for relief have been fairly numerous of late, according to Relief Officer F. W. Miller, who will have a statement to present to the Charity Board to-night. In some of these cases men who have been working until quite recently, and receiving a good salary, with comparatively light expenses at home, report that they are out of funds. Their straightened circumstances have all the marks of improvidence, and apparently they are unaware that there are such institutions as banks or even the homely depository of a holeless sock.

Mr. Miller is expecting a visit from a man who was engaged among the twenty or more who began a short time ago the construction of a sewer. According to his record, he was the slowest man of the crowd, and attempted to work in wraps that would have sufficed for Arctic exploration. And when it was suggested to him that he should at least try to keep up with the average speed he "downed tools," threw aside the pick, and, asserting his independence, threw up the job. After the city had offered this man a job, a chance to earn his bread and butter, it is scarcely likely that the Relief Officer will put him on the charity list when he chose to "resign."

KING DEFINES HIS TARIFF PLATFORM, SCORES GOVERNMENT AND MAKES PLEA FOR CLASS AND RACIAL CO-OPERATION

HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING,
Leader of the Liberal party, who presented the case for the Liberals before an audience of over 5,000 in the Arena Rink Saturday night.

TERMS PERSONAL ATTACKS MADE ON HIM BY MEIGHEN CALLING NAMES LIKE A SMALL BOY—CHARGES "STAR CHAMBER" SYSTEM OF HANDLING NATION'S BUSINESS—GORDON EMPHASIZES WHAT HE CONSIDERS BURNHAM'S VOLTE FACE —OVER 5,000 IN AUDIENCE-

Over five thousand people heard Hon. W. L. Mackenzie-King, leader of the Liberal Party, define his tariff policy, arraign the Government and make an eloquent plea for class and racial unity in the Arena Rink here on Saturday night. In spite of the fact that the lateness of his train delayed his appearance at the Rink until nearly 9 o'clock, the Liberal leader was given an attentive hearing.

Defying anyone to find two of his speeches on the tariff which differed, Mr. King declared that he regarded the tariff platform adopted by the Liberal Convention of 1919 as a chart and that in following it regard must be had for existing conditions. "We wish to build up, not to destroy, the industries of the country," he stated, "and no industry doing a legitimate business need have fear." But he believed that the tariff must be so framed as to bear as lightly as possible upon the four basic industries and upon the necessaries of life.

The tariff, however, was not the great issue, he said; it was the record of the Government, "an invisible Government of political autocrats and industrial plutocrats." To conceal this the Government had thrown out the tariff issue. He reviewed the record of the Government at length, declaring that not only had millions of dollars of the people's money been spent without the people's sanction in the acquirement of the Canadian National Railways and the Grand Trunk, but the Government by the appointment of its friends to the Senate and Bench had influenced the trend of legislation for years to come.

Turning to the personal attacks made upon him by Premier Meighen, he declared that the Premier in terming him "a quack and a mountebank" had resorted to the methods of a Police Court lawyer, and that the measure of the Premier could be taken from his language.

In conclusion, he made an eloquent plea for class, racial, and international unity and co-operation, declaring that the aim of the Liberal Party was to usher in an era of democracy and goodwill, that the sacrifice of the thousands of war dead might not be in vain.

G. N. Gordon, ex-M.P., the local Liberal candidate, declared for Protection, both of industry and labour, promised his support to a measure to make the cost of living bonus a permanent part of the pension to soldiers, and declared that the Government was dead, and all that remained was to back the hearse up to the door on 6th December. He contrasted the cases of local men fined for failing to make income tax returns with the acceptance by the Government of promissory notes for the Riordon Company's taxes, stating that the control of the Riordon Company was the same as that of the Toronto Mail and Empire, chief organ of the Government in Ontario. He averred that the rugs and locks for the House of Commons had been bought from foreign sources, while the Brinton Carpet Company and the Peterborough Lock Company might have obtained the contracts.

Dealing with what he considered the volte face of his opponent, J. H. Burnham, ex-M.P., he read extracts from Mr. Burnham's speeches and letters to The Examiner, attacking the Government and promising that he would not accept the Government nomination.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., and R. R. Hall, K.C., ex-M.P., also spoke.

The G.W.V.A. and 57th Regiment Bands were in attendance, and a musical programme was provided

DRUNK IN AN AUTO GETS 20 DAYS' JAIL

COLLIDED WITH ANOTHER CAR—STOLE FROM HER PARENTS

In spite of his counsel's pleas that, as one of the city garbage collectors his services were necessary for the well-being of the municipality, Magistrate D. W. Dumble sent Allen Wright, Erskine avenue, Brownton, to the county jail for 20 days, this morning, when he was convicted of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

If Mr. Wright's car in its course down Rubidge street Saturday night, had not struck L. G. Dobbin's car his condition might have escaped public notice. The crash at the corner of Sherbrooke and Rubidge streets, however, proved his undoing. It drew a crowd and eventually the police. A procession to the police station followed. Mr. Wright occupying an ignominious seat in the police car that towed his own damaged vehicle in the rear.

Wright alleged he hit a bump in the road and was consequently propelled to the wrong side of the highway. But examination of the road showed no protuberances, and Wright eventually pleaded guilty to being intoxicated.

Under the Motor Vehicles Act, accused could have been sentenced to 30 days, but the Magistrate cut 10 days off when J. O'Brien dwelt on the public need for accused services as garbage collector.

Remanded For Sentence.

Margaret Lapointe was remanded for sentence till next Monday on the charge of theft of $30 from her parents. She pleaded guilty to stealing $20, but not $30, and the fact that she only had $17 when arrested in Toronto, Saturday evening as she stepped off the afternoon train from Peterborough, substantiated her story. The remand was given for the Police Chief to investigate in connection with the case what he called "a more serious matter."

Mackenzie King

The appearance of Mr. King was greeted with an enthusiastic ovation from the entire assemblage to which he responded with an expression of appreciation.

Mr. King opened his address with an eulogistic reference to the work of Mr. Gordon in the House. "There has not been a question that affected the great body of the workingmen and the farming classes that he was not ready to support what would be of advantage to them."

Mr. King professed himself as being amused at the stand of Mr. Burnham. His whole argument last February was that Mr. Meighen had usurped power and that his own election should be supported as a protest against this usurpation. Should not this same protest then be intensified a thousand times to a logical mind by the fact of Mr. Meighen not only continuing to hold on to the reins of government, but in his expenditures of hundreds of millions of the people's money in the sixty additional ships he has tacked on to the original programme of the merchant marine, in the taking over of the G.T.R. system without an Act of Parliament or the sanction of the people, and in his final action in filling the second Chamber with men of his own choosing, of his own own caliber and trend of thought, the latter action being characterized by the speaker as a serious usurpation of rights, these men, who will hold their position for many years to come, being antagonistic to the rights and demands of the ordinary working man and the farmer. "What chance would the ordinary individual have with Sir Edward Kemp and his kind?"

The Real Issue.

The deliberate desire of the government was to use the bogey of free trade to hide the real issue of this election, which is an examination of the record of this administration which was based upon a violated pledge. "Have you, any one of you, directly or indirectly, given

G. N. Gordon

Mr. Gordon quoted Mr. Burnham's speech at Chemong on July 16, 1920, shortly after his resignation from the House of Commons in protest against what he termed the usurpation of power by the Government, and five letters written to The Examiner by Mr. Burnham, in all of which the Government was vehemently attacked. In a letter to The Examiner on Dec. 31, 1920, Mr. Burnham stated: "I will not accept Government endorsation." Now, the speaker pointed out, Mr. Burnham was supporting the Government and he had villified and deserted.

Following are the six quotations as presented by Mr. Gordon:

On Friday July 16th, 1920, Mr. Burnham spoke at the annual meeting of the West Peterborough Board of Agriculture, at Chemong Park Pavilion, and said, as reported by the Examiner: "I will begin by making a confession. "The Government at Ottawa is as bad as your roads."

In a letter to the Examiner, printed on January 7th, 1921, Mr. Burnham said: "It looks like a joke to read in your paper, sir, that a lawyer got up in the National Liberal and Conservative Convention on Wednesday evening, and tried to justify the holding on to power by the Meighen-Calder Government by appeals to history. It is nothing better than bucaneering for any clique to step in and seize the Government without an appeal to the people. Why did not the Conservative Association officers call a business convention and give me a chance to be received by that party? Because the same tactics obtain here as there. The Conservative party was ignored and betrayed. The treatment of the Conservative party in this riding by its trusted officers has been a disgrace and a shame."

Mr. Burnham said in a letter to the Examiner dated January 8th, 1921: "Forming a new Party and a new Government, and seizing the treasury, is to seize the opportunity of handling the public business in Canada and of granting charters

NEW YORK'S NEW FEMALE OFFICIAL FAVORS FREEDOM.

No Ban on Bobbed Hair, Short Skirts, Etc.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—There'll be no regulation of skirt lengths, no ban on bare knees, no outcry against the bobbing of tresses or the parking of corsets by her employees when Miss Annie Mathews takes over on January 1 the office to which she has just been elected as register of the County of New York—the richest politcal plum that has ever fallen into the lap of a woman in New York, if not in the entire United States.

Not that the 12,000, a year register elect hasn't very decided ideas on clothes and all the allied arts so precious to women. Indeed, she has spent the greater part of her 40-odd years studying the clothes problem, first as dressmaker, then a designer and finally as an importing modiste.

But she has even decided ideas on the question of personal liberty.

"I am opposed to all prohibition," she said.

"It is impossible to make women or men moral by legislation. The human race can be improved only by education that will make them appreciate the good and the artistic.

"If any of my young women ask for my advice on clothes, I shall give it. And the most important thing I will tell them is to wear something apropriate for the occasion. A woman's business attire, or house attire certainly should be simple.

Busy herself at the time, receiving congratulations at her campaign headquarters, Miss Mathews' attire emphasized her formula. A plain blue serge dress, softened at the throat by a bit of embroidered linen collar. Black high shoes. No jewelry. Copper colored hair simply coiffed.

"Skirt lengths, bobbed hair, the question of corsets or none," she went on, with a twinkle from behind her pince-nez glasses, "are largely matters of taste—and of figure. All this talk about depravity among young women makes me a bit weary. I believe the young people are as good as young people ever were.

"Of course there are and always have been extremists. But—well, I don't think I will be toubled about these, for I can tell a great deal about character by the clothes one wears. Yes, even the standarized clothes of men.

Miss Mathews enters on her new job of keeping the country's deeds, mortages and leases with but one preconceived idea—that there shall be no prejudice either for or against any of her 150 employees because they happen to be women.

BRITISH BOOKMAKERS DO NOT EXPECT MANY REQUESTS FOR MONEY

Few Complications From Betting Legislation Looked For.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Despite the recent betting by check case in the House of Lords, whereby the recovery of bets paid by check was made possible, bookmakers here do not anticipate many applications for the return of their money or that many complications will ensue as a result of the decision.

An agitation has recently been started with the object of legalizing the system of betting by check and the National Sporting League, to which practically all bookmakers are affiliated, has made arrangements with two prominent members of Parliament to introduce in the House of Commons a short bill on that subject. A bill with the object in view has already been introduced to the House of Lords.

The judgment that a bet paid by check can be recovered by the man who pays it came at first a bombshell to the gambling fraternity but, in the light of subsequent happenings, it has appeared to them to be a blessing in disguise inasmuch as it has shown up what they regard as the many anomalies which exist under the present betting laws of Great Britain. The Lord Chancellor (Lord Birkenhead) when he was delivering the judgment in the case referred to, said, he would support the bill so as to revise the gaming act.

The position at present is that the government allows betting under certain conditions. A person desirious of placing a bet must not hand a slip of paper with the bet thereon to a bookmaker in the street or any public place, but he may put the same words on a government telegraph form send it to the government wires at the usual tariff without fear of being arrested.

It may be sent to the bookmakers office by letter or telephone and the sender still be on the safe side.

On the other hand the bookmaker may not take any hard cash in his office, but a bookmaker standing on the race course can take and pay out money to any punter without molestration.

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL VOTE UPSET BY IRREGULARITIES

INSPECTOR LEES ORDERS NEW POLL OF RATEPAYERS IN SCHOOL SECTION NO. 5 DUMMER TOWNSHIP—FOUR VOTES IN ELECTION ON OCTOBER 24 REJECTED AT ENQUIRY SATURDAY.

The Warsaw Consolidated School agreement entered into by the ratepayers of School Sections Nos. 3 and 5 of Dummer Township, by a vote taken in the respective sections on October 24th, was declared invalid by County School Inspector Richard Lees after an enquiry at the Court House on Saturday afternoon into the complaint of a number of ratepayers that there had been irregularities in the voting.

Mr. Lees found on the evidence submitted to him that four of the men who had voted in S. S. No. 5 were not ratepayers of that section. Their rejection reduced the result of the poll in the section, which had been 16 to 12 in favour of consolidation, to a tie of 12 to 12, and although it was intimated that the Inspector might have called upon the chairman of the meeting in S. S. No. 3, at which the election was held, to cast the deciding vote, he decided in the interests of unity and harmony in the School Section to order a new poll on a date which he will announce later.

This case had stirred up considerable feeling among the farmers of both sections and had attracted the attention of the whole township. So many of the farmers of Dummer, especially those in the vicinity of Warsaw were present on Saturday that Mr. Lees conducted the hearing in the main court room. He presided at the desk of the Clerk of the Court.

Presented a Petition.

The complaint was made by James Graystock of S. S. No. 5, the Warsaw school, and David Taylor, of S. S. No. 5, known as the fourth line school. More than forty signatures were affixed to the stated objections, although according to the Statute only one was required to secure an investigation of the charges. The other names were added, it was explained, to indicate that the opposition to the election, which had returned in each section a majority for consolidation, was not confined to one or two persons.

Mr. E. A. Peck appeared for the two school boards, and Mr. O. A. Langley for the complainants.

How the Vote Went.

In the polling on October 24 Warsaw School Section No. 3 gave 52 for and 19 against, the proposed consolidation, and S. S. No. 5 gave 15 for and 12 against.

The names struck off the affirmative list in the S. S. No. 5 vote, were W. S. Hamblin, W. H. Grey, Edward Payne and Arthur Payne.

Mr. Langley challenged these and Mr. Peck said that it appeared they they were not entitled to vote in that section, that they lived on the border of the section, and that the impression had become founded that they lived in S. S. No. 5, instead of S. S. No. 3. He therefore did not dispute Mr. Langley's challenge but in turn questioned the right of Percy Tighe, who name appeared in the negative list. This point involved considerable argument. Mr. Lees finally ruled that Mr. Tighe's name should stand, and Mr. Peck consented, saying that a decision swinging on only one vote would not conduce to the good will essential to the success of a consolidated school.

At one stage of the enquiry Mr. Lees admitted to Mr. Langley that he strongly hoped the two sections would consolidate, but he realized that without the sympathetic support of the people and the fullest harmony among the ratepayers the proposed school would suffer from the outset and would be unable to accomplish the results expected of it.

Verified Signatures.

After a brief discussion as to the procedure of the enquiry, it was opened by Mr. Peck requesting that the signatures on the petition for the investigation be verified.

When the list was gone over Mr. Peck said that Mr. Langley should

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 28. — The play, "Billeted," to be given in the Opera House on Tuesday night, Nov. 29th, by a number of Belleville young people, under the auspices of St. Andrew's Young People's Society, promises to be a grand success. The cost, which is nearly the same as that which, last year, presented the "Old-Fashioned Mother" here, speaks for itself. The play, which is under the direction of Miss Jessie Quite, of the Albert College staff, is under royalty, and the plan of the hall is fast filling. All who attend are assured of a treat, as this play, presented by the same young people, has drawn crowded houses in Shannonville and Belleville.

Born—In Campbellford ,on Nov. 26th, to Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson, of St. Ola (nee Ruth McComb), a daughter.

Mission Circle.

The Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the Methodist Church will hold their meeting this week at the home of Mrs. Walter Wiggins, on Wednesday evening. All members are urged to be present so that more complete arrangements for the bazaar, which is to be held soon, can be made.

Father Phelan's bazaar, which was held last week, was a most decided success from every standpoint. The total net proceeds, after paying expenses, amounted to the grand total of nearly $2,800.

A meeting under the auspices of the National Progressive party, and in the interests of Mr. Fred Slade, candidate, will be held in the Opera House to-nigh. Besides Mr. Slade, Mrs. Vair and Mr. Thomas, of Toronto, will speak. All are invited.

THE 4 HORSEMEN OF THE APOCALYPSE

CAPT. J. DEWART VISITS APSLEY

CARRIES ELECTION CAMPAIGN INTO THE NORTH COUNTRY

APSLEY, Nov. 28.— Capt. J. A. Dewart, M.C., Liberal candidate, and Reeve Curtis of Havelock, addressed a crowded meeting of electors here Thursday.

Reeve Duncan Brown occupied the chair and introduced the speakers.

Mr. Dewart in a comprehensive speech, reviewed the record of the government. He claimed that Premier Meighen talked tariff to keep the yese of the eltcors from the record of his administration.

He discussed the deplorable financial condition of the country and went into the railway situation thoroughly, clearing up the charge that the Liberals were partly responsible for their condition.

He condemned Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. T. A. Crerar as two men who had been Cabinet Ministers when the railways were purchased, when the railway board of directors was appointed and when the secret system of accounting for these railways was devised.

He charged them as ministers of the Crown in the Union government with betraying the confidence of the people in not carrying out their promises made before the 1917 election. They also must take their share in the responsibility of giving a limited franchise to the women and the unfair manner in which the soldier vote was used in that election.

He dealt with the Murdock charges and condemned the practice of the Minister of the Crown having large private interests.

Mr. Dewart presented the Liberal platform and policy and closed with a strong appeal for the forces opposed to the government to unite behind the Liberal party.

Drury Government.

Reeve Curtis, in an exceedingly humorous speech, showed that the Drury government had violated their election pledges. Instead of doing away with Government House, about $3,000 more had been spent on it in one year than the last year of the Hearst government. Instead of im-

PREMIER TALKS LIKE A LITTLE BOY, SAYS KING

OVER 5,000 HEAR LIBERAL LEADER ARRAIGN GOVERNMENT AND DEFINE POLICY ON TARIFF.

LATE ARRIVING HERE

Declaring that the Prime Minister in his recent speeches, during which references had been made to "quacks and mountebanks as applied to the gentlemen opposing himself," had expressed himself "as might a little boy, but not a Prime Minister,' Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, in his address here Saturday night, to an audience of over five thousand people in the Arena Rink, made several references to recent speeches of Right. Hon. Arthur Meighen, as well as other members of the Cabinet. "The Prime Minister,' Mr. King asserted, "when he comes down to using such terms as 'infamous perfidy' and the like, shows the country that he is fighting on the losing side, and he hopes to distract attention from his own losing fight by resorting to 'calling names.'"

The Liberal leader also criticized Senator G. D. Robertson, who "from a safe seat in the Senate," was criticizing James Murdock, whom he termed "an eight thousand dollar hero." It would have been more fitting, Mr. King declared, had Senator Robertson faced the people in an open campaign, by contesting a riding for the Commons, rather than "from a sheltered life job in the Senate."

Hon. Mr. King's train was about half an hour late in arriving at Peterboro, but the audience stayed in the rink, though the temperature was low, until nearly nine o'clock before the chief speaker of the evening was able to put in an appearance.

Hon. Mr. King in his speech dealt with tariff matters, the railways, and charged the government with having followed "star chamber and order in council" methods in handling the business of the country. He criticized the Government, declaring that it had refused information to Parliament and the public, which was of vital importance, and again asserted that there was an "invisible power behind the Meighen government which had kept it in power for 16 months against the wishes of the people."

Dealing with the tariff, Mr. King said that the best tariff policy in the interests of the country was that of the Liberals which, he explained, was a policy of downward revision; a tariff designed primarily for revenue, which would lighten the burden of taxation on implements of production in the four basic industries, and on foodstuffs.

He regarded the tariff platform adopted by the Liberal convention of 1910 as a chart, and said that in following this, conditions must be taken into consideration.

"We want to build up, not to destroy, the industries of the country, and no industry doing a legitimate business need have fear," he stated.

The Prime Minister talked of the need of tariff revision, said Mr. King but nobody had yet been told how he proposed to revise the tariff if his Government were returned to power. He would not dare revise it upwards, and then face the people, and to revise it downward would be to bring down the wrath of the "invisible power" behind the Government. A huge sum had been spent in getting information as to tariff revision but nothing further had been done, and the men who has gathered that information were keeping silent as to what was needed.

The Liberal leader again made an appeal for unity among all classes and creeds of Canadians to undo the harm wrought by the war and urged his hearers to support the Liberal candidate and return to power a strong, united party, which would carry on without any thought of coalitions, "of which the country was heartily sick.'

On Monday night Mr. King speaks at Pembroke, in the first meeting of his final Ontario series, which will end in North York on December 5th.

CONFERENCES PERIODICALLY ARE PROBABLE

SUPPORT OF CANADA'S SUGGESTION BY HARDING MAY LEAD TO "ASSOCIATION OF NATIONS'

VIVIANI IS FAVORABLE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(By Ben. Deacon, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—What will be the attitude of the nations whose representatives are meeting in Washington in regard to the plan for holding of periodical future conference which has been endorsed by President Harding? How far does the United States President propose to go to develop ng this proposal into a definite association of nations? What will be the effect upon the League of Nations? Is the presidential attitude an indication that the people of the United States are now ready to unite with the people of other lands in some form of world organization for the promotion of the general welfare? What will the United States Congress do about it? Can Mr. Harding put the thing over?

These, and a host of other questions have been asked in Washington since announcement came from the White House that Mr. Harding had advocated continuing conference. And they have been answered, unofficially, in a score of different ways. The announced attitude of the United States President on the proposal has been the chief topic of controversy and discussion over the week-end. It has been the one big sensation of the conference since the opening day when Mr. Hughes dropped the United States' proposals on naval armament out of a clear sky.

To-day, in a haze of conjecture and contradictory opinion only a very few definitely known factors stand out clearly.

One of these is Canada's attitude. Of all the nations represented at the conference the stand of the Dominion is probably the most clearly defined. Canada was recognized as favoring a plan of this description ten days before the White House announcement came. Sir Robert Borden in a memorandum, is reported to have submitted a plan which in principle was identical with that of Mr. Harding.

It has been understood, though it has never been so stated officially that members of the other Dominion delegations have expressed approval of the proposal as submitted by Sir Robert. No indication of the attitude of the Old Country representatives toward the Canadian suggestion has been given.

But, through a British spokesman on Saturday, there came a hint as to the reaction of the delegates from Great Britain to the plan as expressed by Mr. Harding. Interposed bluntly, this amounted to an expression of the belief that it was up to the United States first to formulate some definite plan which the United States could bring before the conference with the assurance that it would have the support of the people and of Congress. The British, it was stated, were most anxious to participate in any move ment that would tend toward the peace of the world, but it was felt the President's suggestion was "more or less a United States domestic question," and that it would not be proper for the delegates to express an opinion until the details had been worked out and the Congress of the United States had decided on some definite scheme that would have full approval of the people of the country.

This definition of the British attitude has been the subject of much conjecture. In home quarters it is taken to mean that, because of the feeling of antagonism to the League of Nations idea, as expressed by United States candidates in the last election, it would be advisable to permit the United States to take the initiative in any move of this nature The matter may raise a very delicate domestic problem. Any plan which implies, either now or in the future, a definite association of the United

KING OPPOSES PLOT AGAINST GOVT. RAILWAY

REPLIES FROM PETERBORO' TO MACNEIL'S QUERY REGARDING ALLEGED PLAN TO LOOT C.N.R.

TERMS IT GOVT. PLOT

Declaring that he would not only "entirely disapprove" but also "most actively oppose" any attempt at a coalition "for the purpose of looting the Canadian National Railways and handing them over to a private corporation, together with the ultimate disposal of the Grand Trunk Railway to American interests," Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, sent from here on Saturday night his reply to the questions submitted to him by C. G. MacNeil, Dominion Secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association.

Hon. Mr. King's wire to Mr. MacNeil at Ottawa follows:

"Replying to your communication received by wire to-day permit me to say that I have the utmost confidence in the loyalty of all the Liberal candidates of the Province of Quebec to the Liberal party and toward myself as its leader.

"The persistent circulation of such rumors as those contained in your telegram owes its origin, I believe to a very natural desire on the part of certain members of the National Liberal and Conservative Party to have formed, after December 6th, any kind of a coalition which would afford to members of that party a continued participation in the control of Government and to create in the interval, for party political ends, as much as may be possible in the way of distrust and dissension.

"It is, I think, unnecessary for me to add that a coalition for any such purposes as those mentioned in your wire would meet not only with my entire disapproval, but with most active opposition and in this I do not hesitate to speak for the Liberal party as well as myself.

(Signed) "W. L. Mackenzie King."

HISTORY.

Lord Leverhulme in a recent address in Liverpool said: "History keeps on repeating itself, but the most striking fact about history is that neither capital nor labor learns anything from history. The lessons of history are learned in the more costly school of experience. Take the question of government subsidies for industries or labor. All attempts at subsidies are as old as sin, and equally as wicked and pernicious. In the old Roman Empire the popular election cry was 'Free bread and fere circuses,' and to this day there is plainly to be seen on the walls of Pompeii this election slogan painted there nearly two thousand years ago."

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.

A week from to-morrow is election day, and the long campaign will soon be over. Although in West Peterborough it cannot be said that the contest has been a particularly lively one, the leaders of the two parties represented in the local campaign have visited the riding and laid their case before the people and the electors should be in a position to weigh the evidence and to give their verdict next week. In the interest of their country and as an evidence of their appreciation of their duties as citizens it is to be hoped that they will mesaure up to their responsibilities and see that their franchise is used. They should not depend upon the party organization to remind them of their duty or to get them to the polling booths, for no matter how complete the campaign machinery of the parties might be it would be difficult to look after all the names on the list. The elector who realizes that voting is not only a prvilege but an obligation will himself see to it that his duty is discharged, and the man who fails to use his franchise because nobody asked him to vote cannot object to being called a shirker.

SATURDAY'S MEETING.

Hon. Mackenzie King has no reason to complain of the warmth of his reception in Peterborough or of the size of the crowd which gathered to hear him. The Liberal leader had an audience which crowded Brock street rink and was given an attentive hearing, with no interruptions. Although heckling has been a feature of many political meetings throughout the country, it is a disease from which Peterborough seems to be immune, for both the Premier and the leader of the Liberal Opposition have been heard here during the present campaign without the slightest disturbance in the audience. Hon. Mr. King showed no ill effects of the lengthy campaign, there being no evidence of fatigue in his voice or in his bearing as he discussed the issues of the election. It is doubtful whether any two men in the history of Canada have addressed so many meetings in a single campaign as have Mr. Meighen and Mr. King in the present contest, and it was a matter of surprise that after many weeks of campaigning the latter should be in such excellent condition as Saturday night's meeting proved him to be.

A POSSIBLE DANGER.

The chief trouble with an organization like the Tenants' and Owners' Association is that it attracts to it all the cranks and kickers in the community. The aims and objects of the Association are founded on a true conception of the duties of citizenship and the men who were chiefly concerned in its launching deserve credit for the interest they are taking in civic affairs. But they must be careful in restraining the individuals with "axes to grind," the chronic fault-finders and the little citizens who cannot understand that Peterborough has advanced in status and is no longer a village. Such people will naturally gravitate to an organization that affords them an opportunity to air their complaints in public, and if they are not checked at the beginning they will bury the constructive ideas of citizens who are anxious for a better civic administration beneath an avalanche of senseless criticism. Unless it is constructive in its tendency, criticism is valueless and much of what was said at the meeting the other night could not be described as constructive. It is not difficult to find fault, but it is useless unless a remedy for the condition complained of accompanies the criticism. The Association should be a clearing house for helpful ideas in regard to the city's affair. If it is allowed to degenerate into a mere kickers' club it will not contribute a great deal towards Peterborough's progress.

AT THE CONFERENCE.

Those who take a purely cynical view of international relations do not, one might almost say, give up hope even yet that the Washington conference may end in nothing.

They would scarcely admit that such is their hope, but it amounts to just about that. They do no expect that any important agreement will be reached, or that it will be honorably kept if it should be reached.

The notion of the cynics is that nations are run, not by such men as you know in ordinary life, but by a kind of men you never met—secret, cunning, scheming men who never forget a wrong and are forever on the watch to do malicious evil to any neighboring nation. No matter how civilization advances, it is assumed that these sinister, ruling persons in every nation continue to be pretty much the same sort of tribal leaders as made war a thousand years ago.

Now and then, however, we get a fair and square look at the men who actually do guide the nations. Mr. Balfour, for instance, has long been a man of the highest influence in British affairs. There is nothing in Mr. Balfour to suggest the caveman stalking his prey. President Harding is president in fact as in name, and is largely shaping his own policy. He has spent his life as editor of a small town daily, and there is little of the tribal savage in him. Like Mr. Balfour he would probably be fond of a decent and scholarly world. But the foreigners, what about them? This is the great difficulty. When one meets a foreigner with whom one cannot carry on a conversation even about the weather it is very difficult to feel any confidence in him. And yet M. Briand is probably about as complete a product of high civilization as could anywhere be found. But about the Japs? They are more foreign still, and therefore more openly distrusted. They differ from us not only in speech, but in so many ways that they seem to be made of a different physical substance. And yet, even so, they may have a concern not unlike our own in the welfare of mankind, and as they certainly have the intelligence to aid in the making of international agreements, their record seems to show that they are punctilious in observing such agreements as they make.

There is nobody to-day running any imporant country except the people of that country. A nation doesn't do much of importance internationally except what the people of the nation approve. Even the ex-kaiser had to "educate" the Germans for many years before he could embark on his mad attempt at world conquest. And so, it seems clear, that if the people of each country would see that they themselves are sound citizens of the world, as well as of their own country—and if they subdue to some extent their tribal aversion for the people of other races—mankind would be the better for it.

It is a difficut work that is being attempted at Washington. But fine things should flow from it. No such meeting of the nations ever occurred before, for this is not a conference forced on by the ending of a war. It is a voluntary assembling of nations to reduce, if possible, the chances of war and to lessen the production of its implements.—Toronto Star Weekly.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The "last awful week" of the campaign!

Strength

Strength of muscle does not indicate strength of nerves. On this account many people who look healthy enough suffer from nervous troubles and cannot understand what is ailing them. Sleeplessness and irritability are among the early symptoms. Indigestion and tired feelings soon follow.

Read this letter from an Ontario man:

Mr. W. L. Gregory, Charles St. E., Ingersoll, Ont., writes:

"I had been troubled for quite a while with indigestion. At times there would be a twitching of the nerves of my stomach; and I also found it difficult to get a good night's sleep. I am a moulder, and owing to the nature of my work my system became run-down. I took a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and found great benefit from this medicine. They did me a great deal of good. I have not been bothered at all with indigestion since, and can sleep much better. I have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to many of my friends, as I think it splendid for anyone run-down and needing a tonic."

HASTINGS AND THE DISTRICT

HASTINGS, Nov. 26. — A very large and enthusiastic meeting of the electors of this village and surrounding country attended the meeting in the Town Hall on Thursday evening to hear Mr. M. E. Maybee. Reeve Hess was appointed chairman. Mr. Maybee, in a half-hour speech, placed the issues of the campaign before his audience.

Major Mathieson, M.C., was then called on and spoke for over an hour. Major Mathieson said that he was a member of the National ServiceLeague, which was composed of returned men, who felt that there was a crisis in the history of Canada to be decided at this election. They stood for a united and prosperous Canada as a free nation in the British Empire.

The speaker took Mr. Crerar's speech of November 8th at Napanee, and said the Agrarian cause had no constructive policy. He went into the tariff in an endeavour to show that the Ontario farmer was protected as much as the Ontario manufacturer. He showed that both the King and Crerar policies were against the Ontario farmer.

Mrs. Monroe of Western Canada, was the sepaker chosen to wind up the meeting. Mrs. Monroe discussed the tariff question and the movements of the Western Grain Growers' transactions. The Hon. W. L. M. King came in for an attack with regard to this wobbling speeches and in regard to Protection and his ideas of the method he took in Winnipeg.

The audience, which was about equally divided as to ladies and gentlemen, took the different speeches very seriously. The speakers were frequently applauded, there were no questions asked and no heckling.

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL VOTE UPSET BY IRREGULARITIES

set out the particular irregularities alleged.

Mr. Langley—"Our main objection to the vote is that it is not an actual majority in school section No. 5. In regard to No. 3 we say the procedure was wrong, that no proper notice was given and that there was irregularity in accepting the votes of men who were not ratepayers of that particular section.

No Resolution.

According to Sub. 3, Sec. 2 Chap. 75, of the Consolidated Schools Act, Mr. Langley read that the agreement entered into by the trustees must be approved by resolution of ratepayers at a special meeting duly called for that purpose.

"We say such a meeting was not called," said Mr. Langley, "and that the mere voting on Oct. 24, was not a meeting within the meaning of the Act."

Meeting Announced.

Joseph Tedford, secretary of the Warsaw school, was called as the first witness. To Mr. Langley he stated that three notices had been put up in the vicinity of Warsaw on October 17th announcing a meeting for October 24.

The meeting was held about 10 a. m. with John Rose chairman and H. E. Choate secretary.

Mr. Tedford said that the minutes of the meeting were in error in the omission of a record that Mrs. David Miller had read the agreement and the rules and regulations for consolidation. No resolution was passed that the agreement be approved by the meeting.

Mr. Langley—The reading of the agreement was the vital point of the meeting? That's what you were there to discuss

Mr. Tedford—Yes.

Mr. Langley suggested that it was an important factor to the issue that the minutes did not mention the reading of the agreement, which was essential to the validity of the proceedings leading to the vote.

Mr. Tedford said that there were 18 persons present at the opening of the meeting. The others straggled in during the morning until the poll was closed at noon.

The agreement was read by Mrs. David Miller, but witness did not think it was repeated to the ratepayers separately as they arrived.

Wanted Main Facts.

Mr. Lees said he was most concerned about the facts and not about hair-splitting. The question was whether the people knew what they were voting on.

Mr. Langley to witness— While you were there was the agreement read to each ratepayer as he came in?

Mr. Tedford—I don't think it was.

Mr. Peck—Surely there is no suggestion that the electors of Dummer are more stupid than other people. It is impossible to believe that they didn't know what they were voting for.

Mr. Langley— This requires that the whole agreement be voted on, and all would have to know the agreement to be able to vote sensibly.

To Mr. Peck witness said the agreement had been read at the meeting by Mrs. David Miller.

Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. Miller testified that the question of consolidation had been before the electors of Dummer for six years and had been actively discussed during the last two years. She was anxious to have the standard of education in the township raised from its present state.

"I was at the meeting on October 24 because I had studied the regulations and it was thought I could give any information required. I read the agreement. It was pinned on the register sheet so that each person voting could see it. A few weeks previous to that it was published in the Examiner."

Looking at the sheet Mr. Langley pointed out that there were no pinholes in it.

Mrs. Miller said the agreement was laid on the ballot sheet. Her recollection was that it had been pinned.

"Don't you think that you might have exaggerated other parts of your evidence?" Mr. Langley asked.

Mrs. Miller—No.

Mr. Langley—I've heard counsel call it worse than that. When I said exaggeration I thought it was putting it mildly.

Following up another point Mr. Langley adduced the further information that Mrs. Miller had sent to the Examiner a copy of clauses 1 to 5 of the agreement. She missed her paper that day and did not actually see them published but others had told her about them and she felt they must have appeared in the paper.

Mrs. Miller denied that her enthusiasm for the consolidated school might have affected any of the rest of her memory of the events.

No 3 Abandoned.

Mr. Lees reserved his decision on the complaint in so far as S.S. No. 3 was concerned and when the enquiry was completed Mr. Langley did not press that phase of it. He admitted that the majority was so sweeping that it would not be affected by a few votes.

Mr. Lees declared that there had been irregularities in the procedure. A resolution should have been first adopted by the ratepayers, he cited as an example. He was satisfied that the people knew exactly what they were voting on.

The Case of No. 5.

In School Section No. 5 the vote was 16 to 12 in favour of consolidation. Preliminary to the enquiry into this part of the petition Richard Dean, clerk of Dummer, was called. He turned up the assessment roll, and Mr. Peck and Mr. Langley checked over, one by one, the names of the twenty-eight ratepayers who had voted. From this they singled out the names to be challenged.

Harold Darling.

Harold Darling, secretary of S.S. No. 5, next called, stated that all of the 28 electors who voted in that section were present but two when their meeting was opened. He was appointed chairman, and read the agreement of consolidation in accordance with a motion that was passed. It was read twice during the meeting.

When the vote was taken the agreement was placed on the table alongside the sheet the votes were marked on.

David Taylor.

Mr. Taylor testified that he hadn't seen the notices and wouldn't have known the vote was to be taken in S.S. No. 5 had he not heard about it.

Following a discussion of the evidence submitted the four names in the S.S. No. 5 affirmative list challenged by Mr. Langley were struck out.

Dealing with the qualifications of Percy Tighe, whose name appeared in the negative list, Mr. Peck argued that he was not entitled to vote in S.S. No. 5 because he was simply assessed as a farmer's son, that he did not own any property in the section, that he was working out with David Taylor and that his father lived in Warsaw.

Mr. Langley replied that Percy Tighe's name appeared in the Legislative voters' list, and that consequently he was duly qualified to vote in that section.

Mr. Peck suggested that since the expenditure of money was involved, only ratepayers could vote, those who were qualified to vote at municipal elections.

Mr. Lees—My own feeling is that Tighe had no right to vote at that election. But the fact that his name is on the voters' list and that he wouldn't have hesitated to make the declaration of qualification under the Act leads me to the conclusion that there is nothing to do but allow his name to stand. That leaves the vote in No. 5 a tie.

Might Be a Burden.

Mr. Langley said that the vote had been disputed by men who felt that it would impose upon them an expenditure heavier than they could bear. However, they were willing to abide by the decision of the majority of qualified voters in the section. If the decision was in the affirmative they would not hamper the work of consolidation but would assist it.

Other conciliatory expressions mentioned above concluded the enquiry with Mr. Lees' decision and his promise to set a date for a new poll in S.S. No. 5.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

CHILDREN'S COUGHS QUICKLY RELIEVED

It is hard for to keep the children from taking cold, they will run out of doors not properly wrapped, or have too much clothing on and get overheated and cool off too suddenly, they get their feet wet kick off the clothes at night; the mother cannot watch them all the time so what is she going to do

Mothers should never neglect the children's coughs or colds, but on the first sign should procure a bottle of

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

It is pleasant and nice to take, and relieves the cough or cold in a very short time, and thus prevents bronchitis, pneumonia, or perhaps consumption getting a foothold on their system.

Mrs. E. Smith, 288 Victoria Ave., North, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I have three children who have had very bad colds, due to change of climate. I have tried different remedies, but I seem to get the best results from Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I have no difficulty in giving it to them as they like it. I always have at least one bottle in the house."

CONFERENCES PERIODICALLY

States with the nations of Europe is very apt to raise the bogey of "foreign entanglements" which gave Congress its previous bad fright and therefore, it is argued, the British feel that the best way to further the success of the idea is to say nothing at all about it. If this conjecture is right, it is altogether probable nothing more will be heard of the Borden suggestion. It will be quiety shelved and Canada will join with the rest of the Empire in sitting back and allowing Mr. Harding a clear field in which to work out the proposal in his own way. Nevertheless if future conferences are held and if, as many, observers here confidently expect, they prove of inestimable value in advancing the cause of universal peace, Canadians will not likely forget that to the Dominion belongs the honor of having been the first to advocate this plan.

There is another school of opinion in regard to the British attitude. This expresses doubt as to the enthusiasm of the British delegates for the plan. Those who view the matter in this light point out that Mr. Balfour was one of those who bore the brunt of the heavy travail of bringing the League of Nations into being, and that to-day he regards that organization with very tender solicitude. There may not unnaturally be some uneasiness as to the effect of the Harding proposal upon the existing League, they argue, and the British may feel that one such association should be given a fairer trial before another is launched.

The French attitude is more definite, M. Viviani, now the chief of France's delegates, in a statement Saturday night, gave full endorsation to the plan' saying it was, not only a "lofty thought", but a practical one.

"This conference has already a great deal for its aim," he said. "If it is the beginning of other conferences this is an historic moment. It shall not be for France to stay away."

The people of Europe would not consider the idea in conflict with the League of Nations, M. Viviani continued. Both would be of great use in their different spheres. The United States had decided to remain outsfide the League af Nations but the United States through these conferences would come into contact with the rest of the world. This, he believed, would be of great value to all.

Another definitely known factor is the position of China. In the set of general principles which the Chinese delegation presented to the conference on November 15, in connection with the determination of the questions relating to China, the suggestion was advanced that provision be made for future conferences to be held from time to time for the discussion of international questons relative to the Pacific and the Far East. This is generally interpreted as placing China on record in favor of the idea of continuing conferences.

No declaration has been made by spokesmen for any of the other delegations, but it is reported that informal conversations between President Harding and a number of the delegates have taken place and it is understood that a number of the representatives of other nations received the proposal in a favorable light.

Apart from the reaction of the various delegations the chief topic of discussion and speculation in Washington to-night is to what degree of association between the United States and other nations the plan may lead, and in that connection what will be the attitude of the United States public and of Congress. Some observers declare that in order to make the project of use to the world it will have to contain features similar to those of the League of Nations —a binding agreement and some form of penalty for its infraction. This, it is held, will never gain the consent of the elected representatives of the United States people. It is unlikely however, according to the opinion of many, that the plan will carry any international complication in opposition to public sentiment in this country. President Harding is understood to believe that a definite agreement need not be set down in black and white by the nations participating. In effect his opinion is this:

That, just as a man who will break his word will perjure himself a nation which will not carry out a promise given in the form of a solemn understanding with other nations, will not respect a treaty.

Therefore, it seems altogether unlikely, it is argued, that Mr. Harding contemplates anything in the nature of a written agreement for bringing the plain into effect and thus will not arouse the United States' antagonism to foreign alliance.

But relief is expressed that it is well within the bounds of possibility that the periodical conference may, in the course of time develop into the much-talked-of "association of nations", and may bring the United States into an international organization which will have many of the features of the League of Nations, but will omit those which resulted in that bodys' repudiation by the United States. In this connection some observers question whether there has not been a veering around of public sentiment towards the League of Nations idea, whether Mr. Harding has not discovered that alteration in the public view, and whether this may not be a move to bring the Administration's policy around into line with the sentiment of the country.

proving the roads on the back concessions the millions were lavished on roads joining cities and towns, for use of city people and the Ontario Motor League. Out of nearly 1,400 miles of road built by the Drury government in 42 counties only 8 miles was built in Peterborough county and none at all in East Peterborough, while the people of this riding had to bear their proportion of cost.

He pointed out how the men who had preached economy had voted themselves a raise of $600 a year in their salaries without the people having been consulted.

He advised the people to not try out the same kind of government at Ottawa.

He closed with a strong appeal to support Mr. Dewart as a young man who knew farming and business conditiitns, had a splendid military career and was qualified to represent the constituency.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

MILLBROOK, Nov. 28.—The congregation of the Methodist Church were favored in having Rev. Walter Millson, of the department of evangelism and social service, preach to them on Sunday morning, his remarks having special reference to the social work being done, reserving the evangelistic side for the congregational meeting on Monday evening.

Before the sermon Mrs. G. W. Sayles and Mr Millson sang the duet, "He Knows," to the great pleasure of the listeners.

Expressing his pleasure in being again associated with Rev. Mr. Tucker, with whom he had been on terms of close friendship during their college days, Mr. Millson proceeded with his discourse, basing his remarks on the warning words: "Not every one that saith with the Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven: but he that doeth the will of my Father, which is in heaven." My relation to God and the kingdom, the speaker said, is demonstrated by my faithfulness in putting into practice my religion in my every-day life; and the surprise party of eternity to some who expect to go sweeping into the kingdom will be to find the door shut in their faces. Religion that rings true is the honest endeavor to bring one's life into conformity with the will of God, not only on Sunday, but particularly on Monday and every other week day as well.

The Church cannot do some things standing alone; in missions, for instance, it is by the givings from local churches, added to those of the district, and the districts added to the conferences, that we are able to make an impact on the heathen world. So in social reform and in other things: about nineteen years ago our Church decided to organize a new department, that of evangelism and social service, and appoint some one who has official authority to speak for the whole Church. Since that things have been accomplished that no one church could have done alone, and the country has been saved sometimes from disgrace because all questions of social and moral reform are now discussed by those in authority with officials of the Church not always of the Methodist Church alone, but of that or some other, working in harmony, in every province of the Dominion.

And now, Mr. Millson said, to show how some things came to be. A few years ago, in the city of Ottawa, the baby mortality was so high (over 4,000 died in a very few weeks) as to cause alarm, and the question arose, "What ought we to do?" The Church, believing it better to find out, and cure, the evil at its fountain-head rather than go around afterwards and sympathize with the mother who had lost the baby, took action, with the result that experts were called in and found the milk supply not good; and also that most of the homes where a little life had gone out were supplied by one certain vendor. The Church said to this man: "You must not sell impure milk to these babies." As a result, milk vendors in places of any size are now under license and this gives local officials authority to suspend any dealer suspected of selling milk that is not good. From the same source action was taken, several years ago, making it obligatory to place heavy steel screens around rapidly revolving wheels, or shafts, in factories for the protection of life and limb of the employees. Out of this has grown the "Workmen's Compensation Act," the "Mothers' Pension Act," from which 2,273 mothers benefited last year, and, the latest addition, the "Fair Wage Act."

However, the speaker said, the work is not all sunshine and success, for there is one place where, so far, absolute failure has marked their efforts, and that is the race-track gambling question. On this point Mr. Millson spoke very strongly, because he has come into personal contact with so many cases, sometimes even mothers and young girls, who have had home and life and honor wrecked through this gigantic evil. And people are so slow to realize the enormity of the thing; every town and city has its booking-post, and in 1920, with seven race-tracks running only fourteen days apiece (by persistent efforts the time of operation has been gradually reduced from ninety days to fourteen), and, according to the Ontario Government's sworn audited accounts, the amount filched from the pockets of the people, not including gate receipts, prize money, upkeep of tracks, was $45,000,000! Enough to keep every family now out of work for the next fifteen years; and yet people were not aroused, nothing was done. This year there are eight tracks, and the disposition is to increase the number, and the amount extracted from the people, in spite of the cry of hard times, the unemployment, and need everywhere, was $56,000,000! In Kingston the other day, visiting the penitentiary, Mr. Millson found one woman, the mother of six children, who is there because the lure of race-track gambling caught her in its hateful clutches. And this is only one case out of hundreds equally sad.

The Methodist Church spent nearly $1,000 last year gathering information on this question, and have sent it on to Ottawa with the hope that no matter what Government is returned to power, they may be induced to take action.

Turning to another side of social service, the speaker referred to the different homes maintained by the Church and carrying on redemptive work for women and girls, one or more in every province in the Dominion. To show the excellent character of the work being done, using only one instance, Mr. Millson spoke of the Home for Girls at Truro, Nova Scotia, which is the best-equipped and the best-managed on the Continent: this tribute coming from two social service workers sent out from Washington to study the question at various centres. Girls from nine to sixteen years who are out on indeterminate sentences from the juvenile court are the inmates. It is on the cottage plan, and the girls are taught gardening, housekeeping, etc., and given an education as far as passing the entrance. Out of seven prizes offered by the Nova Scotia Government for those obtaining the highest standing in the entrance examinations throughout the whole province, six were won by the girls of the Truro Home. Of the 394 inmates who have been in this Home, all but four or five have done well, living useful, honest lives, bringing no disgrace but rather blessing and credit on the homes where they have been adopted, or the places where they now work for a livelihood.

Is this work worth while? One of the largest contributions he had ever received, Mr. Millson stated, was by way of thanksgiving from a young man in a country place, because his five sisters had been safeguarded from the evils which lead to the downfall of so many girls who must struggle against less favorable environment.

It was evident that a cheerful response had been made to the speaker's appeal by the number of envelopes afterwards placed upon the plates.

As an appropriate conclusion to the service, the choir sang "His Mother's Song," the solo part being taken by Mrs. Sayles.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

ELECTION NEWS

CRERAR AGAIN ATTACKS THE PROTECTIVE PRINCIPLE.

REGINA, Sask., Nov. 28.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—State aid to a favored few at the expense of the rest of the people was Hon. T. A. Crerar's definition of protection, speaking here in the Stadium Saturday night. Mr. Crerar condemned the principle of protection as one which discriminated unfairly against the majority. If returned to power at Ottawa, said Mr. Crerar, the Progressive party would only continue protection to such manufacturers who could make it clear to the Government that ot was for the good of Canada and not merely for the profit of certain individuals.

BARRIE, Ont., Nov. 28. — (By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—Electors of North and South Simcoe gathered to the number of three thousand, in the Armouries here Saturday night to hear political issues discussed by Premier Meighen, W... former member and Gove... candidate in South Simcoe, and Col. John A. Currie, who occupied the same position in the North riding.

Mr. Boys devoted the major portion of his speech to answering a number of statements which he said had been made by Premier Drury at Hon. T. A. Crerar's Barrie meeting about a week ago. "Premier Drury is a Prime Minister of this province by nothing but a chance and a fluke," he informed his hearers. The charge that Premier Meighen was in league with the big interests he answered by declaring that all the big interests in the constituency of North York were standing behind Mr. King. He criticized the 1920 issue of Ontario Provincial bonds, insisting that the price obtained for them, 92 3-4, was absurdly low. Hon. Peter Smith simply let the brokers put it over him," he said.

"Hon. T. A. Crerar is not a farmer," Col. Currie remarked at the outset of his speech. "He's simply a grain gambler." He characterized as "an everlasting and abominable lie," the statement that he had volunteered to turn machine guns on the farmers. He also denied having spoken disrespectfully of the clergy at Quebec. He stated that Premier Drury had made a present of a $20,000,000.00 timber limit to E. W. Backus.

The Prime Minister defended the financial record of the Government, extolled the land settlement scheme, contrasted employment conditions here with those of other countries to the advantage of Canada, and said that the farmers paid only a fraction of one per cent. of the income tax. Taxation of the wealthy in Canada was now so high that there was danger of losing that class altogether, he said. It would be forced out of the country. He ridiculed the idea that a bankrupt corporation like the Riordon company could have contributed to campaign funds of the Government. He discussed the fiscal issue at length, remarking that "Mr. Crear hasn't given tariff questions a hundredth of one per cent. of the attention they need before reversing the tariff policy of a country."

SCRAP THE GUNS.

At a recent meeting of Lindsay's Baord of Trade Mr. Richard M. Kylie strongly objected to the town retaining the guns presented Lindsay as souvenirs of the great war. He contended that they merely constituted a grim reminder to those who had lost loved ones in the war, and should be junked. Others, however, successfully opposed this view, urging historic interest in the guns, as well as the pride of men who fought and suffered in the world struggle.

SERIOUS TENEMENT FIRE IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, November 28. Canadian Press, — Two children were burned to death, one man was severely injured about the head, and a woman suffered serious injuries about the head and body, while damages estimated at twenty thousand dollars were caused in a fire of unknown origin which wiped out nine houses on Ninth Avenue Rosmount ward, here early yesterday morning.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editior of the Examiner,—

Sir,—I am glad to hear that Mr. Gordon had such a fine meeting on Saturday night and may I be permited to thank him for reading my letters to the Press on the necessity of the late government's reconstructing and going to the people which it has now done.

J. H. BURNHAM.

Nov. 28th, 1921.

R. M. Glover, Esq.,
c/o Peterborough Examiner,
City.

Dear Sir,—In view of the extravagant statements made by Mr. Gordon at his meeting in Bridgenorth on the twenty-fifth instant and reported in the Examiner on the twenty-sixth instant, I would ask you to please publish this letter, also Mr. Gordon's letter to me of the 26th and my reply to it.

Like thousands of others, one of the great regrets of my life will be that I did not do more during the war, but the fact remains that of my own free will and accord I went overseas and served with a fighting Battalion in France.

My military record can be obtained from the Militia Department or from my Commanding Officers overseas, who were Lieut.-Col. W. S. Buell and Lieut.-Colonel Nelles.

Thanking you, I am,
Yours uly,
J. F. Strickland.

November 26th, 1921.

J. F. Strickland, Esq.,
Barrister,
City.

Dear Sir,—In last night's Examiner, was contained a statement that, so far as you knew, I had not volunteered for the war, in defence of the flag that was now so triumphantly unfurled. I would draw to your attention that, in the presence of two persons in my office, I told you that I had, in the fall of 1916, offered myself, but was rejected, on account of an ailment. You were also told this same fact by two other men, who advised me that they told you this at last election time. A number of persons of Bridgenorth told me that you had made this statement, or something smilar to it. I would like an immediate answer, as I wish to deal with this matter on the platform, and through the press.

Yours truly,
G. N. Gordon.

Nov. 26th, 1921.

G. N. Gordon, Esq.,
Barrister, &c.,
City.

Dear Sir,—I have your letter of this date with reference to a report of a statement contained in last night's Examiner. This statement is correct in so far as I made the statement that as far as I could learn or had been informed that you had done nothing to further recruiting and had made no public effort during the war.

I do recollect that after the by-election of this year you made a statement to me on the street that you had been examined by a doctor of Denver, Col., and that a telegram from him was in the hands of the G.W.V.A. that you were suffering from catarrh of the throat. Other than this statement from you I have had no interview in your office in the presence of anyone, nor have I been approached by any of your followers with any statement as to what you had done during that period. If as a matter of fact you volunteered then the records of the Militia Department will show it.

The statement I made in respect to Mr. King and yourself was made in reply to what was described to me by a member of the Liberal executive as a most bitter and uncalled-for attack made by you upon myself at the convention at which you were nominated.

I would be pleased if you would publish both your letter to me and my letter in reply to it.

Yours truly,
J. F. Strickland.

CANADIANS ACT AS INTERPRETERS AT ARMS PARLEYS.

All French Translation Being Done By Trio From Montreal.

WASHINGON, Nov. 28. — (By Canadian Press)—Members of the various delegations at the Conference on the Limitations of Armaments and Far Eastern Problems, as well as the press correspondedts who are gathered here from all over the world have been struck with the speed with which the official communiques of the various sessions of the open meetings of the Conference.

The open sessions as a rule adjourn at about one o'clock. By 2.30 a complete report of the proceedings including a verbatim transcript of all the speeches, is in the hands of every delegates and newspapermen accredited to the Conference. This report is printed on a manifolding machine, and is in English. There are copies in French for those desiring them.

The system employed is very similar to that by which the Hansard reports of the proceedings of the Canadian House of Commons are prepared. Expert stenographers, sitting at special tables in the confer ence room, take notes for stated intervals, transcribing their notes immediately upon being relieved by other shorthand men. The French speeches are taken by French shorthand men are afterwards translated.

Credit for the excellent way in which the French portions of the reports have been handled is due to a special staff of Canadian shorthand and translation experts who were brought from Montreal and Ottawa to handle this part of the work. They are Marcel Gabard,, J. H. Mackay, Marcel Bernard and Miss F. Mackay. Several of them have worked on the Hansard staff at Ottawa; where they gained experience in rapid transcription work. The Canadians handle all the French part of the sessions. A staff of seven U.S. stenographic experts look after the English end of the work.

One of the most interesting features of the routine of the conference proceedings is the remarkable work of Professor Camarlynck, for many years language specialist at the University of Paris, who is here in the capacity of chief interpreter. Professor Camarlynck is a rapid-fire translator and something of an orator as well. Immediately the speaker concludes the speech to the conference in French for the benefit of the delegates who understand only the language. The French speeches he also jots down and as soon as the speaker finishes he is ready with an excellent literal translation for the benefit of the reverse language he misses no single point of emphasis and even supplies graceful and eloquent gestures to fit the words. In fact, it has been remarked that Professor Camarlynck's eloquence frequently exceeds that of the original speaker.

Professor Camarlynck's whole life has been devoted to the study of languages. He has been associated with the University of Paris for years. During the war he was at the front as interpreter between the British and French army officials. After the armistice he was interpreter for several commissions and later acted in the same capacity for the Allied Supreme Council and gained a wide experience in international discussions at Paris, London, Spa and Geneva.

UNION JACK SEEN MUCH AT PARLEYS.

WASHINGON, Nov. 28. — (By Canadian Press)—Canadians who are residents of U.S. cities a pleasing incidental to the Conference on the Limitation of Armament is the promiscious display of the British flag in Washington. With the flag of other powers repersented at the big international meeting it hangs from all of the public buildings and is a prominent feature of the decoration scheme or hundreds of stores and private houses.

"It was worth coming down here to see the old Union Jack flying," said a member of the New York-Canadian Club the other day. He had run down to Washington to get a close-up view of the conference. The free display of the British flag and the sentiment of friendliness toward the British Empire which was reflected in this hangin out of Britain's banner appeared to be the feature of the gathering which impressed him most. "Back in New York," he added, "I have not seen the flag for several years, except at the Canadian Club."

No attempt has been made by the Sinn Fein faction to interfere in any way with this visible sign of the spirit of good-will which the vast majority of the U.S. citizens here feel towards their visiting cousins from the Old Country. The Sein Feiners, if they attempted to follow the policy of New York anti-British brethern in the matter of flags, would have an extremely busy time pulling down all of the Union Jacks which are flying in Washington today. Morever they would most likely have an extremely unpleasant time as well, for the Washington authorities have taken very careful precautions to prevent the possobility of any unfriendly demonstration.

Indeed, the U.S. government has been the sole target for abuse thus far. Pickets bearing large banners paraded in front of the Conference Hall on the days of the plenary sessions. The banners carried legends saying uncomplimentary things about Uncle Sam for failure to release "political prisoners," and lauding other nations represented at the conference for having done so. The pickets were members of the American Civil Liberties League, and a number of ex-cervice men were included in the ranks. One banner demanded in large letters that Eugene V. Debs be given his freedom.

Getting Too Fat? Try This---Reduce

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets and follow directions. One dollar is the price the world over. Get them from your own druggist or send price direct to Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. By doing this you will be safe from harmful drugs and be able to reduce steadily and easily, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise.

GERMANS WORKING HARD AND FORGETTING ARMAMENTS.

SHEFFIELD, Eng., Nov. 28. — Lord Haldane, who was in Germany recently, says he found the Germans working hard. They had put aside all thoughts of armaments because they realized that armaments did not pay.

They realized, however, that something which would pay was the application of the science which they had learned before the war and which they would have applied in peace if they had not been interfered with by a small military party.

Now they were determined to be free from interference of the military party. The output of scientific books had become enormous. All classes of people were working hard, and unemployment hardly existed.

They had no money except paper, which had badly depreciated, and to restore their normal condition they had found work by taking in other people's washing. He said he saw a large number of ships from Tyneside being repaired in German dockyards because German dockyards could do the work cheaper than the British workers.

DOPED ALCOHOL SOLD AS SCOTCH BY BOOTLEGGERS

International Officers Inaugurate Drive—Smuggling Across Border is Extensive.

REGINA, Nov. 28. — "From every province in Canada to every state bordering on the boundary line bootleggers are working certain secret routes with all the secrecy of a Klu Klux Klan. Fake companies are formed in Canada. They are called drug concerns. As such they receive permits for importation of alcoholic mixtures, which are frequently pure alcohol.

"Once that alcohol is on this side of the border, a 'booze doctor' adds extracts and ingredients to make the finished article. Then the doctored mixture is smuggled across the line by bootleggers".

This sensational statement was made there by Dr. R. C. Matthews, prohibition commissioner, at Washington, D.C., for the United States government, at an international conference, attended by representatives of the four western provinces, Ontario and the United States.

Will Co-operate

As a result of the conference, the governments in Canada and the United States will be asked to implement each other's liquor laws. American authorities will be asked not to grant permits for the shipment of liquor into Canada, except by the consent of the provincial governments, and the Dominion government will be asked not to release liquor from bond to be shipped across the line.

Members of the Saskatchewan liquor commisson told the conference that there were at present 60,000 gallons of hard liquor in the province in warehouses, 125,000 gallons in bonded warehouses and 40,000 gallons of alcohol held in bond by five companies.

Bold Conspiracy

One instance was cited where a car was shipped from Kentucky to a Winnipeg shipper. The Canadian made arrangements to have the car robbed in Minneapolis. During the "framed" robbery a man was shot and killed. The consignee was arrested, and after being liberated on bail, sent the car to a Regina liquor firm After it was doctored there it was handed out to the liquor smugglers. In order to give the doctored liquor the appearance of the genuine article, fake labels are attached and fake excise stamps affixed. At the conference sensational disclosures of the rum traffic were brought to light.

It was stated that not only are carloads of liquor coming into Canada from the United States, but that whole train loads are being shipped northward into the Dominion. These huge shipments are apparently quite legal, for they are being shipped across under a United States federal permit, and ostensibly are for medical purposes. This liquor later returns to the United States in the form of bootleggers' stock.

Exchange Problem

One remarkable feature of the illicit operations is that Canada does not get the benefit of exchange on American currency paid by bootleggers for this American whisky or doctored whisky made from American alcohol. Vast sums in American funds are paid by rum-runers from the south and are transmitted to Chicago and other points by express to pay for alcoholic importations. It is even stated that the recent hold-up of railway express messenger near Moose Jaw, Sask., and the robbery of the express car were perpetrated by some international crooks looking for a shipment of such currency.

Police officials on a recent visit to Regina declared that they had seen forged American revenue labels being printed in Regina establishments.

CONSTIPATION
BAD HEADACHES FAINT, DIZZY SPELLS

Constipation is one of the commonest ills of mankind and one too often allowed to go unlooked after until some serious complication sets in.

A free motion of the bowels daily should be the rule of everyone, then there will be no constipation, sick or bilious, spells, dizziness, heartburn, coated tongue, foul breath, sour stomach, floating specks before the eyes, jaundice, water brash, etc.

Keep the bowels properly regulated by the use of

and you will enjoy the best of health.

Mrs. Frank Wilsey, R. R. 2, Belmont, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with constipation for nearly two years. I had bad headaches faint and dizzy spells, and would bloat terribly. I was nearly discouraged for I had tried so many things that gave me no relief. My mother got me a vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and told me to give them a fair trial. After I had taken one vial I felt much better and continued their use. Now I have no faint and dizzy spells and am gaining nicely. I would not be without Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for the world."

COLLAR BONE BROKEN IN AUTO COLLISION

MRS. W. J. ROME INJURED IN ACCIDENT SUNDAY

In an automobile collision at 2.30 p.m. Sunday at the corner of Hunter and George streets, Mrs. W. J. Rome, 435 Mark street, a passenger in one car, sustained a broken collar bone. The colliding automobiles were damaged, although Mrs. Rome's car was able to travel on its own power.

Automobile No. 134-697, owned and driven by W. J. Rome, travelling west on Hunter was struck by Automobile No. 133-906, driven by Clarence Manley, R.R. No. 1, Peterborough, who, it is alleged, was driving north at a seped of 15 miles an hour. Manley struck Rome's car on the left front fender, and on the icy pavement, the interlocked cars skidded over to the north-west corner. Mr. Rome declared he did not see the other car until he was nearly on the street car tracks. He estimated he was going 5 miles an hour and Manley not less than 20. Manley and Milne Mowry, who was in the car with him, declared they were not exceeding a speed of 12 or 15 miles an hour.

Greater damage was done to Manley's car than the other, and the former had to be towed to the garage. The radiator, lights and fender were badly damaged. Damage to Rome's car amounted to a broken running board and damaged body.

Manley was taken to the police station until the injuries to Mrs. Rome were determined. Dr. Mal-Malcolm McCullough, who attended her, found she was suffering from a broken collar bone.

HUNTERS RETURN.

With two wolf carcasses as testimony of their depredations amongst the packs of the north, Walter Jopling and Joseph Halpin and Bert Mann, of Smith Township, returned home to-day after a week's hunt north of Ketchecum. They report that wolves are scarce. Partridge are plentiful and deer tracks are everywhere, but the actual producers of the marks are elusive.

The party planned to remain this week, but the wolf shooting proved so poor, the original plans were abandoned.

"BULL-DOG DRUMMOND"

BY "SAPPER" (CYRIL McNEILE)

"Tell me," continued Hugh, "why did you allow this scoundrel to treat you in such an offhand manner? It doesn't seem to me to be the sort of thing that ought to happen at all, and I suggest your going to the police at once."

"Unfortunately a bullet intended for him just missed," answered Peterson casually. "A pity—because there would have been no trace of him by now."

"Might be awkward for you," murmured Hugh. "Such methods, Mr. Peterson, are illegal, you know. It's a dangerous thing to take the law into your own hands. May I offer you a drink?"

Peterson declined courteously. "Thank you—not at this hour." Then he rose. "I take it, then, that you will not return me my property here and now."

"Still the same delusion, I see!" remarked Hugh with a smile.

"Still the same delusion," repeated Peterson. "I shall be ready to receive both the paper and the men up till six o'clock to-night at 32A Berners Street; and it is possible, I might even say probable, should they turn up by then, that I shall not find it necessary to kill you."

Hugh grinned. "Your kindly forbearance amazes me," he cried. "Won't you really change your mind and have a drink?"

"Should they not arrive by then, I shall be put to the inconvenience of taking them, and in that case—much as I regret it—you may have to be killed. You're such an aggressive young man, Captain Drummond—and, I fear, not very tactful." He spoke regretfully, drawing on his gloves; then as he got to the door he paused. "I'm afraid that my words will not have much effect," he remarked, "but the episode last night did appeal to me. I would like to spare you—I would really. It's a sign of weakness, my young friend, which I view with amazement—but nevertheless, it is there. So be warned in time. Return my property to Berners Street, and leave England for a few months." His eyes seemed to burn into the soldier's brain. "You are meddling in affairs," he went on gently, "of the danger of which you have no conception. A fly in the gear-box of a motor-car would be a sounder proposition for a life insurance than you will be—if you continue on your present course."

There was something so incredibly menacing in the soft, quiet voice, that Drummond looked at the speaker fascinated. He had a sudden feeling that he must be dreaming—that in a moment or two he would wake up and find that they had really been talking about the weather the whole time. Then the cynical gleam of triumph in Peterson's eyes acted on him like a cold douche; quite clearly that gentleman had misinterpreted his silence.

"Your candour is as refreshing," he answered genially, "as your smiles are apt. I shudder to think of that poor little fly, Mr. Peterson, especially with your chauffeur grinding his gears to pieces." He held open the door for his visitor and followed him into the passage. At the other end stood Denny ostentatiously dusting a book-shelf, and Peterson glanced at him casually. It was characteristic of the man that no trace of annoyance showed on his face He might have been any ordinary visitor taking his leave.

And then suddenly from the room outside which Denny was dusting there came a low moaning and an incoherent babble. A quick frown passed over Drummond's face, and Peterson regarded him thoughtfully.

"An invalid in the house?" he remarked. "How inconvenient for you!" He laid his hand for a moment on the soldier's arm. "I sadly fear you're going to make a fool of yourself. And it will be such a pity." He turned towards the stairs. "Don't bother, please; I can find my own way out."

PROVINCIAL POLICE AREAS ARE CREATED

PETERBOROUGH IN DISTRICT NO 5, WITH HEADQUARTERS AT BELLEVILLE.

BELLEVILLE, November 28. — The headquarters of the new police inspectorate of District No. 5 will be in this city, with Police Inspector A. E. Storie, now of Sudbury, in charge. This district is one of eight being created in the Province to assure a vigorous and successful drive against criminals and O. T. A. offenders, and it comprises the counties of Peterborough, Haliburton, Victoria, Northumberland, Hastings, Prince Edward, and Lennox and Addington.

This is the first step in connection with Provincial Police organisation planned by Superintendent-General Elliott and approved of by the Ontaro Government.

For the division of the Province into eight districts, orders have been issued for the appointment of six of the eight district inspectors, who will be in charge under the Commissioner of Police. At the same time a number of other appointments and charges are approved.

Provincial Constable Albert H. Ward, formerly with headquarters at Belleville, has been appointed Inspector of Investigation.

ONTARIO WOMAN GAINS 24 POUNDS

SAYS HER TROUBLES HAVE ALL DISAPPEARED AND SHE FEELS LIKE A NEW WOMAN.

"When I began taking Tanlac I only weighed one hundred and four pounds, but now I tip the scales at one hundred and twenty-eight, which is exactly thirteen pounds more than I weighed even before my trouble began," said Mrs. Elizabeth Crosier, 739 Broadview Ave., Toronto, Ont.

"Over a year ago I noticed I was getting in a run-down condition. My appetite was very poor, and what little I did eat seemed to do me no good. I was nervous and restless, couldn't sleep to speak of, and always felt tired and listless. I fell off over ten pounds in weight and was so weak and nervous I felt perfectly miserable all the time.

"But by the time I finished my first bottle of Tanlac I was eating and sleeping better and was picking up in weight. When I had finished my fourth bottle my troubles were all gone, and although three months have past I am still feeling fine. I have a wonderful appetite, everything agrees with me perfectly and I am twenty-four pounds heavier than I was at the time I began taking Tanlac. My nerves are steady and I sleep well every night. Tanlac is simply grand."

CLIMBING WITH A SWISS GUIDE

CHATEAU LAKE LOUISE IN WINTER GARB

Banff, the Beautiful, is rapidly becoming an all-the-year-round resort. The summer months during which its palatial hotels are open, will always be the leading season, with Winter Carnival weeks as second, but the balance of the year sees an ever-increasing number of travelers detraining at the picturesque log station that blocks the town's clean, wide Main street.

Autumn among the mountains that encircle Banff, is a season of pure joy. There is a tang in the air and the hoary giants wear their cloaks of mist more frequently, but the crispy coolness invites to more strenuous exercise in the open. When the snow falls, a trip to Lake Louise on skiis or snowshoes permits a tete-a-tete with the Pearl of the Rockies. Swiss guides are available if climbing is desired.

With the departure of the throngs of summer guests, the wild game which is protected in Rocky Mt. Park in which Banff is located, become more venturesome and it is a common sight to see deer grazing along Main street.

The Government swimming pools are open all winter and late visitors enjoy the novel experience of splashing in open-air, glass-enclosed pools of warm water from Nature's own hot kettle, while on lookers are wrapped in furs.

There is always plenty of hotel accommodation at Banff and travelers will find a between-season stop at Banff a pleasant interlude on trans-continental journeys. This is particularly true during Winter Carnival days when merriment and healthful sport fill every waking hour.

SATURDAY'S GAME IS STIRRING UP THE FANS

The visit of University of Toronto schools here on Saturday to meet the local Collegiate team in the semi-finals of the Interscholastic series is stirring up more interest in Peterboro than any sporting event in a long time. Winners of Saturday's game will meet Sarnia for Ontario championship so that the fixture is the most important of the season. U. T. S. have a fast outfit with Plaxton and "Scotty" Cawkell the junior hockey stars prominent on the back division and a heavy fast wing line. The Toronto students have been coached by M. J. Rodden and are reported to be a scienced crew. Sarnia on Saturday showed that the Toronto teams are not invincible by beating the crack Oakwood High School 20 to 0 and the Peterboro Collegians are working hard to be in shape to administer similar treatment to U.T.S. on Saturday.

The local team has to guarantee the expenses of the Toronto team on Saturday which means that the financial burden will be heavy and that the enthusiastic support of the sporting public will be necessary. Tickets went on sale to-day and even citizens who appreciates clean manly sport is urged to get one and help the game along. The fixture will be played at Riverside Park at 2:15 o'clock Saturday with either Reg. De Gruchy or Bobby Armstrong of Toronto officiating as referee.

Lacrosse and hockey players who have the green sweaters worn by those outfits are asked to assist the Collegiate by loaning their sweaters for Saturday's game. Any player who is willing to help is asked to inform Walter Smaill at the Y.M.C.A.

LOCAL SPORT COMMENT

De Laval A. A. have practically decided not to enter a team in the City Hockey League this winter. Applications for membership in the organisation will be received at the annual meeting on Tuesday night, 29th November, at the Chamber of Commerce.

The league executive will miss Mr. Ben Stacey, who was manager of the De Laval team last season. His enthusiasm and energy were big factors in the showing of the team, and his fair and broad-minded treatment of City League problems was appreciated by all those concerned in the management of the League. Business takes him away from the city, and he is unable to give any time to hockey.

Frank Collins is home again after a trip to the Coast. Collins played Junior O.H.A. last season, and also was with the Wm. Hamilton A. A., winners of the City League.

The indoor training class for hockey players will be held on Tuesday and Friday of this week at the Y Gymnasium, from 8 to 9 o'clock.

The hockey season will open in Toronto on Wednesday night, with a S.P.A. junior series game between University of Toronto, the cup holders, and Aura Lee.

The Midland Hockey Club is asking the Town Council for permission to hold a tag day for the purpose of raising funds to engage a professional trainer for the Intermediate and Junior O.H.A. teams.

Now that ice has appeared, a note of warning is in order. Adults should not skate on the danger zones, and they should keep a watchful eye on the youngsters.

An important meeting of the P.A.A.A. Executive will be held at the Y.M.C.A. this evening at eight o'clock.

SPRACKLIN MAY RESIGN

when questioned, to an extent that would betray the confidential matters involved.

Fight on Liquor.

Spracklin first came to the attention of the public in July, 1920, when he made public assertions that the Sandwich town officials were winking at bootleggers and standing by while the roadhouses ran wide open as ever, and that the police were not trying to curb the carousals. Later he partially proved his charges, and was offered a job as liquor license inspector by W. E. Raney, Attorney-General of Ontario.

Mr. Spracklin announced to his parish his intention of accepting the job, but met with violent opposition. Certain members of the church insisted that the minister either give up his pastorate and become a liquor officer, or reject that job and continue as pastor. Spracklin replied that he could handle both positions. Then it was proposed that he take a leave of absence while busy on his new police duties and permit the church to employ a new preacher until he was ready to return. He refused to do this.

Won By Narrow Vote.

Finally, after hot debate, the official board of the church voted to let Spracklin take both positions. The matter was approved by a vote of 8 to 6.

Spracklin was made a liquor license inspector on July 29, 1920, and began a thrilling career, which culminated in his shooting Beverley Trumble, roadhouse proprietor and playmate of his school days, at Sandwich, a little over a year ago, during a liquor raid. Spracklin was acquitted on his plea of self-defence. He was sued for illegally raiding a yacht at Windsor in search of liquor. His life was twice threatened, but he found solace in the assertion that he was fighting for Christ. His life as a liquor inspector took him into danger almost daily. Gun-fights on the river and on land between his force and rum-runners were common.

GRAND VOTING CONTEST IN AID ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL

HAVE AN ESTIMATE WHO IS GOING TO WIN YHIS ELECTION IN WEST PETERBORO' AND WHAT MAJORITY WILL BE.

In Trebilcock Bros. window this week there will be on exhibition a remarkably life-like and very valuable bust of the late Right Honorable Sir John A. Macdonald. This bust is donated in aid of St. Joseph's Hospital, and will be won by the person who names his candidate—J. H. Burnham or G. N. Gordon — and estimates most nearly the correct majority. The contest will open Tuesday morning, and continue all week at Trebilcock's, and will be carried on Monday and Tuesday at the bazaar. The ballot box will be sealed on December 6th at 6 p.m.—election day. His Worship Mayor McIntyre and Mr. Trebilcock have kindly consented to act as returning officers.

Ballots, ten cent each, on sale at Trebilcock's all week, and at the bazaar, December 5th and 6th.

To-night at the Grand Mr. Snelgrove will play a role particularly rich in poetry and romance. He is Michael, a youth who masquerades through the greater part of the bill inconsequent, careless and oblivious of social conventions or advantages. He makes a very strong appeal to the Bohemian in Frances Raymond nature, carries on a most daring flirtation with her and finally succeeds in convincing Papa Raymond that he is financially safe. You will be charmed with the play and especially with Miss Vaughn as the young girl who listens to the gypsy blood in her veins, who longs to ample life outside the bounds of accepted convention and wins an ideal mate for herself.

The success of this pretty little play seems to be so well assured, the story is so interesting as it unfolds itself in the deft lines of the playwright that nothing remains for me but to urge you again not to miss this romantic comedy, "Just Like a Gypsy." There will be the usual vaudeville specialties between acts.

LAURA.

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN."

There are two dance halls visualized in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," the remarkable picture that is coming to the Grand Opera House, 3 days, commencing Thursday, December 1st, and they afford a contrast in environment and characterization such as has rarely been successfully attempted on the screen. The first is in Buenos Aires, where, in the taboo section of the big Argentine metropolis, the floating nationalities of the world, drawn by the universal instinct for music and dancing, crowd into La Boca, the most notorious of the port's night resorts, to drink wine and to watch the alluring tango. It is here that the spectators first become acquainted with Julio Desnoyers, and glimpses the influence of old Madariaga, the Centaur, upon his volatile grandson. Interesting, however, as these wonderfully-drawn personalities are, the attention of the spectator is irresistably drawn to the remarkable assembly of types, which are a constant source of wonder and study. It is no secret that these types were gathered at seaports both on the the Eastern and Western coast, and that they are not only true to life, but in many instances were actually transplanted from just such scenes as are visualized in La Boca. Outside the rouge on the face of the Spanish dancing girl, there is no make-up in the Argentine tango scene. It is credited with being as near real life as it is difficult to depict upon the screen.

AT THE CAPITOL.

To-night the Capital Presents a Splendid Programme of High Class Pictures—Edith Roberts in Loving Lips; Jimmy Aubrey Comedy.

One of the most capable dramatic actresses of the screen in a tremendous photodrama will be the attraction at the Capitol Theatre tonight, when Edith Roberts will appear in her latest Universal production, "Luring Lips," which is a story of New York life, showing the struggle of a newly married couple for happiness. The production is vibrant with sincere heart interest.

Dave Martin was chief teller at a Wall Street banking house, and on his honeymoon, was seized by the far-reaching hand of the law and imprisoned. His accounts were $50,000 short. Adele, his wife, believed in her husband and remained loyal to him. It was necessary that she carry on an affair with the head of the banking house, to gain the evidence that would free her loved one. The husband in prison, learned of their apparent friendship. The fact that Dave doubted her, was a crushing blow to Adele. To the end she worked for his freedom, but it seemed impossible for Dave to understand her sacrifices.

Marvelous fidelity to life marks every scene and situation in this human drama, skillfully handled by King Baggott, the director, and the role of Adele Martin carefully portrayed by the youthful star, Edith Roberts. King Baggot was a star of the screen in many noted productions and he gives his directorial work a wealth of knowledge, admirably displayed in this production.

An excellent cast, including Darrel Foss, the handsome leading man; Ramsey Wallace, William Welsh, Carleton King, M. E. Stimson and other screen favorites, gives ample support to the star.

Besides this big pitcure the usual comedies, serial, news weeklies and other short-reel subjects of interest, as well as a clever vaudeville team of singers and musicians, the Delevans. This is a very funny and very clever act, entirely out of the ordinary, and proves that the Capitol are giving the public some very exceptional entertainments at their usual prices.

FAN FAN.

AT THE REGENT.

TOM MIX ALWAYS A WINNER

There are stars in 'Western' film drama who create admiration for heroic achievement while failing to create admiration for their own personality. Tom Mix is not of this brand. He not only is without a peer in deeds of daring on the screen but he invariably inspires his audiences with a sincere liking for the man himself as reflected there.

This is an enormous asset for any exhibitor. It means half his battle is exploitation. It means that a host of people knowing that Mix is coming will decide to attend the theatre, even before they learn the title of the picture in which he is to appear.

In "The Big Town Round-up" you have back of this extraordinary personal popularity a photoplay of tremendous force, lightning speed, sensational incident and splendid romance from the pen of one of the most celebrated authors of western fiction—William McLeod Raine.

The picture has every element that stands for instant success—which is its record wherever it has been shown. Its thrilling narrative is seasoned with irresistible humor and it is a singularly happy blending of ranch and city life.

AT THE ALLEN.

"TREAT 'EM KIND" IS WET AND DRY COMEDY

With Neal Burns in his new Capitol Comedy, "Treat 'Em Kind," at the Allen Theatre this week, a new angle on the prohibtion question is presented. The hero is quite anxious to remain the good young man he has always been, but his sweetheart has a hobby to reform every scapegrace in town. So strong and so active in her hobby, that she qulte neglects her own young man. Consequently he takes to drink—and fills a flask with tea. But the stuff seems strong enough to land him in the county hospital, where he spends a night with others who actually "see" all the beasts in the jungle.

Some excellent trick photography is responsible for many of the humorous scenes. The production is well made and contains several comic scenes in a small town church meeting. Mark Goldaine directed the picture and Lucille Rubey plays opposite Neal Burns. "Treat 'Em Kind" is being distributed by the Goldwyn Distributing Corporation.

HIGH-PRICED EXTRAS WITHOUT PAY

A number of the scenes in "God's Crucible," the screen adaptation of Ralph Connor's famous novel which is drawing the crowds to the Allen Theatre this week, were "shot," as the saying goes, in one of the largest and most exclusive hotels in Winnipeg, where most of the action transpires.

Director Henry Alexander MacRae, when he read the script and learned its requirements, set about to obtain the use of this hotel. This done, he, the company, the camera men, the electricians and the mechanics piled in and got to work at once.

Guests of the hotel fairly flocked about, watching their every move, and as a result several members of the very smartest set of Winnipeg may be seen working as "xtras" in this truly remarkable production.

JOFFRE TO MAKE AN EXTENDED TOUR.

To Carry French Gratefulness to Allies in East.

MARSEILLES, Nov. 26.—(Associated Press).—Marshal Joffre, who left Marseilles on Armistice Day to visit Japan, will also make an extended tour of the countrigs bordering the Pacific Ocean, including Indo-China, Siam and China.

He has been entrusted by the French Government with the task of carrying to the chiefs of the Governments of the Far Eastern states that participated in the victory of the Allies the salute and gratefulness of France.

The Marshal's first call was to be at Port Said, where an official reception was planned. At Singapore, he will board the cruiser Montcalm, flagship of the French Far East squadron.

At Saigon, the Marshal will visit the French possession of Indo-China for a few days as the guest of the Governor-General of the colony.

He will arrive at Bangkok about Dec. 20 and be received by the King of Siam, which country was one of the Allied powers during the war.

After visiting the states of Cambodge and Tonkin, Joffre, on the Montcalm, accompanied by several destroyers, will proceed directly to Yokohama, where he expects to arrive about Jan 25. His sojourn in Japan will last about a month, after which he will visit Peking, travelling by way of Seoul and Mukden.

The present plans for the return trip are for the Marshal to reach France by way of Honolulu, San Francisco and New York.

$5 BILL WOULD PAY MOSCOW TAXES

MOSCOW, Nov. 26.—(Associated Press).—The Moscow City Soviet (corresponding to Canadian city council) has decided that the city must be self-supporting and has published a schedule of new taxes for revenue purposes. Among them are:

For marriage applications, 15,000 rubles; divorce applications, 50,000 rubles change of name, 100,000 rubles; application for Russian citizenship, 10,000 rubles; application for foreign citizenship, 100,000 rubles; permission to change residence, 1,000 rubles; tax on concerts or lectures maintaining buffet, 50,000 rubles; tax on rubber stamps used by business firms, 100,000 rubles.

As the official exchange rate on the day these taxes were decreed was 100,000 rubles to the dollar, a Canadian in Moscow, armed with a $5 bill, could get married, be divorced, change his name, change his residence a few times, lecture on his honeymoon experiences, change his citizenship and own at least one rubber stamp without breaking another bank note.

The Russian Central Executive Committee has ordered the Commissariat of Finance to arrange, within a fortnight, a budget showing the revenue obtained from taxation throughout Russia together with a statement of the loss incurred from printing paper money.

ARGENTINE PRESIDENT WON'T FACE PHOTOGRAPHER

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 26.—(Associated Press).—President Hipolito Yrigoyen of Argentina is reputed to have an aversion to having his picture taken, and it is said that he has persistently refused to sit before a professional photographer.

This reputation is confirmed by the Government organ, La Epoca, which takes an anti-Government paper to task for saying that at the instance of one of the departments of the Government, photographs of the President were distributed among crowds who gathered at the Government House to see a military parade reviewed by him on Columbus Day. The intimation was that the photographs were distributed for political effect.

"The entire country knows," says La Epoca, in denying the responsibility of the Government in the matter, "that the President of the Republic, Dr. Yrigoyen, never has consented to sit in front of a camera. Of the many pictures of him which circulate there is none that can be called authentic, although some snapshots which he could not prevent being taken reproduce his features with more or less perfection. This everybody knows, just as everybody knows his simplity and his repugnance for this sort of exhibition."

Mr. Meighen or this government the right to carry on the government of this country for the last 16 months?" (A faint cry of "Yes, yes," here was responded to by the speaker with an invitation to the interrupter to explain his contention, which met with silence.) "The only difference in the administration of this country since the war and the Lenine-Trotsky administration is that, with the latter, the seizure was one of physical force, whereas the former was a direct spiritual violation of the constitution of the country, and every instinct of British justice and fair play.

"Mr. Burnham saw the truth a little while ago. What led him astray? Was it his desire to get back into Parliament?" (Voice, "Sure.")

Methods of Government.

The methods of Mr. Meighen's administration, declared the speaker were those of secrecy as opposed to the Liberal principles of open dealing. Although Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfred Laurier, in their respective dealings with the C. P.R. and the G.T.R. during their administrations, submitted all agreements to the people, Mr. Meighen feels himself a bigger man than either of these leaders, and following out his star chamber methods, kept all agreements secret, the people of Canada learning about the conduct of the deal from the cablegrams received from England, where bond-holders and shareholders were allowed free access to all angles of the transaction.

Secret Methods.

Secret influences and evidences of powerful unseen interests behind the conduct of the nation's affairs was alleged in the management of the railways, the Riordon deal, where the Finance Minister refuses to divulge any information to the public, reserving it for Parliament only; the sugar deals of last year, and the intimations made to Mr. James Murdock that he should keep his hands off of investigations which disclosed profits of from 100 to 500 per cent. made on food and clothing.

"The Prime Minister has chosen a little group of his friends to manage the railroads of the land. He has exempted them from all personal liability, and given them a free hand in awarding contracts." This year in Parliament the sum of 156 millions was voted for the conduct of railways and canals alone. During the Laurier administration 38 millions was the highest point ever attained for this purpose, and during the ten years of that administration 12 millions represented the highest cost of administration for any one year, while the government of this country for the past year required a sum of 560 millions to carry on.

To queries made in Parliament as to the resaon for a deficit which resulted after the expenditure of 156 millions for this purpose, reply was made that the wages of the workers caused the trouble. "That is the protection that the working men of this country get from this government." The Opposition, regarding the uncensored awarding of contracts as a probable cause of such a deficit, made a few enquiries regarding the directors' activities, the awarding of insurance and the rates of the same, and information regarding rolling stock. The motion to lay this information before the people was voiced in Parliament by Mr. King and seconded by Mr. Fielding, and Mr. Meighen asked his followers to vote the motion down, which was done.

Interlocking Directorates.

Through other channels, the Opposition discovered that four-fifths of the directors of government railways were also directors of companies doing business with the government railways, the awarding of contracts verging on the hundreds of millions going to concerns whose directors were serving the railway boards. One concern in Quebec, lacking a director of this sort, was a company in which the Hon. Mr. Ballantyne was vitally interested.

"This country to-day," declared Mr. King,' is in the hands of a little group of political autocrats on the one hand and a number of industrial plutocrats on the other, a situation which is the worts that can befall the people."

Remarks on the Tariff.

"The tariff is not the issue in this present election, but it is one of the issues. It is not, as Mr. Meighen says, a question of Protection against Free Trade, but is a question as to how the tariff should be revised." In the Speech from the Throne, at the opening of the present parliament, the following pronouncement was made: "My advisers are convinced of the necessity of a revision of the Customs tariff." An enquiry, extensive and thorough, had been made by experts into this question, said Mr. King, but the resulting conclusions had been withheld from the great mass of the people, indicating that a revision downward was deemed absolutely necessary, but that a publication of this decision would inevitably antagonize the big interests lurking behind the present administration, whose funds are a vital necessity to their campaign for a return to power. The Minister of Finance, Senator Robetson, and Mr. Calder "safe in the Senate," have never spoken on their findings with regard to this enquiry, preferring to remain true to their policy of secrecy.

Not Inimical to Manufacturers.

"In am not saying anything against the big business interests of this country," reiterated the speaker. "Far from it. In the manufacturing interests there are two groups. There is the one who is willing to cooperate with his fellow man, and wants only a square deal, and there is the other who wants to monopolize and dictate and desires special privileges. These last are the men I am talking about when I speak about the special groups behind the present administration, and these are the only ones this government care for."

"In ordinary times the tariff is revised every ten years, and after a war there is always a great need of re-adjustment and the revision should be undertaken in the light of full information, with the interests equally considered of the producer and of the great body of consumers."

The Liberal Platform.

Referring to the drafting of the Liberal views on the tariff at the Convention in 1919, Mr. Meighen has misconstrued the main idea, says Mr. King. "He has declared that if I answer 'Yes' to a question regarding the following out of this programme I am un-Canadian, and that if I answer 'No' I am foresworn and that if I answer nothing, I am no good at all. What is a man to do? This is the language of a police court judge, not of a prime minister." (Laughter.)

"I said at the time of that convention that I would hesitate to accept so vast a responsibility if I felt that the administration of this policy as laid down, depended entirely upon myself. But I am not like Mr. Meighen. If the Liberal party is returned to power, it will not be a one-man party." (Applause.) "It will be a government of abest men that the country can bring together, and I will steer the Ship of State with all due regard to the perils of unknown seas, seeking the advice of the best men it is possible to gather together in the direction of the course. I propose to act as a wise man, not as a madman, who is determined to steer a course straigth ahead regardless of soundings. No industry in this country which is carrying on a legitimate business with legitimate profit, need have any fear of injury at the hands of the Liberal party in the way of tariff."

"The position of the working man of this country to-day is not of the brightest. You can't blame a Liberal revision of the tariff for that. (Applause.) A resumption of Liberal leadership would mean a revision of the tariff similar to that which took place in 1896, when the Liberal party inaugurated an era of the greatest prosperity this country has ever known."

In revising the tariff we must have in mind the importance of increasing our revenue, with an eye to the fact that the debt of canada now stands at the enormous sum of $2,350,000,000 —with an eye to the development of the great basic industries of the country, the agricultural, mining, lumbering and fishing interests, with an eye to the reduction of the profits of some concerns from the 100 to 500 per cent. basis as revealed by Mr. Murdock, and with a view principally to the cost of the vital necessities of life to the average consumer.

Mr. King concluded his speech with a rousing appeal to the audience to support the great Liberal principles of political, industrial, economic and fiscal liberty, and for the neecssity of obviating the evils caused by the great conflict. "Because the war brought great expenditures, we must retrench and economize in every way, because it brought great loss of human life, we must look to the means of preserving life; because it veered towards an autocratic governing power we must go back to the democratic ideals; and because of the ill will engendered by the war, we must cultivate good will among class and class, race and race, the east and the west, Canada and the British Empire, the Empire and all other nations of the earth, for in this way only is the spirit in which progress will be made."

G. N. GORDON

and privileges to mergers and combinations. Remember that this Government did a most extraordinary thing. Not having any authority from any existing party for its seizure of power, it made a new party of its own which at the time of its creation could not have had more than a baker's dozen of members in all Canada. And yet it has the impudence to go on governing, without going to the people for their endorsement. It is this sort of thing that produces revolutions."

On December 31st, 1920, the following letter was in the Examiner, signed by Mr. Burnham: "A story is going around to the effect that since I will not go to the Government, the Government may endorse me as their candidate. It is not likely, but whether likely or not I will not accept government endorsation. I hope that statement is plan. I believe that this Government is the creature of some big scheme now floating in the air and I believe it is a positive danger to Canada. It shows that it will stop at nothing. Its origin is one of the mysteries of of the day. I am unalterably opposed to this combination at Ottawa and I will never rest until I see those who are attempting to wreck the old parties, whose backing and policies are known and understood, are themselves wrecked."

Letter from Mr. Burnham dated dated January 15th, 1921, to the Examiner, regarding Grand Trunk Purchase: "In the Grand Trunk purchase when Mr. Meighen introduced into the bill a clause guaranteeing common stock 4 per cent. interest when it had not earned a dividend in 20 years and thus raised the price of millions of stock to be purchased by the Government from $45 to nearly twice that, and thus stuck Canada for millions, was I not right? It was the most bare-faced transaction I ever saw. It meant that the masses of Canada were to be bled for the benefit of financial adventurers, who aways depend on this way of getting rich."

On January 27th, 1921, Mr. Burnham wrote a letter to the Examiner as follows: Permit me to say that I am an independent, pledged to no government or group—I am against the present G.T.R. guarantee clause tying the hands of the arbitrators—I will, therefore, sit on the cross-benches with other independents if elected, and do what I think is best for the people regardless of party and the usual party pledged."

Mr. J. J. Hartley filled the chair in his usual efficient manner, and introduced the several speakers of the evening.

Mr. F. D. Kerr spoke briefly, dwelling particularly on the main achievements of Mr. Gordon's few months in the House, in which he was mainly responsible for the lifting of a tax of nearly $4,000,000 on flour and its products, a benefit which resulted in direct good to the workers in the Peterborough factory of the Quaker Oats Company, as well as like industries operating all over Canada.

Mr. R. R. Hall.

Mr. R. R. Hall's speech was a concise and interesting resume of some of the main issues before the electorate in the present campaign. The record of the government-owned railways; the 22,000 miles of which comprise one of the largest systems in North America, and the loss on which, seventy millions, would be more than sufficient to run the affairs of the Dominion of Canada during many of the years of the Laurier administration,, ("which is just like money thrown in the Otonabee river, for all the good it does anyone"); the secret councils of the government, which the speaker characterized as equivalent to the little "family compact" which raised a rebellion in Canada eighty years ago the refusal of the government to make public information demanded by the people through their representatives in Parliament; the awarding of contracts by men directly interested in the companies whose coffers would be most benefitted by said contracts; all these things were itemized by the speaker as a reason for combined effort in "driving these tyrants from the banks of the Ottawa."

Besides the selections from the bands, which were much enjoyed, local artists contributed an excellent programme of vocal music, the several performers receiving enthusiastic applause for their efforts. Mrs. J. H. Macdonald, Mrs. W. McKee Bingham, Mr. Ted Bartley and Mrs. Geo. H. King in a loudly-encored selection, were well received.

Among the Liberal supporters who massed behind Mr. Gordon and Mr. King on the platform were noticed the following: Mrs. G. N. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Widdifield, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Dr. and Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. V. J. McElderry, Miss L. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Walker, Messrs. Thos. Tooms, M.L.A., Richard Hall, W. G. Morrow, Geo Gladman, D. O'Connell, of Toronto, George Ball, Joseph Wearing, H. Stabler, R. Gordon, J. E. Hayes, C. Perry, N. Phelan, G. Powell, F Tuggey, A. A. McIntyre and Dr. J. D. Deyell.

52ND BATTERY ASSOCIATION MET IN TORONTO.

Three Peterboro Members Present—The Officers.

The 52nd Battery, which was to a great extent made up of Peterboro boys, held its second annual re-union in the Hotel Mossop, Toronto, on Saturday. Three Peterborough members attended: they were E. G. Sutherland, A. Dryland and J. Brown. Mr. Sutherland presided. Representatives were there to the number of 47 from Toronto, Kingston, Belleville, Tweed and other points. It was decided to hold the re-union in 1922 in Belleville. The officers of the association are: President, W. H. Finkle; Vice-President, E. W. Grant; Secretary, F. G. Treloar; Treasurer, A. N Allison; Committee: W. Ross, W. McCleary, C. W. Orr and G. M. Walker.

BEATTY EXTENDS HIS CONQUESTS TO TORONTO

TORONTO, November 28 (Canadian Press.) —Early Beatty extended his conquests to Toronto to-day.

Here he will occupy the centre of the stage for ten hours with Lord Byng. Arriving at 7.30, the Sea Lord was given a formal reception at the station by Sir Henry Drayton, Sir Edward Kemp, and the Hon. Ed. Bristol, representing the Dominion Government, while the city's welcome was tendered by Mayor Church.

Earl Beatty was greeted with prolonged cheers by the waiting throng as he emerged from his private car. On the upper part of the station he inspected a squad of about twenty naval veterans and Reservists.

Replying to addresses of welcome in the City Hall, the famous Admiral declared he was glad that the citizens of Ontario appreciated the service to which he belonged. One thing that had impressed him in Canada was that if there was any other place in the world that required education on sea power it was not Canada. Referring to the comradeship brought about between the various parts of the Empire and associated Allies during the war, he declared that if it prevailed in peace there was no doubt but that the world would be a much happier place for humanity.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 28, —(Canadian Press.) —Last week's demand for railway shares was resumed in a moderate degree at the outset of to-day's stock market session, the remainder of the list showing no decided trend. Atchison, Chicago and Northwestern, Great Northern, Northern Pacific and St. Paul Preferred made fractional gains. The only conspicuous feature in the industrial group was the sale of 45 hundred shares of United States' Steel at maximum quotations of 84 1-8, this representing a small fractional advance. Mexican Petroleum rose one point and Crucible Steel, Mercantile Marine Preferred, Utah Copper, Associated Dry Goods and Union Bag also were firm. American Beet Sugar Preferred and American Linseed Common and Preferred reacted to selling pressure.

Included among the other strong Rails of the morning were Atlantic Coast Line, Louisville and Nashville and the Preferred shares of Baltimore and Ohio, Ann Arbor, Lake Erie and Western and Wisconsin Central, these gaining one to three points. Railway Equipments, especially American Car, Pressed Steel Car and Railway Steel Springs Preferred, rose two to four points. The specialties were featured by the Tobacco group, particularly American and Liggett and Myers, these risings two to 3½ points. The only decidedly weak features were Davison Chemical and Sears Roebuck, which fell two and three points respectively. Heavy buying of representative bonds continued under the lead of Liberty issues, but no new high records were made. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

The decline of call money to 4 1-2 per cent. at midday proved an offset to the heaviness of Mexican Petroleum and the increased weakness in specialties, notably Sears-Roebuck and Davidson Chemical. Steels followed the higher trend of equipments and American Smelting Preferred. Sumatra Tobacco Preferred and Hide and Leather Preferred strengthened.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, Nov. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Interest on the local Stock Market this morning centred in Oil shares, Imperial and British American, two unlisted stocks. Imperial Oil, which displayed much strength and activity towards the end of last week, opened 1½ points higher this morning at 113½, advancing to and closing at 115, or a total gain of three points. B. A. Oil gained a point on its opening quotation at 3-4, and sold up to 34 7-8. Mackay, C. P. R. and Dominion Steel were stronger.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28 — (Canadian Press). — Initial wheat quotations, which ranged from 3-8 to 1c higher, with December 1.12 3-4 to 1.13 and May 1.16 to 1.16½, were followed by a moderate re-action and then by upturns higher than before. Assertions that the close of navigation would bring about the stoppage of export business in corn gave some advantage to bears in the corn market. After opening ¼c lower to a like advance, with May at 54 5-8 to 55, prices underwent a general sag. Oats were easy with corn, starting unchanged to 1-8 off, May 38¼ to 38 5-8, and then declining all around.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange irregular; demand, Great Britain, 3.98 5-8; Canadian exchange, 8 13-16 per cent. discount.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, November 28 (Canadian Press). — Receipts, 5,470 trade was steady: Quotations — Choice butcher steers, $5.00 to $6.50; butcher cows, medium, $3.00 to $4.00; calves, $9.50 to $10.50; lambs, $9.50 to $10.00; hogs, selects, $9.15 to $9.20.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, November 28 (Canadian Press). — The local financial market opened for the week this morning in a quiet manner, and during the first half-hour very little trading took place. Dominion Steel, whose two-point rise was one of the features of Saturday's trading, opened at 27 1-2. Its closing quotation was 27. Laurentide appeared to be stronger by a quarter of a point at 76 1-2. Atlantic Sugar and National Breweries were quoted at 32 1-2 and 57 7-8 respectively. Neither of these quotations represented any change from Saturday's closing levels.

Miss Jennie Cathcart has returned to the city after a prolonged visit with her sister, Mrs. J. Mulligan, Saskatchewan.

$9,000 STOLEN FROM THE MAILS

NORTH BAY, Nov. 28.—(Canadian Press).—Nine thousand dollars in cash was the amount of money lost on November 14, last, when a mail sack containing a registered parcel, the property of the Imperial Bank of Canada disappeared from the mail enroute to Toronto. This was the statement made over the long distance telephone this morning by D. Sutherland, manager of the Timmis Branch of the Imperial Bank. The parcel containing bank notes had been mailed at Timmis on Nov. 14 and has been traced, according to Mr. Sutherland, as far as Porquois Junction.

WEDDING BELLS

McMANAMY—McNULTY.

St. Catherine's Church, St. Catherines, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Wednesday, when Rev. Dean Morris united in marriage Sarah Marie, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McNulty, and John William McManamy, the eldest son of the late John V., and Mrs. McManamy, of Thorold. The bride looked charming in her short gown of ivory satin, slightly wired. The bodice was of satin and radium lace. Her veil of tulle was wreathed with orange blossoms. She wore smart silver shoes, and the groom's gift, a string of pearls, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the alley. Her attendant was her niece, Miss Marcell McNulty of Peterboro, who wore pink taffeta, with picture hat of black velvet, and carried a sheaf of mauve mums tied with pink tulle. Dr. Charles Kelly of Toronto was the groomsman.

During the service Miss Eunice Walsh sang Ave Maria accompanied by Mr. Clarence Colton, who also played the wedding march. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, in Church street. Later Mr. and Mrs. McManamy left on a honeymoon trip to New York, the bride travelling in a smart suit of brown velour trimmed with opossum and small hat to match. On their return they will reside in Thorold.

LONDON 'BUS DRIVERS DECIDE NOT TO STRIKE.

LONDON, November 28 (Canadian Press Cable). — After the second ballot, the London omnibus workers have decided to accept the advice of the Labour leaders not to strike for the readjustment of hours necessary to the handling of traffic during the rush hours.

U.S. CONGRESS STRIFE THREAT TO ARMS MEET?

CONTROVERSY OVER PROPOSED "ASSOCIATION OF NATIONS" ECLIPSES CONFERENCE IN U. S. INTEREST.

IS GATHERING MOMENTUM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press). — The controversy over the prospective "Association of Nations" gathered momentum today. It has developed into a United States family row which appears to be almost eclipsing the actual happenings of the Conference in general interest here.

Outspoken opposition of some members of the Senate to plan which "they fear may involve the United States in an alliance" with other nations has again raised the question of what the attitude of Congress will be toward whatever agreements are reached by the Conference.

BRITAIN WON'T BRING UP QUESTION OF ALLIED DEBTS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press).—The British delegates to-day made it clear that there is no intention on the part of the British Government of bringing up the subject of international indebtedness at the conference.

MEETING POSTPONED.

WASHINGTON, November 29 (Canadian Press). — The scheduled meeting to-day of the "Big Five" naval experts was postponed until to-morrow at the request of one of the delegations, but no official reason was given.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press.)—The nine powers' conference on Pacific and Far Eastern questions to-day adopted resolutions providing for the relinquishment of foreign extra teritoral rights in China.

HOTEL REGISTER USED TO DEFEND GUY'S PATERNITY

INTRODUCED IN STILLMAN DIVORCE SUIT TO-DAY

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 29. —(Canadian Press)—As defence of the paternity of baby Guy Stillman the register of the St. Regis Hotel, New York, was introduced today in the divorce suit of James Stillman against Anne Stillman to show that Mr. and Mrs. Stillman had a suite of rooms. There for two weeks beginning February 15, 1918, nine months before Guy was born. The register showed that Fred Beauvais was assigned to a room at the St. Regis on February 16 and a notation made to charge it to Stillman's account.

RAIL EMPLOYEES ASK WAGE RAISE

CINCINNATI, November 29 (Canadian Press). — Instructions have gone out from the headquarters of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Station and Express Employees, to meet the proposed new demand of the railroads for a further reduction of wages, with a counter-demand for restoration of pay to the former basis in effect before the 12 per cent. cut was ordered by the Labour Board.

MANITOBA PREMIER SEES DEFEAT OF GOVERNMENT

WINNIPEG, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press) — Premier Norris of Manitoba is convinced that the next Government of Canada will not be of the National Liberal and Conservative party. He said here last night that he was satisfied the Meighen Government would not be returned to power.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press).—The railroads of the United States will be given from December fourteenth to twenty first to justify in hearing the present level of transportation charges, the interstate Commerce Commission announced to-day. It is intended to guide all persons interested in appearing in a general investigation the commisson is to make.

City Will Instal Sanitary Devices on Instalment Plan

At the recommendation of the Board of Health the city will install sanitary arrangements and a sink in several houses whose owners, the Board said, were not financially able to undertake the work, but could meet the cost by annual payments over a period of years. The houses are 425 and 606 Bethune and 21 Park street south.

The suggestion of the Board that the city levy the cost of installing at an interest rate of 6 per cent, in equal annual payments, not to exceed five years, in the same manner as municipal taxes, through the tax collector, was adopted.

At last night's meeting of the Property Committee of the City Council it was moved by Ald. James Hamilton and seconded by Ald. J. Crowe, that the recommendation be adopted. The motion was carried and the plumbing inspector will be instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the work.

A COURT FOR YOUNG OFFENDERS

REV. MR. MALOTT URGES THE NECESSITY OF SUCH A COUAT AND ALSO OF A TRAINED SOCIAL WORKER.

The necessity of Peterborough's having as soon as possible a juvenile court and a trained social service worker to co-ordinate the efforts of the various local organizations was laid before the Peterborough Kiwanis Club at the weekly luncheon at the Empress to-day by Rev. F. E. Malott, in the course of a brief but convincing address on "Social Welfare."

President Frank Whitehouse presided and there was a large attendance of members of the club, as well as a number of visitors, including Organizer Harry Lorimer of Toronto.

Rev. Mr. Malott in his address, referred to the great importance of looking after the children of Peterborough, who were the greatest assets any community could have. He pointed out the various factors that entered into their education, not merely the school training, but the influence of the home, of the street, of the playgrounds, of the moving picture shows and of the other places in which their time was spent. What was needed was an earnest endeavour to make those young people realize that such organizations as the Kiwanis Club stood behind them and were ready to help them.

The speaker enumerated some of the organizations which were more or less engaged in social welfare work, mentioning among others the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs the Children's Aid Society, the Health Association, the Well Babies' Clinic and the Athletic Association. Of the last named organization he said, amid applause, that he believed clean sport did much to raise the standard of a community. All these agencies were doing good work, but coordination was necessary to prevent overlapping, to ensure the ground being thoroughly covered, and Rev. Mr. Malott advanced the plan of engaging a trained social worker to link up the work that was being done, an expert whose salary could be met by the various organizatinos with the assistance of the City Council.

Necessary, too, was a juvenile court presided over by a magistrate who could give good advice to young offenders and who would have the power to deal with such cases.

Kiwanian J. D. Cameron of the Sun Life was "booster" for the week and his prize was won by Kiwanian G. N. Gordon.

It was a safety razor and some one ventured the prediction that it meant Mr. Gordon would have a close shave.

40 ARE HOMELESS IN TENEMENT FIRE

MONTREAL, November 29 (Canadian Press). — Forty families are homeless and thirty-three tenements are in ruins as a result of a disastrous fire on Ninth Avenue, Rosemount, this morning.

The fire originated from an unknown cause, and it swept through the houses with amazing rapidity, many persons having narrow escapes.

HENDERSON MOOTS LABOR PARLIAMENT

LONDON, Nov. 29. Canadian Press Cable. — The formation of a Labor Parliament was urged by Hon. Arthur Henderson, speaking at Burnley to an audience composed of employers and workers. The whole field of industry, he said, would be thus capable of expressing the mind of industry. The main functions of the proposed Parliament would be to bring into industrial life and activity the harmony of modern requirements.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, November 29. —Canadian Press. — Trading shifted to shipping, oils, motors and their specialties, at the opening of to-day's stock market. Rails, steels and equipments evinced little of their recent activity. United Fruit rose 1 1-2 points; Mercantile Marine preferred, Amer. International, Willys-Overland Preferred; United States Rubber and Kelly-Springfield Tire also hardening. Standard Oil of New Jersey made an initial gain of 2 points and this was soon doubled, the California issue rising 2 5-8/ Associated Dry Goods was the strongest of the specialties, advancing one point. Pressure against Union Pacific, New Haven and Westinghouse Electric Caused fractional reverses in those issues.

The 4 1-2 per cent. opening rate for call money encouraged a broadening of operations for long accounts during the morning. Oils, Tobaccos and Leathers continued to be the most favored although Rails, notably Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific Preferred, Great Northern Preferred and Norfolk and Western Preferred showed marked strength. Sear Roebuck was the only distinctly weak issue, adding 1 5-8 points to yesterday's severe loss. Accumulation of United States Government bonds on a large scale was uninterrupted, seven of those issues making new high records for the year. The first four were outstanding features, showing a gain of $1 per $100 at 97.00.

MONTREAL.

MONTEAL, November 29. Canadian Press.—Trading was very quiet during the first half hour this morning and was unfeatured. Brazilian appeared a quarter higher at 25 1-2 as did also Breweries at 58 1-4 and Steel of Canada at 62 3-4.

EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press.) — Sterling exchange steady. Demand Great Britain 3.98 13/16; Canadian exchange 8 5-8 per cent discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.— (Canadian Press.)—Opening wheat quotations which varied from a 3-8 decline to a like advance with Dec. 1.14 1-4 to 1.14 1-2 and May 1.17 3-4 to 1.18 1-4, were followed by a moderate setback all around.

Predictions that the advent of colder weather would mean increased receipts had a bearish influence of the corn market. After opening unchanged to 5-8c. lower, including May at 54 5-8 to 54 7-8, values displayed but little power to rally. Oats parallelled the action of corn, starting unchanged to 1-4 to 3-8c. lower, May 38 3-8 to 38 1-2, and later sagged further.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press.)—A gain of 5 1-2 points by Canadian Pacific Railway and the activity of unlisted oil stocks featured this morning's session of the Toronto Stock Exchange. Opening at 131 1-2, trading in 150 shares pushed the price of C.P.R. up to 134 1-2, a gain of 3 1-2 from yesterday's close. In the unlisted section Imperial Oil maintained an upward trend, selling at 118. British-American Oil reacted a fraction, closing at 34 3-4. New Riordon Preferred advanced half a point to 10.

R. B. ROGERS KNOCKED DOWN BY MOTOR TRUCK

WAS SEVERELY SHAKEN UP AND BRUISED BY IMPACT

At noon to-day Mr. R. B. Rogers was knocked down by one of Fitzpatrick and Geraghty's delivery trucks driven by Percy Paterson, at the corner of George and Hunter streets, to-day. When picked up from under the wheels of the car, Mr. Rogers was hurried into Moncur's drug store, where Dr. D. N. Carmichael made an examination. It was found that Mr. Rogers' injuries were not serious, although he received a severe shaking up. He was immediately removed to his home on the River Road, and this afternoon was reported to be resting fairly comfortably. His head is severely bruised and he is suffering also from hip bruises. It is thought one of the wheels passed over his body.

LABORATORY OF GOVT. IS READY FOR OCCUPANCY

CITY TO PROVIDE HEATING APPARATUS FOR PROVINCIAL INSTITUTION, COMMITTEE DECIDES.

MAIL BOXES IN ALL DOORS

With the Provincial Laboratory in the upper storey of City Hall practically ready for occupancy, the Property committee at a meeting last night, carrying out the city's part of the scheme, gave instructions to the City Trust to install an apparatus for heating water in the laboratory. Chairman Alds R. N. Jones stated that the matter had been discussed with Mayor McIntyre and the doctor in charge had been practically assured that the item would be passed. It would cost about $60 he said.

The committee was informed that either electric or gas heaters could be had. When it was passed its genus was not defined. "Although gas heats more quickly, I think, but if it's on all the time, electricity is cheaper," declared Ald. G. Hay.

Area Extended.

Downie street from Victoria avenue to Smith street was included in the garbage collection area last night and the chairman was also instructed to advertise for tenders for the removal and collection of garbage for 1922, tenders to be received up to 5 p.m. Dec. 15. The area was extended to comply with the request of William Ingram, 664 Downie street and E. Flaherty, 666 Downie street. In connection with the garbage collection the contractors for this year were commended by Ald. Jones and Ald. Crowe. Ald. Jones declared he never had a complaint. The chairman remarked that they did not want to take on any more houses than necessary, for the incinerator is working to capacity.

For the use of his own automobile in the execution of his duties this year, the committee last night recommended that A. G. Metheral, plumbing inspector, be given an allowance of $75.

Mayor McIntyre remarked that there must be a great deal of plumbing going on. "More than ever before," said Ald. J. Crowe, who refrained with the consent of the other members from taking any part in the discussion or voting on the motion.

Ald. Hay suggested $50 for this year and an allowance of $100 next year.

"When he's taking his car he's saving money for the city," put in the chairman.

"And the does his work more efficiently," added Ald. James Hamilton.

"I don't think $50 is enough," said Ald. Jones.

"Well then, $75," agreed Ald. Hay.

"I think that's all right."

The recommendation from the Board of Health that a clerk be appointed to look after the books and superintend statistics to relieve the other officers, got a cold douche. With the resolution from the Board dated Oct. 10, came an application for the position from T. Q. Quartermaine dated Oct. 10. Mr. Quartermaine offered to devote certain hours a day to the work for a monthly salary of $50.

Ald. Hamilton raised an objection. He asked City Clerk Armstrong what records there were and was informed that there was a contagious disease register formerly entered by the Medical Officer of Health, but now in Sanitary Inspector Stapleton's keeping.

"So far as I can see there is no need for it," declared Ald. Hamilton.

"Nor do I," added Ald. Crowe.

"Dr. Young put it up pretty strong at the meeting. I don't know whether we need it or not," said the Mayor.

"The doctor said it would take about four hours a day," said the chairman.

"I think about four minutes would do it," Ald. Hamilton remarked.

Ald. Jones stated that the M. O. H. emphasized that not only would a clerk be useful in looking after the books but in attending to the office when Mr. Stapleton was out in the morning. Dr. Young declared the office was closed for a couple of hours each day and during that time the doctor was busy answering calls sent in to him when they failed to get the office.

"Oh, that's all right for him to say," impatiently interjected Ald. Hamilton.

"I move that no action be taken," said Ald. Crowe. Ald. Hamilton seconded it and the recommendation of the Board of Health was thus peremptorily disposed of.

At last the postman is coming into his own. When the new building by-law becomes a reality it will contain a clause requiring that a mail box be inserted in the door of every premise constructed. A request from the local postmaster, John Corkery, that this be done was granted last night. The building by-laws, which are now in a liquid state, will likely be crystallized into something definite by next year's Council.

BRITISH PLAN IS IMPOSSIBLE OF ACCEPTANCE

CRAIG SAYS ULSTER WOULD NOT ENTER ALL-IRELAND PARLIAMENT, BUT WOULD DISCUSS OLHER PLANS.

TO ENROL "SPECIALS"

BELFAST, November 29 (Canadian Press). — Sir James Craig, speaking before the Northern Parliament to-day, said he had told Premier Lloyd-George that the British Government proposals to Ulster for settlement of the Irish question were utterly impossible. He said Ulster would not enter an All-Ireland Parliament under present conditions, but was prepared to discuss other avenues for settlement.

He added that the accounts of the Government's plans that had appeared in the press were "fairly accurate."

Replying to a question, the Premier said his Cabinet had given instructions for immediate enrolment of 700 whole time "specials" and 5,000 part time "specials" to complete establishment of these forces.

$768.82 PAID FOR RELIEF THIS MONTH

RELIEF OFFICER F. W. MILLER IS PESSIMISTIC OF LOCAL SITUATION

F. W. Miller, city relief officer, reported a large number of appeals made to him in November to the Central Charity Board last night, and his list of expenditures bore out his statement of the seriousness of conditions. During the month Mr. Miller expended $208.97 in groceries, $269.00 in fuel, $6.70 in railway tickets for indigents, while the payment to homes for indigent patients and sundries was $284.15, making a total expenditure for the month of $768.82.

During 1921 the various payments have amounted to $7,487.56. It is expected that relief costs will exceed all other years. It is in a fair way already to surpass 1915, an acute year, when $7,675.85 was expended. The amount paid out for relief in 1914 totalled $5,843.32.

Chairman Harry Rush said last night that while the situation was extremely serious, he did not think it as bad as in 1908 and 1909. He reminded Mr. Miller of the meat and bread lines of those year, meat being bought in quarters on the market, cut up and handed out to the people as they applied. Potatoes and bread were then similarly distributed.

Mr. Miller declarled that he expected a large number of appeals this winter, and he advised the Board not to be surprised at unusually large bills for relief. The Chairman and other members assured him of their appreciation of present conditions. He reported on several cases, and advised that assistance was being given to one widow who had been the victim of unscrupulous stock salesmen to the extent of $9,000. Her husband had been prominent in Peterborough. This was a deserving case, he contended, but another, quite the reverse, had the ear-marks of improvidence, where a man making $28 a week steady, with only a wife and two small children to support, had not saved a cent, although he was only paying $8 a month rent. When thrown out of work he had to appeal to the city for relief.

Accounts Passed.

The following were the accounts passed:

C. E. Adams $20; Mendell Braund $30; D. Belleghem and Sons $45; H. J. Boyle $8; E. Benson $12; J. S. Black and Son $8; H. H. Dinsdale $54; E. Files $6; F. Goselin $4; J. Haggart $18; W. H. Hamilton $12; Robert Hicks Co., Ltd., $189.50; F. W. Miller $6.70; E. F. Mason $12; Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives $45.15; Peterborough Protestant Home $229; Peterborough Lumber Co. $42; T. E. Rose (milk tickets) $1.79; A. Reynolds $8; J. Thompson $11.

ACTION TO WIND UP U.F. COMPANY WAS DISMISSED

TORONTO, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press).—In the weekly court to-day Mr. Justice Middleton dismised a motion on behalf of Dr. A. A. Farewell, Oshawa, to wind up the United Farmers of Ontario Cooperative Company. The grounds of dismissal were that the company was an Ontario organization and the motion to wind it up and under the Dominion Act which applied to Ontario companies where insolvency was shown.

RED ARROW TO HAVE ENGINEER OF EXPERIENCE

CONTRACT SIGNED WITH S. D M'LAUGHLIN, FORMERLY ASSOCIATED WITH THE GOODYEAR COMPANY.

INCREASE STOCK PRICE

The following statement was issued this morning from the offices of Red Arrow Tires, Limited.

"We are pleased to announce that a contract has just been signed between this company and Mr. Stephen D. McLaughlin, of Akron, Ohio, under the terms of which Mr. McLaughlin becomes associated with this company as Factory Manager and Production Engineer.

"Mr. McLaughlin has been actively connected with the tire industry for the past eleven years. During this time he has had experience in all branches of the industry from the manufacture of the machines used to produce tires to the actual production of the tires.

"Mr. McLaughlin was associated with the installation of the second division of equipment installed by the Goodyear Company in their plant at Akron, Ohio. He also had charge of installation for the Erie Cord Tire Co., Hewitt Rubber Co., Yales Tire & Rubber Co., Standard Four and Norwalk Company. He assisted in the development of the cord tire building machines now used by the Goodrich Company for the building of their famous Goodrich Silverton Cord Tires.

"The company with which Mr. McLaughlin is severing his connection in order to become associated with this company is the Akron Mold & Machinery Co., of Akron, Ohio, with whom he has been connected for several years as an engineer. Mr. McLaughlin has built with his own hands racing tires used by Ralph De Palma, the famous Italian automobile race driver.

"Mr. McLaughlin, who is in Peterborough to-day, will return to Akron this eevning and will return here December 15th to take up his active duties with our company. He will move his family here the first week of January.

"In the association of Mr. McLaughlin with this company it proves our announced policy of securing the services of the most competent men in the industry in the active management of our plant."

"The underwriters of the stock of Red Arrow Tires, Limited announced to-day that on and after Monday, December 12th the price of the 8 p.c. Cumulative Preferred shares of the company will be increased from $100 to $110. The progress which the company is making warrants this immediate increase in the price of its preferred shares. It is understood that a further increase is contemplated shortly after the first of the year.

"The excavating necessary for the plant of this company is completed and the trenches for the concrete footings are finished and the contractors are to-day pouring the footings. A change in the plans has been made and instead of putting in a concrete foundation it has been decided to lay a brick foundation. This change was made so that the risk of concrete freezing would be eliminated and work could go on that much faster on the building. The company is firmly determined to be in production for the spring and therefore is using every method and means possible for the earliest completion of their plant.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

HERE'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO DARKEN AND BEAUTIFY FADED HAIR.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its apearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get the famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and the lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compond now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or a soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

TO-DAY'S NEWS OF THE DISTRICT

HORSES COLLIDE WITH AUTOMOBILE

BETHANY NEWS OF INTEREST—WEEK-END VISITORS TO THE VILLAGE.

BETHANY, Nov. 29.—A team of runaway horses dashed into an automobile driven by Mr. Louis Magill while the latter was on his way to attend the meeting held by Premier Meighen. The accident took place near Mount Horeb. Mr. Magill saw the team galloping towards him and drove into the ditch, but the horses swerved and crashed into the car, damaging it to a considerable extent. The occupants escaped unhurt. The horses belonged to Mr. Bell, of Fleetwood.

Rowan—Reynolds.

A very pretty November wedding was solemnized in St. Paul's Church on Friday, the 25th, when Miss Hannah Laura Reynolds, only daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Reynolds was united in marriage to Mr. Walter Henry Rowan, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rowan.

At the hour of high noon the bride, looking lovely in white satin and bridal veil, and carrying a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and maiden hair fern, entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Henry Smith, to the sweet strains of the Wedding March, played by Mr. Clarence Rowan, cousin of the groom. The ceremony was performed by the Rector, Rev. A. F. Wier, assisted by Rev. Canon I. C. Davidson, of Peterborough, under a white lattice work arch touched with green and white wedding bells. The attendants were Miss Gunter, of Bonar Law, and Mr. Lloyd Lang. Mr. Leslie Lang and Mr. Arthur Jamerison were ushers. Rev. Victor Walker, brother-in-law of the groom, made a few happy remarks of congratulations to the young couple. During the signing of the register Miss Alice Werry, of Tyrone, a school chum of the bride, sang in a very sweet voice, "All Thine Alone." While the bridal procession was leaving the church the bell pealed out merrily. At the home of the bride's mother the young couple received the congratulations of their friends after which a very dainty bridal luncheon was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowan left on the four o'clock C.P.R. train for Toronto and other points amid showers of confetti, rice, old shoes and the best wishes of their friends. On their return they will reside in the village.

The gifts to the bride were numerous and costly, showing the high esteem in which she was held. Among the out-of-town guests were noticed Mr. and Mrs. Oram Urry, Millbrook; Rev. and Mrs. Victor Walker, Janetville; Mr. and Mrs. Jeweson and children, of Bailieboro.

Personal Mention.

Messrs. J. J. Preston, Arthur Flack, Geo. Twigg and B. A. Monk motored to Orono on Friday to attend the Conservative meeting and to hear the address given by the Hon. Arthur Meighen.

Miss Sadie Moise, of Newcastle, was the guest of Mrs. Walter Rowland over the week-end.

Miss Annie Bray visited with the Misses Scott at Fleetwood for a few days.

Miss Alice Werry, of Tyrone, was a visitor of Rev. J. E. and Mrs. Meckel on Saturday last.

Among the business visitors to Peterborough on Saturday last were Mrs. W. Card, Miss Olive Wake, Mr. Robt. Crearer and daughter Helen, Mr. James McKinnon, Mr. William Hannah and Mr. Wm. Phillips.

Mr. John Hughes, of Peterborough, was in the village on Friday.

Rev. I. E. Beckel, Messrs. Wm. Lee and A. H. Monk attended a congregational meeting in the Fleetwood Church on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Joseph Weatherilt returned home on Saturday after a visit with friends in Port Hope.

Rev. Victor Walker made a flying visit to Port Hope Saturday to call on his brother-in-law, Mr. Piper, who is at present very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. John Davis have returned from a visit to their daughter, Mrs. Geo. Ellsworth, of Kinmount.

Messrs. Roy Fern and Fred. Wallis returned home Saturday night from the West, where they have been for the past few months.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wright, of Valverton, passed through the village Saturday morning on their way to Millbrook.

Miss Nora Wake, of Ingersol, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wake.

Mr. Theodore Davis was a visitor to Peterborough on Sunday.

JOINT MEETING AT HASTINGS TUESDAY

CAPT. JOHN DEWART, M. C., AND C. W. KERR WILL ADDRESS RESPECTIVE CONSTITUENTS.

WARKWORTH, Nov. 29.—Mr. Ernest Gunn one of the proprietors and managers of the Rice Lake Canoe company, the new industry which has been established at Cobourg, is actively assisting Mr. C. W. Kerr, the Liberal candidate in Northumberland, in his campaign. Mr. Gunn will speak at Campbellford on Wednesday night together with Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C., and Mrs Stephens.

Hastings Tueday Night

Captain Dewart and C. W. Kerr will hold a joint meeting at Hastings tonight and Mr. F. D. Kerr will also speak.

R. R. Hall K.C., ex-M.P. speaks at Colborne and Brighton on Thursday evening December 1st in the interests of the Liberal candidate who is carrying the Liberal message to all parts of the riding in a campaign that is gaining wide attention. The Liberals of Hamilton township will hold a rally at Harwood on Saturday evening December 3rd. Dr. Watson and Mr. Gunn will be the speakers at that meeting. Reports here indicate many farmers in Northumberland are showing their loyalty to the Liberals by their work and by attending the meetings in very encouraging numbers. Those who attended the big meeting in Cobourg on Saturday night state that Mr. Kerr and the Hon. Charles Murphy were given a magnificent reception, and the consensus of opinion was that there never was a more or effective or better speech in Cobourg than that delivered by Mr. Murphy.

ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP GIRL STENOGRAPHER.

ST. CATHARINES, November 29 Canadian Press). — What appears like a case of attempted kidnapping took place outside the office of the Stokes Rubber Company, Welland, just as Margaret Taylor, a stenographer, was quitting employment for the day. A sack was thrown over her head, and an attempt made to stiffle her cries, which were heard by the manager and another clerk, who ran to her rescue. The assailant got away.

Mrs. Watson of Norwood spent Friday in town.

Mrs. Thos. Baker and son of Campbellford spent Tuesday in town with Mr. Baker's brother.

His friends in Hastings will regret to learn that Mr. W. A. McMaster, director of the National Cooperage Company, is suffering from a relapse of illness.

1,000 ORIENTALS IN VANCOUVER SCHOOLS.

VANCOUVER, B.C., November 29.—Canadian Press. — There are nearly 1,000 Japanese and Chinese pupils attending the Vancouver public schools, according to statistics recently given out. There are 490 Chinese and 501 Japanese. These students are from one to seven years older than the other members of their classes. In the majority of cases school principals do not consider the Orientals a hindrance to other pupils.

Asks McNeil Whether G.W.V.A. Is Getting Money From Gov't

QUEBEC, Nov. 29. — (Canadian Press).—Major Charles G. Power has sent the following questionnaire to Mr. C. G. McNeil, secretary of G.W.V.A. at Ottawa:

"Mr. C. G. McNeil, Secretary, G.W.V.A., Ottawa.

"1—Is it true that the G.W.V.A. has received $50,000 from the Canadian Government and the promise of $100,000 more to be paid before the election?

"2—Are these sums of money taken from the canteen funds or the interest thereon?

"3—Are not these canteen funds the property of all the ex-service men in Canada, whether they belong to the G.W.V.A. or not?

"4—Is it true that the funds in question are being used to pay the organization expenses of the G. W. V. A., the upkeep of the Veteran monthly, and the expenses of delegates to the recent convention?

"5—Is it true that the salaries of the president and secretary of the G.W.V.A. and of other officials are paid from these funds, which the Government should have held 'in trust' for all ex-service men in Canada until such time as these men were consulted with regard to their ultimate disposal?

"6—Would it not have been better to employ such monies in an attempt to alleviate distress and unemployment amongst our comrades, rather than to spread, through the Canadian press, malicious insinuations of disloyalty against our most respected public men?

ARBUCKLE, ON STAND, DENIES ALL EVIDENCE

MAKES SWEEPING DENIAL OF PROSECUTION'S ALLEGATIONS AND TELLS HIS STORY OF PARTY.

LONG CROSS-EXAMINATION

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press).—His testimony a sweeping denial of all allegations presented by the State in its prosecution of the manslaughter charges against him, Roscoe C. Arbuckle spent the greater part of yesterday on the witness stand giving in detail under direct and cross-examination his story of the hotel party during which the State maintains Miss Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress, received injuries from which she later died.

Arbuckle's cross-examination was completed at 3.13 p.m., and he was excused from the stand.

Gavin McNab, chief counsel for the defence, said he would close the defense case with the reading of Chicago and New York depositions and with an offer to prove that George Glennon, hotel detective, obtained a statement tending to clear Arbuckle, from Miss Rappe. Glennon's testimony was ruled out last week.

He had an engagement to go out and when he left the party and went into his bedroom it was for the purpose of changing his clothes to keep his appointment.

"I locked my door to keep the women and others out of the room. Then I went into the bathroom. The bathroom door struck against the prostrate form of Miss Rappe. That was the first time I knew she was in the room", Arbuckle said.

"Then, what did you do?" Leo Friedman, Assistant District Attor-

DESOLATION IN WAKE OF STORM IN N. ENGLAND

$2,000,000 LOSS TO UTILITIES, COMMUNICATION CUT OFF AND SHIPPING AND LIFE ENDANGERED.

DEBRIS BLOCKS TRACKS

BOSTON, November 29. Canadian Press. — A storm of sleet and snow that reached its height early yesterday, and then turned to rain, caused heavy damage across central New England.

Telephone and electric light services were the most seriously affected, the collapse of ice-laden wires and poles causing traffic interruptions that will take days to overcome. The suburbs north of Boston were without light to-night in most cases, and at least 2,000 subscribers in those places were without telephones. The telegraph companies also reported service breakdowns.

Many points in Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire and southern Vermont were without means of outside wire communication. The street cars were stalled over a wide area north of this city because of power trouble and the tracks blocked by the storm debris.

The financial loss was estimated to exceed $2,000,000. The Edison Electric Illuminating Company, which serves this city and some of its suburbs, reported damage to the equipment of $1,000,000. The loss incurred by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, was estimated at $500,000. The Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company said its damages were considerable and with the losses sustained by the Western Union and Postal

DEFINITE STEP ON NAVIES CUT LIKELY TODAY

UNITED STATES BELIEVES ITS PLAN HAS STOOD ALL TESTS AND HOPES FOR ACCEPTANCE.

"AD. STUNT FOR PEACE"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press.) — Definite steps towards agreement on the principles of Secretary Hughes' proposals for a naval building holiday and naval limitation thereafter may result today from the meeting of the full committee of naval experts to which the task of detailed examination of the plan was referred.

The experts have completed their analysis of the major elements of the plan, and it can be said authoritatively for the United States group that no technical flaw in the Hughes proposal has been revealed.

The basic plan of a "5-5-3" naval ratio between Great Britain, the United States and Japan has stood, in United States opinion, every test off act applied by the experts. It embodied no mistakes or errors of calculation.

The United States experts are expected to report that the basis of fact underlying the American plan was as stated. What action British or Japanese experts may take is not known. The report, however, will clear the way for action by the conference on the principles involved.

Hope has been expressed that the utterances of Arthur J. Balfour, for the British group, and of Admiral Baron Kato for the Japanese, in replying to Secretary Hughes, will prove to have been acceptances of the principles of the proposal. They were widely construed in that way at the time, but necessarily whatever was then said was subject to an agreement as to the facts upon which the plan was predicted.

The naval experts are still asking and answering questions, but these are understood to have had to do with the subsidiary elements of the plan. The capital ship figures were apparently beyond the stage of technical reduction and ready for transformation into formal agreement at an early date. All other elements of the scheme hinge on that factor.

Next in interest to the "5-5-3" ratio proposal has stood the discussion as to the status of the Japanese battleship Mutsu. It was understood informally that if Japan was bent on keeping the Matsu, she might possibly negotiate an agreement to do so by offering to scrap instead one of the four battle cruisers she would retain under the American plan.

There was no official intimation, however, that such a plan for settlement of the Mutsu discussion had been formally presented.

A REAL DANGER.

The complaint is made that the Examiner is, to use the vernacular, "knocking" the newly-formed Tenants' and Owners' Association, because of the article which appeared in these columns last night. We are afraid that the remarks dealing with the Association were not carefully read. The Examiner merely pointed out a very apparent danger that lies before the organization, the risk that its plans for better conditions in this city will be killed by the senseless complaining of that class of citizen who eagerly joins any body that gives him an opportunity to criticize any expenditure no matter how justified it may be that is made by the municipal government. There is a vast difference between legitimate criticism and chronic petty fault-finding, and the Association must see to it that exponents of the latter method are not allowed to gain control of the machinery of the organization. If they do it is not difficult to visualize the fate of the Association, but if they are kept under control there should be a useful future for the new body. In calling attention to this very real danger the Examiner's sole desire is to be of assistance.

ANOTHER ELECTION?

The Montreal Star declares that there is little chance of any of the three chief parties in the present contest having a majority in the new Parliament, and that another election and perhaps a third will be necessary in the next couple of years before stability is reached. That is rather a gloomy view of the situation, and yet the prospect of group government as opposed in the old two-party system is not conducive to roseate prophecies. The present chaotic conditions in the political world cannot endure, and sooner or later by the coalition of those groups whose policies most closely approximate each other there will be a return to the former system of two parties. It may be that such a coalition may follow the present election, for many political observers declare that the real contest will not come on December 6th, but afterward. At all events the present perplexing situation cannot long endure, and if this election does not clear the air The Montreal Star's contention that another appeal to the people will speedily follow may not be so far wrong after all. Canadian politics have never been so confusingly involved as at present, and progressive legislation and business-like administration of the country's affairs cannot be expected until there is a return to something like political normalcy.

THE WORST SUFFERERS.

Measures that are being taken in Peterborough to meet the situation caused by the unemployment crisis deserve the hearty support of the community, and it is hoped will do much to mitigate the distress. Unfortunately, however, there is one class suffering from the effects of the present depression that is most difficult to reach and assist—the families who would rather endure the hardships caused by the non-employment of the bread winner in silence than let their circumstances to be known. It is a new experience for such people; it is the first time that they have known what it is to go for weeks without work and without revenue, until the slender savings are exhausted and the rent and food bills have begun to pile up, until the furniture has begun to disappear in order that food and fuel may be bought. Such families are the keenest sufferers in a situation like the present. There are some people who are more or less accustomed to the conditions that exist to-day, and they are not usually backward in seeking assistance. But the others, who will not reveal the straits into which they have dropped, present the most perplexing feature of the problem. How are they to be located Perhaps some intimate friend who knows the circumstances can bridge the gap between those who should have help and will not ask for it, and those who are willing to assist. If any reader of the Examiner knows of a case such as we have outlined, he can facilitate the relief work by sending a letter addressed to the Relief Editor of the Examiner, who will see that the identity of the correspondent is kept secret and that the letter reaches the hands of those who are carrying on the emergency measures.

THE TRUTH ABOUT WOMEN.

Mr. Alexander Black has an article in November Harper's under the caption "The Truth About Women." It is entertaining, but by no means conclusive. If anybody should be lured by the title into reading the article in the hope that he would add to his store of knowledge about the gentler sex, he certainly would be disappointed. Romanticists have sedulously sought to garb women in a cloak of mystery; but that has been more the trick of the writer's trade than the proof of a fact. Although women themselves have rather encouraged the notion that they are a riddle, there really has never been anything of a genuine mystery about them. Every man believes he could blurt out the truth at any time he chose; but, somehow, the age-old fiction persists.

The exact nature of the truth which facile writers suspect calls for disclosure is never reduced to a definite formula. Mr. Black gets no nearer to brass tacks than have any of his industrious and unsatisfying predecessors in this enduring task of exposure. They are like the man who assured everybody he had been left a lot of money but could never find just where it had been left. The unravelers of the mystery which is alleged to envelop women never seem to get anywhere in particular. The inquest is futile. Yet Mr. Black assures his readers that "men have always exhibited an anxiety as to this matter of the truth about women." Granted, for the sake of keeping up the discussion; but what truth? What is it that men have been yearning to know, and which could finally be given the hall-mark of verity when it had been positively identified?

Mr. Black rather hints that the full and naked truth about women would lead to disenchantment, which, to say the least, is not a bit nice of him. In fact, he opens himself to the suspicion of being a misogynist. The popular and romantic notion is that women embody more of divinity than do men, and that the mystery therefore leads in some strange way to the holy of holies, into which the curious gaze of the opposite sex could never penetrate except at the total loss of sight forever. We are more familiar with such fervid sentimentalism in the form of fairy stories, plainly labelled. Certain it is that women themselves, assuming they know, will not hand over the key. Pressed to say whether or not they are really a mystery, they have invariably taffen back on the evasive answer: "Find out."

If there is some great and long-concealed truth about women which calls for the telling in the interest of general enlightenment, it is surprising what risks women themselves are taking in the matter. Shunning exclusiveness, the have invaded every field which had been assumed by tradition to be the special preserve of men, down to the police force. They no longer hold themselves aloof, no longer claim exemptions. And we certainly see more of them than we used to. If they have conspired to keep up the camouflage, behind which the real woman lives and moves and has her being, they are in need of a candid friend to put them on their guard. They are now in the vortex of human life, crowded and shoved about just like mere man, and some day the truth which has so long eluded the prying peep of masculine eyes may forever be squeezed out of them. Back to your seclusion, O venturesome woman, or be unmasked!—Ottawa Journal.

GO AFTER TRADE.

Manufacturers must go after the British West Indies trade with all the energy and intelligence they have. It is also just as true that they will never secure the desired results if their efforts are intermittent or anything but persistent. If they offer to this market only the occasional surplus of stock, after other markets, domestic or foreign, have been served, they will fail to build up anything like a satisfactory volume of trade. Special production and a constant supply are two essential requirements. If West Indian merchants can get goods elsewhere that suit them ,and can get them in regular shipments from other sources in comparison to a "Take it or leave it" attitude on the part of the Canadians, coupled with an uncertain supply, and even if these conditions exist in connection with Canadian business, the good-will and patronage of these people will go elsewhere.

MANITOBA FARM LOANS ASKED $300,000 A WEEK

WINNIPEG, November 29. Canadian Press.—The Manitoba Farm Loans Board has been receiving applications for loans at the rate of $300,000 a week for the past few weeks. The board which had $1,-000,000 at its disposal for loaning to Manitoba farmers, has approved of loans amounting to $650,000. The applications exceeded $1,000,000, while the farm loans already made total $5,000,000.

Hon. Edward Brown, the provincial treasurer, said that the suggestion made by Henry Detchon, general manager of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, that the government credits should be extended to farmers, was what the Manitoba government had been doing for the past five years.

NEURITIS

THERE WAS once a man.
WHO HAD a pain.
IN HIS elbow.
AND AN ache.
IN HIS hand and arm.
FOR OVER four years.
WITH NEVER the slightest.
MOMENT OF surcease.
HE HAD tried all sorts.
OF LINIMENTS and pastes.
HAD TAKEN quarts.
OF PILLS powders and tablets.
AND BOTTLE after bottle.
OF VARIOUS sorts of dope.
HAD FOLLOWED the advice.
AND TRIED the remedy.
OF EVERY curbstone doctor.
HE HAPPENED to meet.

AND THERE are dozens.
IN EVERY block.
STILL THE pain kept up.
FINALLY HE consulted.
AT THE very last.
AN OSTEOPATHIC physician.
WHO UPON examination.
FOUND AN upper rib.
ON THAT side.
TWISTED DOWNWARD,
WHEN THIS was lifted.
BACK INTO position.
THE PAIN stopped.
AND NEVER re-occurred.
AND THAT is what.

ARBUCKLE ON STAND

ney, conducting the cross-examination, asked.

"I picked her up and held her head."

"Did you say anything to her?" he was asked.

"Not a word; she was gasping and had a hard time getting her breath."

"Later I asked her: 'Is there anything I can do for you?' She said: 'No, just leave me lie on the bed.' Before this I had given her two glasses of water.

"How did she get from the bathroom to the bed?"

"She walked, I helped her a little.'

Later Arbuckle returned to the bathroom. When he returned, she testified, Miss Rappe was "thrashing about" on the floor. The witness said he picked her up and placed her on the bed, demonstrating the manner in which he did so.

"Did she say anything then?"

"I don't remember. She was groaning, holding her stomach and twisting about."

"Then where did you go?"

"I went out of the room. The first person I saw was Miss Prevost. I said: 'Virginia is sick.' Miss Prevost was close to the door when I went out. I did not see Mrs. Delmont. I could not tell how long I was in the room".

Arbuckle grew somewhat angered under Friedman's questions, putting somewhat of a snap into his answers

"When I returned", he said, "Virginia was tearing at her clothes. One sleeve of her dress was hanging by a few threads and I pulled it off. Later I told Harry Boyle, Assistant Manager of the hotel, 'the girl is sick and I want to get her another room' ".

"You never told anyone anything except that Miss Rappe was ill?" he was asked.

"I did not."

"Did you hear Miss Rappe make any statement at any time after you found her ill?"

"No except when she asked for water and wanted to lie down."

"After Miss Rappe was taken away, I put on a golf suit and soft shirt," he said. "Later I put on a dinner suit and went down to the hotel dining room."

Arbuckle squirmed in his seat and seemed uneasy under the fast-coming questions.

"I asked Mr. Boyle to get a doctor," he said.

Nobody had suggested getting a doctor until Boyle arrived, Arbuckle said. The witness said that while he was there all of Miss Rappe's clothes were taken off and Mrs. Delmont put an ice pack under her head.

"There was ice on the bed too", he said. "I took up a piece of the ice from Miss Rappe's body and Mrs. Delmont told me to put it back.

"I told her to shut up or I would throw her out of the window. Then I put the piece of ice back where I found it."

Arbuckle said while the party guests were trying to relieve Miss Rapp he told Mrs. Delmont to 'go and dress", as she was attired in pajamas.

"Miss Rappe was unconscious at the time ice was being supplied," he said.

Frank Domingeuz, Los Angeles attorney, was the first person he told of having found Miss Rappe in the bathroom, Arbuckle said. Dominguez was his former counsel.

A Danger Signal—Tender and Bleeding Gums

Healthy teeth cannot live in diseased tissue. Gums tainted with Pyorrhea are dangerously diseased. For not only the teeth are affected, but Pyorrhea germs seep into the body, lower its vitality and cause many ills.

Pyorrhea begins with tender and bleeding gums. Then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the poisonous germs that breed in pockets about them.

Four out of five people over forty have this disease. But you need not have it. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection. And keep Pyorrhea away by using Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress—if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy, the teeth white and clean. If you have tender or bleeding gums, start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

NORTHUMBERLAND REGIMENT MOVE INTO NEW QUARTERS ON FRONT STREET.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Weston entertained the Young People of the Baptist church at their home, Second street, last evening and all report a most pleasant evening.

In New Quarters.

Mr. P. J. Soules and family have removed from the Ogilvie property, owned by the town, to the rooms on Front street, recently occupied by Mrs. Matt. Galvin. The Northumberland Regiment, 'C' Company, who have leased the town property vacated by Mr. Soules, will soon be comfortably situated in their new quarters.

Political Meeting.

The meeting in the Opera House last evening in the interests of the National Progressive Party was very laregly attended, there being quite a number of ladies in the audience. Lieutenant Walter Davidson, in a very capable manner, occupied the chair, and introduced the candidate, Mr. Fred Slade and the other speakers, Lieut. Rutherford, Mrs. Dempsey and Senator Turiff of Saskatchewan.

The first speaker, Mr. Slade, in a very unassuming and pleasing manner, stated he would offer no apology for belonging to the Progressive party. He realized, however, there was a silent vote and an independent party, and refuted the idea that the National Progressive Party stood for class legislation. One class alone, said the speaker, cannot run a country, and the common people must do their part. The tariff needed revision, particularly for our agricultural products, as it is impossible for us to consume all our products. Mr. Slade admitted that Hon. Crerar moved his office and staff to New York and on grain made 510 p.c., this being on American grain.

Lieut. Sutherford, who is a fluent speaker, told of his going west and enlistment in Victoria. He criticized the so-called manipulations of the government in railroads, land grants, etc., and the Ross rifle. He also spoke of the number of Canadians in the U.S. Not party, but all should stand shoulder to shoulder for the good of the State.

Mrs. Dempsey, who is a very deliberate speaker, stated it should be the aim of all to serve our country best, and in a humorous manner gave the origi nof the word tariff. There should be tariff for revenue, but tariff for protection was different. The speaker read the tariff rates on certain commodities such as clothing and material used in building. She quoted facts to show that in Paul's time there were indirect taxes, and Queen Eliazbeth granted monopolies. Mrs. Dempsey attributed the rural depopulation to the fact that in the city there was easier work and better pay. The extravagance of women was not the sole cause for the high exchange rates, but the manufacturer importing raw material. The speaker strongly advocated organization. We must think, and the vote is a woman's responsibility to use as an intelligent personal opinion. She ridiculed the idea that a woman's place was only in the home. Politics is the business of the nation. Mrs. Dempsey referred to the vast resources of our country, stating that 80 p.c. of the world's nickel and cobalt supply was obtained from Canada; the fresh water fisheries were extensive, and from these we could secure revenue to pay our national debt. Since women in the election control 60 p.c. of the votes, she urged all to vote intelligently.

Senator Turiff, of Southern Saskatcheewan, was the next speaker, and in a very forceful manner presented his arguments. He stated he was one of the old-time Liberals till 1917 and stated his reasons for uniting with the National Progressive Party. While he did not believe his party would perhaps come into power he thought they would hold the balance of power. Senator Turiff expressed his pleasure that Canada could produce three such leaders as Hon. Arthur Meighen, Hon. Mackenzie King and Hon. Crerar, all outstanding men. Hon. Meighen, he stated, was without doubt the best debater in the house, and Hon. Mackenzie King was long known for his eloquence. The speaker stated that Hon. Crerar and his party did not approve of class legislation, and referred to the number of lawyers in the house. The extravagance of the government during the war in fuse contracts and horse contracts, and the merchant marine was criticized, and, said the speaker, economy should be practised. The civil service expenditures also came in for criticism. The unemployment and commercial depression, the speaker attributed to the present high tariff, making reference to the boot and shoe and woollen industries. The British traders, declared the Senator, knew no sentiment. A great change had come over the world. The speaker asserted that if we had had reciprocity there would be no Fordney Bill. Hon. Crerar has promised, if elected, to secure larger markets for our goods. Reference was made to the fact that there was no protection for cream separators, binder twine and yet these industries did not close. The Riordon company next came in for its share of the criticism, the speaker giving data to show their investments, dividends, extensions, and next the Government loans to Greece and Roumania. Sir Edward Kemp and his annual revenue from the sale of enamel ware, as also the Ford motor industry were duly under fire of criticism. The speaker closed by urging the women to vote and help the Progressive cause. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

There was a little heckling in the audience but on the whole the meeting was a fairly quiet one, all apparently vitally interested in the political issues of the day which were being discussed.

Accident to Farmer.

On Saturday while hunting coons Mr. Alfred Barnum, of Seymour township, met with an accident which might have been quite serious. Two animals were found up a tree, whence Mr. Barnum tried to reach them. One of the coons showed fight and Mr. Barnum lost his hold and fell to the ground, a distance of over ten feet. He was removed to his home and medical aid summoned. His friends hope his accident may not be serious and that he will soon be around again.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

MILLBROOK, Nov. 29.— Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson with their little daughter, Ethel, of Napanee, Mr. Claude Thompson and Mrs. Wilson of Deseronto, were guests of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker on Saturday remaining over until Sunday morning as they were motoring from Toronto to Napanee.

Rev. Joseph Wilks took charge of the services at Grace Presbyterian Church, Millbrook, Sunday morning and evening and at St. Enoch's, Garden Hill, on Sunday afternoon, on account of the illness of the pastor, Rev. G. S. Gervan.

Mrs. Hagel of Toronto, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. (Rev.) Joseph Wilks, coming to Millbrook, on Friday and expecting to remain for the winter.

Held a Reception

Mrs. Hugh Kennedy held her post-nuptial reception on Saturday afternoon November 26th, her husband's mother, Mrs. Annie Kennedy receiving with her. In spite of rough roads and rather unfavorable weather many from Millbrook and the country as well, took advantage of the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the bride and enjoyed the call in the cosy warmth of the pleasant rooms after the chilly air outside. Mrs. Thomas Wickett of Port Hope, a sister of the bride, poured tea, and Mrs. Herb. Ball, a cousin of the groom, and the Misses Ella Elson, and Anna Russell, also assisted in the tea room, where beautiful large chrysanthemums, adorning the centre of the tea-table added to its attractiveness and similar flowers were also used in the reception room.

Other assistants were the groom's sister Miss Luella Kennedy and Miss May Byam, who met the guests at the door. The bride, wearing a dainty frock of navy taffeta, heavily embroidered, received many good wishes from the various callers some of whom were former friends, but the majority, new acquintances, who came and went during the tea hour.

Annual Bazaar

The Armouries looked very inviting on Saturday afternoon, when, promptly at 3 o'clock, the doors were opened for the Annual Bazaar, given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Grace Presbyterian Church. Flags and bunting, with twisted streamers of colored crepe paper made the various booths and tables bright and attractive, while music from an excellent victrola under the management of Mr. H. R. Armstrong gave added pleasure to the host of buyers, who thronged the floor, and passed in and out during the hours of sale, and of serving tea.

The fancy-work table, running along the south side of the building was in charge of Mrs. W. S. Given, who had also many wiling helpers to aid her in attending to the wants of prospective buyers; it contained a host of beautiful and useful articles and was well-patronized all afternoon. Mrs. Harry Johnston supervised the sales at the apron table, while the handkerchiefs, which found many ready purchasers, were looked after by Miss Jean Russell and Edith Deyell. The "baby table" which as one would naturally expect looked very dainty and attractive, was under Mrs. H. R. Armstrong's capable management. Miss Kathleen Lancashire had the responsibility of the "fish pond", which proved a centre of attraction for both young and old. A substantial tea was served beginning about 5 p.m and many of the business men and others, found it convenient to drop in and enjoy this part of the afternoon's proceedings; the convenor of the committee in charge of the tea was Mrs. John Hunter, and she, like all the others in charge of any special section, had an ample number of capable assistants from amongst the girls and women of the church.

The total receipts were over $300 and it is expected that the major portion of this amount will be clear profit. The Ladies' Aid are certainly to be congratulated on the success of the undertaking.

A Public Meeting.

A public meeting under the auspices of the U.F.O., will be held in Millbrook on Wednesday, November 30th, at 2.30 p.m., in the town hall. The speakers will include Mrs Cronk of Prince Edward Island, Mr. McKee of Dufferin County, Mr. J. C. Campbell, Mr. S. S. Staples, M.P.P., and Mr. Reid, the U.F.O candidate.

Funeral To-Day.

Mrs. Harold Horner, who has been in the Nicholls Hospital at Peterboro ,for several weeks, following an operation for the removal of her tonsils, passed away shortly after midnight on Saturday, November 26. The funeral will take place on Tuesday from her home in Lindsay, the service at the house being at 2 p.m. and at the Cambridge street Methodist church, at 2:30 p.m.

Those from Millbrook and Cavan attending the funeral are Mr. and Mrs. William Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. McBride, Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Lang, Mr. and Mrs. O. Williamson.

Song Service.

A special song service wrich proved both helpful and enjoyable, was given in the Methodist church on Sunday evening, the pastor's address and the music all centring round the four gates of the Christian life:—"Conviction, Confession, Consecration and Coronation." The anthem rendered by the whole choir was "Through the Gates." A male quartette, "Beautiful Golden Gate," was given by Messrs. T. Alcorn, L. Byam B. Dawson and J. L. Byam. "The Pearly Gate" was another well rendered quartette by Misses Phyllis Richards, Alice Stewart, and Messrs Alcorn and Byam. The concluding number, "When they ring the Golden Bells for you and me," was also a mixed quartette by Mrs. Sayles, Miss Stewart, and Messrs Byam and Alcorn. As the pastor proceeded with his address it was appropriately illustrated at intervals by the various musical numbers. The service was so much enjoyed it is probable that others of a similar nature may be given occasionally durin the winter.

Special Service.

Tre large number of people present at the congregational meeting in the Methodist S. S. auditorium on Monday evening to hear Rev. Walter Millson of the department of Social Service and Evangelism, Toronto, was very gratifying. The meeting opened with an enjoyable song service in which all joined heartily, followed by prayer by Rev. Joseph Wilks. A brief musical programme was then presented before the speaker of the evening gave his address. Four girls, Misses Gladys Tucker, Jean Burnham, Marjorie Sayles, and Kathleen Freelove,whose singing is always enjoyed, sang "Rosebuds in His Garden," after which Misses Ella Elson and Stella Hetherington played a piano duet. A vocal duet by Mrs. Sayles and Mr. Coombe, "Hold Thou my Hand," was especially appreciated.

Rev. Mr. Millson, who was obliged to come on the evening train, spoke briefly on the subject of "Evangelism," from the standpoint of its relation to the Kingdom of God, emphasizing the fact that the Kingdom is not narrowed in its boundaries, as the Jews thought in the days of Christ, but includes the whole wide world. Also, as the speaker pointed out, membership in the Kingdom obligates loyalty in service, the underlying motive in every life being not "doing the things I like to do," but denying self and "doing the things I ought to do." The Kingdom is extended definitely and specifically by one representative enlisting another, the message going from lip to heart, and then from heart to lip, as life after life is won to allegiance. The speaker closed with a strong appeal for personal service

Refreshments were served and a very enjoyable social hour spent before the gathering dispersed, after singing the National Anthem.

DESOLATION IN WAKE OF STORM

Telegraph Company, and various independent lighting and trolley companies, the toll was great.

Fruit trees were damaged considerably, their branches torn off. The elms in the Harvard yard also suffered and rare plants and shrubs at the Arnold Arboretum were broken. The storm was likened by many to that in which the steamship Portland went down with all hands 23 years ago. Its destructive force was spent largely ashore, instead of afloat, however.

The few marine mishaps were not believed to be serious. The Pollock Rip Slue lightship, with 11 men on board, was torn loose from its moorings by a northeast gale. It was thought she would be able to anchor safely under the lee of Cape Cod in Nantucket Sound. A three masted schooner was in trouble off Block Island, with the coast guard cutter Acushnet heading to her aid in a heavy rain. The power fisherman, Filomen, of Gloucester, missing in the storm, came to port to-day, having found shelter at Ipswich Bay.

Officials of the State Forestry Department said that it would be practically impossible to save trees from still further damage if the storm conditions continued.

In the suburbs of Boston the long rows of shade trees that were the pride of many a community, presented a scene of desolation. It was as if a tornado had swept through every street. The rain, freezing as it fell, had formed a coating of ice often an inch thick, about the branches and the treetops. All day long and into the night they crashed down at intervals. Pedestrians were in danger at all times, especially on streets where wires were strung.

SAYS PROGRESSIVES SUCCESSORS OF SIR JOHN A. MACDONALD

STARTLING BOLD STATEMENT BY F. E. ELLIS, EDITOR OF FARM AND DAIRY, AT ROSENEATH.

F. J. SLADE MEETING

ROSENEATH, Nov. 26.—The town hall here tonight was the scene of the largest and most enthuiastic meeting held in this immediate section of Northumberland County during the present political campaign. The hall was mrowded to capacity to hear the Progressive Candidate, Mr. F. J. Slade and F. E. Ellis, Editor of Farm and Dairy, Peterboro. Mr. Slade, who had just completed his meetings in the eastern part of the riding, was tired and confined his address to twenty minutes. He dealt particularly with the charges levied against the United Grain Growers and its President Mr. T. A. Crerar, pointing out that the big profits mentioned, over $500,000 on a capitalization of over $100,000 were not made at the expense of the Canadian people but through a subsidiary company organized to carry on an export grain business during the winter in New York. The big profits were made by handling 87,000,000 bushels of United States grain at a profit of only three quarters of a cent a bushel. Mr. Slade did not think that he needed to apologize to a leader who was capable of a business record such as that. The candidate also spoke briefly on the tariff as it affected agriculture.

Not Class Party

"The Progressive Party is not a class party," said F. E. Ellis who vigorously espoused Progressive principle for an hour and a half. "Rather, it was called into being as a protest against class domination. It is a movement of the common people of the land to free our government from the rule of big interests who, with their money power, exercise a influence at Ottawa that is altogether out of proportion to either their numbers or their importance. These interests seem to have secured a controlling interest in the two old political parties and are fattening on special privileges granted at the expense of the Canadian people. The Progressive Party alone stands free from any entangling relationship with such interests and is the one party of the three whose sole aim is the good of the common man."

The speaker admitted that the Progressive movement had its genesis among the farmers but, in that, it had its origin in common with practically every other reform movement on this continent. It was the rebellion of the farmers of the middle and western states against the extension of the slave traffic, he said, that gave birth to the Republican party and ultimately removed the blot of human slavery from this continent. This movement started among the farmers but, as it was directed against the great wrong, it rapidly gained the support of all the people of the Northern states in city and country alike. He predicted that the Progressive movement, aimed at the domination of the privileged few, will also attract into its ranks, the democratic people of all classes, and mentioned that, in this election, several progressive candidates are being run in city constituencies.

Successors Sir John A.

The speaker rather startled all of his audience by making the bald statement that, in their tariff policy, the Progressives were the logical successors of Sir John A. MacDonald. Quoting from the speeches of the latter, he declared that when Sir John had introduced his national policy, it had been on the understanding that the high protective tariffs then introduced were for the encouragement of infant industry and were to be reduced as the native industry secured a hold on the market and developed greater strength. "Sir John A. MacDonald was shrewd enough to know," commented Mr. Ellis, "what every shoolboy in economics knows today—that an industry that cannot ultimately stand on its own feet, but always be fed with tariff pap, is an exotic industry and a parasite on the country. What Sir John A. MacDonald seems to have failed to realize is that these infants would refuse to grow up, and what he was giving them as a special privilege they would come to regard as a vested right." In proposing an all around reduction tariff, the Progressives will, therefore, be merely carrying out the policy contemplated by Sir John.

Not Free Trade

The speaker then outlined in full the tariff proposals of the Progressive Party making it plain that their platform is not a free trade platform. He produced abundant evidence to show that the industries that will be placed immediately on a free trade basis such as the cement and agricultural implement companies, are abundantly able to meet world competition. In the latter instance, he quoted the evidence of Mr. Findlay, the President of the Massey-Harris Company to the effect that his company would not be adversely affected by the removal of their privileges as they were already competing with the whole world, 60% of their product being for export in normal times. Other industries applying for protection will be obliged to prove to a committee of the House of Commons, through audited statements, that protection is necessary. In other words, the tariff will be regulated in such a way that it cannot be used as a weapon of exploitation.

Incidentally, Mr. Ellis mentioned that while the Conservative candidate Mr. Maybee, was opposed to a policy of securing wider markets for the products of the average farm

THIS LAXATIVE HAD EFFECT

Miss Johnston glad to say Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin freed her from constipation.

Miss A. M. Johnston, Sweetsburg, Que.

IT is not always easy to find just the right medicine for chronic constipation, but the experience of many thousands of people is that Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is the best remedy to take. Miss A. M. Johnston of Sweetsburg, Que., sought relief for years and only found it in Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. So did Mrs. H. Lefever and her little daughter of Medicine Hat, Alta., and Mrs. M. Martin of Mussey, Ont. There are, of course, thousands of others, and they recommend it publicly.

There is no need to take harsh physics, cathartic pills, castor oil, calomel or dangerous coal tar medicines. You can get better and quicker results in a mild and gentle way with a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, and a dose costs less than a cent. This wonderful medicine is a vegetable compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin. The formula is on every package. Use it for constipation, headaches, biliousness, feverishness, loss of appetite and other ills due to a disordered stomach and bowels. It is safe for babies.

HALF-OUNCE BOTTLE FREE

Few escape constipation, so even if you do not need a laxative at this moment let me send you a Half-Ounce Trial Bottle of my Laxative Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE so that you will have it handy when needed. Simply send your name and address to Dr. W. B Caldwell, 21 Front St., Bridgeburg, Ont. Write me today.

he Holstein Association, of which he is a member, had succeeded in making arrangements for the reciprocal exchange and registration of pure bred Holstein cattle with the United States Association. The Conservative candidate, therefore, enjoys reciprocity with the United States so far as his principle farm product is concerned. "Mr. Maybee", commented the speaker, "is not exactly a jewel of consistency."

In closing Mr. Ellis dealt briefly with the failure of the Liberal Party to give effect to its tariff policy of 1896 and the divisions on tariff policy within the Liberal Party within the present time, as proof that that party could not be depended upon to give effect to their present platform.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

PHILADELPHIA CANADIANS PUBLISHING MAGAZINE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—(By Canadian Press)—In order to perpetuate and solidify the spirit of friendship and good will between Canada and the United States Canadians of this city have just started the publication of the "The Border Gateway," a monthly magazine.

It is the purpose of the magazine to furnish a medium through which Americans and Britons—from all parts—can reach a fuller and more complete understanding.

"As spokesman for 2,000,00 Canadian-American we make our bow," says the Border Gateway in its first issue.

"We do not seek to urge or to stem the human tides that flow across the border. Editorially we care nothing for the political questions that mean so much to many on both sides. Race, color and religious do not enter into our editorial mind. But we who are here know America. We want millions we left in the north to know it, too. And we want Americans who know little of the real Canada to realize and appreciate its wonders and resources the felicity of the people."

FOUR ENGLISH WOMEN PASS LEGAL EXAMS.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Four women have just passed their final examinations, for the bar but this does not mean that they become barristers immediately. They have to finish their course, so they will probably be called to the bar during next year.

Miss Ivy Williams, of the Inner Temple, passed the final examinations with first-class honors and officials consider this to be remarkable. She will be the first woman to be called to the bar.

WHEAT IS DESTROYED BY WILD DUCKS IN WEST.

EDMONTON, Alta., November 29 Canadian Press. — Wild ducks are so plentiful in the Sedgewick district that one farmer living about eight miles from that town reports a 30-acre tract of wheat destroyed on his farm by the birds. He said that the ducks were a terrible menace at harvest and threshing time and that it did not take them long to destroy several hundred bushels of grain in stook.

HEADS THAT ACHE AND PAIN

It is hard to drag along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

In nine cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels, but no matter which organ is to blame the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be obtained.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS,

which has been on the market for the past forty five years, removes the cause of the headache by starting the organs of elimination acting freely, and when the impurities are carried off from the system, purified blood circulates in the brain cells, and the aches and pains vanish.

Miss Clara Murphy, Centre Dummer, Ont., writes: "My system was greatly run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health. I took another bottle and it has done me an enormous amount of good. I

WOLVES SURROUNDED TWO HUNTERS

There is a story going the rounds that a prominent city official and an equal prominent business man of Kingston who were hunting in the far north last week had narrow escapes from wolves who surrounded them, but the principals will not tell anything about the happening. According to the story the wolves surrounded them while they were making their way out of the woods and the hunters had to feed them their venison in order to make their getaway. The principals simply look wise and say nothing when questioned.—Kingston Standard.

FAMOUS STILLMAN CASE TO RE-OPEN AFTER LONG LAPSE

HEARINGS IN SUIT BEGUN IN SUMMER OF 1920 RESUME TO-DAY.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press.)—Hearings in the divorce suit of James A. Stillman, New York banker, against Mrs. Anne U. Stillman will be resumed here to-day, after a lapse of several months due to vacations of lawyers and postponements necessitated by the illness of Referee Daniel J. Gleason.

The plaintiff having rested his case in which he sought to prove Mrs. Stillman guilty of misconduct and attacked the paternity of her three-year-old son, Guy Stillman the remaining sessions will embrace defense of herself and her child, and a counter-attack upon Mr. Stillman.

Subpoena servers were sent to New York yesterday to corral twenty witnesses for appearance here today and Wednesday. The testimony of some of them will be for the purpose of showing that Mr. Stillman was with his wife in December, 1917, and for the first three months of 1918. This period is of importance in establishing the paternity of Guy Stillman, who, Mr. Stillman alleged to be the son of the family servant, Fred Bauvais, a part Indian guide. Guy was born in November, 1918.

It was understood witnesses for Mrs. Stillman would tell of seeing her and Mr. Stillman together in a New York hotel and on their country estate, Mondanne, in the Pocanico Hills, during the early part of 1918. Others are expected to support her charges that Mr. Stillman pretended to be "Harold Franklin Leeds," the husband of Florence H. Leeds, former Broadway show girl, and that she bore him a son, Jay Ward Leeds, in September, 1918. Their alleged misconduct "will be brought up to date," by witnesses at the hearings here, it was said, with evidence that Stillman and Mrs. Leeds were on outings together on Long Island last summer.

Mrs. Stillman's counsel shortly will apply for the appointment of a commissioner to take testimony in Canada, where Beauvais, named as co-respondent, lives. Mr. Stillman alleged his wife and the guide were guilty of misconduct at the banker's summer camp near Three Rivers, Quebec.

Witnesses from Canada gave testimony to support these charges when the first hearings were held in New York last December. It is with the intention of weakening their statements and of setting up contradictory testimony that Mrs. Stillman's lawyers and John E. Mack, guardian ad litem for Guy Stillman, are to ask that their Canadian witnesses be heard.

It is their intention to have a commissioner sit at Moatreal within the next three weeks, and their application probably will be made before Supreme Court Justice Morschauser at Poughkeepsie this week, or at Newburgh next week.

After the hearings beginning tomorrow and those expected to be held at Montreal only a few witnesses for Mrs. Stillman and Guy are to be called to Poughkeepsie. When they have been heard, the plaintiff will have an opportunity for rebuttal and then it is expected the Stillman divorce case, begun in the summer of 1920, will go to the Referee and Justice Morschauser for decision.

EXTREMES IN ART AREN'T PROMINENT AT PARIS EXHIBIT

PARIS, Nov. 29.—The Autumn Salon which has opened its 14th exhibition proclaims that it is "open to all formulas" and it has proved it by giving publicity to schools or crazes like, Cubism, Futurism and Dadaism. Extreme examples of these practices, however, are not prominent in this year's New Salon, Societe National des Beaux Arts, which strikes a note of modernity and of living effort that contrasts with the museum-like effect produced by the older salons.

The effort is made to embrace every branch of art in addition to painting and sculpture. There are sections for books, music, the dance and fashions, the latter showing the latest creations of celebrated dressmakers.

This year two new sections have been added, those of moving pictures and the theatre.

One room is devoted to a striking show of Russian art, another for a group of Belgian artists. American work, including exhibits by 50 artists, is placed with that of others in general, as it would be difficult to give a room to each of the 27 countries represented.

No special picture has established itself as the picture of the exhibition. There has been more talk and more printed about a picture that is not on show, because the jury refused it, than about any other.

This rejected work is a portrait of Miss Mara Ricotti, actress, one of the five portraits sent by Kees van Dongen, whose portrait of Anatole France was a striking feature of the last New Salon. Judged by the reproductions in the press, this portrait was ruled out as being too normal to represent van Dongen. The dress is black and so gives no room for the Dutch painter's striking color power, and the eyes seem almost natural in size instead of occupying a third of the face as usual with this artist.

Another picture which the crowd is making sure of seeing is Francis Picabia's "Hot Eyes", which has also had the distinction of wide reproduction. Two concentric circles with circumferences outlined in color occupy the upper half of the canvas, a hand is outlined below and a small circle with certain mathematical lines are placed between. Various things are written in paint across sthe canvas, much as lesser artists inscribe sentiments on walls.

Mr. Picabia, head of the Dadaists until he ex-communicated them some months ago, has another work of similiar brilliancy, called for some reason, "The Cacodylate Eye" which is entirely in writing except for a photograph of the artist of passport size, stuck on the canvas. Mr. Picabia now signs his work "Picabia, le Loustic" or Buffoon.

A total of 6,900 works were offered for the Salon but only 2,500 places were available to hang them.

PROPOSE CHANGE IN AUSTRALIA GOVERNMENT.

MELBOURNE, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press).—The Inter-State Labor Conference has terminated its proceedings by adopting a proposal of Premier Theodor, of Queensland, in favor of making he Commonwealth the supreme governing authority of Australia, with unlimited powers, states to have only such functions as the Commonwealth confers, and the Commonwealth to have the right to create new states.

The scheme, which is a drastic form of unification, provides for the abolition of the Senate, the vesting of the final jurisdiction in all causes in the High Court, and disallowing the acceptance of Imperial honors in any circumstances by any Australian citizen.

HEART WOULD BEAT LIKE A TRIP HAMMER

Heart trouble has of late years become very prevalent. Sometimes a pain catches you in the region of the heart, now and then your heart skips beats, palpitates, throbs, or beats with such rapidity and violence you think it is going to burst.

You have weak and dizzy spells, sinking sensations, are nervous irritable and depressed, and if you attempt to walk up stairs or any distance you get all out of breath.

We know of no remedy that will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy and normal condition as will

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Mrs. Chadwick, Delhi, Ont., writes, "I had palpitation of the heart, and the least exercise such as going upstairs or up a hill, my heart would beat like a trip hammer and at times I was dizzy-headed and had a sinking sensation as if my time were near.

A friend suggested I try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills so I procured three boxes and by the time the first one was used I began to improve. In all I took six boxes, and now, although in my 66th year I feel like a young girl; no dizziness or heart-thumping and can walk miles without fatigue. At time of sickness I weighed 120 pounds, now I weigh 150."

Price, 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FORTUNE IN BOTTLE OF PLATINUM FOR FOUR.

PRINCETON, B. C., Nov. 29. — Canadian Press. — Out of the Tulameen district, south of here, comes a mining tale concerning four Chinamen and six pounds of platinum.

Thirty years ago Ah Foo and his Oriental brethren labored long and faithfully at their claim on the Tulameen river, below Granite Creek. As the sum total of their labors, the Celestials accumulated six pounds of platinum and cached it in the ground, all in a big square faced bottle that had contained saki. They left the scene and finally all landed in China.

At that time platinum was worth about 50c an ounce. Recently quotations reached as high as $75 an ounce.

It dawned on Ah Foo and his associates in far-away China that they had a fortune of something over seven thousand dollars in that old bottle and all four embarked from China and arrived at their old place on the Tulameen where trey had no difficulty in finding the cache. They returned to China, where for a fourth share of the profits, each expects to live like a millionaire for the rest of his days.

WORKING CONDITIONS IN GERMANY CHANGE

WORKERS GETTING MORE PAY FOR SHORTER HOURS

COBLENZ, Nov. 29.—(Associated Press)—Workmen in most parts of Germany are said to be receiving better wages, everything considered than prior to the war, and working shorter hours. This is particularly true of the occupied area, according to American army officers who in their line of duty have come in contact with the German working classes.

That the workman is able to live better under present conditions is due, in a large measure, to the fact that strict regulations of food prices has been enforced by German authorities and has prevented shopkeepers from boosting the cost of the necessities of life, despite depreciation in the value of the mark. These regulations apply chiefly to house rent, meat, potatoes and other staples produced within the country.

Many luxuries have increased in price, especially within the last few weeks when the mark took a tumble but the currency fluctuation has not materially affected food in the markets patronized by the working classes.

One hundred marks a day is considered a fair wage for the average working man, skilled workmen and miners receiving considerably more, some as high as 200 marks a day, while the common laborer makes about 50 or 60 marks for eight hours.

Professors in the universities and school teachers maintain that they have not fared so well as the working man, receiving on an average of less than 80 marks a day.

Since the war, the Germans do not eat as much meat as formerly potatoes forming the principle article of food. Dark bread in three pound loaves is sold for 7 marks, this being a mixture resembling rye bread as made in America. It is considered very wholesome and is eaten by many Americans, among them Major Henry T. Allen, commander of the American forces in Germany, who has it on his table at home at every meal.

CHURCH SERVICES AT MARY STREET

(Contributed).

On Sabbath the congregations were above the average, and the solo by Miss Beevis was well received. "The Shield of Truth" was the subject of the evening sermon, and was founded on Acts xii., 6: "The same night Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains: and the keepers before the door kept the prison." An outline of the sermon follows:

History a Web on the Loom of Time.

If the loom of time holds the web of history, then nations and men are daily furnishing patterns for the ever-changing warp of life. The continuous interplay of human agency with physical and moral forces which it sets in motion, is so complex, that we often lose sight of many links in the chain of cause and effect. These links are so subtle and secret, that to unravel them is beyond the power of the human mind. History, when written with the insight of genius, reveals many dramatic situations.

The Drama and the Church.

While the drama had its origin in the Church of God, and was brought to a very exalted position by Shakespeare, the evangelical church of to-day must bow the modern drama out. Why? The answer is simple and easy. The subject and the cast do not, as a rule, harmonize with the sanctity of the house of God. We said that the drama had its origin in the church, but the subject was always taken from the Bible, and the actors were Christian men and women. Remember, the church is dedicated to the worship of God, and not as a play house; and while I cannot find time to discuss this question with the "sporting parson," it is the feeling of earnest Christian men and women, that the Church of God is not a place for dramatic performances.

The Great Drama in the Subject Before Us.

No record of human life is so rich in dramatic situations as the Bible, because no other record ever written has such insight into the eternal laws which govern human life and conduct. Nor is there in he Bible a more dramatic situation than the one presented in the text. Look at his sublime dramatic scene. First Herod, with the blood of the apostle James still on his hands, plans the death of Peter. A midnight prayer meeting is in full swing on behalf of the imprisoned disciple. Peter is quietly sleeping between two soldiers, calm as a babe on its mother's breast. The angel of the Covenant is already on the wing with a divine emancipation order for Peter's freedom, sealed with the authority of high heaven. While the forces of inexorable retribution are slowly moving on the bloody track of Herod; and the Almighty God holds the threads of the pattern of the web, while invisible hands are slowly weaving.

Herod Plans Peter's Death For His Own Convenience.

Herod Agrippa I. was the son of Aristobulus and Berenice and grandson of Herod the Great. He was brought up at Rome with Claudius and Drusus, and after a life of various vicissitudes, was thrown into prison by Tiberoous, where he remained till the accession of Caligula. Later this Herod Agrippa becomes Governor of Judaea and Samaria. He is not a monster, nor an atheist, nor a tyrant; he is simply a man with a dead conscience. His murder of James has pleased the Jews, and the death of Peter will please them more; so he quietly lies on his bed and plans the death of Christ's disciple. Did you ever know a man who could quietly plan the destruction of a servant of God, just to save his own interests? Well, such a man cannot prosper. God is quietly watching every move. Herod lies awake planning Peter's execution; but God is awake also.

The Great Prayer Meeting on Behalf of Peter.

Next to the ten days' prayer meeting at Penticoste, that was the greatest. Peter must die to-morrow morning unless God saves him to-night. You see it was a time of crisis. We never pray so earnestly as when a crisis comes. Oh, how we pray when disease, or financial ruin, or calamity, or death stalks outside our door. There is a strange irony about the whole drama. Herod preparing his speech for Peter's execution; what an oration he will deliver by the side of the scaffold; and it will tend to prop up his tottering throne to please the Jews. But there is prayer for Peter, and God is listening. You need never be alarmed for a man, who has his confidence in God, and on whose behalf the Church of God is on her knees.

Peter and the Angel Walk Out of Prison.

Will you look in upon Peter for a moment? He lies on the ground chained to a soldier on either side. He is sleeping soundly, and they are building the scaffold, while he sleeps on the bosom of his God. "He giveth his beloved sleep." Oh, what matchless slumber. Herod on the throne, Peter in the dungeon. Is not this the way of the world? Sometimes it seems so; but why does the disciple sleep through all the turmoil? Oh Peter, art thou dreaming? In thy dreams dost thou once more sail on blue Galilee with the Lord Art thou, in thy dream with the Master once more in Capernaum's busy streets, or feeding the multitude, or walking once more by the familiar shore to receive the charge of the Chief Shepherd, "Feed my sheep?" Herod cannot sleep, but Peter sleeps in his chains. Sleep on, Oh disciple of the Christ. God is keeping watch over thy bed and preparing thine awakening. A blinding flash of light. The angel of God in the cell. A touch of God's finger and the chains fall off. "Arise Peter, put on thy sandals. Throw the cloak around thee, and follow me." It is the voice of an angel of God, not of a Roman executioner. Out of the cell, along the corridor, through the gate into liberty; away with thee, Peter, not to the scaffold, but to the prayer meeting, where thy friends are besieging heaven on thy behalf.

Herod's Power and Triumph a Lie Against the Nature of Things.

We know that right is right and wrong is wrong. We know that it is better to fight and suffer for the right; even we are not saved from the scaffold. The man who does this, win or lose, is more than conqueror. What God is calling for now is not men who can argue well about the faith, but men who will fight the good fight of faith. Happy is the man who builds for right, for God and for eternity.

MOTHER! MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS WITH CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the 'fruity' 'taste of 'California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine 'California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babes and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

A CHEERFUL WOODCHUCK.

A woodchuck lived in a hollow tree;
He had lived there all his life.
The rooms were warm and the rent was free;
He liked it, he and his wife.

But when the storms came ragin' by,
And winds blew to and fro,
They sometimes waked when the sun was high
And couldn't see for snow.

Then the old woodchuck would chuckle,
And seize his shovel and say,
"When you live in a wood (as a woodchuck should)
A job like this is play!"

Ma Chuck would come to the door and call,
"Now stop and get your breath!
Our neighbors haven't begun at all;
You're digging yourself to death."

Then the old woodchuck would chuckle,
And whirl his shovel and say,
"When you live in a wood (as a woodchuck should)
A job like this is play!"

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

G. A. BRETHEN IN NORTH OF RIDING

UPHOLDS CRERAR AND UNITED GRAIN GROWERS' TRANSACTIONS.

Mr. G. A. Brethen, Progressive candidate for East Peterboro, has held several meetings in the northern part of his riding, he informs the Examiner, he met with a cordial and friendly reception. Last week, several meetings were held in the neighborhood of Peterboro. On Wednesday night at Villiers, a well attended meeting was addressed by Mr. Morley Smithson, Mr. Buck of Norwood, a manufacturer who believes in Progressive principles, and by the candidate. At Stewart's Hall, on the same evening, Mr. F. E. Ellis, Editor of the Farm and Dairy, Peterboro, followed Mr. Brethen. On Thursday evening, the meeting at Coldsprings was also well attended, although it had not been announced until a few hours previously; Mr. C. Brown, Douro, and Mr. Brethen and Mr. Ellis were the speakers. On Friday evening, an appreciative audience at Gervants schoolhouse listened to Progressive Principles as expounded by Mr. H. B. Cowan of Farm and Dairy, Peterboro, and the candidate.

The Progressive candidate, who is developing rapidly as a public speaker, started his campaign with the idea of discussing big national issues and leaving personalities of the mud-slinging variety entirely alone. More and more, however, he has been driven to answering the charges which seem to be the stock-in-trade of a section of his opposition. At Coldsprings, for instance, he disposed effectively of the charge that the United Grain Growers, the company of which Mr. T. A. Crerar is president, have been profiteers. He admitted that the Grain Growers Export Company, a subsidiary company of the United Grain Growers, had made profits in one year of over $500,000 on a capitalization of over $100,000.

The Grain Growers

The United Grain Growers, the speaker explained, were unable to supply their customers in Great Britain with grain, once navigation closed at the head of the lakes, accordingly Mr. Crerar went to New York with $100,000 of capital and organized the United Grain Growers Export Company, to do business principally in American grain. In one year this export company handled over 87,000,000 bushels of United States grain at a profit of three-quarters of cent a bushel. The volume explained the profit. "I contend," said M. Brethen, "that a man who could go to New York and enter into competition with the grain brokers there, who are among the shrewdest in the world, operating on American credit and with American grain, and come away with $500,000 of profit, is a good man to place in charge of the business of the corporation of the Dominion of Canada." His audience evidently agreed with him.

The Tariff

Dealing with the tariff, the speaker proved conclusively that farmers do not benefit from the tariff rates on their products. The price of farm products, he said, is determined by the price at which we can sell our surplus on the markets of the world. The price of cheese, for instance, goes up or down with the price of cheese on the British wholesale market. The price of wheat and live stock is also determined by world competition with the world. The farmer, therefore, is in the position of selling his products in competition with the world while practically everything he has to buy is purchased at the prices artificially inflated by a protective tariff "In this", he said "we have a sufficient explanation of rural depopulation."

The candidate referred somewhat caustically to a cabinet that is supposed to represent the people of Canada but has not a farmer in it, just one labor man and he, a Senator and the rest made up principally of corporation lawyers and industrial barons. Such a government, he contended, could not appreciate the problems of the average citizens, even did they desire to give the best service to all the people. Mr. Brown discussed the tariff along the same lines arguing that a reduction downward was necessary in the interests not only of the farmers but of the average citizen.

Rinso

Rinso can be used with cold water as well as with warm. Rinso is as harmless as pure water itself. Try this easy way of washing next Monday.

At Night—Soak the clothes in the rich Rinso suds.

Morning—Rinse them in either warm or cold water—that's all! They're ready for the line—clean and fresh.

LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED, TORONTO

If you have a washing machine—

Soak the clothes overnight in the usual Rinso way. The cleansing suds loosen every bit of dirt. In the morning operate the machine for a few minutes and the clothes are perfectly clean—even the most soiled spots.

$2,100 IN FINES FOR OPERATING ILLICIT STILL.

ST. CATHARINES, November 29 (Canadian Press). — The finding of an illicit still on the flats of the Twelve-Mile Creek last Thursday night netted fines of $2,100 yesterday afternoon. Guiseppi Salonia was assessed $400 for running the still and $600 for breach of the O. T. A. The same fine was imposed on Rosario Caltori, with $100 for having a gun.

"It was the best liquor I have tasted in a long time," testified Sergt. Michael O'Leary, V.C., in reply to the class of product of the still.

SENTENCED FOR THEFT.

ST. CATHARINES, November 29 (Canadian Press). — Two years less a day was the sentence imposed yesterday on James Eddy and John Rooney by Magistrate Campbell on conviction of having stolen an automobile, the property of Porter Bros., Welland Ship Canal contractors, and also a quantity of champagne from the residence of A. T. Porter. Evidence was given that the prisoners attempted to sell the champagne along the Ship Canal.

CANADA'S CATCH OF SEA FISH INCREASES.

OTTAWA, November 29 (Canadian Press).— Canada's catch of sea fish during October was considerably greater in weight and higher in value than in October of the previous year. Last month the catch totalled 489,666 cwts., with a value when landed of $1,466,124; in October it was 431,724 cwts., with a value of $1,346,017. This is for sea fish landed on both the Atlantic and the Pacific Coasts.

DEWART HELD MEETING IN THE CLYSDALE SCHOOL

CHANDOS, Nov. 25.—A well-attended meeting in the Clysdale School House was addressed by Capt. John Dewart, M.C., Liberal candidate, and Reeve Curtis of Havelock. Mr. Montgomery, a veteran of two wars, was Chairman and urged the people to support a returned soldier.

Mr. Dewart showed the serious financial standing of Canada and the necessity of a change in government. He went into the railway question and showed how the high freight termine, consisted of doors, planks and pieces of cabin.

Capt. Gus Hinckley of the steamer Hinckley, said that the steamer City of New York, Hinckley and Pelow left Oswego about three-twenty on Thursday morning and about three hours later they arrived at the Duck Islands, a heavy fog spread over the lake, and the steamers Pelow and Hinckley took the shelter on the west side of the Duck Islands, but the City of New York passed them and did not go in for shelter.

The bodies of four identified dead found in the yawl, those of Mrs. Harry Randall, mate Warren and the Dorey brothers, will arrive to-day. They were expected yesterday but were delayed because the necessary permits did not arrive in time.

rates was caused by the Railway Board allowing the Government-owned roads to raise the rates and the C.P.R. took advantage of the same rates. No relief was in sight until the Government-owned railways began to pay a dividend.

Mr. Dewart reviewed the record of the late Government and showed how Hon. T. A. Crerar and Hon. Arthur Meighen had worked together as Cabinet Ministers in the Union Government, and after Mr. Crerar had left the Government he had by his vote in the House supported Mr. Meighen against the Liberal party. Hon. Mr. King had fought for the people's rights and for the exposure of all the business and accounts of the Canadian National Railways, but Mr. Crerar and Mr. Meighen had defeated his attempts and had voted to conceal all the expenditures of money in connection with the railways.

The Liberals had also tried to make it impossible for Cabinet Ministers to be connected with large private interests, but again Mr. Crerar and Mr. Meighen had opposed this measure.

As Mr. Meighen and Mr. Crerar had worked together in the past opposing the rights of the people and supporting the same policy, would they not work together with their parties after the election?

Mr. Dewart closed with a strong appeal for the forces opposed to the Government to unite behind the Liberal party as it had fought the farmers' battle and its platform was wide enough to take in all classes of people.

Reeve Curtis.

Mr. Curtis reviewed the records of the Drury Government on the standpoint of lack of economy. He pointed out that members of Parliament of the Farmers' party had voted to increase their salary $600 per year. He condemned their road policy as one good for the cities and towns and ignoring the farmers on the back concessions, designed to get votes from the cities, because they expected the farmer vote no matter how they used him. He showed how the Drury Government had lost people one and one-quarter millions by a bad sale of Government bonds, and furnished conclusive proof that they had proved to be the most extravagant Government Ontario has ever had.

He prophesied sure victory for the Liberal party and assured the audience that the campaign in East Peterborough was going well.

He asked the people to support a man who understood farming as well as business, and who had shown his devotion to his country by fighting for it, having also been honored by the King for his gallantry in action. Such a man would do justice to all occupations and all classes.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

A prominent farmer in the district gave his opinion that Mr. Dewart would get the largest vote ever polled for one man through Anstruther and Chandos, because the people felt that all conditions being equal the returned soldier should be given the preference.

ENRICHED THE TREASURY.

During the past license year License Inspector Goodrick, of Durham and Northumberland, laid cases in these counties which contributed $6,540 in fines to the Provincial treasury, and seized 80 cases of liquor valued at $2,520. Of the $6,540 fines, $3,335 came from Cobourg.

FIFTH BODY IN YAWL NOT IDENTIFIED YET

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press.)— The fifth body found in the yawl of the steamer City of New York, which foundered some time Thursday off Stoney Point while on her way to Trenton from Oswego with a cargo of coal, has not yet been identified, although it is possible it may be Joseph Gallagher of this city, who with his brother Frank, was just reported to have been lost, but later it was believed that the brothers were not on the vessel on her fated trip. In some respects the body of the unidentified man corresponds with that of Joseph Callagher. There is still no trace of Capt. Harry Randall, his ten months old child and young Stanley Papa. The steamer Hinckley left for the scene of the tragedy yesterday to look for the missing bodies and for wreckage of the lost vessel.

Yesterday the steamer Sicken, bound from Cape Vincent to Oswego, sighted considerale wreckage between Stoney Point and the Galoups. The wreckage so far as the crew on the bow were able to de-

TRENT RIVER HAPPENINGS

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 29.—Many from here went to Campbellford last night to attend the mass meeting in the interest of the National Progressive party, held in the Opera House. Senator Turiff, Mrs. Vair, Mr. G. H. O. Thomas, Mr. F. J. Slade, the Progressive candidate, and others addressed the meeing.

A meeting in the interest of Charles N. Kerr, Liberal candidate for Northumberland, will be held in the Opera House, Campbellford, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 30th. Addresses will be delivered by Mr. Kerr, the candidate; Mr. Kirk Cameron, and others. All are invited.

On Wednesday, Nov. 16th, the death took place of a well-known and most highly respected resident of West Seymour, in the person of William West, in his 65th year. The late Mr. West had been failing in health for the past year or more.

About thirty-six years ago he was united in marriage with Miss Agnes Watters, who, with four sons, survive. The sons are: William, Charles and George, of Seymour, and Alfred, of Campbellford. Another son, Thomas, passed away about six years ago. Mrs. Elizabeth Rowe, of Toronto, and Mrs. James McMullen, of Michigan, are sisters of deceased. The funeral took place on Friday, Nov. 18th, service being conducted by Rev. C. F. McIntosh, minister of St. Andrew's Church, of which the late Mr. West was a faithful member. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Many from this vicinity will be glad to hear of the return of Col. J. A. Macoun, M.D., to Campbellford, after nearly six years' absence overseas. He and Mrs. Macoun left home in the spring of 1915, and the Colonel has been on duty ever since, having served in hospitals in France during the war, and since that in England. The Colonel looks hale and hearty. Mrs. Macoun expects to arrive in Campbellford shortly, and they will occupy their residence on Frank Street.

The Sunday School officials are arranging for a cantata to be held at the Methodist Church at Christmastide.

ON THE EMPRESS CALENDAR

Art Seeley, of Syracuse, district governor of Rotary, will be the speaker at th luncheon on Thursday at the Empress.

Other dates on the Empress list are the annual banquet of the Canadian Packing Company on 29th December, and the Masonic banquet on St. John's Night, 27th December.

LAKEFIELD UNITED FARM YOUNG FOLK ENTERTAIN ELDERS

INTEREST-HOLDING DEBATE, MUSICAL PROGRAMME AND REFRESHMENTS — HUNTERS RETURN WITH THEIR SPOILS.

SOCIAL MENTION

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 29. —The regular meeting of the Lakefield U.F.Y.P.O. was held in the S.O.E. Hall, on Wednesday, November 23rd when a large number of the young people were present. At the close of the business part of the proceedings the young people entertained the local U. F. O. and U. F.W.O.

An interesting feature of the programme was a debate, "Resolved that the Automobile is a Hindrance rather than a help to the farmer". Mr. Howard Baptie and Miss Mae Petrie upheld the affirmative; the negative side was taken by Messrs. Richard Graham and Roy Frankish, who so ably brought out the many ways in which the car is a help to farmers that the judges' decision was given in their favour.

Other items on the programme were a reading by Mr. Grattan Kemp, a recitation by Mr. Ellwood Dunford, a recitation by Miss Mae Petrie and a solo by Mr. Rufus Payne.

Refreshments were then served by the ladies, after which the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Chas. Goodman has returned from a three weeks visit to friends in New York.

Messrs. Melvillel and Herman Kidd have returned to the village, after spending the summer in the West.

MANITOBA POLITICS

WINNIPEG, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press)—Fifty years ago last July Manitoba came into being as a province, and has since that time its history in the realm of politics has been a varied one. Its domestic affairs have generally been of a troublesome character, while its problems on a number of notable occasions have become issues of the first magnitude in the federal field. Its influence in this wider realm may also be partially guaged by the fact that to-day two out of the three party leaders hail from Manitoba.

In the early pioneer days the French and English elements were almost equal in strength, and politics had a distinctly racial aspect. Developements however, put the Anglo-Saxons in the ascendency. As the outset the province had a second chamber, and influences tended to model the methods of administration after those of Quebec. Its system of education was similar to the double baord idea of the latter province, and French and English were both accepted as official languages.

The representation in the first three leigslatures was pretty evenly divided, but after John Norquay, a native of the province succeeded Hon. R. A. Davis to the premiership the strength of the French element weakened, and in the succeeding election it represented only about a third of the house. Party disturbances followed, and in the general election of 1897 the French representation fell to about a sixth. The period of joint control then definitely ended. The French element however, again became prominent as a result of the legislation affecting language, and schools, but it was ten years later before this issue took a vital form.

The Norquay administration at the outset had abundant popular support, but the administration at Ottawa insisted on its right to disallow railway franchises guanted by his government. Serious disputes arose between the two conservative administrations with the result that a serious opposition developed in the legislature under the leadership of Thomas Greenway. It was ended in the Liberal party under the latter coming into power in 1888.

Recognizing the importance of the issues which had resulted in the defeat of Norquay the Ottawa administration made liberal concessions to meet the provinces wishes as regard to railways. Interest however, was soon changed as a result of the school question. Hon. Joseph Martin, then attorney general introduced a number of measures which terminated the use of the French language and introduced a national school system which did away with the prevailing Catholic and Protestants institutions.

The Manitoba school question was destined to dominate not only the provincial but the federal politics for the next ten years. An appeal to the privy council failed to upset the legislation, but a further derision from this body conceded the rights of the Dominion parliament to hear an appeal. The federal house passed a remedial order instructing the Manitoba legislature to make certain changes which in turn the latter body declined to make. The federal government failed in an attempt to pass remedial legislation with the result that the matter was made the issue of the federal elections of 1896.

The outcome was that long Conservative administration at Ottawa was brought to an end and the Liberal regime under Sir Wilfrid Laurier inaugurated. During this trying controversy the interests of the province were in the hands of Attorney General Clifford Sifton. One of the first sets of the Laurier administration was on certain concessions to recognize the right of the province to control its educational affairs.

The Greenway government succumbed in the election of 1899 when Hugh John MacDonald lead the Conservative to victory. The latter's administration, however, was but a prelude to the government over which Sir Rodmond Roblin presided. Under Sir Rodmond the Conservative party won four successive elections. Following the exposure of irregularities in connection with the new parliament buildings, this government resigned in 1915, and the following election gave an overwhelming majority to the Liberals under Hon. T. C. Norris.

Under the latter administration women were given the franchise, Manitoba being the pioneer among the provinces in this respect. Probition also came into affect, and the principle of proportional representation was accepted, and applied in the case of Winnipeg.

Manitoba first figured in the federal elections in 1872 at which time only four seats were allocated to the province. On that occassion three Conservatives were returned and one Liberal. In the elections held the following year however, the parties split even, but in the federal contests of 1878 the ratio returned to the 1872 standard the Conservatives winning three seats against the Liberals one.

Before the 1882 federal elections a redistribution had taken place from which the province obtained an additional seat. The results showed that the Liberal gained three seats to two obtained by the Conservative party. In 1877 however, the Pendulum swung the other way and four Conservative members went to Ottawa as against one Liberal. This ratio was maintained in 1891.

The redistribution which preceded the dominion elections of 1896, resulted in Manitoba being ganted seven seats. The results gave the Conservatives four seats, the Liberals two, while one independent was returned. In 1900 three Conservatives were returned to two Liberals. In the elections of 1904 the province had ten seats, seven of which went to the Liberals as against three to the Conservatives. Four years later, in 1908, this ratio was almost revered, the Conservatives taking eight and the Liberals two seats.

The reciprocity campaign of 1911 found sentiment in Manitoba apparently at variance with that recorded by the other two prarie provinces. The contests waged warm, but the final results showed the Conservatives had gained eight seats as compared to two won by the opponents. The popular vote in Manitoba at this date showed the Conservatives 40,356, Liberal 34,781 and independents 2,559.

In the memorable election of 1917, when conscription was the issue, Manitoba voted over-whelmingly for the Union government. Thirteen members were returned as an endorsation for the war policy of the Borden administration as against one Laurier-Liberal. The latter was Dr. J. P. Molloy, who was elected in the constituency of Provencher by a small majority. The present elections contest finds a new progressive party making a strong bid for support, while later candidates have also been nominated in the cities.

Eat Heartily Without Dread

Eat Anything You Like and Don't Worry—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Relieve Sour Stomach, Belching, Gas and Acid Conditions Due to Indigestion.

Simply Chew a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After Meals—They Taste Good.

No matter what you eat or drink, even though it be just a glass of sweet milk, the stomach may rebel and sour almost immediately. In such cases one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets furnish the akaline effect to offset the acid condition. Quite often the stomach may be over-crowded with partially digested food.

A cold bottle of beverage at such times may add to the difficulty and there is gassiness, a billious taste, and other distresses due to indigestion. Travelle rs may save themselves much of the discomfort of wayside eating by having a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with them as they can be had in almost any drug store throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Nervous Trouble

Nervous troubles are, without a doubt, the mo t discouraging form of sickness to the sufferer. You are tired and ill but cannot say what is wrong, no pain except frequent headaches, you are fretful, cross and irritable without a cause, no ambition or desire to continue your daily routine, you feel a picking or itching of the limbs or body and feel that some terrible calamity is about to overcome you, cannot enter into your former pleasures and prefer solitude to the company of your friends. In such cases the whole nervous system is deranged and requires the most careful attention. Take one of Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets every night or every second night and if there is any tendency to Stomach trouble take one Special Stomach Tablet three times a day before meals.

ELECTION NEWS

THE UNEMPLOYED.

Peterborough, Ont.,
Nov. 29th, 1921.

The Corporation of the City of Peterborough.

Sirs,—Will you be good enough to inform me what measures have been taken to accept the offer of the Dominion Government to relieve unemployment by contributing one-third, the Provincial Government to contribute one-third, and each municipality to contribute one-third for the relief of unemployment on public works. The time is now rapidly arriving for the acceptance of this offer, and I would strongly urge upon all municipalities with which I am concerned in this Riding that public notice be given so that people who are out of employment may immediately have the opportunity of relieving their distress.—Yours truly,

J. H. Burnham.

MEETING ON THE FOURTH LINE.

Last night Mr. G. N. Gordon and County Treasurer E. M. Elliott spoke at the Fourth Line of Smith Township and had a very good meeting. Seventy-two persons were present. Mr. T. L. Young was chairman. Mr. Elliott said that during ten years of Mr. Burnham's time, little had been done to complete the Trent Canal, while in one session, Mr. Gordon had succeeded, largely through his own efforts, in influencing a vote of about a quarter of a million dollars for the Trent Canal, in this district.

In addition to that, Mr. Elliott said, he was an active, energetic, hard fighting and hard hitting business man, who went after things in a most vigorous style, and did not hesitate to go right to headquarters for anything he felt he should get for his ridjng.

He cited the instance of Mr. Gordon putting up a fight against the taxation on flour, oatmeal, bran and shorts, which would make the cost of production higher for both the working man, and the farmer, and he claimed that Mr. Gordon's view of keeping down the cost of living, by taking the tax off, was a proper and sensible one. In addition to that, he dealt with the issues of the day, so that as they are related to the farmer and the community at large, and claimed that, if the farmer was provided with wider markets for his surplus production, then he in turn would buy from the manufacturer, and the working man would be kept busy providing for the home market.

Mr. Gordon went into the failure of the Government to take care of the needs of the people, as they arose.

The Mail Carriers.

The mail carriers, according to Mr. Gordon, both in the city and rural districts, had received shabby treatment from the Government, and the Postmaster-General had not been sympathetic with them. Mr. Gordon made a particular appeal to the women who were present, that they should exercise their franchise in the interests of good government, in the effort to shut out monopolies, mergers and combines, in the restraint of trade. He quoted Mr. Meighen's statement in the House of Commons, that the duty on agricultural implements should be reduced, and referred to Hansard of 1910, page 1915, but he said that Mr. Meighen had now changed his opinion, and refused to refer to his motion in the House of Commons for a reduction of the tariff of certain articles of production.

Mr. Gordon quoted Mr. Burnham's utterances, showing that Mr. Burnham had stated that the Meighen party did not represent the Conservative party, and, in fact, did not represent anybody, and that Mr. Burnham would not rest until he had wrecked this party which he now is supporting.

Mr. Gordon said that Mr. Burnham had turned a hand spring with more agility than one would think a man of his age could do, and that he was now supporting a Government which he claimed, last February, was nothing more than a buccaneering outfit.

HON. MACKENZIE KING REPLIES TO THE G.W.V.A.

OTTAWA, November 29. Canadian Press. — In his reply to C. G. MacNeil of the Great War Veterans, issued to-day, Hon. Mackenzie King expressed himself as in favor of the principles underlying the questions placed before him in the Great War Veterans' Association questionnaire.

"I have never felt that the Parliament just dissolved," he says, "was sufficiently representative in character to do justice to any question of great National Importance, and in particular any matter bearing upon the reestablishment of soldiers, which is entirely a post war problem."

MEIGHEN TURNS GUNS ON JAMES MURDOCK

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 28.—(Canadian Press.)—An attack on James Murdock, Liberal candidate in South Toronto and former member of the Board of Commerce, featured the first of the speeches which Premier Meighen made here last evening.

"Mr. Murdock wrote a letter of vague humbug, intimating that he was being held down or scolded," said the Premier. He was told: "You name any Minister of the Crown who did what you say he had no right to do, tried to interfere with the working of law, make that charge and we will give you an investigation before the House rises."

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS:

MARTHA—Housework and washing is only an excuse for red and ugly hands. I know a great many women who do all their own housework and yet have beautiful white hands. They use what I use, CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM. It is the most wonderful thing in the world for preventing chapping and redness of the hands. I wouldn't be without it. Keep a bottle of CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM on your bathroom shelf and rub a little on your hands every time you have had them in water to do cleaning. It will soften and whiten them and will protect them from wear and tear of housework. You can buy CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM at any Druggist. 40c a large bottle.

Asleep in Jesus.

Sleep well, sleep well, until His Kingdom comes.
"The ransomed of the Lord shall then return,"
And he shall bid thee waken out of sleep.
A Highway shall be there, a Way of Life,
And thou, dear heart, with joy shall walk thereon,
Up, up, until perfection's goal is won,
When there shall be no pain, nor any death,
When God's dear hand shall wipe all tears away.
In this blest hope I lay thee down to rest;
Good-night, dear heart, 'twill not be long, sleep well!

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Might I say in reply to a query addressed to me through your columns under date of Nov. 25 and signed by Mr. Jos. O'Conner that the Chairman of our meeting held in Douro on Nov. 21, Mr. Micheal Walsh, was for 13 years in municipal life in the township of Douro, being Reeve and County Councillor 6 years of that time. The fact that Mr. Walsh never was defeated at the polls shows to what a unique extent he held the esteem and confidence of the citizens of Douro.

Might I point out also that Mr. Walsh was instrumental in forming the Farmers' Club, being President of that body of Indian River, but he looked upon it at all times as an economic rather than a political organization.

The fact that the Liberal administration always fought for the rights of the farmers, both while in power and in opposition and went down to defeat attempting to obtain wider markets for the Canadian farmers, warrants the support of every man and woman engaged in the occupation of agriculture.

Might I also ask Mr. O'Conner if he has worked less or sweated less since the Drury Government came into power in Ontario, or if he conscientiously believes that that condition would be improved if Mr. Crerar, who with Mr. Meighen advocated and voted for the policy of concealing from the people the expenditures of the Canadian National Railways and is President of the greatest grain combine in Canada, were Premier of this Dominion?

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space I am,

Faithfull yours,
JOHN A. DEWART.
Indian River, Nov. 28.

Sir,—Mr. Scott in his letter in Friday's issue seems a very hard man to satisfy. In the last bye-election he was very wrathful because a labour man entered the field; and now Mr. Burnham holding meetings and asking people to vote for him does not suit him either He seems to be particularly sore because Mr. Burnham reads and understands his Scripture and is not a prohibitionist. I understand Mr. Burnham issued a challenge some time ago and promised a sum of money to any institution, named by the person that would prove their case of prohibition from a Scripture point of view. He had a couple from a scientific point but none from a Scripture point, perhaps Mr. Scott will oblige.

In conclusion I would recommend Mr. Scott and any others that favour telling God He did wrong in making the world and all that in it is:—to read carefully Matt. 12: 31-32 vrse and what led up to that statement been made. Compare it with what the fanatic is doing to-day and see if it is not identical.

Yours truly,
F SCHOALES,
118 Monaghan Road, City.

MEMORIAL WINDOW TO MOTHERS AND WIVES.

KINGSTON, November 29.—The Memorial Hall here, to keep far ever green the memory of men and women who gave their all in the Great War, is rapidly nearing completion. The last handsome memorial window in commemoration of mothers and wives, and contributed by Mayor H .C. Nickle, has been placed in position. Of handsome design, it displays a verse from the pen of Miss Agnes Machar, of Kingston:

"Long may our Great Britain stand,
The bulwark of the sea;
But Canada, our own dear land,
Our first love is for thee."

"BULL-DOG DRUMMOND"

BY "SAPPER" (CYRIL McNEILE)

III

Hugh turned back into his own room and lighting a particularly noisy pipe, sat down in his own special chair, where James Denny found him five minutes later, with his hands deep in his pockets, and his legs crossed, staring out of the window. He asked him about lunch twice without result, and having finally been requested to go to hell, he removed himself aggrievedly to the kitchen. Drummond was under no delusions as to the risks he was running. Underrating his opponent had never been a fault of his, either in the ring or in France, and he had no intention of beginning now. The man who could abduct an American millionaire, and drug him till he was little better than a baby, and then use a thumbscrew to enforce his wishes, was not likely to prove overscrupulous in the future. In fact, the phit of that bullet still rang unpleasantly in his ears.

After a while he began half-unconsciously to talk aloud to himself. It was an old trick of his when he wanted to make up his mind on a situation, and he found that it helped him to concentrate his thoughts.

"Two alternatives, old buck," he remarked, stabbing the air with his pipe. "One—give the Potts bird up at Berners Street; two—do not. Number one—out of court at once. Preposterous—absurd. Therefore—number two holds the field." He recrossed his legs, and ejected a large wineglassful of nicotine juice from the stem of his pipe on to the carpet. Then he sank back exhausted, and rang the bell.

"James," he said, as the door opened, "take a piece of paper and a pencil—if there's one with a point—and sit down at the table. I'm going to think, and I'd hate to miss out anything."

His servant complied, and for a while silence reigned.

"First," remarked Drummond, "put down—'They know where Potts is.'"

"Is, sir, or are?" murmured Denny, sucking his pencil.

"Is, you fool. It's a man, not a collection. And don't interrupt, for Heaven's sake. Two—'They will try to get Potts.'"

"Yes, sir," answered Denny, writing busily.

"Three—'They will not get Potts. That is as far as I've got at the moment, James—but every word of it stands. Not bad for a quarter of an hour, my trusty fellah—what?"

"That's the stuff to give the troops, sir," agreed his audience, sucking his teeth.

Hugh looked at him in displeasure. "That noise is not, James," he remarked severely. "Now you've got to do something else. Rise and with your well-known stealth approach the window, and see if the watcher still watcheth without.'

The servant took a prolonged survey, and finally announced that he failed to see him.

"Then that proves conclusively that he's there," said Hugh. "Write it down, James: four—'Owing to the watcher without, Potts cannot leave the house without being seen.'"

"That's two withouts, sir," ventured James, tentatively; but Hugh, with a sudden light dawning in his eyes, was staring at the fireplace.

"I've got it, James," he cried. "I've got it. . . . Five—'Potts must leave the house without being seen.' I want him, James, I want him all to myself. I want to make much of him and listen to his childish prattle. He shall go to my cottage on the river, and you shall look after him."

"Yes, sir," returned James dutifully.

"And in order to get him there, we must get rid of the watcher without. How can we get rid of the bird—how can we, James, I ask you? Why, by giving him nothing further to watch for. Once let him think that Potts is no longer within, unless he's an imbecile he will no longer remain without."

"I see, sir," said James.

"No, you don't see anything. Now trot along over, James, and give my compliments to Mr. Darrell. Ask him to come in and see me for a moment. Say I'm thinking and daren't move."

LAND SOLD FOR ARREAR OF TAXES

ANNUAL DISPERSAL OF THE PROPERTIES LISTED WITH COUNTY CLERK, UPON WHICH TAXES HAVE BECOME DUE.

J. S. Digman, coal dealer, Toronto, was the heaviest bidder at the County Treasurer's annual sale of lands for taxes at the Court House. His accounts totalled $325.85. Other buyers were J. T. O'Connell, T. E. Bradburn, W. H. Meredith, W. Stocker and O. de Laplante. Most of the Monaghan properties put up for sale were taken, and Mr. Dingman bought extensively in the northern townships. In some instances the owner was simply bidding in the amount due against the property in order that he might retain possession of it. Mr. O'Connell's bill for the lots he bought was $180.65. His purchases were quarter acre parcels on lot 13, con. 11, North Monaghan, and on lot 12, con. 12. Mr. de Laplante bought $61.20 worth of County Clerk Elliott's offerings. This was all in Monaghan on lot 12, con. 11 and lot 9, con. 8. Mr. Stocker paid $43.28 for his two purchases, one on lot 12, con. 11, and the other on lot 14, con. 11. T. E. Bradburn paid $8.95 for half an acre on lot 45, con. 14 in Smith township, and Harry Meredith's account for two Smith parcels was $27.00.

The adjourned sale will be held on Wednesday, December 7, beginning at 10 a.m.

Council Meeting.

The concluding session of the County Council for this year will be held next week, beginning on Wednesday, the day after the election.

The business of selecting jurors required the attendance of the Warden and the County Clerk this week and consequently forced the convening of the Council until the later date. Usually the members are called together, but on this occasion the Tuesday is election day, and naturally the Warden realized that all the members were anxious to cast their votes in their own polling places that day. As for himself he will be scrutineer at Belmont town hall for the U.F.O. candidate, G. A. Brethen, where he also presided in the provincial election and turned the traditional Conservative majority upside down, giving McDonald a big vote and leaving Jim Thompson a mere handful.

CANADIAN TEACHERS IN POOREST SCHOOLS

PARTY VISITING ENGLAND DEPRESSED SURROUNDINGS

LONDON, Nov. 29.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—Seventy-seven Canadian teachers who recently arrived here to gain experience in English school, are for the present teaching in the poorest of the London schools, although they had hoped to take spells in teaching in schools in other centres. Some of them are rather depressed by the squalid surroundings of these London schools and they find the scholars more difficult to manage than their pupils at home.

Rediscovering Israel's Lost Tribes in China

Pictorial Story of the Supposed March of Israelites to Japan Partly Taken from Ancient Records.

Internationally Prominent Jews Now Are Seeking to Prove That the Survivors of a Vanishing Race in the Funiu-Shan Hills Are the Fabled Wanderers of Biblical Story.

WILL Palestine—the old and new Zion of the Jews—be the means of bringing back into the ever-moving stream of history the fabled lost tribes of Israel? A number of wealthy European and American Jews, among them being Sassoon, the London banker, evidently think so. As an earnest of their belief, these Jewish leaders have not only arranged for the repatriation of all their fellow-worshippers in China, but are now providing for a special research into the history and culture of a strange colony of Chinese Jews, who for thousands of years have been hidden among the Funiu-Shan hills of China near the town of Kai-Fung Foo.

These people are not merely Chinese who have embraced Judaism. They are Jews who were born in China of ancestors who can be traced back to the Han dynasty, some two centuries before the Christian era. In their worship and their written language they are almost purely Hebraic. Racially they are of mixed blood. In their features are the obvious signs of a Chinese heritage, but the Jewish element is equally apparent.

Whence came these hybrid people nobody can say. But the conjecture which has been freely made ever since the knowledge of their existence came to light, is that they are a part of those ten restless tribes who wandered away from the homeland in Palestine and Egypt and who were lost from sight of the world, from that time forth. It is this theory that the wealthy Jews who have been aiding the Zionist movement propose fully to investigate. Toward that end they have employed philologists, archaeologists, ethnologists and historians. All available evidence will be sifted in the hope that the romance of these wandering tribes may be bound up into the general fabric of Jewish culture—in the hope that the arts and the crafts and the ideals which they must have developed, may be recaptured for the benefit of Israel's posterity and the world.

It is estimated that more than a million of these Chinese Jews lived in and about the town of Kai Fung or Kai-Fung-Foo at one time. At the present, however, there is but a pitiable remnant left. Not more than 500 at the most, compose the colony who still worship at their synagogue in the reaches of those desolate hills and order their lives according to the Mosaic law. Famine, pestilence and loneliness, no doubt, have got in their work. Whether they are capable of being rejuvenated as a race, even if their culture is saved, is a matter of doubt.

The western world knew nothing whatever of these people until the middle of the 17th century. It is told that a certain Fr. Matteo Ricci, an aged Jesuit missionary stationed in Pekin, was amazed one day when a strange-looking, dusty pilgrim stopped at his door and told him that they worshipped the same God. The stranger gave his name as Ngai. He had seen a picture of the Virgin with the Christ in her arms and knowing nothing of the Christian cult supposed it to be a likeness of Rebekah, with either Esau or Jacob in her arms.

Ngai told Fr. Ricci that he had come from Kai-Fung-Foo where there were many more of his brethren in dire poverty "without synagogue and without rabbi." It was this last that furnished a clue to the identity of these people. Fr. Ricci, being too old to travel, sent a Chinese convert to Kai to investigate. The convert reported that the story told by Ngai was true in all particulars.

At Right—The Chair of Moses in the Synagogue of the Chinese Jews Near Kai-Fung-Foo.

Traced to 206 B. C.

The news of this colony worshipping in synagogues in and about Kai-Fung-Foo inflamed the Jews of the world with excitement. The thought was then inspired that these people might be the Ten Lost Tribes. Investigations were begun. It was discovered that two Mohammedan travelers had visited these Chinese Jews and had written of them as "Jews that have been settled in that empire since time immemorial." Talmudic scholars reported that the Jews had been in China as far back as the Han dynasty, about 206 B. C.

Chinese records of 1329 and 1354 A. D. mentioned the Jews and put their number at about 1,000,000, scattered in various parts of the empire, but concentrated at Kai, where they had a fine synagogue.

None of these facts resulted in any material help being given the starving remnants at Kai until 1842, when James Finn, British consul at Jerusalem, interested the Jews there and a letter was dispatched to the Chinese colony asking for facts in detail. The reply did not reach Jerusalem until 1870. It announced the utter destitution of the 40 remaining families whose names, according to this communication, were Chang, Ai, Chao, Tuh, Shih and Kao with various combinations.

In the mean time the Rev. W. A. P. Martin, representing the American Bible Society, had gone to Kai and seen with his own eyes. He returned to Pekin, where he interested Dr. Williams, then charge d'affaires of the United States. The latter went to Kai and returned with a scroll, written in ancient Hebrew on goatskin, containing the entire books of Genesis, Exodus and Leviticus as far as the 18th chapter. This scroll, between 900 and 1000 years old, is now in the Public Library in New York city, and a photographic copy of part of it is reproduced on this page.

The scroll, which is 70 feet long and 23½ inches wide, is in a state of wonderful preservation. The leather is soft, free from imperfections and pliable. The writing, which is faded, is wonderfully executed—done with loving care and accuracy. Each letter stands out like a cameo from the dim past—an echo of the glory that was!

Dr. Martin also brought with him a copy of an inscription he found on the ruins of the temple at Kai, reading:

"Seventy families came from western lands offering tribute of cotton cloth to the Emperor, who allowed them to settle at Kai."

Further researches by Dr. Martin revealed that the synagogue was erected by "a certain Yen-too-la" in 1163, and rebuilt on a larger scale in 1279.

In 1421 permission was given by the then Emperor to Yen-Tcheng, a physician greatly honored by the Emperor, to repair the synagogue, incense for use within the Holy of Holies being given by the ruler. Forty years later a flood destroyed the structure, which was restored, however, in 1512. The new synagogue bore the inscription:

"Adam, the first man, was from T'heen-chuh." T'heen-chuh was the Chinese name for India. The valley of the Euphrates is the legendary site of the Garden of Eden.

This inscription gives a hint—a supposition, based on non-historical data: The fourth book of Ezra, xiii, 39-45, states that the ten tribes were carried by Hosea to the Euphrates, whence they journeyed for a year and a half to Arzareth.

But to return to the synagogue, which is described by several of the earlier visitors to K'ai. The structure was 400 feet long and 150 feet wide and contained four large courts, which faced west—toward Jerusalem. In the centre of the first court stood an arch bearing a Chinese inscription recording the dedication of the building to the Creator.

The second court was entered through a great gate and was opened only for special feasts.

The third court contained reception rooms for guests, with memorial chapels at either side.

The fourth court, divided into two sections, contained a huge brazier for burning incense, and marble lions on high pedestals. In the north wall was a recess in which the sinews of slaughtered animals were extracted.

The synagogue proper was 60 feet by 40. A portico supported by a double row of four columns, formed the entrance. In the centre stood a magnificently carved chair—the seat of Moses.

It was covered with embroidered cushions, on which rested the scroll of the law while being read to the congregation.

At the extreme end was the Holy of Holies, totally dark, which contained the Ark and thirteen scrolls of the law, to represent the thirteen tribes of Israel, each in a separate case.

But the Chinese Jews are not the only remnants of the early wanderers still to be found in the mystic East, for in Japan there are distinctly Jewish types. Norman MacLeod, prolific writer on eastern affairs, whose history on ancient Japan was published in 1879 in Tokio with the consent of the Japanese government, asserted that at least one of the lost tribes had settled in Nippon.

Other scholars point to the prophets of Israel who said that the lost tribes would live in a far-off isle, speak a strange tongue, yet worship the true God.

Similarity of Jap and Jew

MacLeod calls attention to a set of strange coincidences: He asserts that the Shindia, or holy class among the Japanese, are descended from the lost tribes.

The first king of ancient Japan, 730 B. C., was Osee.

The last king of the Jews, who died in 722 B. C., was Hosea. Shinto temples in Japan are divided into a holy and a most holy place. Japanese priests wear linen dress, a bonnet and breeches, like the Jewish priests of old. Furthermore, ancient Jewish temple instruments are used in Shinto temples. Then, too, the Jews formerly worshipped their ancestors, as do the Shintoists of today.

The Japanese themselves hold that they are not of the yellow race, but a mixture of races. Dr. Toyokichi Iyenaga, pupil of Woodrow Wilson when the latter taught at Johns Hopkins, and himself a lecturer on political science at the University of Chicago for eleven years, asserts positively that the Japanese are more white than anything else.

The Japanese claim that their ancestors came from central and southern Asia. The historian Kaempfer, describes them as descendants of the builders of the Tower of Babel. Hyde-Clark, an English authority, thinks their forebears were Turano-Africans, who traveled through Egypt, China and Korea to Japan. Others think the Japanese of Malayan descent. Hisho Saito, a Japanese scholar, in his "History of Japan," traces the present-day Japanese back to the Ainus, who are white and whose ancestry is undoubtedly Caucasian. He admits an admixture of Malayan and Korean blood.

Josef d'Autremer, a French savant, thinks the Japanese descended from Siberian tribes. His philological deductions point to a language association with that of the Finno-Turkish group (the Turks are Semitic) rather than that of the Chinese-Tibetan.

Deductions and speculations might be carried to an absurd degree. Only one thing is certain: No one knows how the Chinese and Japanese Jews reached these two countries, nor exactly when. Whether this philological and historic mystery will ever be solved, is open to doubt.

The principal outstanding fact is that the Chinese Jews are to be repatriated—to return to the home of their remote ancestors—again to worship the God of their fathers—the God of Abraham and Isaac—and every effort will be made to revive their lost culture.

No Appetite

Nervous exhaustion leads to distaste for food. The nerves of the stomach are weak, digestion fails and you become generally upset and out of sorts.

The secret of complete restoration is in getting the nervous system fully built up.

Mrs. R. Cheney, 208 Richmond St., Chatham, Ont., writes:

"I was troubled with indigestion, which caused me many sleepless nights. I would be in terrible distress at times, and would get no relief for two or three hours. For sixteen months I ate nothing but Shredded Wheat biscuits, as I dare not eat anything else. I did not know what to do, as I had tried so many different remedies, as well as doctors' medicines, without gaining permanent relief. Finally I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and while on the second box noticed that I was improving. I continued the treatment until I am now fully restored, and have returned to my regular diet. My husband has also taken Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results, so we are glad to recommend it to others."

125,000 SPECTATORS TO BE ACCOMMODATED IN THE NEW SPORTING ARENA

HUGE AMPHITHEATRE WILL BE BUILT IN LONDON, ENG., AT ONCE---STRUCTURE TO COST $5,000,000---NEWS OF THE SOCCER WORLD.

Hampden park, Glasgow, the home of the famous Queen's Park club and the greatest soccer football arena in the world is to have a rival. Plans are now being made to construct a huge sport arena in London where the final game for the English cup and other important matches will be played. The structure will be oval in shape with an excavated surface, the terraces, tiers of seats and grandstands rising aroud it like an amphitheater, and the whole being nearly half as big again as the Stamford bridge ground at Chelsea.

The playing area will be a well turfed with an elaborate system of drainage to make the most of a natural waterfall. This great green oval will be encircled with a cinder running track 24 feet wide and 440 yards in length, having a straight of 100 yards. The ground has been designed after inspecting several of the finest grounds in Great Britain, including Hampden park.

Bordering the football field, and yet not too near, will be five rows of moveable seats, and behind them five more rows of fixed seats, thus providing in equal proportions, 10,000 ring seats. Behind these will rise a terrace of 51 tiers, the steps varying in depth from 3¾ to 5½ inches and so arranged on a curved line that each person will see over the head of the man of average height in front of him. This terrace around the ground will provide standing accommodation for 67,000 people.

On both the northern and southern sides there will be grandstands thoroughly roofed, protecting tie-up seats and other seats according to price. These stands will take 25,000 people. After allowing for numerous distributing gangways and the fixing of guard rails and crush barriers there is no doubt whatever that the ground when completed will enable from 122,000 to 125 00 people to see any game that may be played there.

Officials seated above the grandstand will watch the filling of the popular-priced parts and when these become congested they will, by telephone, order the closing of the entrances immediately admitting to them. Even with the ground full to capacity, it is computed that it can be emptied in 12 or 15 minutes.

There will be ample dressing-rooms, fitted with the latest appliances, both for teams of footballers and athletes. There will be two railway stations inside the ground. The Metropolitan Railway Co. will run a half-minute service nine minutes, and the railway people from Baker street to the arena to announce they are ready to handle 36,000 people per hour, either to or from the grounds.

The first sod is to be cut before the end of the present year, and it is altogether likely that the English cup final of 1923 will be played there This huge sports arena, in which is to be held the British Empire exhibition is to cost $5,000,000.

A Financial Failure

According to the latest and most reliable information, there will not be a pennypiece to divide between the various provincial associations as the result of the tour of the Scottish footballers through Canada last summer. The tour, it is believed was a financial failure. Looked at from another point of view—the edcational side—the tour was a huge success. General improvement in play has been noticed all around, and the attendance at the various games have also been bigger.

Canada could well afford a visit from one of the leading old country teams every year, and each successive tour would be a bigger success than its predecessor.

There is some talk in Scotland of Partick Thistle crossing the water next sumer. The Partick boys won the Scottish cup last year, and no doubt would prove a big attraction; though it would appear as if it were England's turn to send a team.

There is also a suggestion that a famous Glasgow junior team might attempt a trip to Canada next year. Canada doesn't want a junior team; no matter how good it may be. No doubt a first-class Scottish junior team could give most of the clubs in this country a good trimming, but Canada wants the best there is in the old country, and nothing else will do.

TWO SPLENDID CONTRIBUTIONS TO AID THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

MR. G. N. GORDON SENDS CHEQUE FOR $50.00 AND MR. G. R. LANGLEY WILL ACT AS HISTORIAN

A cheque for $50.00 from Mr. G. N. Gordon and an offer from Mr. G. R. Langley to act as historian for the P.A.A.A., were two contributions received by the Executive of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, at a well-attended meeting in the Y.M.C.A. last night.

Both Mr. Gordon and Mr. Langley are honorary members of the association. Mr. Gordon promised further support to the organization when the membership campaign was opened two months ago; and through Ald. Nagel Phelan, one of the association's membership campaigners, he sent the following letter, accompanied by a cheque for $50.00:

Ald. Nagel Phelan,

Bank of Montreal, City.

Dear Alderman Phelan,—As I told you at the time it was hoped that athletics could be gathered together under the Peterborough Athletic Association, I am willing to contribut $50.00 in order to assist this cause. Attached you will find my cheque for $50.00, payable to the Peterborough Athletic Association, and I trust the success of this new organization will continue from the very start. There is nothing we need more than wholesome, clean, manly sport, and I believe the Peterborough Association will develop that.

With my best wishes for continued success in your undertaking, I remain, yours faithfully,

C. N. Gordon.

The Executive received Mr. Gordon's letter with considerable satisfaction. It is a matter of encouragement to them to find that their work is being appreciated. A resolution was passed that the letter and cheque be acknowledged through the press.

In assuming the duties of historian for the association, Mr. Langley is making a splendid contribution. He will keep a record of all the activities of the association. His offer to help was received and accepted with much enthusiasm.

Walter Smaill, director of athletics, discussed with the executive a number of matters in connection with his position with the association. The president, vice-president and the secretary will be an advisory committee to work with Mr. Smaill in all his activities.

Boxing and Wrestling.

Dr. F. Frank will organize a committee to deal with boxing, wrestling, fencing and bayonet fighting, and will report to the executive. Those interested in these sports will help this committee by communicating with Dr. Frank or the Director of Athletics.

To Help Youngsters.

The hockey prospects also were considered. Mr. Smaill is anxious to help the youngsters, and he discussed with the executive different phases of the problem of handling the younger players. The City Hockey League will give its assistance by promoting a series of juveniles.

O.H.A. Annual Meeting.

Mr. J. P. Bond will represent the association at the annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association. As a candidate for the O.H.A. Executive, he will have the support of the Athletic Association of the Holy Name Society.

The next meeting of the Executive will be held on Monday, December 5th, at 7.30 o'clock, at the Y.M.C.A.

CAMPAIGN TO BOOST LOCAL OLD HOME WEEK

ASSISTANCE OF LADIES WILL BE INVOKED—GENERAL COM. MET

(F. H. Dobbin.)

Monday evening at the Board of Trade rooms the general committee of the Old Home Week movement met to receive the report of the nominating committee on the personnel and pushing equipment of the organization.

Chairman Thos. Barrie, of the committee, submitted the report, giving lists of men combined in the several and ten committees as proposed. These were approved and sort of hand-picked over to get the very best. It was decided that each man should be communicated with personally seen by his chairman to assure that he would act and stick to it. Further to report at a general meeting on Dec. 12th next.

The aid of the ladies was invoked. Through the President of the local Council of Women the matter will come before the local societies in which women are engaged, and delegates from each asked to meet the men, at a future date, and discuss such parts as can be assigned to the ladies.

The official title of the venture was named as "Peterborough Old Home Week. Finances were talked over and a plan of campaign mapped out to be followed.

Information as to the ventures in other cities had been secured from several places, and was given to the meeting. It is all informative and will help. Goderich, for instance, had experience that will be helpful.

Further information will be supplied to the public just as soon as arrangements are perfected.

Mrs. Henry Tompkins and daughter Mayme, of Lindsay have returned home after a visit with friends in the city.

COLLEGIATE HARD AT WORK PREPARING FOR SATURDAY'S BIG GAME

The P. C. I. squad are working hard for their big game at the Riverside Park on Saturday, with University of Toronto Schools, in the inter-scholastic series. There was not an absentee among the regulars or the subs, at last evening's practice in Central Park, and the crew was kept on the move until it was too dark to see, finishing up with a run. They will be at it again this afternoon in Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, and from the way they are working they should take the field in the pink of condition.

The public is taking more interest in this game than in any Rugby game played in Peterborough in many years and it is expected that the tickets, which are now on sale, will be in great demand. The expense of bringing the Toronto students here is a heavy burden and the support of the fans will be necessary. The Peterboro students are keen to take the scalps of the much-touted U.T.S. team, and Cawkell, Plaxton, Munro and Co. will know they have been in a Rugby game before the final whistle is sounded. The game will start sharply at 2:15 o'clock.

LAWN BOWLERS TOOK TWO FROM THE RAYBESTOS

In the Business Men's FivePin League.

Laht night at the Water street alleys in the Business Men's Five-Pin League, the Lawn Bowlers took two out of the three games from the Raybestos. The Raybestos showed great form in the first game and won out by rolling 858. Kay and Miller were the only one to pass the 200 mark. The Lawn Bowlers came in strong in the second and third game, rolling in the last game over the thousand mark. The Raybestos are new bowlers and the way they are going they will make all the teams go some. For the Lawn Bowlers Curvin was high with 642. Gillespie next with 608. Gilliam and Barrette also passed the 500 mark. For the Raybestos Miller was high with 547. Following are the scores:

Raybestos—
Kay	214	110	106	430
Russell	136	146	160	442
Sheppard	145	174	89	408

SCHNEIDER-BULL BOUT AROUSES MUCH INTEREST.

OTTAWA, November 29 (Canadian Press). — Much interest has been aroused here by the battle on Friday night between Bert Schneider of Montreal, and Frankie Bull of Toronto, the mix-up being scheduled to go ten rounds at 145 pounds.

Schneider is very popular here, having appeared both before and since winning welterweight honours at the Olympic Games last year.

Bull is heralded as the former amateur lightweight champion of Canada.

Another good bout is likely to come off when Patsy Adams, of Toronto, meets Oscar Corneau, of Hull, for six rounds, both of these boys having been seen in action here last winter, and with honours about even.

The card which may bring other Toronto and Montreal men together is the second put on by the Ottawa Athletic Club, a newly organised body which has undertaken to revive professional boxing in the capital.

CITY LEAGUE TO-NIGHT.

A number of sportsmen will form a club and enter a team in the City Hockey League, if the organization favors the proposal, at the annual meeting to-night at the Chamber of Commerce. This team would be in the hands of a capable executive.

ELECTION NEWS

AT YOUNG'S POINT.

At Young's Point last evening, Messrs. J. H. Burnham, S. T. Medd and J. F. Strickland spoke of the chief needs of Canada at the present time. Mr. Frost occupied the chair.

Major S. T. Medd said that the various items of produce which had obtained ready access to the United States were now absolutely shut out from that country, and that unless we kept our home market we would have none.

Mr. Burnham called attention to the alarming news circulated by the Dominion G. W. V. A. Saturday's Globe contains the following despatch from Ottawa:

(Canadian Press Despatch).

"Ottawa, Nov. 25. — Alleging a conspiracy against the people of Canada for the purpose of 'looting the Canadian National Railways' and handing them over to a private corporation, together with the ultimate disposal of the Grand Trunk Railway to 'American railway interests,' C. G. MacNeil, Dominion secretary-treasurer of the Great War Veterans' Association, has forwarded the following telegram to Sir Lomer Gouin, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Hon. T. A. Crerar, the President of the Bank of Montreal, and the President of the C.P.R."

"In addition to the above," said Mr. Burnham, "there is, in my belief, a conspiracy to secure control of the ocean-going and lake-going merchant marine, and that is why I expressed surprise at Mr. Gordon's statement, as I understand it, that he was not in favor of a government-owned merchant marine, made, as I read and understood it in The Examiner, in answer to questions submitted to him for reply. No doubt Mr. Gordon does not fully understand the seriousness of the situation. In addition to my strong stand in favor of a government-owned ocean service, I have pointed out repeatedly that the greatest danger to the public welfare is the union of certain members of all parties in Parliament whenever anything they really desire to bring off is brought up for their mutual gain. When I was speaking in favor of the principle of popular control of public utilities a prominent man turned upon me recently and said savagely that the people were not fit to govern themselves, that forty per cent. would not even go to the polls, and that at least half the remainder had to be driven or dragged to the polls. The G.W.V.A. will do an inestimable service if they expose the impending danger."

Mr. Strickland referred to the Canada Cement merger and others of those monstrous combines which had been chattered by the Laurier Government. To such things Mr. Gordon took care not to refer, although the charge was made on every platform, and it was a wonder he did not as he referred to pretty nearly everything except the battles of Jutland and of the Marne and the Hunter Street Bridge.

The meeting closed with the usual cheers. A large number of ladies attended.

"AD." STUNT FOR PEACE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.— (By Ben. Deacon, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press.)—The Washington Conference is "the greatest advertising stunt for peace the world has ever seen," said Lord Riddell, the famous English newspaper proprietor, who is unofficially attached to the British delegation, in the course of a little talk to the members of a local peace organization yesterday afternoon.

Perhaps the greatest purpose of the conference, Lord Riddell declared, was the directing of the attention of the people of the world to peace. "Hitherto," he continued, "many attempts have been made to stop war, but they have started in the wrong place; they have started with officials. There is only one way to stop war; the people of the world must determine they must have peace. This conference, by advertising peace, is developing that determination. Great Britain is bent on peace. We all want peace in our country. But we want peace with security. We are willing to share in all efforts towards disarmament, but disarmament must be a general disarmament. Great Britain and the United States cannot scrap their armaments until all nations are willing to scrap theirs. Therefore, the world must be educated."

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN OF THE APOCALYPSE"

It has frequently been said that no theatrical performance at regular prices could be given with such a cast as is utilized in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" this is coming to the Grand Opera House 3 days commencing Thursday December 1st, without inviting disaster for the management. This, indeed, is one of the real reasons for the big feature films. They can present players and great numbers of clever people, with limitless possibilities in scenic environment, that are absolutely impossible, even from the standpoint of expense, to the theatrical producer.

Of the thirty-two principals in "The Four Horsemen" there is scarcely one who is not known to the movie fans or to those who follow the fortunes of the theatre with interestng understaning. Rudolph Valentine, who visualizes Julio Desnoyers, the young tango dancer, artist and lover, is an Italian, who had considerable experience in pictures and also as a professional tango dancer, before he was selected by Rex Ingram for the big Ibenez film. Alice Terry, the Marguerite, also served an apprenticeship as a motion pictur actress. She appeared in "Shore Acres", "Hearts are Trumps" and other pictures.

"JUST LIKE A GYPSY."

One of the prettiest and most enjoyable plays that the Rex Stock Company has given us is the romantic comedy, "Just Like a Gypsy," presented at the Grand last night. Incidentally, it was the initial performance of the Rex organization in this offering and the first time the play has been staged in Canada. Rex has a part which gives him an opportunity of doing some of the best work he has done here, that of a young man who believes that the world is still full of romance and adventure, and who prefers to wander round in search of them to settling down in the hum-drum of every-day life. How his ideas are changed when he meets the inevitable girl forms the action of the play. It would be spoiling the pleasure of those who have yet to see "Just Like a Gypsy" to tell any more of the plot. Mr. Snelgrove's conception of his important part is convincing and clever, Miss Vaughn is charming as the girl in the case, Kathryn Va Esse wins laurels by her work as Mrs. Widdimore, and Master Keith Park earns brackets as Johnny Raymond. The settings are unusually effective. "Just Like a Gypsy" will be seen at the Grant to-night and to-morrow night.—F. D. C.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"Luring Lips" at the Capitol with the popular star, Edith Roberts, attracted a well-filled house last evening. The picture is a distinctly modern presentation of an ultra-modern woman, who is suddenly confronted on her honeymoon with the knowledge that her husband is a convicted criminal, and that he must go to prison. Whether innocent or not, the stigma or disgrace rest on the woman who covets above all else a position of wealth and power. The other man who tries to win away her allegiance is a powerful factor in the picture, and the heroine uses her own beauty and charm in a distinctly effective manner to help her husband and outwit his enemies. Her methods and their result produce a distinctly attractive feature.

A thrilling episode of the "Yellow Arm" serial, several interesting short reels, a funny comedy, and the two Musical Delevans, a clever duo of comedy artists, with an original act, complete an excellent programme.

AT THE ALLEN.

Last night's program, reproduced again this evening, demonstrated that the Manager of the Allen Theatre uses great judgment and wide awake discernment in his selection of film subjects for a Peterboro audience and it might be added, a local audience is one that is exacting. This evening's show is a rare assembling of the comic, the educational and the dramatic. The fan who doesnot laugh heartily at the comedy would do well to consult a medical man and keep on friendly terms with his favorite undertaker. The educational picture shows how the nations of the sunny Carribean make their wonderful pottery. As regards the dramatic feature; "God's Crucible", adapted from Ralph Connor's greatest novel "The Foreigner" the author's name is sufficient guarantee of its possessing a virile and entrancing plot. Too many dramas of both stage and screen are mawkisk sentimentality where the deepest human emotions are practically insulted by making kisses and hugging the only proof of human love between man and woman. "God's Crucible" portrays vividly the true love of a man for his girl, the kind of love that wins her and keeps her love when he gets her. The play is based on life in Winnipeg, when that mushroom metropolis of the West, was in its infancy and on the adventures of the sturdy pioneers who had helped make one glorious Dominion what she now is. The story, too complex to reveal in a few newspaper lines, is one of the most thrilling ever presented on a screen and interest never fags from first appearance of the hero until wedding bells pour out that he has won his girl after seemingly unsurmountable difficulties. This play should be seen by every patriotic Canadian.

A SKETCH CLUB.

A meeting for the purpose of forming a sketch club will be held in the W.A.A. Studio, Conservatory of Music, on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 30th, at 4.30. All who are interested are cordially invited to attend.
